

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. The Practice

OF

THE OFFICE OF SHERIFF.

CHAPTER I.

SECTION I.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS.

ENGLAND and Wales, for the better government of them, and the more easy administration of justice, are divided into counties, respectively governed by an Officer, whom we call a Sheriff; an officer of great trust and authority having from her Majesty the Queen the custody, keeping, command, and government (in some sort) of the whole county committed to his charge during her will and pleasure.

Upon his name (a), whence derived, much antiquarian learning has been expended, and no few shrewd conjectures hazarded, but they are at best but conjectures; preferring, as we do, practical benefit to speculative exactness, we profess not herein to know more thereon than what may let us into a more clear and distinct understanding of what otherwise might not be so, and leave the rest to a Camden or a Coke, to a Dalton or a Blackstone, with whose ingenuity and wit, to use the quaint language of my said Lord Coke, “the courteous reader may disport himself with for awhile;”—

Before concluding our labours we shall have to dwell more particularly on his powers and duties as a Judge, as a Minister of the Courts of Law and Equity, as the Queen's bailiff, and as a Conservator pacis (the division into which they fall); but it may be well to put down here in limine a few legal axioms and sex, in Morgan's Phoenix Britannicus, printed in 1659: see also Mr. Amos's Notes to Fort. de Laud. Leg. Angliæ, p. 81; Crabb's Hist. of the English Law, pp. 23, 45; Wood's Inst. 3, 71.

definitions “as things necessary to be continually had in remembrance.”

County or shire, definition of.

A County or Shire (b) is one of those several divisions into which the realm is divided for the better government of it and the more easy administration of justice; or, to use the language of Fuller, “that they may have no reason to complain, with the Grecian widows, that they are neglected in the daily ministration (c).” Of this division of the realm into counties the Courts take official notice (d), but the local situation of any place in any county the Courts do not officially notice.

There is no part of the kingdom that lieth not in some county (e).

Quillets.

There are certain districts and places parcel of some one county, but wholly situate within and surrounded by some other county; these districts or places are called Quillets (f), and were within memory productive of inconvenience and delay in the service and execution of the process of the Superior Courts, because of their locality; but this is now remedied by the 20th section of the Uniformity of Process Act, (2 Will. 4, c. 39,) which enacts “that every such district and place shall and may, for the purpose of the service and execution of every writ and process, whether mesne or judicial, issued out of either of the (c) “I have heard some critics making this distinction betwixt, that such are shires which take their denomination from some principal town, as Cambridgeshire, Oxfordshire, &c., whilst the rest not wearing the name of any town are to be reputed counties, as Norfolk, Suffolk, &c.; but we need not go into Wales to confute their curiosity, where we meet Merionethshire and Glamorganshire, but no towns so termed; nay, Devonshire doth discompose this their English conceit.”—Fuller, c. xviii. Ibid. p. 2.

(e) Fort. de Laud. c. xxiv.; Jenk. Rep. Ca. 7.

(f) The reason whereof I conceive to be, for that the same “Quillets” were parcel of the possession of some nobleman, bishop, or abbey, who had some great seignory in that county whereof the same Quillet is accounted parcel; as for example, the counties of Devon and Cornwall are divided with the river of Tamir, but yet a certain “Quillet” lying on the hither side of the river is parcel of the earldom's land, and therefore it is a member of the county of Cornwall; so also a certain parcel of land within the county of Berks, called Twyford, is parcel of the county of Wilts, which is at the least 20 miles distant from the same; the reason whereof also is in respect that it was parcel of the inheritance of the Abbey of Ambresbury, the site and chiefest possessions whereof are in the county of Wilts; Hearne's Coll. p. 50. Castle of Chester, which is within the ambit of the city, but is a part of the county of Chester, and is the gaol for that county, Rex v. Antrobus, 2 Ad. & Ellis, 807; 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 1, s. 1. Newgate, which is the prison as well for the county of Middlesex as for London, within which it stands; Wood's Inst. 76.

said Courts, be deemed and taken to be part, as well of the county wherein such district or place is so situate as aforesaid, as of the county whereof the same is parcel ; and every such writ and process may be directed accordingly and executed in either of such counties."

A Sheriff in former times (g) had often more counties than one under his charge, in the same manner as the Sheriff of Cambridge is at the present day also Sheriff of Huntingdon (h).

There are at this day in England 40 counties (i) ; in Wales 12 ; in all 52 ; namely—

Of these counties or shires there are five of special mark; namely, Durham, Chester (k), Lancaster, Middlesex and Westmoreland. The three first being Counties Palatine (l), the two last in fee.

Counties
Palatine.

Durham and Chester are counties palatine by Prescription (m), Lancaster is such by Act of Parliament (n). The Earldom of Chester (Camden states) became vested in the Crown in the time of Hen. 3, and has ever since given title to the king's eldest son. The county palatine of Lancaster, on the attainder of Hen. 6, (1 Edw. 4,) became forfeited, and was then, by act of parliament (o), vested in King Edward 4 and his heirs, kings of England, for ever, but under a separate guiding and governance from the other inheritances of the crown. The county of Durham, the only one remaining in the hands of a subject, was, by a recent statute (p), intituled "An Act for separating the Palatine jurisdiction of the County Palatine of Durham from the Bishoprick of Durham," vested in his late Majesty, his heirs and successors, as a franchise and royalty separate from the Crown.

The Queen may make what counties she pleases counties palatine (q).

The Sheriff of a County Palatine is as much the officer of the Court as any other Sheriff, although it is irregular to direct the writ to him in the first instance (r); but if directed to him immediately he is not a trespasser for executing it.

Counties in (k) See 11 G. 4, and 1 Will. 4, c. 70, s. 13, abolishing the jurisdiction of the Chamberlain, &c.; and since this the writ is directed immediately to the Sheriff of the county.

(l) Counties Palatine are so called, à palatio, because the owners thereof, the Earl of Chester, the Bishop of Durham, and the Duke of Lancaster, had in those counties regalem potestatem in omnibus, Bracton, lib. iii. c. 8, s. 4. Pembrokeshire and Hexhamshire were Counties Palatine; the former was abolished by the 27 Hen. 8, the latter in 14 Eliz. By the 13 & 14 Car. 2, c. 21, s. 11, the counties of Wales are called Palatine; the Isle of Ely is only a Royal Franchise, and not a County Palatine; 2 Inst. 220; Grant v. Bugge, 3 East, 128.

John,) was vested in fee in the mayor and commonalty and citizens of the city of London, upon condition of their paying 300*l.* a year to the King's exchequer; but by an act of Common Council(s), dated 7th April, 1748, it is enacted, amongst other things, "That henceforth the right of electing persons to the said offices of Sherifalty shall be, and the same is hereby vested in the liverymen of the several companies of this city," &c. (t)

In Middlesex the two officers constitute only one Sheriff, and must in all writs and pleadings be described as Sheriff; in London they may be described as Sheriffs (u), (x).

Westmoreland is the inheritance of the Earl of Thanet.

The Sheriffs of Middlesex and Westmoreland are as much the officers of the Court as other Sheriffs, differing only in their appointment, mode of accounting, and a few other matters which may without prejudice be at present omitted.

There are also Counties Corporate (y)—that is, certain cities Counties of ancient boroughs, to which formerly, out of special grace and corporate.
favour, the kings of England have granted the privilege to be counties of themselves, and not to be comprised in any other county; and are governed by their own sheriffs and other magistrates, so that no officers of the county at large have any power to intermeddle therein—12 cities and 5 towns; namely(z):

Two Sheriffs.

The peculiarity of these Counties Corporate is, that there are in some that is counties of cities two Sheriffs, constituting in law but one officer (d). In Viner's Abridgment, Sheriff, C. a. it is accounted for thus (with reference more immediately to London and Middlesex):—"The first beginning of this custom seems to be upon the foundation of the Charter of King John, who granted the sheriffwick of London and Middlesex to the mayor and citizens of London, at the farm of 300*l.* per annum, so that being a grant in fee of the sheriffwick as a corporation, they had a right to name one or more officers in order to execute the same; and they thought it proper to name two officers, indifferently to execute both offices, and both of them to execute as one sheriff, though the writ in Middlesex is directed to them as one, viz.: Vic. Com. Middx. Præcipimus tibi; in that of London, Vic. London Præcipimus vobis. And the reason of this difference seems to be, that before this grant of the sheriffwick to the corporation, the corporation nominated to the Crown, and the Crown appointed the Sheriffs for London, and the London Sheriffs were responsible to the King for the London profits of the sheriffwick, and that was the reason why two were appointed, that both might be responsible; and this nomination was, that the citizens might exhibit to the King responsible persons: and that seems to be the reason that in many of the corporations that are cities and counties there are two sheriffs. But when by the Charter of King John the sheriffwick of London and Middlesex was granted to the citizens as a perpetual Fee Farm, then they entered their Sheriffs, which before were nominated for London only, and the election of the two was for both sheriffwicks, but the directing of the King's Writs were as before, viz. in London, To the two Sheriffs; in Mid-

The Sheriffs of Counties Corporate are as much the officers of the Court as other Sheriffs.

There are also Cinque Ports—certain Ports wherein the Constable of Dover Castle, as Warden, executes all writs, &c. ; their names are—

Dover	Hastings
Sandwich	Hythe
Romney	Winchelsea and Rye (d).

Cinque
Ports.

In Berwick-upon-Tweed the Mayor and Bailiffs have execution of all process (e). Berwick on Tweed.

A Franchise or Liberty is a royal privilege, or branch of the Queen's prerogative, subsisting in the hand of a subject, wherein the grantee only and his officers are to execute all process (f). Note, when the Queen is a party no franchise is allowed (g) ; also by the sanction of the Superior Courts, (which is given by issuing a writ with a non omittas clause,) the Sheriff hath power to enter all liberties within his county. All liberties are officially noticed by the Courts (h) ; the High Sheriff is likewise bound to notice them (i).

Franchise or Liberty, definition of.

A Bailiwick is now, in general, used to signify the whole county, as in the return of a writ where the person is not arrested, the Sheriff says, "the within-named A. B. is not found in my Bailiwick ; and in the statute of Magna Charta, c. 28, and 14 Edw. 3, c. 9, the word "Bailiffs" seems to comprise as well Sheriffs as Bailiffs of hundreds (j).

(i) Ibid.

The relation in which he stands to the Courts and to the world.

The Sheriff is the immediate officer to all the Courts at Westminster to execute writs, and whom the law presumes to be indifferent between party and party (k).

The law likewise intends him to be a lay person, and to have no skill in the science of the law, and whether a writ comes to him by authority or without authority (l), or is awarded against whom (m) it lieth not, he cannot doubt or dispute its validity quia parere necesse est.

The extent of his jurisdiction.

"The power of a Sheriff does not extend beyond his county, but by special authority from the Queen, as by an Habeas Corpus, he is in other counties sheriff to a special intent, and the law adjudges the removal of the prisoner of the same Sheriff in every county; and by this means it is said there may be two Sheriffs in one county, namely, one to a special intent, and the other to all general intents and purposes" (n). This rule, so laid down in Plowden, is true as to the Sheriff's judicial, but as to his ministerial acts not so, for the latter may in general be executed dehors his county; for example, he may make his return anywhere in England (o), for what is true or false is universally so. So the assignment of a bail-bond or a panel may be made anywhere in England, but not out of England, for he is an officer only in England (p). So if the Sheriff of N. have a man in custody in N., and the Sheriff is in another county, and a writ is delivered to him against that person, he is in custody immediately upon that writ (q). So if a prisoner of his own wrong shall make an escape and fly into another county, the Sheriff or his officers, upon fresh pursuit, may take him again in another county (r).

The office of Sheriff cannot be apportioned, divided or abridged (s); and, therefore, although the Queen may determine this his office at her pleasure (being appointed “durante bene placito” (t)), yet she cannot determine it in part as for one town or one hundred, or any other part; neither can she abridge the Sheriff of any thing incident or belonging to his office, for the office is entire, and so it must continue in that entirety for the whole county, without any fraction or diminution (except by act of parliament, or that she make some town, &c. a county of itself, and appoint a Sheriff thereto;) neither can the office be determined, nor any part thereof, without and until a new Sheriff be made for the execution and administration of justice, except it be by his own death, for on the demise of the Crown “he may hold his office six months, unless sooner displaced by the successor” (u); nor does it determine by becoming a peer on his father’s death, though the dignity descends in time of parliament, so that he ought to attend parliament as a peer (x).

The office cannot be apportioned, divided, or abridged.

The office may descend to and be executed by a female; for Anne Countess of Pembroke, Dorset, and Montgomery, had the office of Hereditary Sheriff of Westmoreland, and at the assizes at Appleby she sat with the judges on the bench (y).

SECTION II.

QUALIFICATION.

*Landed
tion.*

THE Statute de Vicecomitibus (a) declares "that none shall be Sheriff except he have sufficient (b) land within the same shire where he shall be Sheriff, to answer the king and the people;" but this landed qualification as to quantity is wholly undefined, either by statute or common law; yet as there are many onerous duties cast upon him, for which the law has not provided distinctly any remuneration, men of substance are for the most part appointed to the office, that they may be able to bear those duties with more ease and dignity (c). Again, by the principles of the common law, no salary is incident to the office, and this is another reason for appointing men of substance to the office; but by statute law salaries have formerly been granted, and still are in the statute book in some counties, as in Wales (d), where every Sheriff within the twelve shires hath for his fee yearly 5*l.*, the Sheriff of Cambridgeshire (e), and the two knights of the shire (incorporated by the name of the Wardens of the Wages), have 10*l.* rent, payable out of the shire manor; namely, lands assured to Serjeant Hinde and his heirs, within the manor of Maddingly, in the same county: so in counties corporate and towns, by virtue of some bye-law, an allowance is made to the Sheriffs, as in London (f), from 400*l.* to 500*l.* a year, to each of them: so in Scotland, the Sheriffs Depute have salaries, as in the case of Sir Walter Scott, who, as Sheriff Depute of Selkirkshire, had an annual salary of 300*l.* a year, which he held from the 16th day of December, 1799, until his death, in 1832 (g).

(b) The construction of the term "sufficient" rests with the Great Officers of State and Judges, who have, on all occasions that I have witnessed the ceremony, allowed the plea of "no sufficient land within the county," as an excuse of course.

(g) Lockhart's Life of Scott, vol. i. p. 318; 2 & 3 Will. 4, c. 101.

It was once laid down by Lord Holt (h), "that the Queen hath an interest in every subject, and a right to his service, and no man can be exempt from the office of Sheriff but by act of parliament or letters-patent." Four years only before this case (in 1690 (i)), a different doctrine of law prevailed, at least its truth as an universal proposition was denied, and in 1767 (k), by one of the ablest and most eloquent judgments on record, delivered in the House of Peers, by Lord Mansfield, it was at length set at rest, "that a Dissenter was not compellable to qualify himself by taking the Sacrament according to the rites of the Church of England, and that a Dissenter's election to the office was null and void."

Larwood's case.

Now, however, as the disabling statutes (l), upon which all this disputation arose, are repealed as to the sacramental test, and as regards her Majesty's Roman Catholic subjects, an oath in unison with their religious creed (m) has been substituted instead of the oaths of allegiance, supremacy, and abjuration, the law may be briefly stated thus: no man is exempt from the office of Sheriff (n) but by act of parliament; letters-patent; by disability arising from a judgment in law (o); or by reason of the office being incompatible with another (p).

Firstly. No militia officer, during the time he is acting in that capacity, shall be obliged to serve the office (q).

Bailiff to a lord. Thirdly. “None that is steward or bailiff to a great lord shall be made Sheriff, except he be out of office, but that he be such as can entirely attend to execute the office of Sheriff for the King and the people” (t).

Magistrate. Fourthly. Although a Sheriff is virtute officii a conservator of the peace, yet it is declared (u), “that all and every acts to be done by any Sheriff, by authority of any commission of the peace, during the time of his Sheriffwick, shall be void. Attorney. 4. By reason of the office being incompatible with another (a). An attorney in actual practice is exempt on this ground, for he cannot necessarily be attendant on the Superior Courts and his County at the same time. The great Lord Mansfield, in the authority referred to, considered this exemption as the privilege of the Court of which he is an officer, and not the privilege of the attorney himself; being so, with the greatest deference it is submitted, that the exemption must apply with equal force to Sheriffs of counties as to Sheriffs of cities or towns.

In the same case (b) it was also said, "I know that barristers Barristers. are considered as exempt from serving that office." The fact of a barrister's being in actual practice may possibly be allowed as a good excuse with the Judges and other great Officers of State, on the Morrow of St. Martin, but as to its being claimable as a matter of right, either as the privilege of the Court or as a personal privilege (by statute or common law), seems to be a position not easily maintainable.

The office is incompatible with the duties of a Knight of the Shire (c), whenever he is the returning officer; but there is no objection to a Sheriff's election for a county, city, or borough, where he is not the returning officer, the statute of 3 Geo. 1, c. 15, s. 18, virtually taking away the obligation of residence previously required by 4 Hen. 4, c. 5, and the oath of office (d). Members of Parliament.

To the converse of this, that is, when the election to parliament is prior to the appointment to the Sherifffalty, there seems no objection; but by a Resolution of the House of Commons, 7th Jan. 1689, "the nominating any member of the House to the King to be made a Sheriff, is a breach of the privilege of the House" (e).

English Sheriffs.

The Morrow of All Souls was formerly the day of assembling at the Exchequer for ordaining Sheriffs, but in consequence of the abbreviation of Michaelmas Term, by the statute of 24 Geo. 2, c. 48, s. 12, the Morrow of St. Martin was appointed thereby.

By the Statute of Sheriffs (9 Edw. 2, st. 2,) it was enacted, “that the Sheriffs should from thenceforth be assigned by the Chancellor, Treasurer, Barons of the Exchequer, and by the Justices; and in the absence of the Chancellor, by the Treasurer, Barons, and Justices.”

By the statutes of 14 Edw. 3, c. 7, 23 Hen. 6, c. 8, 21 Hen. 8, c. 20, the Chancellor, Treasurer, President of the King's Council, Chief Justices, and Chief Baron, are to assign them.

The Statute of Cambridge (12 Rich. 2, c. 2,) ordains, that the Chancellor, &c. shall be sworn “to act indifferently, and to name no man that sueth to be put in office, but such only as they shall judge to be the best and most sufficient.”

On the Morrow of St. Martin the ceremony of nomination takes place in the Court of Exchequer, at Westminster—an interesting ceremony. It is, perhaps, a matter more of curiosity than of practical importance, but the testimony of an eye-witness, on more occasions than one, may be deemed, we trust, not wholly without value, or here out of place.

On that day the Lord Chancellor, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Judges of each Court, and the President of the Council(b), assemble in the Court of Exchequer. The great Officers of State arranging themselves on the Bench on the right and left of the Lord Chief Baron, the other Judges on the floor of the Court; the Officer of the Court next administers an Oath to them in French, that they will nominate no one from favour, partiality, or any improper motive; the same Officer then, having the list of the Counties in alphabetical order(c), and the names of those who were nominated the year preceding, reads over the three (d) names, and the last of the three he pronounces to be the present Sheriff; if any of the Officers of State or Judges have any objection on the part of any one, it is then made, and, if allowed, another name is substituted; if there be no objection, one rises and says, "To the two gentlemen I know no objection, and I propose A. B., Esq., in the room of the present Sheriff." Another officer has the paper which the Clerk of the Assizes for each County transmitted to him, also another with the names on the former list; and whilst the three are nominated he prefixes 1, 2, 3, to their names, according to the order in which they are placed.

The nomination list being approved of in the Court of Exchequer, it is then reported (by the Clerk of the Privy Council, who is in attendance,) to her Majesty in Council.

The nomination of the Sheriffs for Wales is now vested in the Judges and Barons of her Majesty's Courts of Queen's Bench, Common Pleas, and Exchequer, and in them exclusively. There are three statutes on this head, the 34 & 35 Hen. 8, c. 26, which established the Court, styled, "The Court before the President and Council of the Marshes of Wales," and which vested the yearly nomination of Sheriffs in the Lord President, Council, and Justices of Wales; afterwards the 1 W. & M. c. 27, abolished the Court, &c. and vested the nomination in the Justices of the Great Sessions; lastly, the 1 Will. 4, c. 70, ss. 13 and 31, enacts, "that all the power, &c. of the Justices and Courts of Great Sessions, both in Law and in Equity, in the Principality of Wales, shall cease and determine at the commencement of the Act, and that the jurisdiction of the several Judges and Barons of his Majesty's Courts of King's Bench, Common Pleas, and Exchequer, respectively, shall be extended and exercised over and within the several Counties in Wales in like manner, to the same extent, and to and for all intents and purposes whatsoever, as Welsh Sheriffs.

(c) Except Middlesex and Westmoreland, they being in fee; but Durham (although formerly appointed by the Bishop, during his pleasure, a right claimed by prescription; Tidd's Pr. 313, 8th edit.) is now on the list; by the statute of 6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 19, the power of appointment being vested in her Majesty; see ante, 4.

(d) Whence the practice of naming three originated does not seem clear, whether from a statute not to be found, according to some, 2 Inst. 559; 1 Bl. Comm. 341; or, according to others, because it is more respectful to present three to her Majesty than only one; Ibid.

the jurisdiction of such Courts respectively is now exercised in and over the Counties of England, not being Counties Palatine;" therefore, as before stated, the right of nomination as to the Welsh Sheriffs is vested in the Judges and Barons of the three Superior Courts of Common Law.

Nomination on death of Sheriff.

In the case of death, the Queen, by her prerogative, nominates and appoints the succeeding Sheriff, necessarily without the assembly of the Officers of State on the Morrow of St. Martin, but whether the Queen can appoint any one to be Sheriff without this assembly, except as aforesaid, or one not of the three on the nomination list, is a vexata quæstio, and has called forth the keenest disputation, neither side wanting its advocates to support its view of the question (e). The authority in the time of Queen Elizabeth, which gave rise to this dispute, always appeared to us to differ from an exercise of prerogative in case of the death of the Sheriff in degree only, and not in kind, both equally being cases of necessity; if so, the same calamity might, perhaps, justify the self-same exercise of prerogative at this day; but to infer thence that there subsists a general power in the crown by virtue of its prerogative, does violence to the plainest rules of logic, and revives the doctrine of non obstantes—a doctrine "which sets the prerogative above the laws, was effectually demolished by the Bill of Rights at the Revolution, and abdicated Westminster Hall when King James abdicated the kingdom (f)."

Notwithstanding, however, this demolition of the dispensing power by the Bill of Rights, the practice of occasionally naming "a pocket Sheriff," (that is, one not of the three on the nomination list approved of in the Exchequer on the Morrow of St. Martin), by the sole authority of the crown, still continues, and in Ireland has been carried to such an extent as to call down upon it the attention of the legislature. Note, reader, no case of a compulsory appointment is to be found in our books or known to have occurred (g).

(g) See Bill of Rights, (1 W. & M. c. 2, s. 2,) 2 Inst. 559; 1 Bl. Comm. 341, Mr. Christian's notes. But (to use the words of Mr. Christian) "it is an ungracious prerogative, and whenever it is exercised, unless the occasion is manifest, the whole administration of justice throughout the county for a twelvemonth, if not corrupted, is certainly suspected. The

The nomination list being thus approved of, and reported to her Majesty in Council, she takes a pin, and (to insure impartiality it is presumed) lets the point of it fall upon one of the three names, and the person upon whose name it chances to fall is the Sheriff for the ensuing year; this is termed "pricking for Sheriffs:" this done, "the same shall be forthwith notified in the London Gazette by the Clerk of the Privy Council" (i). SECTION IV.

APPOINTMENT.

THE appointment of High Sheriffs for the counties in England and Wales is now regulated by a recent statute (3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 99,) which simply substitutes a warrant, signed by the Clerk of the Privy Council, instead of a patent under the Great Seal, Writ of Discharge, Patent (a) of Assistance, Recognizance, and numerous other formulæ theretofore in use in that behalf; the warrant is set forth in the schedule of the act, and is in the following words:— Appointment.

cause ought to be urgent or inevitable when recourse is had to this prerogative."

(i) 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 99, s. 3.

(a) It is rendered unnecessary for any Sheriff or Sheriffs of any county, city, or town in England and Wales to sue out patent or pass accounts in Exchequer.

Warrant of

At the Court at —, the — day of —.

To A. B., of &c.

Whereas her Majesty was this day pleased by and with the advice of her Privy Council, to nominate and appoint you for and to be Sheriff of the county of — during her Majesty's pleasure : These are therefore to require you to take the custody and charge of the said county, and duly to perform the duties of Sheriff thereof during her Majesty's pleasure (a) ; and whereof you are duly to answer according to law.

Dated this day

By her Majesty's command,
C. D.

“ And the appointment of Sheriff thereby made shall be as good, valid, and effectual in the law to all intents and purposes whatsoever, as if the same had been made by patent under the great seal of Great Britain, or by any ways and means heretofore in use ; and the Sheriff and Sheriffs so appointed as aforesaid, shall thereupon, and upon taking the Oath of office hereafter mentioned, have and exercise all powers, privileges, and authorities whatsoever, usually exercised and enjoyed by Sheriffs of counties in England and Wales, without any patent, writ of assistance, or other writ whatsoever, or entering into any recognizance by himself or sureties, and without payment of or being liable to pay any fees whatsoever for the same.”—s. 3.

Except Lancaster, Westmorland, and Middlesex.

By the words of the statute this mode of appointment is applicable to the Sheriff of any county in England or Wales, except the County Palatine of Lancaster--but the County Palatine of Lancaster cannot be the only exception, for the warrant of appointment must necessarily be confined to counties where the power of appointment is vested in the Crown ; where that power is in a subject, as in the Earl of Thanet, with regard to Westmorland, or in a Corporate Body, as in the City of London with regard to Middlesex, that power must needs remain in full force and effect as before the act ; probably this supposed oversight may be supplied by ss. 37, 38, and 39 of the same statute.

Warrant transmitted to the person appointed, and a duplicate to the Clerk of the Peace.

The warrant must forthwith, after the pricking or nomination by her Majesty, (which usually takes place in Hilary term next following,) be transmitted by the Clerk of the Privy Council to the person so nominated and appointed Sheriff; and the same Officer must within ten days next after the date of the warrant, transmit a duplicate thereof to the Clerk of the Peace of the county for which such person is appointed Sheriff, to be by the Clerk of the Peace enrolled and kept without fee or reward.

After receiving this warrant of his appointment and before he enters upon the execution of his office, every one appointed High Sheriff (except the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex) shall take the same oath of office as before the act, which oath must be fairly written on parchment, (without being subject to any stamp duty,) and signed by him, and may be sworn before any one of the Barons of the Court of Exchequer or any one of her Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the county of which he shall be appointed High Sheriff, and the same must thereupon be filed in the office of the Clerk of the Peace, to whom a fee of five shillings is due for the same, and no more.

I, G. M. do sincerely promise and swear that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to her Majesty Queen Victoria. So help me God.

Oath of Supremacy (f).

I, G. M. do swear that I do from my heart abhor, detest, and abjure as impious and heretical, that damnable doctrine and position that princes excommunicated or deprived by the Pope, or any authority from the see of Rome, may be deprived or murdered by their subjects or any other whatsoever: And I do declare that no foreign prince, person, prelate, state, or potentate hath or ought to have any jurisdiction, power, superiority, pre-eminence, or authority, ecclesiastical or spiritual, within this realm. So help me God.

Oath of Abjuration (g).

I, G. M. do truly and sincerely acknowledge, profess, testify and declare in my conscience, before God and the world, that our sovereign lady Queen Victoria is lawful and rightful Queen of this realm and all other her Majesty's dominions and countries thereunto belonging: and I do solemnly and sincerely declare that I do believe in my conscience, that not any of the descendants of the person who pretended to be Prince of Wales during the life of the late King James the Second, and since his decease pretended to be and took upon himself the style and title of King of England by the name of James the Third, or of Scotland by the name of James the Eighth, or the style and title of King of Great Britain, hath any right or title whatsoever to the crown of this realm or any other the dominions thereunto belonging: And I do renounce, refuse and abjure any allegiance or obedience to any of them. And I do swear, that I will bear faith and true allegiance to her Majesty Queen Victoria, and her will defend to the utmost of my power against all traitorous conspiracies and attempts whatsoever which shall be made against her person, crown or Court of Aldermen, and by them admitted, without any money or other reward to be had, taken, or hoped for in respect thereof, according to the act of Common Council made and provided in that behalf the nine and twentieth day of April, in the six and twentieth year of the reign of our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth. As God you help.

Sheriffs elected at the general election day are to appear before the Court of Aldermen on the 14th day of September after their election, to enter into an obligation to the Chamberlain of the City in the penalty of £1000, conditioned to appear on Michaelmas Day at Guildhall, and to take this oath; if elected between the 14th and 22d of September, and they do not take the oath on Michaelmas Day, or if elected at any other period, and they do not within six days after notice of election take the oath, they are liable to a penalty; if an Alderman of the City or a Commoner nominated by the Lord Mayor, of £600; if any other freeman, £400.

dignity. And I will do my utmost endeavour to disclose and make known to her Majesty and her successors all treasons and traitorous conspiracies which I shall know to be against her or any of them. And I do faithfully promise to the utmost of my power to support, maintain and defend the succession of the crown against the descendants of the said James and against all other persons whatsoever, which succession, by an Act intitled "An Act for the further Limitation of the Crown and better securing the Rights and Liberties of the Subject," is and stands limited to the Princess Sophia, Electress and Duchess Dowager of Hanover, and the heirs of her body being Protestants. And all these things I do plainly and sincerely acknowledge and swear, according to these express words by me spoken, and according to the plain common sense and understanding of the same words, without any equivocation, mental evasion, or secret reservation whatsoever. And I do make this recognition, acknowledgment, abjuration, renunciation and promise, heartily, willingly and truly upon the true faith of a Christian.

The following Assurance must at the same time, place, and by the same person be administered, taken and subscribed.

Assurance (h).

I, A. B., do in the sincerity of my heart assert, acknowledge and declare that her Majesty Queen Victoria is the only lawful and undoubted Sovereign of this realm, as well de jure, that is, of right Queen, as de facto, that is, in the possession and exercise of the government. And therefore I do promise and swear that I will with heart and hand, life and goods, maintain and defend her right, title and government against the descendants of the person who pretended to be Prince of Wales during the life of the late King James, and since his decease pretended to be and took upon himself the style and title of King of England by the name of James the Third, or of Scotland by the name of James the Eighth, or the style of King of Great Britain, and their adherents, and all other enemies who, either by open or secret attempts, shall disturb or disquiet her Majesty in the possession and exercise thereof.

pealed.

Acts relating to declarations against transubstantiation are repealed by 10 Geo. 4, c. 7, s. 1, without regard to any religious distinction. By the stat. of 9 Geo. 4, c. 17, the acts relating to the sacramental test are repealed, and in lieu thereof a declaration prescribed by the act is to be made and subscribed; but it does not apply to Sheriffs of counties, or cities, or towns. See 9 Geo. 4, c. 17, explained by 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 28.

Instead of the oaths of Allegiance, Supremacy, and Abjuration, her Majesty's subjects professing the Roman Catholic religion must take the following oath.

Roman Catholics' Oath.

bear true allegiance to her Majesty Queen Victoria, and will defend her to the utmost of my power against all conspiracies and attempts whatever which shall be made against her person, crown or dignity ; and I will do my utmost endeavour to declare and make known to her Majesty, her heirs and successors, all treasons and traitorous conspiracies which may be formed against her or them : And I do faithfully promise to maintain, support and defend to the utmost of my power the succession of the crown, which succession, by an Act intituled "An Act for the further Limitation of the Crown and better securing the Rights and Liberties of the Subject," is and stands limited to the Princess Sophia, Electress of Hanover, and the heirs of her body being Protestants ; hereby utterly renouncing and abjuring any obedience or allegiance unto any other person claiming or pretending a right to the crown of this realm : And I do further declare, that it is not an article of my faith, and that I do renounce, reject and abjure the opinion, that princes excommunicated or deprived by the Pope or any other authority of the see of Rome may be deposed or murdered by their subjects or by any person whatsoever : And I do declare, that I do not believe that the Pope of Rome, or any other foreign prince, prelate, person, state, or potentate, hath or ought to have any temporal or civil jurisdiction, power, superiority or pre-eminence, directly or indirectly, within this realm. I do swear that I will defend to the utmost of my power the settlement of property within this realm as established by the laws : And I do hereby disclaim, disavow and solemnly abjure any intention to subvert the present Church Establishment as settled by law within this realm : And I do solemnly swear that I never will exercise any privilege to which I am or may become entitled, to diturb or weaken the Protestant religion or Protestant government in the United Kingdom : And I do solemnly in the presence of God profess, testify and declare, that I do make this declaration and every part thereof in the plain and ordinary sense of the words of this oath, without any evasion, equivocation or mental reservation whatsoever. So help me God.

This oath is to be administered in the same manner and time and by the same persons as the oaths for which it is substituted were. 10 Geo. 4, c. 7, s. 6. Before whom taken.

The Oaths of Allegiance, Supremacy, and Abjuration, or instead thereof, in the case of a Roman Catholic subject, the oath before mentioned, must be taken in the same manner, &c. as Sheriffs of English counties are enjoined to do. The assurance also must be taken and subscribed in like manner.

Conse-
refusal.

If a person appointed refuse to take the oaths of office he was usually punished in the Star Chamber, but now he is proceeded against by criminal information in the Queen's Bench (k); a refusal to take the oaths is a refusal of the office (l). In counties of cities and counties of towns, as in London, certain penalties are attached to the refusal of the office (by particular statutes or by some bye-laws), and these penalties are recoverable by action.

SECTION V.

OLD AND NEW SHERIFF.

IN the reign of Edward the Third (a) it was declared that any Sheriff abiding in his office above One Year should be liable to severe penalties and disabilities; but at a subsequent period of our history some relaxation was made to this rule of law by allowing the outgoing Sheriff, (unless lawfully discharged before,) to occupy his office during Michaelmas and Hilary Terms, after the year that his office was ended, if the incoming Sheriff had not his patent ready, and did not take the oaths (b), &c. Notwithstanding, however, these old statutes it was holden that the appointment might be “durante bene placito,” or “during the Queen’s pleasure” (c); and such was the form of the royal writ; and such is the form of the warrant of appointment prescribed by the recent enactment (d) in the reign of our late beloved sovereign. Therefore until a new Sheriff be named his office cannot be determined unless by the demise of the Crown, or by his own death: in the former case he may hold his office for six months after the demise, unless sooner displaced by the successor (e). In the latter, if any High Sheriff of any county of England or Wales shall happen to die before the expiration of his year, his Under-sheriff, or Deputy, shall nevertheless continue in office, and execute the same in the name of the deceased Sheriff until another Sheriff be appointed and sworn; and the Under-sheriff, or Deputy, is answerable for a proper discharge of the duties of his office in all respects as the deceased Sheriff would have been if he had been living; and the security given by the Under-sheriff, or Deputy, to the deceased Sheriff is to stand as a security in the meantime (f): in such a case the Under-sheriff, or Deputy, is by virtue of this statute a quasi High Sheriff, and stands in that relation to the world and to the incoming Sheriff.

their warrants of appointment is, as before observed, in Hilary Term ; but, note, as the appointment is now “ durante bene placito,” they are not necessarily made out then (g), and are sometimes, for reasons influencing her Majesty in Council, postponed.

Relation in which they stand to each other.

It is highly important to define and know the true relation between the new and old Sheriff, and their relation to the world at the time when the former receives this warrant of appointment. The warrant of appointment per se does not affect their relative situation, but operates only as an authority to the incoming Sheriff to qualify himself for entering upon his office, and to take from the outgoing Sheriff a transfer of all writs, prisoners, &c. ; such was the practical effect of the patent, and such it is conceived is that of its substitute the present warrant of appointment. It becomes then material to consider when and by what process their relative positions are changed, that is, when and by what process the one becomes charged and the other discharged from the custody of the county. By analogy to the old law the rule may thus briefly be laid down : the old Sheriff is not discharged, nor the new Sheriff charged till two things are done, viz. the receipt of the warrant of appointment by the incoming Sheriff, and the delivery to the outgoing Sheriff of the signed duplicate list and account mentioned in the seventh section of the recent statute (h), “ to whom the same shall be a good and sufficient discharge of and from all, &c. without any Writ of Discharge or other writ whatsoever.”

When the old Sheriff is discharged, and the new charged.

The section of the statute above alluded to (i) is in the following words :—“ That every Sheriff of any county, city, liberty, division, town corporate, or place, shall at the expiration of his office make out and deliver to the new or incoming Sheriff a true and correct list and account under his hand of all prisoners in his custody, and of all writs and other process in his hands not wholly executed by him, with all such particulars as shall be necessary to explain to the said incoming Sheriff the several matters intended to be transferred to him, and shall thereupon turn over and transfer to the care and custody of the said incoming Sheriff all such prisoners, writs, and process, and all records, books, and matters appertaining to the said office of Sheriff; and the said incoming Sheriff shall thereupon sign and give a duplicate of such list and accounts to the Sheriff going out of office, to whom the same shall be a good and sufficient discharge of and from all the prisoners therein mentioned and transferred to the said incoming Sheriff, and the further charge of the execution of the writs, process, and other matters therein contained without any Writ of Discharge or other writ whatsoever; and the said incoming Sheriff shall thereupon stand and be charged with the said prisoners, and also with the execution and care of the said writs, process, and other matters contained in the said list and account, as fully and effectually as if the same writs and process had been turned over by indenture and schedule; and in case any Sheriff shall refuse or neglect at the expiration of his office to make out, sign, and deliver such list and account as aforesaid, and to turn over the process aforesaid in manner aforesaid, every such Sheriff so neglecting or refusing shall be liable to make such satisfaction by damages and costs to the party aggrieved as he, she, or they shall sustain by such neglect or refusal."

There are three things notable in this section; firstly, that the writs, prisoners, &c. are not to be turned over by the indenture and schedule required by the 20 Geo. 2, c. 37, but by the true and correct list and account under his (the old Sheriff's) hand of all prisoners, &c. with all such particulars as may be necessary to explain the several matters intended to be transferred; secondly, the signing and giving a duplicate of such list and account to the old Sheriff, which act of itself operates as a discharge to the old Sheriff and a charge to the new Sheriff, without any writ of discharge, as under the old law, or any other writ whatsoever; thirdly, the remedy a party aggrieved has for any damage sustained against the old Sheriff for neglecting or refusing to make out, sign and deliver the list and account aforesaid, with all such particulars as might be necessary to explain the several matters transferred. The list may be in the following form, mutatis mutandis.

Transfer of prisoners.

If there is any omission in this list or account as regards writs or prisoners or any necessary explanation regarding the same, the old Sheriff is liable for such negligence, and not the new Sheriff; and the latter need take no notice thereof (k).

With regard to the transfer of prisoners, the rule was that the new Sheriff was not bound to receive them except at the gaol (l), but if he did receive them elsewhere, he became thereby equally charged with them (m), but now there is no distinction as regards time or place between the transfer of writs and prisoners; eo in- stante he signs and gives the duplicate list to the old Sheriff, the one becomes discharged from, and the other charged with, all prisoners as well as all writs and matters set forth in the said list and account.

A question, primâ facie countenanced by some old authorities (n), might be started, whether (supposing the new Sheriff to have notice of any material fact so omitted aliundè as by word of mouth or by letter) the statute is satisfied? But even upon that hypothesis we are disposed to think there would notwithstanding be a breach of duty on the part of the old Sheriff, and that he would be liable in damages to the party aggrieved; for three reasons; firstly, because the authorities do not go to the extent usually contended for, the one being simply and singly a question of power in an Under-sheriff to make a transfer without indenture, and the latter whether a High Sheriff, who had taken charge of prisoners without indenture, could be indicted, and it was holden that an indictment would lie “car un indictment est le suit del’ Roy;” secondly, because when these decisions were given the “delivery by indenture was by the order of the common law” (o), whereas now it is by the statute law of the land; thirdly, because if the party aggrieved assigned for breach in his declaration, that the defendant “did not make out and deliver to the new Sheriff a true or correct list and account under his hand of all, &c. with all such particulars, &c.” in the words of the 7th section of the statute, it would, we are disposed to think, be no plea to say that the incoming Sheriff had notice of the fact so omitted by word of mouth or letter or by other means dehors the list and account, because such a plea would neither deny nor confess and avoid the former allegation.

Notice aliundè how it affects the new Sheriff.

Reasons in the negative.

In the Register (p) there is to be found the form of a writ commanding the old Sheriff to transfer by indentures all things appertaining to his office to his successor, but it is now clearly by implication abolished, as the statute is imperative that he shall, at the expiration of his office, turn over, &c., and in case

Transfer by power of Attorney.

As the transfer, &c. is at this day seldom if ever made or accepted by the High Sheriff in person, but by another in his stead under a power of attorney, the following may be the form of the precedent.

Power of Attorney.

From new High Sheriff to C. D. (his agent), &c.

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME GREETING: Whereas I, A. B., of in the county of C. by her Majesty's warrant of appointment, bearing date the day of A. D. 1838, have been appointed High Sheriff of the said county instead of M. A. Esq. the late High Sheriff: Now KNOW YE, that I have nominated, constituted and appointed, and do by these presents nominate, constitute and appoint C. D. of in the said county, gentleman, for me and in my stead to receive and take from the said M. A., or from his Under-sheriff, or from such other person or persons as he shall or may appoint for that purpose, a true and correct list and account of all prisoners in his custody, and of all writs and other process in his hands not wholly executed by him with all such particulars as shall be necessary to explain to me the several matters intended to be transferred to me, and all records, books and matters appertaining to my office of Sheriff; and further for me and in my stead to accept and receive the care and custody of all prisoners, &c. and to sign and give a duplicate of such list and account to the said M. A. and whatever else may be necessary to carry the same into effect.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this day of A. D. 1838.

(L. S.) G. M.

Power of Attorney.

From old Sheriff to C. D. (his agent), &c.

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME GREETING: Whereas by her Majesty's warrant of appointment Sir G. M., Bart. of hath been duly appointed High Sheriff of the county of C. in my stead: Now KNOW YE, that I have nominated, constituted and appointed, and by these presents do nominate, constitute and appoint J. B. of in the said county, gentleman, for me and in my stead to make out and deliver to the said Sir G. M. Bart. a true and correct list and account of all prisoners in my custody and of all writs and other process in my hands not wholly executed by me with all such particulars as may be necessary to explain to him the several matters intended to be transferred to him, and to turn over and transfer to his care and custody all such prisoners, writs and process, and all records, books, and matters appertaining to the said office of Sheriff, and further for me and in my stead to accept and receive a duplicate of such list and account and all such prisoners, writs, process, records, books and matters appertaining to the said office.

In witness, &c.

Having then laid down in general terms the relation in which the old and new Sheriffs stand to each other and the world—how and when the office determines in the one and commences in the other—the position of the Under-sheriff in case of the death of the High Sheriff, and the liability of the High Sheriff for neglecting or refusing to give to his successor the necessary information for a due administration of justice, referring for the consequences and details of what has been stated to the more appropriate heads of Escape, &c.—we next proceed to the appointment of his officers, his Under-sheriff, Bailiffs, Gaoler, Replevin Clerks, and Deputies.

SECTION VI.

UNDER-SHERIFF.

By the Common Law he that hath an office of trust cannot make a Deputy without express words in his patent or grant so to do (a). The office of High Sheriff is one of trust, but at a very early period of our law an exception or distinction obtained in the books with regard to this officer; and the rule was, that when he was a ministerial officer only he might appoint a deputy, but when he had judicial duties to discharge, that he could not name a deputy, and was obliged to do the same in his own proper person (b); and this rule prevailed although there were no express words in his patent enabling him to appoint a deputy.

It appears that the High Sheriff in ancient times had his Under-sheriff, (first called Under-sheriff by the stat. of Westminster 2, c. 39,) but that he might have executed the office himself if he pleased (c). Also it appears that he might have been constituted by parol as well as by writing, and that he was constituted such at the will and pleasure of the High Sheriff, and, consequently, removeable on the determination of that will and pleasure (d), although he made him irrevocable. But it is now declared (e), “that from and after the passing of this Act, (29th August, 1833,) every person so appointed Sheriff as aforesaid shall, within one calendar month next after the notification of his appointment in the London Gazette, by writing under his hand, nominate and appoint some fit and proper person to be his Under-sheriff, and shall transmit a duplicate thereof to the Clerk of the Peace for the county, to be by him filed, and which he is hereby required to file among the records of his office, and for which he shall be entitled to demand and have from such Under-sheriff the sum of five shillings and no more; and such appointment and duplicate shall not be liable to any stamp duty whatever."

The appointment may be in the following form (f):—

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME, GREETING: Whereas I, Sir G. M., Baronet, of —, in the county of C., have been appointed, during her Majesty's will and pleasure, High Sheriff of the said county, by her Majesty's warrant of appointment, bearing date the — day of —, in the year of our Lord, 1838: Now know ye, that I have nominated, constituted and appointed, and by these presents do nominate, constitute and appoint Matthew Atkinson of —, in the said county, gentleman, my Under-sheriff of and for the said county, and do depute and authorize him to act and to execute all things to the said office of Under-sheriff in any wise appertaining or belonging. Dated this — day of —, A. D. 1839.

G. M. (g).

No qualification or disability.

An Attorney in Superior Courts may be Under-sheriff.

There is no qualification for, and seemingly no disability (h) for, the office of Under-sheriff, except perhaps that of an attorney in actual practice, respecting which a slight difficulty arises. It will be observed, that by the statute of 1 Hen. 5, c. 4, (now wholly repealed by 1 Vict. c. 55, s. 1,) it was declared, "that no Under-sheriff, Sheriff's Clerk, Receiver, nor Sheriff's Bailiff, be attorney in any Court of the King during the time that he is in office with any such Sheriff; and by rule of the Court of Queen's Bench, M. T. 1654, s. 1, it was ordered, "that if he does he is to be expelled from the employment of an attorney and not to be re-admitted." This rule was made by the Court in strict accordance with the letter and spirit of the old statute, and to enforce a more uniform obedience to it; so that there is no statute disabling an attorney from being an Under-sheriff,

(f) The High Sheriff must transmit a duplicate of this instrument to the Clerk of the Peace. Both the original and duplicate are free from all stamp duty. The duplicate should be on parchment as it becomes a record when filed.

(g) Seal of office is not required by the act—merely that it should be by writing under his hand as contradistinguished from a parol appointment.

(h) The stat. of 9 Edw. 2, 16, st. 2, as to a steward or bailiff to a great lord, applies only to Sheriffs.

and as regards the rule of Court referred to, we are disposed to think that the Queen's Bench (for it is only a rule of that one Court) would not act upon it, the basis of the rule having been repealed by a higher tribunal. That an Under-sheriff therefore may at the present day be an attorney of the Courts at Westminster during the time he is serving the office, and that the evasive system of practising in the name of another is no longer necessary, admits of little doubt. Whether the repeal of the statute of Henry the Fifth, and the consequent union of the two characters in one and the same person, was prudent, we hesitate to affirm, we must hope for the best; but we cannot help observing, that within the extent of our own limited practice, an Under-sheriff, who was in fact the attorney on the record, returned the jury process and acted as Under-sheriff on a view of a right of way. No improper motives were or are imputed to him on that occasion, (de mortuis nil nisi bonum,) but so long as human nature is as it is, so long will the most honest and upright intentions be exposed to, if they do not receive impressions from, times and circumstances incompatible with a proper discharge of duty.

Reasons why he may.

But although, as above suggested, an Under-sheriff may practise as an attorney in any of the Superior Courts during the time he serves the office, yet neither the Under-sheriff nor his deputy can act as a solicitor, attorney or agent, or sue (i) out any process at any general or quarter sessions of the peace within the county, under a penalty of £50, for the statute of 22 Geo. 2, c. 46, remains unrepealed and in full force.

Under-sheriff cannot practise as an attorney in general or quarter sessions.

By stat. 3 Geo. 1, c. 15, s. 10, after reciting that the office of Under-sheriff and other offices and places in the disposal of the High Sheriff had of late years been frequently sold and let to farm contrary to the several statutes (k) theretofore made for restraining Sheriffs from such practices, and contrary to the oath and duty of a Sheriff; for remedy thereof it was enacted, "that it shall not be lawful to or for any person or persons whatsoever to buy, sell, let or take to farm, the office of Under-sheriff, Deputy-sheriff, Seal-keeper, County-clerk, Shire-clerk, Gaoler, Bailiff, or any other office or place pertaining to the office of High Sheriff of any county or shire in England or Wales, or to contract for, promise, or grant, for money or other reward or benefit, the said offices or places or any of them; nor to give, take, promise or receive any other consideration whatsoever for the said office or any of them, directly or indirectly by themselves, or any person in trust for them or for their use," under the penalty of 500*l.*, recoverable in a qui tam action, such action being commenced within two years after the offence committed (l). But this act did not extend to the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex, the county palatine of Durham, the county of Westmoreland, or to the Sheriffs of any city or town being a county of itself, as to their placing in or disposing of any of the offices, places, or employments, of their Under-sheriffs, County-clerks, Bailiffs, or other officers, or the continuance therein, nor to hinder any High Sheriff from constituting an Under-sheriff or Deputy-sheriff as by law he may; nor to hinder the Under-sheriff, in any case of the High Sheriff's death, when he acts as High Sheriff, from constituting a deputy; nor to hinder the receipt of or accounting to the Sheriff, &c. for legal fees (m). But by a subsequent statute it was declared, that "no Sheriff of London and Middlesex shall accept, demand, take or receive of his or their Under-sheriff any sum or sums of money, gratuity, or present whatsoever, for the execution of the place of Under-sheriff," nor oblige him to be at any expense in relation thereto, which has been usually borne by the High Sheriff, except, &c.

But the two Secondaries, who act as Under-sheriffs of London, have purchased their places of the city of London time immemorial.

Security from Under-
sheriff.

Formerly it was doubted whether the High Sheriff could take a security from his Under-sheriff to indemnify him from escapes, &c., but in Norton v. Simmes (n) it was holden that he might; and Dalton says if the High Sheriff will sleep quietly and take his repose in safety, he shall do well and wisely to look for and to take good security from his Under-sheriff before he do trust him with his office. Indeed, looking at the stat. of 3 Geo. 1, c. 15, s. 8, which provides, in case of the death of the High Sheriff, that the security given by the Under-sheriff and his pledges shall stand as a security to all persons, it seems no

And that the said Under-sheriff performing the aforesaid covenants, shall have and enjoy the said office of Under-sheriff during the shrievalty of the said A. B., and keep by himself or deputy the Courts by law established in the said county ; and have and take all lawful fees, dues, profits and emoluments whatsoever belonging to the said office of Sheriff. In witness whereof, the said parties to these presents have hereunto set their hands and seals the day and year first above written.

Signed, sealed, &c.

Under-sheriff's power as deputy cannot be abridged.

Note.—The High Sheriff cannot appoint one Under-sheriff and yet abridge his power, no more than the Queen may that of the High Sheriff(o) ; for it is essential to a deputy to have the whole power of his principal, (save only the power of making a deputy, for that implies an assignment of his whole power, which cannot be) ; and a covenant or condition to restrain his power as deputy is void (p). On the other hand, he cannot enable him to do a thing which the Sheriff himself ought to do in person—as to execute a writ of dower, &c.—for in all cases where the writ commands the Sheriff to go in person, there the writ is his commission, from which he cannot deviate (q).

UNDER-SHERIFF'S OATH.

Before the statute of 27 Eliz. c. 12, the Under-sheriff was never sworn (r). By that statute a brief form was prescribed, but by a more recent statute it is enacted (s) that the following oath shall be taken by all Under-sheriffs of any county or counties of South Britain, (except the several counties of Wales and County Palatine of Chester,) before they enter upon the execution of their offices respectively.

Under-sheriff's Oath.

I A. B. do swear, that I will well and truly serve the Queen's Majesty in the office of Under-sheriff of the county of C., and promote her Majesty's profit in all things that belong to the crown; I will not assent to decrease, lessen, or conceal the Queen's rights, or the rights of her franchises; and whensoever I shall have knowledge that the rights of the crown are concealed or withdrawn, be it in lands, rents, franchises, suits, or services, or in any other matter or thing, I will do my utmost to make them be restored to the crown again; and if I may not do it of myself, I will certify and inform some of her Majesty's Judges thereof; I will not respite or delay to levy the Queen's debts for any gift, promise, reward or favour, when I may raise the same without great grievance to the debtors; I will do right as well to poor as to rich in all things belonging to my office; I will do no wrong to any man for any gift, reward or promise, nor for favour or hatred; I will disturb no man's right, and will truly and faithfully acquit at the Exchequer all those of whom I shall receive any debt, duties, or sums of money belonging to the crown: I will take nothing whereby the Queen may lose, or whereby her right may be disturbed, injured, or delayed; I will truly return and truly serve all the Queen's writs to the best of my skill and knowledge; I will truly set and return reasonable and due issues of them that be within my bailiwick, according to their estates and circumstances; and make due panels of persons able and sufficient, and not suspected, or procured, as is appointed by the statutes of this realm; [I have not bought, purchased, or taken to farm, or contracted for, promised or given any consideration whatsoever, by myself, or any other person for me or for my use, directly or indirectly, to any person or persons whatsoever, for the office of Under-sheriff of the county of _____, which I am now to enter upon and enjoy, nor for the profits of the same, nor for any bailiwick thereof, or any other place or office belonging thereunto; I have not sold or contracted for, or let to farm, nor have I granted or promised, for reward or benefit, by myself or any other person for me, or for my use, directly or indirectly, any bailiwick thereof, or any other place or office belonging thereunto;] I will truly and diligently execute the good laws and statutes of this realm; and in all things well and truly behave myself in my said office for her Majesty's advantage, and for the good of her subjects, and discharge my whole duty according to the best of my skill and power. So help me God.

(s) 3 Geo. 1, c. 15, s. 19.

Before
sworn, &c.

The time, manner, and person before whom this oath is to be made, are precisely the same as in the case of the High Sheriff, but for perspicuity's sake we again set out the section of the recent statute which governs and controls it. "And be it further enacted, that each and every person so appointed Sheriff and Under-sheriff as aforesaid, (except the Sheriffs of London (t) and Middlesex, and their Under-sheriffs,) shall, before he enter upon the execution of his office, take the oath of office heretofore and now required by law, which oath shall be fairly written on parchment (without being subject to any stamp duty) and signed by him, and shall and may be sworn before the Barons of his Majesty's Exchequer, or any of them, or any one of his Majesty's Justices of the peace for the county of which he shall be appointed Sheriff or Under-sheriff, and the same shall be thereupon transmitted to the Clerk of the Peace for the same county, who is hereby required to file the same among the records of his office, and for which he shall be entitled to demand and have from such Sheriff or Under-sheriff the sum of five shillings, and no more (u)."

Oaths of Allegiance,
&c.

The oaths of Allegiance, Supremacy, Abjuration and Assurance are to be taken and subscribed in the same manner as the High Sheriff, and within the same time; or instead of the oaths of Allegiance, Supremacy, and Abjuration, her Majesty's subjects professing the Roman Catholic religion must take the oath prescribed by the statute of 10 Geo. 4 (x).

Welsh Under-sheriffs.

With regard to the Under-sheriffs of the counties in Wales, there is no statute making it imperative upon them to take any oath of office, for the statutes of 27 Eliz. and 3 Geo. 1, are in express terms confined to England, but the oaths of Allegiance (y) and Abjuration (z) must be taken and subscribed by them.

The Under-sheriff is the general deputy (a) of the High Sheriff for all purposes, and the law looks upon them as one person (b). Nature of office.

He does all things in the name of the officer himself, and for whom his grantor must answer (c). Acts in the name of the High Sheriff.

The power to make Bailiffs and Precepts is a necessary consequence of his deputation, although the High Sheriff does not acquaint him therewith (d). Power to make Bailiffs, &c.

The High Sheriff cannot appoint two Deputy Sheriffs extraordinary (e). Not two deputies extraordinary.

No action will lie against him as Under-sheriff.

All writs and process directed to the Sheriff are usually delivered at once to the Under-sheriff (f) to make out the proper warrants thereon, which, as we have seen, he may do by force of his deputation; and they are obliged to receive them in any place and at all times within their county, without taking of any thing other than such fees as the law alloweth, and to make out warrants thereon. But the delivering out warrants before they have the writs in their custody subjects them to a penalty of 10*l.*; and under the like penalty every warrant must have the same day and year set down thereon as shall be set down on the writ itself (g). Writs, &c. usually delivered to Under-sheriff in the first instance.

By the statute of 42 Edw. 3, c. 9 (h), it was enacted, "that no Sheriff, Under-sheriff, nor Sheriff's Clerk abide in his office above one year;" but by 1 Vict. c. 55, s. 1, the above is re- Under-sheriff may abide more than one year in office.

A deputy at will.

When the will is determined by the death of the High Sheriff.

The Under-sheriff being, as already stated, but a deputy at the will of the High Sheriff, (even although he make him irrevocable,) he necessarily, at common law, would cease to be such the moment that will was determined either by the death or discharge of his grantor. To remedy the inconveniences arising because of the death of a High Sheriff, it was enacted (i), "That if any High Sheriff of any county of England or Wales shall happen to die before the expiration or determination of his year, or before he be lawfully superseded, in such case the Under-sheriff or Deputy Sheriff by him appointed shall nevertheless continue in his office, and shall execute the same, and all things belonging thereunto, in the name of the said deceased Sheriff, until another Sheriff be appointed for the said county, and sworn in manner as is hereinafter directed; and the said Under-sheriff or Deputy Sheriff shall be answerable for the execution of the said office in all things and to all respects, interests, and purposes whatsoever, during such interval as the High Sheriff so deceased would by law have been if he had been living; and the security given to the High Sheriff so deceased by the said Under-sheriff and his pledges shall stand, remain, and be a security to the King, his heirs and successors, and to all persons whatsoever for such Under-sheriff's due performance of his office during such interval.

SECTION VII.

BAILIFFS.

Qualification.

By the stat. of 14 Edw. 3, st. 1, c. 9, it is enacted, that "Sheriffs shall hold the same (their counties) in their own hands and put in such Bailiffs and Hundredors having lands (k) within the said bailiwicks and hundreds for whom they will answer."

(i) 3 Geo. 1, c. 15, s. 8.

(k) It is to be regretted that this qualification is so generally overlooked in the appointment of Bailiffs; there was formerly in use a writ called "a ballivo amovendo" to remove a Bailiff from his office for want of sufficient land in the bailiwick; see form of writ, post, p. 47.

Notwithstanding this statute there are two counties, namely, Cumberland (i) and Cornwall (k), where there are no bound-bailiffs; but Lord Kenyon, in speaking of Cumberland, says, "what protection the Sheriff of Cumberland has in cases of this kind that other Sheriffs have not it is not necessary to inquire in this case; but though he may not have bound-bailiffs, he may perhaps learn, whenever the question arises, that he is bound, like all other Sheriffs, either to execute the writ personally or to procure it to be executed by some other person, for whom he is responsible" (l); and the dictum, though extrajudicial, is in strictest accordance with the first principles of our law, and applies with equal force to Cornwall and other counties as to the one to which it has more immediate reference.

For all practical purposes it is sufficient to divide and class them in the following manner:—

1. Bound-bailiffs, vulgariter, Bum-bailiffs (m).
2. Special Bailiffs.
3. Bailiffs of Liberties.

BOUND-BAILIFFS are such as are usually bound with sureties to the High Sheriff in an obligation for the due execution of their office (for he may take a security from them, as he is answerable for their acts) (n). Of these in London there are thirty-six, called Serjeants at Mace, and each Serjeant gives £800 security to the Sheriffs for the faithful discharge of his office. The indemnity bond from a Bailiff to the High Sheriff may be according to the following precedent (o).

mon gaol by law appointed for keeping the prisoners of the said Sheriff, for debt or on any civil process, immediately after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the time of arrest, if in custody only on mesne process; and immediately after the arrest of any prisoner in execution, unless discharged out of custody by due course of law; AND ALSO, if the said Bailiff shall make a true return and inventories of all goods and chattels seized in execution by him as Bailiff to the said Sheriff, and before removal thereof pay the rent in arrear not exceeding one year, pursuant to the statute in that case made and provided, and all taxes due in respect thereof, pursuant to the statute, and shall indemnify the said Sheriff on account of any mistake or default relating thereto; AND ALSO, if the said Bailiff shall pay to the said Sheriff, Under-sheriff, or deputies the consideration or purchase-money mentioned in every bill of sale or assignment, executed by the said Sheriff, Under-sheriff, or deputies at the request of the said Bailiff, notwithstanding the acknowledgment of the receipt thereof by the said Sheriff contained in any such bill of sale or assignment; AND ALSO, if the said Bailiff shall and will forthwith pay to the said Sheriff, Under-sheriff, or deputies, all monies received by the said Bailiff on any arrest or levy by him made, or with which he shall be entrusted for the said Sheriff, without deduction; AND ALSO, if the said Bailiff shall certify and return to the said Sheriff, Under-sheriff, or deputies, at the office of the said Sheriff, all unexecuted warrants of the said Sheriff, on or before the day of next; AND ALSO, if the said Bailiff shall in all things truly, lawfully, and honestly demean and behave himself as Bailiff aforesaid, and faithfully and diligently serve and attend the said Sheriff, his Under-sheriff, and their deputies, and in due and lawful manner all their and every of their lawful commands or directions, touching any manner of service, incident or belonging to the said office of Sheriff, shall and will execute and perform; AND ALSO, if any writ of attachment shall issue, or any rule or order of Court for such writ shall be made, or any verdict or judgment given against the said Sheriff or Under-sheriff, or either of them, their or either of their executors or administrators, or against the Under-sheriff, in any case wherein the said Bailiff shall have made any arrest or levy in the name of or under the authority of the said Sheriff, the said Bailiff shall and will immediately pay or cause to be paid to the said Sheriff, or Under-sheriff, or deputies, or one of them, the debt, damages, costs, and charges, in every such case paid by them, or any of them, or for payment whereof the said Sheriff or Under-sheriff may be liable; AND ALSO, if the said Bailiff shall well and truly pay or cause to be paid to the said Sheriff, his Under-sheriff, or deputies, or one of them, the costs and charges of prosecuting or opposing any motion in or application to any Court touching or concerning any matter wherein the said Bailiff shall act or assume to act as Bailiff to the said Sheriff, and the costs and charges which the said Sheriff may be called upon to pay to any party or parties, person or persons, by reason of any such prosecution or opposition; AND ALSO, if any action or suit be commenced or prosecuted against the said Sheriff, his Under-sheriff, or deputies, or any of them, touching or concerning any matter wherein the said Bailiff shall act or assume to act as Bailiff to the said Sheriff, the said Bailiff shall well and truly pay to the said Sheriff, his Under-sheriff, or deputies, or one of them, all costs, charges, damages, and losses by them or any of them incurred, paid, or sustained, in or about the defence or in consequence of such action or suit; AND ALSO, if any action or suit be prosecuted at the instance of the said Sheriff, Under-sheriff, or deputies, on any bail bond, or indemnity bond, or replevin bond, taken by the said Sheriff or given as his security, in any case wherein the said Bailiff shall have acted or assumed to act as such Bailiff, whether such action or suit be prosecuted at the request or with the consent of the said Bailiff and his sureties aforesaid, or not, the said Bailiff or his sureties, or one of them, shall well and truly pay the costs and charges thereof to the said Sheriff, his Under-sheriff, or deputies, and indemnify them respectively touching the same ; AND ALSO, if the said Bailiff and his sureties, some or one of them, shall indemnify the said Sheriff and his Under-sheriff from all damages, loss, costs, and charges which they or either of them shall or may suffer, sustain, or be put unto, or be liable to suffer, sustain, or be put unto, for or by reason of the payment of any money by the said Sheriff, Under-sheriff, or deputies, to any person or persons, or by reason of any return to any writ or process made by the said Sheriff, Under-sheriff, or deputies, at the request of the said Bailiff; AND ALSO, if the said Bailiff and his said sureties, some or one of them, their or some one of their heirs, executors, or administrators, shall and will save harmless and indemnify the said Sheriff and Under-sheriff, their and each of their executors and administrators, from and against all actions, suits, fines and amerciaments, penalties, contempts, forfeitures, loss, costs, charges, damages, and expenses, which may be commenced, prosecuted, imposed, or set upon them, or either of them, or which they or any or either of them may suffer, pay, or be liable unto, for or by reason of any extortion or escape happening by the act or default of the said Bailiff, or for or by reason of the executing, not executing, returning, not returning, or mis-return of any writ, process, mandate, precept, or warrant, the not taking bail, taking insufficient bail, the not bringing into Court the body of any defendant, or any other cause whatsoever happening by or arising from the act or omission of the said Bailiff; then the above-written obligation shall be void, otherwise to be and remain in full force and virtue.

Before he take upon him to impanel or return any inquest, jury or tales, or to intermeddle with the execution of process in any Court of Record under the penalty of 40*l.* he must receive and take the following oath :—

Bailiff's Oath.

oath.

I, A. B., shall not use or exercise the office of Bailiff corruptly during the time that I shall remain therein, neither shall or will accept, receive, or take by any color, means, or device whatsoever, or consent to the taking of any manner of fee or reward of any person or persons for the impaneling or returning of any inquest, jury, or tales, in any Court of Record for the Queen, or betwixt party and party, above two shillings, or the value thereof, or such fees as are allowed and appointed for the same by the laws and statutes of this realm, but will, according to my power, truly and indifferently with convenient speed, impanel all jurors and return all such writ or writs touching the same as shall appertain to be done by my duty or office during the time that I shall remain in the said office. So help me God.

Before whom taken. The recent statute does not apply to Bailiffs, only to Sheriffs and Under-sheriffs, therefore the oath must be received and taken before the persons named in the statute of Elizabeth (p); that is to say, before the justices of assize, or one of them, of the same circuit wherein that county is whereof he shall be Bailiff; or before the custos rotulorum, or two justices of the peace, whereof one to be of the quorum, of the said county whereof he shall be Bailiff, or before the head officer of the place if it be a town corporate (q).

We must now endeavour to lay down the nature of the office of a Bailiff of this kind—the relation in which he stands to his principal (the High Sheriff) and to the world at large—and the most intelligible way of doing so, appears to be by placing him in juxtaposition with the Under-sheriff, whom we have already in general terms described. The Under-sheriff, as before observed, is the general servant of the High Sheriff for all purposes within the scope of the office; but as between a Bound-bailiff and the High Sheriff there subsists no such general privity: his true character is this, he is appointed by the High Sheriff to act on each occasion of executing process wherein he is concerned, in other words, when a warrant is granted to him he becomes the special officer of the High Sheriff for that occasion, and for that occasion only; and upon this principle it is holden, that in order to affect the High Sheriff, to prove him a general bailiff and that he has given a bond as such is not sufficient (r), as it would be in the case of the Under-sheriff.

The relation in which he stands to the Sheriff, &c.

Bailiff and Under-sheriff distinguished.

This distinction should not be overlooked, for in evidence it is highly important; for instance, the declarations of the Under-sheriff (s) are in general admissible to affect the High Sheriff, because he is his general deputy; but the declarations of the Bailiff, even although he has given a bond, are not so, until it be proved by the warrant or otherwise that he is the special agent of the High Sheriff, when such declarations are admissible to affect his principal (t). But as the evidence to connect the Under-sheriff and Bailiff with their principal (the High Sheriff) will require much consideration hereafter, we proceed to examine the legal character of those who fall under the second division of our subject, namely, Special Bailiffs, premising only in addition, with regard to the Under-sheriff's admissions, that the doctrine above laid down has been much restricted by the case of Snowball v. Goodricke (u), where it was holden that admissions of the Under-sheriff are not evidence against the Sheriff, unless they accompany some official act or tend to charge himself.

SPECIAL BAILIFFS.

Special Bailiffs.

A Special Bailiff is one nominated by the plaintiff in the cause, or by his attorney, and appointed by the High Sheriff pro hac vice, and for whose acts, so long as the special agency continues, the plaintiff, and not the High Sheriff, is liable. Where there is an express appointment of a Special Bailiff no difficulty can well arise; but where such appointment is to be inferred from circumstances it is otherwise, and has been the cause of much argument in the different Courts. The result of the various authorities may fairly be stated to be this, that the appointing a Special Bailiff or the giving special directions to a Bound-bailiff, or any interference of the attorney with the execution of the process, discharges the High Sheriff from all liability so long as the agency of the Special Bailiff continues (v). And he was holden discharged by the plaintiff's appointing a Special Bailiff to manage the sale, although he returned that he had sold and that he had paid the sum illegally deducted for the auction, &c. (x).

But, note, the mere expression of a wish by the attorney, that a particular officer may be employed to execute the writ, does not constitute the latter the plaintiff's agent (y).

Whether what is said or written, or done, amounts to an appointment of a Special Bailiff, is a question of fact rather than of law (y).

every lord within his liberty to execute process and do such offices therein as the Under-sheriff doth at large in the county (z).

By the statute of the 5 Edw. 3, c. 4, "it is accorded and established, that no Sheriff, Under-escheator, Bailiff of Franchise, Wapentake, Hundred, nor Tithing, shall from henceforth be, except he have lands sufficient in the same county whereof to answer to the king and his people, if any will complain." And if the lord of a liberty shall choose any man to be Bailiff of his liberty who hath not sufficient lands within the same county; then a writ shall be sent to the Sheriff (of the same county wherein such liberty is), commanding him to discharge or remove such Bailiff, and to choose another Bailiff in his place (a). And an alias pluries, and an attachment, lieth against the Sheriff if he shall not do according as he was commanded by such writ.

The writ in the Register is in the following words:—

"Rex Vic' salutem. Cum in Statuto apud Westm. nuper ædito continetur, quod nullus sit Vicecomes vel ballivus libertatis, wapentachij, hundredi, nec trithingi, nisi habeat terras et tenementa sufficientia in eodem comitatu unde nobis seu populo nostro in hac parte respondere possit si quis super eum conqueri voluerit; jam intelleximus quod tu W. qui terras seu tenementa in eodem comitatu non habet ballivum libertatis nostræ de B. fecisti, in nostri contemptum et populi nostri in hac parte damnum non modicum et gravamen et contrà formam statuti prædicti. Before he take upon him to impanel or return any inquest, jury or tales, or to intermeddle with the execution of process in any Court of Record, under the penalty of 40*l.*, he must receive and take before the person or persons appointed by the statute of Elizabeth(c) the oath therein prescribed. The oath has been already set out at large under the division of Bound-bailiffs, to which we now beg leave to refer, and for other matters of and concerning the same, such as the administering of the same, and the like.

Relation to High Sheriff.

Although the High Sheriff is not in anywise answerable (d) for the acts of a Bailiff of a liberty within his county, yet as there does subsist an intimate connexion between them as regards the execution of process within the liberty, it is highly important to determine the true nature and extent of that connexion; and herein likewise of the Sheriff's power and obligation to infringe upon the franchise or liberty.

Effect of
clause.

The High Sheriff, as already observed, is the immediate officer of all the Courts at Westminster, so to him all writs are directed, although it be of a matter or thing done within a liberty or franchise (e); if the writ contains a non omittas clause the liberty is thereby made pro hac vice parcel of the Sheriff's bailiwick, and the Sheriff must enter and execute the writ within the liberty (f); but if the writ does not contain a non omittas clause it must be executed by the Bailiff of the liberty (g), to whom the Sheriff directs his mandate for that purpose; and if the Sheriff, or his officers by his command, enter the franchise without a non omittas (although the execution of the writ will be good as against all the world but the lord of the franchise) (h) he, the Sheriff, will be liable to an action at the suit of the lord of the franchise for such entry; and a Bailiff executing such a writ is a trespasser, and if killed it is only manslaughter and not murder (i).

Omittas clause when inserted as of course.

By the long established and recognized practice of the Court of Queen's Bench, a non omittas may be issued in the first instance, without suing out a previous writ and waiting for the Sheriff's return of mandavi ballivo qui nullum dedit responsum (k); and the new writ of capias, as prescribed by the 1 & 2 Vict.

(d) Borthman v. Earl of Surrey, 2 Term Rep. 5; by stat. 27 Hen. 8, c. 24, "the amercement for insufficient returns made by Bailiffs of franchises shall be set on the Bailiff's head, and not on the Sheriff's;" or the plaintiff may have an action against the Bailiff if the return be false, the Sheriff not being liable at common law for the false return of the Bailiff.

(k) Carrett v. Smallpage, 9 East Rep. 336; Tidd's Prac. 147, 9th edit.

c. 110, must contain the non omittas clause, and the omission of it would render the writ irregular.

Note.—He may ex officio, and without any writ of non omittas, enter the franchise and execute his office wheresoever the Queen is a party, as in every felony or suspicion of felony, or otherwise in any action (m), or wheresoever the lord of the franchise or the Bailiff is a party to the suit. So where the High Sheriff is judge as well as minister, as on writs of inquiry (n) and of distringas juratores. So where the Bailiff makes default, as when the Sheriff mandavit ballivo libertatis, and the Bailiff nullum dedit responsum. So where a distress is taken within a franchise, and the Bailiff of the franchise will not deliver them, then the Sheriff, upon complaint to him made, may deliver them et hoc vicecomiti ex necessitate conceditur (o).

Where Sheriff may enter franchise without a non omittas.

Whether the Sheriff should direct his mandate to the lord or to the bailiff of the franchise, and whether in the lord's name or in that of his deputy, the returns, &c. and other ministerial acts are to be done, are questions that derive much light from a recent argument in the Court of Queen's Bench (p), and the result may fairly be stated to be this: that if a lordship, with a return of writs therein be granted by the crown, with a special provision in the grant "that the grantee by his Bailiff should have the full return of all writs," or to the like effect, the mandate may be directed to the Bailiff by name, and the return made in his name, but if the grant contains no such special provision, the Bailiff is but the lord's deputy, and all things must be done in the name of the principal.

Direction of mandate, whether to the lord or bailiff.

It may reasonably be asked, how the High Sheriff is to know whether the grant contains such a provision or not? The answer is, that if he can obtain no certain knowledge of the fact, nor of the usual practice (which cannot well happen), the only safe course is to direct his mandate to the lord as principal, and not to the Bailiff.

In the case of Newland v. Cliffe the following are the places said to have the mandates and precepts directed to and returned by the Bailiff in his own name, namely, Isle of Ely, Soke of Peterborough, of which the Marquis of Exeter is lord; the hundred of Towland and Laytonstone, of which the Duke of Manchester is lord ; the hundred of Huntingstone, of which the Earl of Sandwich is lord ; the hundreds of Norman Cross, of which the Earl of Carysfort is lord ; of Scardale, of which the Duke of Devonshire is lord ; and Kidwelly in Carmarthen, of which Lord Cawdor is lord ; and to these may be added, the Liberty of Gower, in Glamorganshire (q), of which the Duke of Beaufort is lord. All lords that have franchises, or their Bailiffs, shall attend upon the justices of assize and gaol delivery on pain of forfeiture of their franchises (r).

Attendance at assizes.

And "all Bailiffs(s) and officers of liberties which in times past have used or ought to attend upon the justices of assize, justices of gaol delivery, and justices of peace of the same shire wherein such liberties and franchises be, shall attend upon," &c. and make due execution of all process to them to be directed, and that also all such Bailiffs, or their deputies or deputy, shall give their attendance and assistance upon the Sheriff, together with the Sheriff's Bailiffs, at all courts of gaol delivery from time to time, for execution of prisoners according to justice (t).

Upon this statute it was holden, that as the Bailiffs of a certain liberty had usually attended the quarter sessions, and made returns of the jurors resident within the liberty, that a fine imposed upon the Bailiff for refusing to summon a jury to attend at such sessions, in obedience to the Sheriff's precept, was properly imposed (u).

The Bailiff of a franchise hath no authority out of the franchise (x).

A Bailiff of a liberty is an officer judicially noticed by the Courts, but a Sheriff's Bailiff is not (y).

SECTION VIII.

GAOLERS.

Gaoler.

A Gaoler is one that hath the custody of the place where prisoners are kept.

By stat. 14 Ed. 3, c. 10, "The gaols shall be rejoined to the Sheriffs, and the Sheriffs shall have the custody of the same as before; and they shall put in keepers for whom they shall answer;" 13 R. 2, c. 15 (a), confirmed by 19 Hen. 7, c. 10, which enacts, "that every Sheriff shall have the custody of the King's common gaols in the county where he is Sheriff, except gaols whereof any persons or body corporate have the keeping of estate of inheritance; provided that no Sheriff have the custody of the King's Bench and Marshalsea." By stat. 8 & 9 Will. 3, c. 7, it is enacted, "That the office of Marshal of the King's Bench and Warden of the Fleet, shall be executed by those who have the inheritance of the said prisons or their deputies; and the profits of their office may be sequestered on motion to the Court of King's Bench to satisfy a judgment had against them for an escape."

In Sheriff's custody.

Another exception to the general rule that the Sheriff has the custody of county gaols may be adduced in the case of the Sheriff of the county of Chester. The office of the Constable of the Castle of Chester is a patent office granted by the crown, and the prisoners committed for offences within the county are confined in the castle under his charge, and not under that of the Sheriff of the county (b).

Castle of Chester.

Every county (except as excepted) hath two gaols, one for debtors, which may be in any house or where the Sheriff pleases, the other for the peace and the matters of the crown, which is the county gaol (c); but note, although the Sheriff may remove his gaol from one place to another within his county, yet he must keep his prisoners within it, and not suffer them to go at large out of the prison, even though he himself attends them, without it be by virtue of and in obedience to an habeas corpus from some court of justice (d).

Every gaol in the kingdom is the Queen's gaol pro bono publico, although many lords of franchises have the custody of them, and some in fee (e); Lord Holt said none can claim a gaol as a franchise, unless they have also a gaol delivery of felony (f).

Every gaol belongs to the Queen.

Office of Gaoler not to be bought, sold, &c.

By stat. 3 Geo. 1, c. 15, s. 10, "none shall buy, sell, let, or take to farm the office of Gaoler of any county or shire in England or Wales, or to contract for, promise, or grant for money or other reward or benefit, the said office or place; nor to give, take, promise, or receive any other consideration whatsoever for the said office directly or indirectly by themselves, or any person in trust for them, or for their use, under the penalty of 500*l.* recoverable in a qui tam action of debt, provided the suit be commenced within two years after the offence committed." "He shall not be an Under-sheriff or Bailiff, nor shall be concerned in any occupation or trade whatsoever" (g).

Gaoler's relation to the High Sheriff.

From what has been advanced it will be evident that the relation in which the gaoler stands to the Sheriff is that of servant, and for whose conduct he must answer—to the Queen if it be a criminal matter, or in a civil matter to the party aggrieved. And being such, the Sheriff may discharge him at his pleasure, and if he refuses to quit possession for forty-eight hours after due notice to him in that behalf, he may be ejected in manner pointed out by the 27th section of the statute of 4 Geo. 4, c. 64, the statute in which all other statutes on the subject are consolidated, and to which reference must always be had for information. Now seeing that the High Sheriff is answerable in law for the acts of his gaoler, in the language of Mr. Dalton, "if he will sleep quietly and take his repose in safety, he shall do well and wisely to look for and to take good security from his gaoler before he do trust him with his office." The security may be in the following form:

Bond from Gaoler.

Statutes by which gaols are now regulated.

The statute above referred to and by which gaols are now regulated (4 Geo. 4, c. 64, amended by 5 Geo. 4, c. 85,) is intitled, "An Act for Consolidating and Amending the Laws relating to the Building, Repairing, and Regulating of certain Gaols and Houses of Correction in England and Wales," (10th July, 1823,) after reciting "that the laws now existing relative to the building, repairing, and regulating of gaols and houses of correction in England and Wales are complicated, and have in many cases been found ineffective:" and that "it is expedient that such measures should be adopted, and such arrangements made in prisons as shall not only provide for the safe custody, but shall also tend more effectually to preserve the health and to improve the morals of the prisoners confined therein, and shall insure the proper measure of punishment to convicted offenders;" and after reciting that the classification, superintendence, and employment of prisoners might be improved, “ Sect. 20. And be it further enacted, that the keeper of every prison within England and Wales, having the custody of prisoners charged with felony, shall, on the second day next after the termination of every session of the peace, session of oyer and terminer, or session of gaol delivery, great session or other session, held for the trial of prisoners being in such prison, whether such session shall be held under any commission, or by virtue of any charter or prescription, transmit by the post of that day to one of his Majesty’s principal Secretaries of State, a calendar containing the names, the crimes and the sentences of every prisoner tried at such session, and distinguishing, with respect to all prisoners capitally convicted, such of them as may have been reprieved by the Court, and stating the day on which execution is to be done upon those who have not been reprieved ; and that whenever the Court shall adjourn for any longer time than one week, the day upon which the adjournment shall be made shall be deemed the termination of the session within the meaning of this Act; and every keeper of any such prison, who shall neglect or refuse to transmit such calendar, or shall wilfully transmit a calendar containing any false or imperfect statement, shall for every such offence forfeit the sum of twenty pounds. With regard to the classification, &c. of prisoners, the 5 Geo. 4, c. 85, s. 10, declares, “ that in all such gaols, the male and female prisoners shall be confined in separate wards or parts of the gaol. The male prisoners shall be divided into five classes : first, debtors and persons committed for contempt of Court on civil process ; second and third, prisoners convicted, who may be put into either of these classes, as to the visiting magistrates may seem meet, reference being had to the character and conduct of the prisoners, and the nature of their offence ; fourth and fifth, prisoners committed for trial, who may also be put into either of these two classes, as to the visiting magistrates

" Sect. 12. And be it further enacted, that any person confined in any prison to which the said recited Act extends, for nonpayment of any penalties incurred under the revenue laws, may be assigned to such class of convicted prisoners for whom a separate ward is therein provided, as the visiting magistrates in their discretion may think fit, regard being had to the character of the prisoner, and his or her conduct while in prison ; and the reasons for assigning such prisoner to any particular class of convicts shall be reported by the visiting magistrates to the quarter sessions.

“ Sect. 13. And be it further enacted, that where in any prison there shall be only one prisoner belonging to any class in the said Act or herein specified, such prisoner may be assigned, with his or her own consent, to any other class of prisoners of the same sex, which the visiting magistrates in their discretion shall think fit. “ Sect. 16. ‘ And whereas by the said recited Act it was made lawful for one or more visiting justice or justices of any prison to which the same extended, to authorize, by an order in writing, the employment of prisoners committed for trial, with their own consent, in any such work as therein specified ;’ be it hereby enacted and declared, that such consent of every such prisoner shall be freely given, and shall not be extorted or obtained by deprivation or threat of deprivation of any prison or other allowance ; and that no prisoner before conviction shall, under any pretence, be employed on the tread wheel, either with or without his consent. 4 Geo. 4, c. 64, s. 37.

Gaols for safe custody not punishment except on criminal side.

Irons how and when to be used.

Death in consequence of ill treatment.

Gaoler's duties in case of death of a prisoner.

Gaols are for safe custody and not for punishment (unless on the criminal side), and therefore prisoners are not to be subjected to other hardships than what "urgent and absolute necessity" demands for that end. As to the use of irons, be it observed, that they are never to be resorted to, except in case of "urgent and absolute necessity," and not to be continued under any circumstances longer than four days without an order in writing from a visiting justice; and this is declaratory of the common law "custodes poenam sibi commissorum non augeant, nec eos torqueant; sed omni sævitia remota, pietateque adhibita, judicia debita exequantur." Fleta, l. 1, c. 26; 2 Inst. 38; 3 Inst. 34; Britton, c. 11, s. 5; H. H. P. C. 601. And if a prisoner's death be owing to cruel and oppressive usage on the part of the gaoler or any of his officers it is wilful murder in the party guilty. In the case of Castell v. Bainbridge et Corbet, 2 Str. Rep. 854, Raymond, C. J., directed the jury thus, "if they believed Castell (the deceased) was carried to Corbet's against his consent, and was so detained, that Bainbridge and Corbet knew the small pox was there, that Castell had not had it but feared it, and desired to be removed, or not to be carried there at all, that he caught the small pox of White and died thereof, then the appellers (Bainbridge et Corbet) would be guilty of murder; but if any of these facts were not proved to the satisfaction of the jury they ought to be acquitted." Fort. 322; 17 How. St. Tr. 398; 1 East's P. C. 331. Another instance occurred in R. v. Huggins, 2 Ld. Raym. Rep. 1574, where the gaoler's servant confined a prisoner, against his will, in a room unfit to live in from dampness, stench, &c., which caused his death; it was holden wilful murder in the servant. 17 How. St. Tr. 298; 1 Russ. 668.

Upon the death of a prisoner, notice thereof shall be given by the keeper forthwith to one of the visiting justices as well as to the coroner of the district, and to the nearest relation of the deceased when practicable.

By a recent statute (j), it is enacted, "that every offender who shall be so removed to Parkhurst prison shall continue there until he or she shall be transported according to law, or shall become entitled to his or her liberty, or until the Secretary of State shall direct the removal of such offender to the gaol, prison, or place from which he or she shall have been brought, or in which he or she may be lawfully confined; and the Sheriff, gaoler, or other person having the custody of any offender, whose removal to Parkhurst prison shall be ordered in manner Parkhurst prison. aforesaid, shall, with all convenient speed after the receipt of any such order, convey or cause to be conveyed every such offender to Parkhurst prison, and shall there deliver him or her to the governor of the prison with a true copy, attested by such Sheriff or gaoler, of the caption and order of the Court by which such offender was sentenced, containing the sentence of every such offender by virtue whereof he or she shall be in the custody of such Sheriff or gaoler, and also a certificate specifying such particulars within the knowledge of the Sheriff or gaoler concerning such offender as may be from time to time directed by the Secretary of State; and the governor shall give a receipt in writing to the Sheriff or gaoler for his discharge; and all reasonable expenses which the Sheriff or gaoler shall incur in every such removal, shall be paid by the county, riding, division, city, borough, liberty, or place, for which the Court in which the offender was convicted shall have been holden."

(j) 1 & 2 Vict. c. 82, s. 4.

SECTION IX.

DEPUTIES.

By the Law Amendment Act^(a) "the Sheriff of each county Deputies. in England and Wales^(b) shall severally name a sufficient deputy, who shall be resident or have an office within one mile from the Inner Temple Hall, for the receipt of writs, granting warrants thereon, making returns thereto, and accepting of all rules and orders to be made on or touching the execution of any process or writ to be directed to such Sheriff."

It will be observed, that no mention is made of the time or Time of appointment. form of naming a deputy for such purposes, a reasonable time will therefore be allowed the Sheriff for that purpose; but for any laches in that behalf he would be liable in damages to the party aggrieved thereby, as if an arrest was lost by such non-appointment or the like: the form of nomination may be as follows:—

REPLEVIN CLERKS.

Replevin
Clerks.

By statute 1 & 2 Phil. & Mary, c. 12, s. 3, "for the more speedy delivery of cattle taken by way of distress, it is enacted, that every sheriff of shires, being no cities nor towns made shires, shall, at his first county day or within two months next after he hath received his patent of the office of sheriffwick (his warrant of appointment), depute, appoint, and proclaim in the shire town within his bailiwick four (a) deputies at the least, dwelling not above twelve miles one distant from another; which said deputies so appointed and proclaimed shall have authority in the Sheriff's name to make replevies and deliverance of such distresses, in such manner and form as the Sheriff may and ought to do; upon pain that every Sheriff for every month that he shall lack such deputy or deputies shall forfeit for every such offence *5*l.," recoverable in a qui tam action of debt, or, &c.

There must be an appointment to satisfy the statute, and the mere acting as replevin clerk will not suffice (b); but the appointment is not unfrequently made by a simple minute in the Court Book at the first county court day: it is, however, advisable for many reasons to grant them their respective deputations according to the following precedent:—

Cumberland } J. D., Esq., Sheriff of the county (or county palatine) and provided.

SECTION IX.

COUNTY CLERK.

The County Clerk is the Clerk of the County Court and also appointed by the Sheriff(a), when such appointment does take place; but it is quite optional on his part to appoint one or not. The appointment when made is in general made by a minute in the Court Book.

If the Under-sheriff resides at a distance from the place of holding the Court, the Sheriff should depute some attorney at the place to do so.

CHAPTER II.

COURTS.

Judicial duties.

SEEING the High Sheriff now legally invested with the purple of his office and surrounded by his officers, equally in a situation to discharge their respective duties, we purpose examining his judicial character and the jurisdiction of the Courts over which he is called virtute officii to preside as judge.

SECTION I.

SHERIFF'S TOURN.

Sheriff's Tourn.

As this Court (although for a period of nearly three centuries and an half, surviving in the meanwhile the rash hands of invading foreigners, constituting the chief criminal Court of the kingdom) is now but the shadow of what it was, its business having wholly devolved upon the Court of Quarter Sessions, its present jurisdiction may be briefly laid down thus :—The Sheriff may now virtute officii receive indictments and presentments of all felonies that are felonies at common law, and all common nuisances, in order to deliver them to the justices of the peace at the next sessions ; his power to determine being taken away by the 17th section of the Magna Charta (a).

Jurisdiction
of.

A Court of record.

It is a Court of record and its style is “ Curia visus franci plegii dominæ reginæ tenta apud C. coram vic. in turno suo tali die,” &c. and holden according to the statute of 31 Edw. 3, c. 15.

SECTION II.

COUNTY COURT.

County Court.

What has been said of the “ Sheriff's Tourn ” as respects its former jurisdiction, the effect of the Norman invasion upon it as a tribunal of justice, and the final abridgment of its powers by the great charter, with equal truth apply to the County Court; both Courts seem originally to have had jurisdiction over criminal as well as over civil matters (b): but certain it is that this Court in practice was confined to civil pleas: the reason usually assigned by our legal antiquaries is, that the bishop was judge therein together with the sheriff, and by the common law he was not to intermeddle in matters of blood: and pleas of the crown are at the present day as unknown in it as if they had never formed a component part of its business, being confined to civil disputes between subject and subject of a limited extent, exercising in general a jurisdiction concurrent with but sometimes exclusive of that of the superior Courts (c). Present jurisdiction.

The Sheriff's duties in this Court are in general of a ministerial (d) and not of a judicial nature—being there, to use the language of Lord Coke, "edocere jura populo," his work being directory or declaratory—the mere register of the suitors or freeholders who are the real judges therein; yet as some of his acts herein are judicial and protected as such; for instance, in issuing his fi. fa. (e); for that reason, and for order's sake the subject is now considered. Sheriff's duties in this Court.

The Court is not a Court of record (f); its style is, "Cum-berland to wit, the (1st) County Court of M. A., Esq., Sheriff of the county aforesaid, held at C.," and holds plea either by plaint or by writ of justices, which is in nature of a commission out of Chancery to the Sheriff, empowering him to hold plea in any personal action (not being vi et armis) to any amount (g). Not a Court of record.
Jurisdiction by plaint and justices.

The Court has jurisdiction by plaint in all personal actions (not being vi et armis) under the value of 40*s.* (h), except in account (i); debt on record in other Courts; specialties; detinue of charters concerning freehold or inheritance; and in pleas concerning freehold; (Comyn, in his Digest, adds to the exception, By plaint.

mayhem, deceit, or maintenance, or the forging of a false deed;) but not above 40s. except in replevin.

To what amount.

It should be observed, that although the County Court may have jurisdiction in a cause, yet if freehold be pleaded the Court is ousted of its jurisdiction, as if one in replevin avows as in the freehold of B. the jurisdiction of the County Court is gone (k).

When Court has no jurisdiction, how to take advantage of it.

That the debt does not "attingat vel excedat summam 40s." must appear affirmatively by the declaration, otherwise the proceedings will be erroneous (l); should it appear in the count that full 40s. is claimed, the defendant may take advantage of it either by plea during the sitting or by prohibition out of Chancery; if the debt was originally more than 40s. and the plaintiff by his declaration acknowledges the receipt of so much as reduces the debt under that sum, the Court has jurisdiction even in trespass (if it be not vi et armis), as of battery (m), or in replevin (n); but he cannot falsely acknowledge satisfaction of part, to reduce the debt under 40s. (o), nor can an entirety be split, so as to make several complaints (p).

Splitting demand.

Jurisdiction by justices.

The justices (as before observed) is in nature of a commission out of Chancery to the Sheriff, empowering him to hold plea in any personal action (not being vi et armis (q)) to any amount; it is of two kinds.

1. To have the plea holden before the Sheriff.

2. To have the plea holden before the Sheriff and the Coroner.

In what form of action.

In Milton's case (r) it was said in argument, that the commission being directed to the Sheriff, and not to the freeholders or suitors, changed the nature of the Court, and made the High Sheriff pro hac vice judge thereof, but the Court decided otherwise. By justices the Court has jurisdiction in all personal actions (not being vi et armis), even though the freehold come in question (s); also in the real action of dower (t); not being a Court of record cannot impose one; and semble, the reason equally applies to proceedings by justices as well as by plaint; Dalt. 423, but see Com. Dig. (County, C. 5.)

Warrant upon a Justicies.

C. (to wit). A. B. esq., Sheriff of the county aforesaid, to G. A. my bailiff, greeting. By virtue of her Majesty's writ of justicies to me directed and delivered, I command you that you summon E. Summons upon the above Warrant.

By virtue of her Majesty's writ of justicies to the Sheriff of the county of C. directed and delivered, and by virtue of the said Sheriff's precept to me directed, I do hereby summon you, that you be and appear personally before the said Sheriff at his usual County Court, to be holden at C. on Thursday the day of instant, to answer C. Place of holding at common law.

By the common law the Court may be holden at any place within the county ; but by statute law it must be holden at particular places and at none other :—

By particular statutes.

In England.

Northumberland, in the town or Castle of Alnwick (c).

Sussex, at Chichester and Lewes alternately (d).

Cheshire, in the shire hall of the said county (e).

Monmouthshire, at Monmouth and Newport alternately (f).

In Wales.

Brecknockshire, at Brecknock.

Radnorshire, at New Radnor and Preston.

Montgomeryshire, at Montgomery and Maghenleth.

Denbighshire, at Wrexham (g).

Cause of action must arise within the county.

To give this Court jurisdiction, whether in suit by plaint or justicies, the cause of action must arise within the county, and it must be distinctly alleged and proved that not only the promise, but the cause of action itself, arose within the jurisdiction of the Court ; but if the cause of action arose within the jurisdiction of the Court, any matter merely in aggravation of damages is triable there, although arising elsewhere (h) ; and the defendant must reside within the jurisdiction of the Court, but the plaintiff need not (i).

Defendant must reside within its jurisdiction.

Plaintiff and defendant may sue or defend by attorney (k).

Different process.

The process is by summons, attachment, and distringas ad infinitum ; or by attachment and distress, (as in trespass,) which run in the name of the High Sheriff directed to his bailiffs (l) ;

to a bound-bailiff, not to a special-bailiff (n), to summon or warn the defendant (o), and made returnable the next County Court.

If defendant does not appear thereupon, an attachment issues, and if defendant does not appear on attachment a distringas shall go, by which the bailiff should take and detain, but not sell, goods of the defendant of the value of 40s. until the defendant does appear; and in default of appearance at next County Court, according to the exigency of the writ, the goods so taken and detained are forfeited (p), and so distress infinite until his appearance in Court. If the defendant hath no goods the plaintiff is without remedy in this Court, for no capias lies therein, but an action may be brought at common law upon the judgment entered (q).

Default of appearance.

THE PLAINT, which is the first proceeding in the suit, must be entered in writing sedente curia; if defendant appears, and by attorney, the plaintiff must also enter appearance by attorney, and enter or file his declaration in writing (engrossed on parchment), giving a rule to plead, usually an eight day rule. The plaintiff may be ruled to declare, usually a fourteen day rule, and on default the plaintiff is nonsuited, costs taxed by the Sheriff, and recovered as in other cases. As to the entry of proceedings, rules, &c. but general observations can be made, for they necessarily depend upon the practice of each particular Court (r).

Appearance and pleadings, &c.

The defendant may by leave of the Court imparl, that is, obtain leave to plead at a future Court, at which Court he is to enter his plea; for although imparlances are abolished as regards Courts of record, by the pleading rules of Hil. Term, 4 Will. 4, yet they must still be entered in Courts not of record, as in the one now under consideration; they are always granted as of course.

Imparlances not abolished in this Court.

The defendant cannot plead several matters, the statute of 4 & 5 Anne, c. 16, applying only to Courts of record, but it should also be observed, that the pleading rules of Hilary Term, 4 Will. 4, do not affect the general issue as in Courts of record,

Several pleas not allowed.

consequently, although a defendant cannot plead double, which is in many cases a great hardship, he may by the general issue put the plaintiff on proof of his whole declaration in the first instance. It has been before stated, that if a defendant in a suit by plaint pleads freehold the Court is ousted of its jurisdiction and cannot proceed; but if the suit be by justices the Court may proceed; if issue be not joined at the next County Court the plaintiff is to file his replication or demurrer; if the plaintiff reply then the defendant is to rejoin at the next Court, or he may be ruled for that purpose on peril of neglect, and so forth (s).

Jury.

When issue is joined a jury is summoned (if by justices), also in a suit by plaint the trial (by prescription) may be by jury, otherwise by examination of witnesses.

A County Court Subpœna.

C. (to wit.) A. B. esq., Sheriff of the county aforesaid, to T. D. and W. B., greeting. I command you, and each of you (all excuses whatsoever being laid aside), that you and every of you be and personally appear at my next County Court, to be held at A., on Thursday, the day of next, to testify the truth, according to your knowledge, in a certain action there depending between E. F. plaintiff, and C. D. defendant, in an action on promises, and this you omit not at your peril. Given under my seal of office this, &c. By the Sheriff.

County Court Execution.

C. (to wit.) A. B. esq., Sheriff of the county aforesaid, to T. D. my bailiff, greeting. You are hereby commanded to levy on the goods and chattels of C. D., within my said county, the sum of £ , which E. F. in my County Court recovered against the said C. D. for damages which the said E. F. sustained by occasion of not performing certain promises to the said E. F. by the said C. D., at A., in my county, whereof he is convicted, and have you the said sum at my next County Court, to be holden in and for my said county, to render to the said E. F. for damages aforesaid. Dated the day of , in the year of our Lord 18 .

[Seal of office.]

By the Sheriff.

Writ of execution.

When the trial is over and verdict for the plaintiff he may issue out a fi. fa., but not a ca. sa., except in Wales (t); or he may have a levari facias against the goods and chattels, but not of the lands and chattels. If the Sheriff delays execution, a writ de executione judicii may be directed to him out of Chancery to do execution, and thereupon an alias and pluries, and attachment against the Sheriff.

In every case where the plaintiff may have his costs against the defendant, the defendant shall have his costs (u).

Whenever a sci. fa. is requisite in the superior Courts it is Sci. fa. requisite here; an action may be brought upon this judgment in the superior Courts though the verdict be under 40s. (v)

Before judgment. Where the suit is by Writ, } it is removed by { Pone, Plaint without writ, } Re. fa. lo.

Removal of proceedings.

All these are original writs issuing out of Chancery; as the forms of the writs, returns, &c. are the same in replevin as here, they are inserted under that title.

After judgment it is removed by a writ of false judgment.

The Court will compel a Sheriff to complete his entries of proceedings in a County Court and certify its practice, where on his return to a writ of false judgment, only minutes of them have been transmitted (x). The delivery of a re. fa. lo. after interlocutory and before final judgment, is a stop to all further proceedings in that Court, and the officer cannot refuse paying obedience to it under pretence of his fees not being paid to him, quia parere necesse est, and as regards his fees he has a proper remedy (y).

Where the record is removed, and the party declares in banco, the plaint is determined, hence no advantage can be taken of a variance between the plaint and the declaration in the superior Court (z). When plaint is determined.

There are two kinds of proceedings peculiar to the County Court, namely, Replevin and Outlawry.

SECTION III.

REPLEVIN BY PLAINT (a).

Replevin. This remedy has now for so long a period of time, in this part of the United Kingdom (b) at least, been resorted to for the purpose of deciding the legality of a distress, that it may be said to be in effect confined to a taking by distress; but not universally so, as laid down by Sir W. Blackstone, for many authorities may be found in the books of replevin having been brought when there was no distress (c). In 1 Inst. 145 b, it is said, that replevin may be brought in any case where a man has had his goods taken from him by another: being so, it is somewhat strange that it is not more generally resorted to as a remedy for the recovery of a specific chattel; it is quite clear that it is the only remedy in which a chattel can be recovered in specie, trover and detinue both sounding in damages. And in Evans v. Elliott (d) it was holden, that it would lie for a mere wrongful detention.

Replevin not confined to a taking of distress.

A mere wrongful detention.

Extends to all goods and chattels. Although the statute of Marlbridge (e) makes use of the term “averia” or “beasts,” the statute has received a more enlarged construction and has been extended to all goods and chattels, and not confined to “beasts” (f). Tenant’s fixtures (g); all animals feræ naturæ, reclaimed or not reclaimed, if they are the subject-matter of merchandize and valuable (h); the young of animals born after the distress (i); “so sheaves or cocks of corn, or corn loose or in the straw, or hay, lying or being in any barn or granary, or upon any hovel, stack or rick, or otherwise, upon any part of the land or ground charged with rent” (k); so when taken as a distress for arrears of rent “any cattle or stock of their (lessor’s) respective tenant or tenants feeding or depasturing upon any common appendant or appurtenant, or any ways belonging to all or any part of the premises demised, all sorts of corn and grass, hops, roots, fruits, pulse or other produce whatsoever which shall be growing on any part of the estate so demised," are repleviable (l).

(a) The action of replevin by writ is now obsolete.

All chattels are distrainable damage feasant (m) and repleviable.

As goods and chattels only are repleviable, it follows that things affixed to the freehold (n) (except tenant's fixtures as before observed) are not repleviable, nor are goods taken by virtue of a statute which authorizes a distress and sale repleviable (o), unless the statute by implication authorizes a replevy (p); for it is more in nature of an execution than a common law distress: note however, if a magistrate in such a case exceed the special jurisdiction given him by statute, the goods seized under his warrant are not in contemplation of law taken in execution and are repleviable (q). When a statute provides that the judgment of commissioners (r) shall be final, their decision is conclusive and cannot be called in question in any collateral way; therefore, goods seized upon their decision are not repleviable (s): goods distrained under a conviction for deer stealing (t), and goods seized for duties due to the crown, are not repleviable (u): goods taken upon an execution awarded from a superior Court are not repleviable, but if awarded from an inferior Court it is said they are so (x). The Court will not, it seems, on motion to set aside proceedings, enter into the question whether replevin will lie or not (y).

When goods are not repleviable.

There are two kinds of property; a general property, which every absolute owner has; and a special property, as of goods pledged or taken to manure a man's lands or the like, and of both these a replevin lies (z): that is, if vested in him at the time of the taking—a mere possessory right is not sufficient (a).

Executors. Executors may have replevin of the goods of their testator taken in his life time (b); parties who have a joint interest in the distress may join in the replevin(c); but when the interest is several there must be several replevins(d). If the goods of a feme sole are taken and she marries, the wife may join, or the husband alone may have replevin(e); if the goods are taken after marriage the wife cannot join in the replevin(f): whether wife can be joined with husband for a taking by them after marriage seems doubtful(g).

Against whom the action may be brought. The action of replevin may be brought against the bailiff who makes, or against the landlord who authorizes, the distress, or against both.

Time and place. If the distress be taken in one county and carried into another, the plaintiff may have replevin in either; for the law considers the distress as wrongfully taken in every place in which the defendant may have it in his custody(h). Neither the removal of a distress for rent from the demised premises after the five days, nor an appraisement of the distress, takes away the tenant's right to replevy(i). At common law too no time is limited for replevying, because the distrainer cannot sell the distress.

By whom granted. None but the High Sheriff, Under-sheriff, or Replevin Clerks duly appointed, can grant replevy; a criminal information may be filed against one who usurps the office(k): or it is good ground for a prohibition to the Sheriff to restrain him from proceeding in the replevin suits(l).

How made. When a party intends to replevy he gives the name of two sureties to the Sheriff's officer, who (after satisfying himself as to their sufficiency (m)) will give him a certificate to the Sheriff Assignment of Replevin Bond, to be indorsed on the Bond.

Know all men by these presents, that I, G. H., esquire, Sheriff of the county of W., have, at the request of the above-named C. D., the avowant [or "the person making cognizance"] assigned over unto him, the said C. D., this replevin bond, according to the statute in such case made and provided. Dated &c.

[Seal of office.]

G. H.

On distress for rent by the 11 Geo. 2, c. 19, it is assignable at law; the 23rd section enacts, "that the Sheriff or other officer having authority to grant replevins, taking any replevin bond, shall, at the request and costs of the avowant or person making cognizance, assign such bond to the avowant or person aforesaid, by indorsing the same and attesting it under his hand and seal in the presence of two or more credible witnesses, which may be done without any stamp(n) (provided the assignment so indorsed be duly stamped before any action be brought thereupon), and if the bond so taken and assigned be forfeited the avowant or person making cognizance may bring an action and recover thereupon in his own name; and the Court when such action shall be brought may by a rule of the same Court give such relief to the parties upon such bond as may be agreeable to justice and reason; and such rule shall have the nature and effect of a defeazance of such bond." A rent-charge(o) is within the meaning of this statute.

Rent

assignable.

The bond, although not in all points conformable to the directions of the statute, is notwithstanding good and assignable(p); for instance, a bond conditioned to prosecute the suit with effect and to indemnify the Sheriff is good and assignable, although not conditioned likewise for prosecuting the suit without delay (q): so a bond conditioned for appearance at the next County Court, prosecuting the plaint with effect, making a return if adjudged, and indemnifying the Sheriff from all charges and damages by reason of the replevin, is good and assignable (r).

It may be assigned to the avowant only, who may bring his action upon it without joining the party making cognizance (s), or the assignment may be to both and the action joint (t). A defendant is not entitled to an assignment of the bond on the plaintiff's neglecting to declare at the next County Court, if he himself occasioned it, as by not appearing to the summons, and if he obtains an assignment and brings his action, the Court will stay proceedings (u); or if the proceedings have been stayed by injunction, and in the meanwhile the plaintiff dies, the defendant is not entitled to an assignment of the bond (x); the conditions of the bond are distinct and independent of each other, and a breach of any one of them will occasion a forfeiture (y). The term prosecuting a suit with effect means with success, and relates to one continued prosecution of the suit, whether in the County Court or in the Court above; the condition of the bond is not satisfied by having prosecuted the suit with effect in the Court below (z). To fulfil the condition to prosecute without delay the plaintiff must use due diligence (a); the allowing two years to elapse without proceedings amounts to a breach thereof, and the obligee might recover on such breach, although judgment of non-pros was never signed in the County Court (b). If the delay be occasioned by the act of the Sheriff, the bond is not forfeited (c); but where the plaint was removed by re. fa. lo., and the plaintiff in replevin appeared, and the defendant did not, held that subsequent delay was not a breach of the bond (d).

When no assignment.

Conditions.

With effect and without delay.

When no forfeiture.

Where an assignment was not signed by the Sheriff, but by a person accustomed to act in the Sheriff's office in the name of the Sheriff, and under the seal of the office, it was held sufficient (e).

Replevin
when and how made.

Replevin upon plaint may be made by the Sheriff by verbal precept without writing and presently, “post querimoniam sibi factam,” without waiting till the next County Court. Fitzherbert assigns for reason, “that it may be that the Sheriff nor his bailiff cannot write, or that they may want such things where-with they may write a warrant,” &c. but the suddenness of the business seems to afford a sounder reason for considering writing not necessary, for although in former ages few if any Sheriffs could write, yet as at the present day it would be as difficult to find one who could not write as to have found one then who could, and as the Sheriff was and is obliged in some cases to write, as for instance, to make a written precept to his bailiff to make withernam, the reason assigned seems to lose much of its force (f). The Statute of Marlbridge (g) would seem literally to require that the plaint should precede the granting of the precept, (and, strange enough, the 11 Geo. 2, c. 19, is silent on the point,) but the better opinion is, that replevin may be made immediately, and the reason given by Sir E. Coke is, “that it would militate against the scope of the statute, that the owners of the beasts should be deprived of the use of them until the day on which the County Court is holden” (h).

Pledges to prosecute and to return the goods.

Before the Sheriff or his deputy can replevy upon writ or application as before observed, he must take pledges. In Co. Litt. 145 b, it is laid down, that the Sheriff ought to take two kinds of pledges, one by the common law, namely, pledges to prosecute; and another by the Statute of Westminster, st. 2, c. 2, s. 3, pledges to return the goods. And the statute of 11 Geo. 2, c. 19, (in distress for rent), requires him to take both, with this difference, namely, that it gives the penalty for not prosecuting to the defendant, which at common law belonged to the King (i).

In what value bonds to be taken, infra.

By the 11 Geo. 2, c. 19, s. 23, which is expressly confined to distresses for rent, “all Sheriffs and other officers having authority to grant replevins, may and shall in every replevin of a distress for rent take in their own names from the plaintiff, and two responsible persons as sureties, a bond in double the value of the goods distrained, such value to be ascertained by the oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses not interested in the goods or distress, which oath the person granting such replevin is hereby authorized and required to administer, and conditioned for prosecuting the suit with effect and without delay, and for duly returning the goods and chattels distrained in case a return shall be awarded, before any deliverance to be made of the distress." Hence it follows, that by the common law, according to which replevin for distress damage feasant may now be granted, it is still necessary that, 1st, pledges for the prosecution, which are merely nominal, (John Doe and Richard Roe), should be taken; and 2dly, pledges pro. ret. hab. Also, that under the statute of Geo. 2, both are to be taken likewise; the form of the bond is the same, with this exception, that when taken on a distress not for rent, it is taken in the single value of the goods distrained; on distresses for rent, it must be according to the statute of Geo. 2, in double the value of the goods distrained. In the former case the bond is not assignable so as to enable the assignee to bring an action in his own name upon it, in the latter case the bond is so assignable; if the sheriff take one pledge on a replevin for distraining cattle damage feasant it is sufficient; on a distress for rent there must be two (1). From the case of Blacket v. Crissop (m), a conclusion by no means warranted has been drawn, that a bond from the party replevying only, and not from the pledges, satisfies the statute of Westminster; but it is submitted that the case warrants but this inference that such a bond is valid as between the obligee (the Sheriff) and the obligor (the party replevying) but no more. Holt, C. J. puts the question in its true point of view, "the question" (says he) "will not be in this case whether the Sheriff can take a bond instead of pledges, as it would have been if the party had brought an action against the Sheriff for not having taken pledges, and the Sheriff had pleaded that he had taken this bond; but the question now is, whether this bond shall be void." It should have been premised that it was an action by Blacket, the Sheriff, against Crissop, the party replevying on his bond; the bond was holden good inter se, but the inclination of the Court as to the liability of the Sheriff, if an action had been brought against him for not having taken pledges, is clearly in the affirmative, and, consequently, that the bond was void as between the Sheriff and a stranger.

Sufficiency of sureties.

As to the sufficiency of sureties in law, as well as in estate, how many in number in distresses damage feasant or in distresses for rent he must take, and what inquiries the Sheriff is bound to make into their sufficiency, is hereafter, in the "Action for taking insufficient Sureties in Replevin," more fully considered (n).

Difficulties often arise in making deliverance of goods distrained. By the statute of Westm. 1, c. 17, the Sheriff, after demand made, may break open the house of the person who has made the distress, in order to make deliverance; he may also raise the posse comitatus if he find it necessary so to do (o): if the cattle were taken and impounded in a liberty the Sheriff should direct his warrant to the bailiff of the liberty; if the bailiff of the liberty make no answer, nor replevy, the Sheriff may enter the liberty and replevy himself (p); if the goods by inquest of office are found to be eloigned, so that the Sheriff cannot replevy them, the Sheriff may issue a precept in the nature of a capias in withernam commanding his officer to take goods or cattle of the defendant to the value of those taken by him, and deliver them to the plaintiff, the plaintiff having first entered into a bond with sureties, conditioned as in other cases (q).

G. M., High Sheriff.

If the defendant claims property in the goods taken, the Sheriff cannot proceed to replevy them without a writ de proprietate probandâ (r); it seems that the claim of property must be made by the defendant in person and not by bailiff(s); on the delivery of this writ to the Sheriff he summons a jury, as in other cases, to inquire to whom the property belongs; if they find the property to be in the plaintiff, deliverance is made to him; if in the defendant, the proceedings are at an end (t).

B.* should be defrauded of his [cattle,] goods, and chattels by such false avouchment whereby the said [cattle,] goods, and chattels if they belong to him, cannot be replevied to him, according to the law and custom of England, command you, that taking with you the keeper of the public pleas, in the presence of the said C. D. if he will be present, and he will hereupon be by you warned, you diligently inquire, by the oath of twelve honest and lawful men of your county, by whom the truth of the matter may be best known, whether the [cattle,] goods, and chattels so taken and detained be the [cattle,] goods, and chattels of the said A. B. or of the said C. D. And if by such inquisition it may appear to you that the said cattle, goods, and chattels be the [cattle,] goods, and chattels of the said *A. When entered to satisfy bond.

Entering plaintiff act of party. Sheriff's duties in entering plaintiff. Forfeiture of bond.

When the goods have been replevied and delivered to the plaintiff, he must, according to the conditions of his bond, bring his plaintiff at the next County Court, and prosecute his suit with effect and without delay; and the plaintiff must be entered the next County Court, in order that it may appear on the rolls of the Court, and must be entered in the full Court sedente curia. The entering of the plaintiff is the act of the party (u); the act of the Sheriff, or his deputy, in entering the plaintiff is merely ministerial. The not entering the plaintiff in due time creates a forfeiture of the bond; but if the plaintiff enters his plaintiff and afterwards is restrained by injunction till his death, whereby the plaintiff abates, the bond will not be forfeited; so by the death of the plaintiff the suit will abate, but the bond will not be forfeited (v); until the plaintiff is entered, there is no commencement of the suit of which a superior Court can take notice (x).

New pleading rules do not extend to replevin.

The proceedings in replevin are the same as in any other suit by plaintiff; the pleadings, &c. are the same as in the superior Courts, with the exceptions already noticed: the rules of Hilary Term, 4 Will. 4, do not extend to replevin.

Proclamation for Jurymen.

Oath to Jurors.

You shall well and truly try the issue joined between these parties according to the evidence. So help you God.

Oath to Witnesses.

The evidence you are to give to this inquest touching the matter in variance, shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. So help you God.

Damages, amount of.

If the goods have not been delivered on the replevin, damages are recovered for the plaintiff as well for the value of the goods as for the detention; if the goods were delivered, which in general is the case, damages for the detention of the goods only are recoverable, usually four guineas, the supposed price of the replevin bond.

Judgment for plaintiff.

Of a judgment for plaintiff on demurrer, the form of entry is, "that the plaintiff do recover his damages by reason of the premises;" on verdict, "that the plaintiff do recover against the defendant the damages assessed by the jurors and costs de incremento."

Judgment for defendant.

On a judgment for defendant on verdict, demurrer or confession by the plaintiff, a return of the distress, irreplevisable, is awarded to him; on a nonsuit, a return of the distress; but not irreplevisable, for a second deliverance will lie (z).

SECTION IV.

COUNTY COURT—OUTLAWRY.

Peculiar to the County Court.
Sheriff's duties therein.

These proceedings are, as well as the action of replevin, peculiar to the County Courts. To carry them into effect is partly the duty of the Sheriff, and partly that of the Coroner of the county; the former in a ministerial, the latter in a judicial character—the former to execute, return writs, make proclamations, &c.; the latter to pronounce judgment of outlawry.

Outlawry,
what is.

Outlawry (utlagaria) is defined to be “the being put out of the law,—the loss of the benefit of the subject, that is, of the Queen's protection” (e).

Waiver and outlawry disting-guished.

When a man is in this lupine state he is said to be outlawed; when a woman, she is said to be waived, (derelicta, left out, or not regarded,) and if the return is outlawed instead of waived, it is assignable as error (f); as to the origin and reason of so material a distinction, we must briefly refer to the following authorities, Co. Litt. s. 186, 122 c; Vin. Abr. Utlagaria; a distinction clearly traceable to the Saxon times, when all men above the age of twelve years (but no women) were sworn to the law in the Court Leet; and for the same reason an infant under the age of twelve years cannot be outlawed (g). Lord Coke states the age to be twelve years, but see 2 Roll. Abr. 805; 2 Hale, 204; where it is stated to be fourteen. Note, such an outlawry would not be void, only voidable by writ of error (h).

At what age.

When process of outlawry lies.

The old authorities agree in this proposition of law, “that process of outlawry lies only where a capias lies” (i); being so, the capias (although abolished as the means of commencing an action) still affords a test as to the validity of proceedings in outlawry; with this rule and the Uniformity of Process Act before us, the law at this day may be stated, we think, thus: In all personal actions process of outlawry will lie, except where a capias would not lie; such seems to be the effect of that statute, and not only to extend it to all personal actions but to all the three (j) Courts of Westminster. By other statutes it lies in actions on the case (k), debt, detinue (l), covenant, account, trespass vi et armis, and in replevin (m). Inferior Courts could not award this process, even though the process were a capias (n). "In civil actions it is considered as in the nature of civil process to compel an appearance to the suit; or if after judgment, to procure satisfaction. The forfeiture is nominally to the Queen, yet in truth it goes to the plaintiff towards payment of his demand. If the outlaw appears, pays all the costs, puts in sufficient bail, and does every thing he can to put the plaintiff in as good a condition as he would have been in originally; or if, after judgment, the outlaw pays the debt and costs, the Court removes the outlawry upon motion without any writ of error." The form of the reversal always is, "for the errors assigned and other errors appearing on the record (o); although there is in truth no error at all."

Nature of process in civil process.

. The capias being now abolished as a mean of commencing an action, the first step towards outlawry will be the issuing of a writ of summons as in ordinary cases; "And in case it shall be made appear by affidavit, to the satisfaction of the Court out of which the process issued, or, in vacation, of any judge of either of the said Courts, that any defendant has not been personally served with any such writ of summons as herein-before mentioned, and has not, according to the exigency thereof, appeared to the action, and cannot be compelled so to do without some more efficacious process, then and in any such case it shall be lawful for such Court or judge to order a writ of distringas to be issued, directed to the Sheriff of the county wherein the dwelling-house or place of abode of such defendant shall be situate, or to the Sheriff of any other county, or to any other officer to be named by such Court or judge, in order to compel the appearance of such defendant; which writ of distringas shall be in the form, and with the notice subscribed thereto, mentioned in the schedule to this act, marked No. 3 (p); which writ of distringas and notice, or a copy thereof, shall be served on such defendant, if he can be met with, or, if not, shall be left at the place where such distringas shall be executed; and a true copy of every such writ and notice shall be delivered together therewith to the Sheriff or other officer to whom such writ shall be directed; and every such writ shall be made returnable on some day in term, not being less than fifteen days after the teste thereof, and shall bear teste on the day of the issuing thereof, whether in term or in vacation; and if such writ of distringas shall be returned non est inventus and nulla bona, and the party suing out such writ shall not intend to proceed to outlawry or waiver, according to the authority herein-after given, and any defendant against whom such writ of distringas issued shall not appear at or within eight days inclusive after the return thereof, and it shall be made appear by affidavit to the satisfaction of the Court out of which such writ of distringas issued, or, in vacation, of any judge of either of the said Courts, that due and proper means were taken and used to serve and execute such writ of distringas, it shall be lawful for such Court or judge to authorize the party suing out such writ to enter an appearance for such defendant, and to proceed thereon to judgment and execution."

Proceedings to outlawry.

V. " And be it further enacted, that upon the return of non est inventus as to any defendant against whom such writ of capias shall have been issued, and also upon the return of non est inventus and nulla bona as to any defendant against whom such writ of distringas as herein-before mentioned shall have issued, whether such writ of capias or distringas shall have issued against such defendant only, or against such defendant and any other person or persons, it shall be lawful, until otherwise provided for, to proceed to outlaw or waive such defendant by writs of exigi facias and proclamation, and otherwise, in such and the same manner as may now be lawfully done upon the return of non est inventus to a pluries writ of capias ad respondendum issued after an original writ: provided always, that every such writ of exigent and proclamation, and other writ subsequent to the writ of capias or distringas, shall be made returnable on a day certain in term; and every such first writ of exigent and proclamation shall bear teste on the day of the return of the writ of capias or distringas, whether such writ be returned in term or in vacation; and every subsequent writ of exigent and proclamation shall bear teste on the day of the return of the next preceding writ; and no such writ of capias or distringas shall be sufficient for the purpose of outlawry or waiver if the same be returned within less than fifteen days after the delivery thereof to the Sheriff or other officer to whom the same shall be directed."

VI. "And be it further enacted, that after judgment given in any action commenced by writ of summons or capias under the authority of this act, proceedings to outlawry or waiver may be had and taken, and judgment of outlawry or waiver given, in such manner and in such cases as may now be lawfully done after judgment in an action commenced by original writ: provided always, that every outlawry or waiver had under the authority of this act shall and may be vacated or set aside by writ of error or motion, in like manner as outlawry or waiver founded on an original writ may now be vacated or set aside."

Proceedings to outlawry may be had after judgment given under the authority of this act.

"VII. And be it further enacted, that for the purpose of proceeding to outlawry and waiver upon such writs of capias or distringas returnable to the Court of Exchequer, it shall and may be lawful for the Lord Chief Baron of the said Court, and he is hereby required, to appoint from time to time a fit person, holding some other office in the said Court, to execute the duties of a filazer, exigenter, and clerk of the outlawries in the same Court."

Filazer to be appointed in the Court of Exchequer.

OUTLAWRY ON MESNE PROCESS.

Writ of Exigi Facias (f).

Victoria, by the grace of God, of the united kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland Queen, defender of the faith, to the Sheriffs of [London] greeting: We command you that you cause C. D. late of _____, in the county of _____, farmer, to be demanded from Hustings to Hustings, [or if the exigi facias be not directed to the Sheriffs of London, say, "from County Court to County Court,"] until, according to the law and custom

(f) It must be tested on the day of the return of the distringas whether in term or vacation; there must also be fifteen days at least between the teste and return; and it must be returnable in the same or the following term on a day certain (2 Will. 4, c. 39, s. 5); five County Courts or Hustings should intervene between the teste and return. If by the Sheriff's return to the writ of exigi facias it appears that there have not been five County Courts or Hustings between the teste and return, an allocatur exigent must be issued to make up the number; and if necessary another allocatur exigent and so forth; but the return of the exigi facias should be so regulated as to save the expense of these "allocatur exigents." The writ of exigi facias is executed by exacting the defendant at five successive County Courts or Hustings; Plowd. 371; 3 Lev. 245; 2 B. & C. 353; unless before that time the defendant appears. The writ must be actually in the Sheriff's possession at the time the defendant is demanded. Volet v. Waters, 3 D. & R. 55. Command the bailiff to make proclamation thus:—

"All manner of persons keep silence and hear the Queen's writ of exigent and proclamation read."

Then call the defendant:

"C. D., appear, and answer A. B. in an action of debt, or judgment of outlawry (or waiver) will be pronounced against you."

On mesne process, if the defendant appear on the exigent the Sheriff may take bail from him as in ordinary cases; after judgment he cannot; Tidd's Pr. 130, 8th edit.; see also 4 Term Rep. 505.

As to the particularity required in the return to the writ of exigi facias, see Middleton's case, Cro. Jac. 358; Rex v. Almon, 5 Term Rep. 202; Taylor v. Waters, 3 D. & R. 575; 2 Roll. Abr. 802; Dalt. 239; if the defendant be in the Sheriff's custody at the time of the delivery of the writ or before the quinto exactus the Sheriff must return this; or if a supersedeas hath been delivered to him he must make his return accordingly. Whether the demise of the crown or the death of the defendant are good returns seem doubtful, it would seem not; in such cases the Sheriff should proceed; Dalt. 239:

of England, he be outlawed, if he do not appear; and if he do appear, then that you take him, and him safely keep, so that you may have his body before us [or in C. P. "before our justices," or in Exch. "before the barons of our said Exchequer,"] at Westminster, on _____, to answer A. B. in an action of debt, at the suit of the said A. B.; and whereupon you returned to us [or in C. P. "to our justices," or in Exch. "to our barons,"] at Westminster, on _____ last past, that the said C. D. was not found in your bailiwick, and that he had nothing in your bailiwick by which he could be distrained, and have there this writ. Witness, &c.

Return to Exigi Facias.

By virtue of this writ to me directed, at my County Court held at _____, in and for the county of _____, on _____, the _____ day of _____, Exigi facias [or if in London, "at the Husting of pleas of land, holden in the Guild- teste return, hall of the city of London, on _____,"] in the year within written, the execution within-named C. D. was a first time demanded, and did not appear: And at my County Court, held at _____ aforesaid, on _____, the _____ day of _____, in the year aforesaid, [or in London, "at the husting," &c.] the said C. D. was a second time demanded, and did not appear: And at my County Court, held at _____ aforesaid, on _____, the _____ day of _____, in the year aforesaid, [or in London, "at the Husting," &c.] the said C. D. was a third time demanded, and did not appear: And at my County Court, held at _____ aforesaid, on _____, the _____ day of _____, in the year aforesaid, [or in London, "at the Husting," &c.] the said C. D. was a fourth time demanded, and did not appear: And at my County Court, held at _____ aforesaid, on _____, the _____ day of _____, in the year aforesaid, [or in London, "at the Husting," &c.] the said C. D. was a fifth time demanded, and did not appear: Therefore by the judgment of _____, Esq., coroner of our sovereign lady the Queen, for the county aforesaid, the said C. D., according to the law and custom of England, is outlawed.

The answer of G. A., Esq., Sheriff.

If all the County Courts or Hustings were not holden in the time of the same Sheriff, the return should be thus:

By virtue of this writ to me directed [&c. here state the County Courts or Hustings at which the defendant was demanded, in the time of the late Sheriff, and conclude his return with "The answer of S. S. Sheriff" then say]

This writ, as above indorsed, was delivered to me the under-named present Sheriff by the above-named late Sheriff, at his going out of office.

At my County Court [&c. as ante.] The answer of G. A., Esq., Sheriff.

Where the Defendant appears.

By virtue of this writ to me directed, at my County Court, held at A., in and for the said county of N., on the _____ day of _____, in the second year of the reign of our sovereign lady Victoria, the within-named C. D. was a first time demanded; and then and there appeared, and then rendered himself into my custody; whose body I have ready before our lady the Queen, at the day and place within-mentioned, as within I am commanded.

The answer of G. A., Esq., Sheriff.

Allocatur exigent.

Victoria, &c. to the Sheriff of _____ greeting: We command you, that allowing those County Courts, [or if in London, "those Hustings,"] at which C. D. late of was demanded and did not appear, as you returned to us, [or in C. P. "to our justices," or in Erch. "to the barons of our Exchequer,"] at Westminster, on [the return of the exigent] last past, you cause the said C. D. to be further demanded at your next County Court, [or "Husting," if only one return is wanting, or if more than one, "from County Court to County Court," or "from Husting to Husting,"] until, according to the law and custom of England, he be outlawed if he do not appear; and if he do appear, then that you take him, and him safely keep, so that you may have his body before us, [or in C. P. "before our justices," or in Erch. "before the barons of our said Exchequer,"] at Westminster, on , to answer A. B. in an action of debt, at the suit of the said A. B. and have there this writ. Witness, &c.

Writ of Proclamations (g).

Victoria, &c. to the Sheriff of greeting: Whereas by our writ we lately commanded you that you should cause C. D. late of , to be demanded from County Court to County Court, [or if in London, "from Husting to Husting,"] until, according to the law and custom of England,

(g) This writ was introduced by the statute of 6 Hen. 8, c. 4, but as to civil proceedings it is now governed by the 31 Eliz. c. 3, s. 1, which enacts, "that in every action personal wherein any writ of exigent shall be awarded out of any Court in or after the term of Easter next coming, one writ of proclamation shall be awarded and made out of the same Court, having day of teste and return as the said writ of exigent shall have directed and delivered of record to the Sheriff of the county where the defendant at the time of the exigent so awarded shall be dwelling, which writ of proclamation shall contain the effect of the same action." In criminal cases this writ must be delivered to the Sheriff three months before return thereof, 4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 22, s. 4, quod vide.

In making the proclamations the order prescribed by the statute must be followed; firstly, at the County Court; secondly, at the sessions; and thirdly, at the church door on a Sunday, immediately after divine service. This last proclamation at the church door must be made at least one month before the quinto exactus, Taylor v. Waters, 2 B. & Cr. 353. As to a return of proclamation made before the writ was in the Sheriff's hands, see Volet v. Waters, 3 D. & R. 55. If the first Sunday after the quarter sessions be the return day of the writ the proclamation may be made on that day; it must be made at the door of the parish church of the last residence of the defendant in the county, Roger v. Cooke, 3 B. & Cr. 529.

After the exactions and proclamations have been properly made, a coroner is to be present in the County Court (the recorder does it in London) to pronounce judgment of outlawry against those that do not appear to the said writs at the fifth County Court or Husting. The coroner taking the exigent in his hands, pronounces aloud:—

"Forasmuch as A. B. defendant, named in this writ of exigent, hath been called five county days, and hath not rendered his body to the Sheriff of this county of W., therefore we pronounce him outlawed."

The like for a woman defendant, using the word waived instead of outlawed.

After judgment of outlawry pronounced, the writ of exigent together with the judgment of outlawry is returned to the custos brevium; the writ of proclamation must also be returned and filed with the clerk of the outlawries, who, on receiving the exigent and return thereto, will make out the capias utlagatum.

he should be outlawed if he did not appear; and if he did appear, then that you should take him, and cause him to be safely kept, so that you might have his body before us, [or in C. P. "before our justices," or in Exch. "before the barons of our Exchequer,"] at Westminster, on to answer A. B. in an action of debt, at the suit of the said A. B. Therefore we command you, that in pursuance of the statute made in the thirty-first year of the reign of the Lady Elizabeth late Queen of England, you cause the said C. D. to be proclaimed upon three several days, according to the form of that statute; one of which proclamations shall be made at or near the most usual door of the church of the parish where the said C. D. is dwelling, that he render himself unto you, so that you may have his body before us, [or in C. P. "before our justices," or in Exch. "before the barons of our said Exchequer,"] at Westminster, at the aforesaid time, to answer to the said A. B. in the action aforesaid, and have there this writ. Witness, &c.

Writ of Foreign Proclamations (h).

Victoria, &c. to the Sheriff of greeting: Whereas by our writ we lately commanded our Sheriff of that he should cause C. D. late of to be demanded from County Court to County Court, [or if in London, "from Husting to Husting,"] until, according to the law and custom of England, he should be outlawed, if he did not appear; and if he did appear, then that he should take him and cause him to be safely kept, so that he might have his body before us, [or in C. P. "before our justices," or in Exch. "before the barons of our Exchequer,"] at Westminster, on , to answer to A. B. in an action of debt. Therefore we command you, that in pursuance of the statute made in the thirty-first year of the reign of the Lady Elizabeth, late Queen of England, you cause the said C. D. to be proclaimed upon three several days, according to the form of that statute; one of which proclamations shall be made at or near the most usual door of the church of the parish where the said C. D. is dwelling, that he render himself to our Sheriff of , so that he may have his body before us, [or in C. P. "before our justices," or in Exch. "before the barons of our said Exchequer,"] at Westminster, at the aforesaid time, to answer the said A. B. in the action aforesaid, and have there this writ. Witness, &c.

Return to the Writ of Proclamations.

By virtue of this writ to me directed, I have caused the within-named C. D. to be proclaimed at my County Court, held at A., within my bailiwick, the day of , in the year within mentioned. I also caused him to be proclaimed at the general quarter sessions of the peace, held at M., within my bailiwick, the day of , in the same year. And I likewise caused him to be proclaimed at the usual door of the parish church of H., within my bailiwick (in which said parish the said C. D. lived), on Sunday, the day of , in the same year; that he may render himself unto me, [or if a foreign proclamation, "to the Sheriff of , so that, &c."], so that I may have his body before her Majesty's justices at Westminster at the time within mentioned, to answer the within-named J. W. of the plea within mentioned.

The answer of A. B., Esquire, Sheriff.

(h) If directed to a different Sheriff it is called a "writ of foreign proclamations."

Capias Utlagatum (i).

Victoria, &c. to the Sheriff of greeting: We command you, that you do not omit by reason of any liberty of your county, but that you take C. D. late of being outlawed in your said county, [or “in the county of ,” where the outlawry was,] on the day of last past, at the suit of A. B. in an action of debt, [if the writ issue into a county different from that in which defendant was outlawed, say, “as our Sheriff of returned to us, (or in C. P. ‘to our justices,’ or in Exch. ‘to our barons of our Exchequer,’) at Westminster, at a certain day now past,”] if he shall be found in your bailiwick, and him safely keep, so that you may have his body before us, [or in C. P. “before our justices,” or in Exch. “before the barons of our said Exchequer,”] at Westminster, on , to do and receive what our said Court [or “justices,” or “barons,”] shall consider of him in this behalf, and have there this writ. Witness, &c.

The like to the County Palatine of Lancaster.

Victoria, &c. to our Chancellor of our county palatine of Lancaster, or to his deputy there, greeting: We command you, that by our writ, under the seal of our said county palatine to be duly made and directed to the Sheriff of the same county, you cause the said Sheriff to be commanded that he do not omit by reason of any liberty of his county, but that he take C. D. late of , being outlawed [&c. proceed as directed in the preceding form,] if he shall be found in his bailiwick, and him safely keep,

(i) The capias utlagatum is either general or special; that is, against the person only, or against the person, lands and goods of the defendant; it may issue into any county without being a testatum writ, 1 Vent. 33; if the defendant be arrested on this writ the Sheriff shall discharge him upon an attorney's undertaking in writing to appear for the defendant and reverse the outlawry. (4 & 5 W. & M. c. 18, s. 4.) The plaintiff may consent to the defendant's discharge by supersedeas upon his entering an appearance. A bankrupt cannot be arrested hereon within the forty-two days given him by the 117th section of the 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, and if he be, the Court of Bankruptcy will discharge him, Ex parte Hemsley, 1 D. & C. 16; whether bankruptcy and certificate are good grounds of discharge does not seem quite clear; semble, not; Beauchamp v. Tomkins, 3 Taunt. 141; semble also that in such a case an appearance should be entered, and then a summary application made to the Court, Summervil v. Watkins, 14 East, 536; if a feme sole be waived, and she marry after the exigent, but before the outlawry, she may nevertheless be taken on this writ, Barues, 321; 2 Wils. 127. If the defendant enters an appearance to the original action the property is never extended under the special utlagatum. In case of non appearance the Sheriff must summon a jury to inquire of the defendant's property real and personal, in possession and in action, and to appraise the same; witnesses must be subpoenaed as in other cases.

The Court will not on the 4 & 5 W. & M. c. 18, ss. 4 and 5, restore goods taken on a special capias utlagatum, 1 Tidd, 133. Where the Sheriff has seized and taken an inquisition, but there has been no venditioni exponas, the Sheriff is not entitled to poundage, Graham v. Grill, 2 M. & S. 294. A landlord is entitled to a year's rent, where goods are taken under this writ, St. John's College v. Murcott, 7 T. R. 259. An outer door may be broken open to take the defendant or his goods, Rex v. Bird, 2 Show. 87; sed vide Cro. Eliz. 908; it cannot be executed on a Sunday, Osborne v. Carter, Barnes, 319. Deer in a park cannot be extended on a capias utlagatum (10 Hen. 7, c. 7.)

so that he may have his body before us [&c. conclude as in the preceding form.]

Special Capias Utlagatum.

Victoria, &c. to the Sheriff of , greeting : We command you, that you do not omit by reason of any liberty of your county, but by the oath of good and lawful men of your said county you diligently inquire what goods and chattels, lands and tenements, C. D. late of , hath or had in your bailiwick, on the day of last past, or at any time afterwards, on which day he was outlawed in your county, [or “in the county of ,”] at the suit of A. B. in an action of debt, as you have lately returned to us, [or in C. P. “to our justices,” or in Exch. “to the barons of our Exchequer.”] [If the writ issue into a county different from that in which defendant was outlawed, here say “as our Sheriff of returned to us, (or in C. P. ‘to our justices,’ or in Exch. ‘to the barons of our Exchequer,’) at Westminster, at a certain day now past,”] and by their oath cause the same to be extended and appraised, according to the true value thereof; and what you find by that inquisition take into your hands, and cause to be safely kept, so that you answer to us for the true value and issues thereof; and having so extended and appraised the same, what you shall have done thereupon make known to us, [or in C. P. “to our justices,” or in Exch. “to the barons of our said Exchequer,”] at Westminster, on , distinctly and plainly, under your seal, and the seals of those by whose oath you shall have made that extent and appraisement. And for that the said C. D. so being outlawed conceals himself, and runs up and down in your county in contempt of us, and in prejudice of our crown, as we are informed : We command you that you take the said C. D. wheresoever he shall happen to be found in your bailiwick, as well within liberties as without, and keep him safely, so that you may have his body before us, [or in C. P. “before our justices,” or in Exch. “before the barons of our said Exchequer,”] at Westminster, at the aforesaid time, to do and receive what our said Court, [or “justices,” or “barons,”] shall consider of him in this behalf, and have there this writ. Witness, &c.

Return thereto.

The execution of this writ appears in a certain inquisition to this writ annexed.

Inquisition thereon.

(to wit.) An inquisition indented, taken at in the county of , on the day of , in the second year of the reign of our sovereign lady Victoria, before me G. A. Sheriff of the said county, by virtue of the Queen's writ to me directed and to this inquisition annexed, upon the oath of A. B., C. D., E. F., [&c. set out the names of all the jurors,] honest and lawful men of my bailiwick, who, being sworn and charged to inquire of all such matters and things as in the said writ are mentioned and contained, on their oath say, that C. D. in the said writ to this inquisition annexed, on , on which day he was outlawed in the said county, [or “in the county of ,” or “in London,”] at the suit of A. B. in an action of debt, whereof he is convicted, was and yet is possessed of the goods and chattels following, that is to say, [set out the goods,] of the value of £ , as of his own proper goods and chattels, [or if he have no goods, say, “had no goods or chattels in my bailiwick to the knowledge of the said jurors”]: And the jurors aforesaid, upon their oath aforesaid, do further say, that the said C. D. on last past, (on which day he was outlawed as aforesaid,) was and yet is seised in his demesne as of fee [as the case may be], of and in [two messuages, two yards, and ten acres of land,] with the appurtenances, situate in the parish of _____, in the said county, now in the tenure and occupation of T. R., of the yearly value of £ _____, in all issues beyond reprises: all and singular which said [goods and chattels, tenements and premises,] I the said Sheriff, by virtue of the said writ, on the said day of the taking of this inquisition, have taken and caused to be seized into the hands of our said lady the Queen, as by the said writ I am commanded: And the jurors aforesaid, upon their oath aforesaid, do further say, that the said C. D. on last past, (on which day he was outlawed as aforesaid,) or at any time afterwards, had not nor hath he any other or more [goods or chattels, lands or tenements,] in my bailiwick, to the knowledge of the said jurors. In witness whereof, as well I the said Sheriff as the jurors aforesaid, have severally set our respective seals to this inquisition, on the day and year and at the place aforesaid.

Venditioni exponas (k).

Victoria, &c. to the Sheriff of _____, greeting: Whereas by an inquisition indented taken before you, at _____ in your county, on the day of _____, in the _____ year of our reign, by virtue of our writ of special capias utlagatum, under the seal of our Court of King's Bench, [or "Common Pleas," or "Exchequer of Pleas,"] to you the said Sheriff directed, whereby we commanded you to inquire what goods and chattels, lands and tenements, C. D. late of _____ had in your bailiwick, the day of _____ then last past, or at any time afterwards, on which day he was outlawed in your said county, at the suit of A. B. in an action of debt, it was found by the oath of E. F. and other good and lawful men of your said county, that C. D. in the said writ named, on the _____ day of _____ then last, on which day he became outlawed, and on the day of taking the said inquisition, was possessed as of his own proper goods and chattels, of and in the several goods and chattels particularly mentioned and expressed in the schedule or inventory thereof hereunto annexed, which said goods and chattels were worth to be sold the sum of £ _____, all which said goods and chattels you the said Sheriff, by virtue of our said writ, on the day of taking the said inquisition, did seize and take into our hands, as by the said writ and inquisition taken thereupon, transcribed into our Court of Exchequer, and there remaining in the custody

(k) When the capias utlagatum and the Sheriff's return have been filed with the clerk of the exigents, a transcript of it is made out by him; the transcript is then taken to one of the clerks in the Exchequer, who makes out the venditioni exponas, commanding the Sheriff to sell the goods; a levari facias to extend his freehold land; and a sci. fa. to recover debts due to the defendant, or a sequestration, as the case may be; Rex v. Hind, 1 Dowl. 286.

If the proceeds of the sale do not amount to 50*l.* the Court of Exchequer will, on motion, order the Sheriff to pay it over; if they exceed 50*l.* a petition must be sent to the Lords of the Treasury, or by their leave a lease or grant of the Queen's right to levy the issues of the defendant's freehold lands may be obtained. After the warrant, and the Attorney-general's consent for the payment of the money in the hands of the Sheriff, the Court will, under circumstances, stay the making of an order for the payment; Rex v. Buchanan, 1 C. & M. 195.

of our remembrancer, more fully appears: And we being desirous to be satisfied of the value of the said goods and chattels in the said inquisition mentioned, as is just, command you that you sell or cause to be sold the said goods and chattels, and every part thereof, for the best price that can be got for the same, and at the least for the said sum of £ , at which they were so appraised as aforesaid, so that you have the sum of money arising by such sale before the barons of our Exchequer at Westminster, the day of this instant , then and there to be paid to our use; and that you make then and there distinctly and plainly appear to our said barons all that you shall do concerning the premises; and have there this writ. Witness, &c.

By the said transcript, and by the barons.

Return thereto.

By virtue of this writ to me directed, I have caused the goods and chattels in the schedule hereunto annexed mentioned to be sold for £ , being the best price I could get for the same; which money I have before the barons of the Queen's Exchequer at Westminster, on the day within mentioned, ready to be paid to her Majesty's use, according to the command of this writ.

The answer of G. A. Sheriff.

Levari facias.

Victoria, &c. to the Sheriff of greeting: Whereas G. A. our late Sheriff of , by virtue of our writ of capias utlagatum, issuing out of our Court of King's Bench [or "C. P." or "Exch. of Pleas,"] at Westminster, against C. D. late of , who was outlawed in the county of [or "in London,"] on the day of , in the second year of our reign, at the suit of A. B. in an action of debt, to our said late sheriff directed, on the day of , in the year aforesaid, seized and took into our hands a certain [here state the real property seized, as the case may be]: which said &c. were found to be the property of the said C. D. as by the transcript of the said writ of capias utlagatum, and the return thereof, and of a certain inquisition thereupon taken, certified unto our Exchequer, and there in our custody remaining, more fully appears: Now we, being desirous to be satisfied of the, &c. from the said time of taking thereof into our hands, and which have not been answered to us, and also, &c. with all the speed we can, as is just, do command you that you omit not by reason of any liberty of your county, but that you enter the same, and cause to be raised, collected, and levied the said last-mentioned, &c. and also as the same shall from time to time become due as aforesaid: And have the monies which you shall so cause to be raised, collected, and levied, before the barons of our Exchequer at Westminster, on , to be then and there paid to our use; and have there this writ. Witness, &c.

OUTLAWRY ON FINAL PROCESS.

The main distinguishing features between outlawry on mesne and final process are—that on final process no writ of proclamation is required; and that if the defendant be arrested on the capias utlagatum he must remain in custody until the outlawry be reversed (l); the first step on final process is of course a ca. sa. and not a summons, but after the return of "non est inventus" to the ca. sa. the proceedings are exactly the same, and therefore need no comment.

OUTLAWRY ON CRIMINAL PROCESS.

So much information is conveyed to us in the report of the case of "The King v. Yandell (m)," that we consider it best for all practical purposes to transcribe the assignment of error and Lord Kenyon's judgment.

Assignment of errors.

Assignment of Error. "And hereupon the said J. Y., J. Y., and J. Y. come in their proper persons and severally say that in the record and process, and also in the publication of the aforesaid outlawry, there is manifest error in this; that the said J. Y., J. Y., and J. Y. are alleged to be a fifth time demanded and outlawed on the 19th day of May in the thirtieth year of the reign of our lord the now King, when it appears by the writ of proclamation, which is alleged to have issued on Thursday the 25th day of March in the thirtieth year aforesaid, and the proclamations returned thereon, that they the said J. Y., J. Y., and J. Y. had a day given to render themselves to the Sheriff, so that he might have their bodies before the justices therein named, until the assizes and general session of oyer and terminer and gaol delivery, holden for the county of S. next after the 18th day of April, in the thirtieth year aforesaid, being the 9th day of August, in the thirtieth year aforesaid; therefore in that there is manifest error. There is also error in this, that the writ of exigent appears to have issued contrary to the statute in that case made and provided against J. Y., who is only charged as accessory after the fact to a felony alleged to have been committed by J. Y. and J. Y., and appears to be outlawed by the same judgment as that whereby the said principals are outlawed; whereas by the law of the land none shall be outlawed as accessories until the principals be attainted, but their exigent shall remain until such principal be attainted by outlawry or otherwise; therefore in that there is manifest error. There is also error in this, that the writ of capias which is alleged to have issued on Monday the 28th day of July, in the twenty-eighth year of the reign of our said lord the King is not returnable as the statute in that case made and provided directs ; nor does it appear that there is comprised therein any command to the Sheriff to cause to be seized the chattels of the said J. Y., J. Y., and J. Y., and safely to keep them till the day of the said writ returned, as by the law of the land is required ; neither is it alleged that the said J. Y., J. Y., and J. Y. did not appear before the exigent was awarded, as by the law of the land ought to have been alleged ; therefore in that there is manifest error. There is also error in this, that it is not expressly alleged that the writs of proclamation or either of them were or was delivered to the said Sheriff three months before the return of the same, as by law it ought to have been alleged ; therefore in that there is manifest error. There is also error in this, that the said writs of proclamation do not appear to be issued or executed as the statute in that case made and provided requires ; therefore in that there is manifest error. There is also error in this, that it is not alleged in the returns to the said writs of proclamation, that the said J. Y., J. Y., and J. Y. did not, after the making of each of the said several proclamations, required by the said writs, appear and render themselves to the said Sheriff, as by the law of the land it ought to have been alleged ; therefore in that there is manifest error. Wherefore the said J. Y., J. Y., and J. Y. severally pray that the outlawry aforesaid, for the errors aforesaid, and other the errors appearing in the record and process aforesaid may be reversed, and held for nothing ; and that they may severally be restored to the common law, and to all which they have lost by occasion of the outlawry aforesaid. And J. T. esq., coroner and attorney of our present sovereign lord the King, in the Court of our said lord the King, before the King himself, who for our said lord the King in this behalf prosecuteth, being present here in Court in his proper person, and having heard the matters aforesaid above assigned for error, for our said lord the King saith that in the record and process, and also in the publication of the aforesaid outlawry, there is not any error ; therefore he prayeth that the said Court of our said lord the King now here may proceed to examine as well the record and process, and also the publication of the aforesaid outlawry, as the matters above assigned and alleged for error, and that the outlawry aforesaid may in all things be affirmed, &c."

the Court as follows:—The objections made to this outlawry on the first argument were divided and subdivided into seventeen in number ; many of them were so fully answered at the bar, that the counsel for the prisoners upon the second argument rightly confined himself to the seven following objections, of which I shall take notice in the order in which they were made. 1st. That the prisoners have a day given to them upon the record to appear after the outlawry was pronounced. 2dly. That the writ of exigent is contrary to the statute of Westm. 1, c. 14. 3dly. That the second writ of capias is bad, because it does not contain a command to seize the goods of the prisoners. 4thly. That it is not alleged that each writ of proclamation was delivered to the Sheriffs three months before the return of it. 5thly. That the writs of proclamation were neither issued, or executed, according to the statute. 6thly. That it is not alleged after each proclamation that the prisoners did not appear and render themselves ; and 7thly. That the names of the coroners, by whom the outlawry was pronounced, are not subscribed to this record.

“ As to the first objection ; if it were well founded in fact, we think it would have been fatal, according to the judgment of this Court in the case of The King against Barrington. But the two cases are not alike ; and it will be sufficient to state the record only, to show the material distinction between them, and to prove it to be as clear that these prisoners had not a day given to them to appear after the outlawry, as it was that Barrington had such a day given to him. In Barrington's case the prisoner was outlawed on the 21st February ; and the writ of proclamation required the Sheriffs to proclaim him, so that he should be before the justices of the peace at the general sessions of the peace to be holden for the county aforesaid next after the first day of February next ensuing ; and the return by the Sheriffs to that writ was that he had proclaimed the said George Barrington, that he should be before his Majesty's justices of the genrral sessions of the peace last within mentioned. The next sessions of the peace were holden on the 25th February ; so that by the terms of the writ, and by the proclamation too, the prisoner had a day given to him to appear till the 25th February ; and if he had appeared on that day, he would have complied with the requisition of the writ, and have saved his default. But he was outlwd before that day came, viz. on the 21st February; and upon that ground the Court held the outlawry bad. In the present case the writs of proclamation were issued by the Courts of oyer and terminer, requiring proclamations to be made that the prisoners render themselves to the Sheriff, so that he might have their bodies before the justices, &c. at the next sessions of oyer and terminer, to be holden for the said county; and the prisoners were proclaimed at the proper times and places before the return of those writs to surrender themselves to the Sheriff. Under these writs it was the duty of the prisoners to render themselves to the Sheriff before the fifth County Court; or in default of doing so, they stood liable to the outlawry. It is impossible to allow this objection, without saying in broad terms that an outlawry (which is a legal process, sanctioned by all the authorities in the law, both ancient and modern, and interwoven in the constitution itself,) never can legally exist in this country. By law the outlawry must be completed before the return of the writ of exigent. That writ requires the Sheriff to call the party from County Court to County Court, till he is outlawed: and if the Sheriff neither bring in the party on a caption or render before the outlawry, or return a complete outlawry at the time that the writ of exigent is returnable, he has not complied with the writ, or done his duty. In this case, therefore, no day was given to the prisoners to surrender themselves to the justices on the return of the exigent and proclamation, but they were required to surrender themselves to the Sheriff; which is the accurate and correct mode of proceeding.

“ The second objection is that the writ of exigent is contrary to the statute of Westm. 1, c. 14. The statute of 3 Edw. 1, c. 14, enacts that no accessory be outlawed until he that is appealed of the deed be attainted. But that statute relates solely to the case of the accessory, and in no wise applies to a proceeding against the principal. The statute mentions the case of an appeal only; but it has been determined that it extends to indictments as well as to appeals. And in Bro. tit. Exigent, pl. 44, it is said that if it appear in the writ of appeal that one is principal and others accessories in an appeal against three, there the exigent shall not issue against the accessories, until the principal be outlawed. But if it do not appear by the writ, then it is not error, though the exigent issue against all together. This authority relates to the case of the accessory only, and by no means proves that, if the process be erroneous as to the accessory, it shall be so in respect of the principal also. Another case quoted in behalf of the prisoners was 1 Bulstr. 74; where in an appeal against several, some as principals, and one as accessory, the accessory pleaded that there was no such person in rerum naturâ as one of the principals; and that was holden to be a good plea. This case proves only that in an appeal an accessory may plead the misnomer of the principal; and if by any means an end be put to the indictment or appeal against the principal, most unquestionably it must fail as against the accessories also. In this point there seems to be a distinction between an appeal and an indictment; for 2 H. H. P. C. 201, says, if an appeal be brought against a man as accessory to two, he must be proved accessory to both: but if he be indicted as accessory to two, he may be convicted on evidence which proves him accessory to one only. And in 2 H. H. P. C. 177, it is expressly laid down that, if several persons be indicted for one offence, misnomer or want of addition of one quashes the indictment only against him; and the others shall be put to answer; for they are in law as several indictments; and so in trespass. If the indictment be considered as several against each defendant, which we think it must be, this objection, though it is material, and has already been allowed in the case of the accessory, cannot avail the principals. And so it is laid down by Serjt. Hawkins in b. 2, c. 27, s. 130; who says, 'that it seems to be agreed that wherever some of the defendants are expressly charged as principals, and others as accessories, before the award of the exigent, the outlawry of those charged as accessories cannot be but reversible.' I lay out of the case all the authorities, quoted relative to civil actions, because they proceed on a very different ground. There the judgment given for damages is entire; and if it cannot be supported against all, it must be reversed in toto; because the Court cannot sever the damages, and say that each defendant shall be severally liable for his proportion of them. But even in those cases, if different parts of a judgment can be severed, the Court will reverse it in part, and affirm it for the residue; as appears by the case quoted from 2 Rol. Rep. 136, and many more modern determinations.

“The third objection is, that the second writ of capias is bad, because it does not contain a command to the Sheriff to seize the goods of the prisoners, which it was argued was required by the statute, for the purpose of giving the party notice. This objection is founded on the stat. 25 Ed. 3, st. 5, c. 14, which enacts ‘that after any man is indicted of felony before the justices in their sessions to hear and determine, it shall be commanded to the Sheriff to attach his body by writ, or by precept, which is called a capias: and if the Sheriff return that the body is not found, another capias shall be incontinently made returnable at three weeks after; and in the same writ it shall be comprised that the Sheriff shall cause to be seized his chattels, and safely to keep them till the day of the writ returned. And if the Sheriff return that the body is not found, and the indictee cometh not, the exigent shall be awarded, and the chattels shall be forfeit, as the law of the crown ordaineth: but if he come and yield himself, or be taken by the Sheriff before the return of the second capias, then the goods and chattels shall be saved.’ If this statute were ever intended to apply to a Court of assizes, and oyer and terminer, to be sure the language of it is very incorrect: for when an act mentions justices in their sessions, the natural and most obvious meaning of those words is the justices of the peace in their general or quarter sessions. But the provision made by it is totally incompatible with a Court of assizes, and oyer and terminer; for there never was a period in the annals of this country, when that Court sat from three weeks to three weeks. Lord Ch. J. Hale, in 2 Pl. Cr. 195, considers the statute as inapplicable to this Court or to any Court where the justices sit by commission; for (says he) the second capias is to be returnable at three weeks after, which may be out of term, or after the sessions of the justices are ended. We concur in this opinion; and we think it is strongly fortified by the stat. of 8 Hen. 6, c. 10, and the construction which Lord Ch. J. Hale has put upon it. That act consists of two parts; 1st. That a second capias shall issue where the party is in a foreign country; 2dly. If the party be conversant in the county where he was indicted at the time of the felony, the process shall be as hath been used before this time; which words Lord Ch. J. Hale renders thus, the process shall be as it was at common law. In the same page Lord Ch. J. Hale states it, as clear and unquestionable, that at that day the process in case of an indictment of any felony was only one capias, and then an exigent. If so, undoubtedly the stat. of 25 Edw. 3, which requires two capiases could not extend to all Courts of oyer and terminer ; and if it do not, it must necessarily be confined to the sessions of the justices of the peace. Hawkins makes a distinction as to the process upon indictments and appeals for offences which are or are not capital : but I shall not pursue that inquiry farther, because we do not feel ourselves called upon to say in this case whether two capiases were necessary, or whether one only was sufficient. Lord Ch. J. Hale makes a quære as to the usage on the stat. of 25 Edw. 3. If that usage has been consistent with what we consider as the true and plain construction of the words of the statute, it will greatly fortify that opinion : if, on the contrary, the usage has been the other way, it will be incumbent on the Court, notwithstanding what is said by Hale, to see if the statute can be made consistent with it. All the precedents, which we have been able to find on this subject, are one way. In The King v. Morley, Trem. Ent. 280 ; in The King v. Cranstoun, and in The King v. Barrington, there was a second capias ; and in neither of them is there any command to seize the goods. The King v. Morley was a case of some authority beyond the mere precedent ; for it appears in 3 Keb. 125, that a writ of error was brought ; and though objections were taken to the indictment, yet none were made against the process. The words of the statute themselves, the precedents, and the authorities upon it, all concur that there is no weight in this objection.

“ The fourth objection is, that it is not alleged that the writ of proclamation was delivered to the Sheriff three months before the return of it. This objection was over-ruled by the Court upon the argument ; and it is not warranted in point of fact ; for it appears upon the record that the writ was delivered to the Sheriff on the 28th of December, and was not returnable until the 25th March, which allowed an interval of more than three lunar months, and is all that is required. It can only appear by the return of the Sheriff when the writ was delivered to him.

“ The fifth objection is, that the writs of proclamation were neither issued or executed according to the statute. The writ of proclamation requires ‘ one proclamation to be made in open Court in the said Sheriff’s county ; another at the general quarter sessions of the peace to be holden for the said Sheriff’s county ; and another at or near the most usual door of the parish church of Brompton Ralph aforesaid, where they are inhabiting.' The return of the Sheriff to that writ is as follows; that 'at my County Court of Somerset holden at Ivelchester in and for the county of Somerset within written, on Wednesday, 27th January, 30th Geo. 3, I caused the first proclamation to be made in open Court in the said county, &c.' And afterwards to the second writ of proclamation, the Sheriff returned that 'at the general quarter sessions of the peace of our lord the King, holden for the county of Somerset, at the city of Wells, in the said county, on Wednesday the 14th April, 30th Geo. 3, I caused the second proclamation to be made in open Court, &c.; and that afterwards at the most usual door of the church of the parish of Brompton Ralph within mentioned, upon Sunday the 18th April, 30th Geo. 3, immediately after divine service and sermon, (one month at least before the within-named prisoners (mentioning them by name) were a fifth time called by virtue of a second writ of exigent of our said lord the King) I caused the third proclamation to be made &c.' The expressions in the writ, which have been objected to, are 1st. That it requires one proclamation to be made in open Court in the Sheriff's county; and the statute 31 Eliz. c. 3, requires it to be made in the open County Court. 2dly. That it requires another proclamation to be made at the general quarter sessions of the peace to be holden for the said Sheriff's county; and the words of the statute are that one other of the said proclamations shall be made at the general quarter sessions of the peace in those parts where the party defendant at the time of the exigent awarded shall be dwelling. 3dly. That it does not appear that the prisoners were dwelling in the town or place, at the church door of which the third proclamation was made. These objections are very nice and critical; and the answers to them lie within a very narrow compass. 1st. The open Court in the Sheriff's county is the open County Court; the Sheriff has no Court but the County Court: and the case cited from 1 Vent. 108, makes against the objection rather than for it; for the return of the proclamation was 'ad comitat. meum tent. apud (such a place) in com. praedict.;' and no objection was made to the words 'ad comitat. meum:' but the outlawry was reversed for want of the words 'pro comitatu,' which objection does not hold in the present case. It was admitted at the bar on the second argument that this writ was agreeable to the precedents; and I will mention some which tend to show that, if the writ had been more general than it is, yet it would have been good. In The King v. Morley the writ of exigent was to demand him from county to county; and the return was 'at our county of the same city.' In Lilly's Ent. 460, the writ of proclamation is to be proclaimed on three several days according to the statute, whereof let one proclamation be at or near the most usual door of the church of the parish of A., where the said defendant is dwelling, &c. without mentioning any place where the other two should be. In Thes. Brev. 173, the exigent is to demand him from county to county: and there are two precedents of writs of proclamation the same as that in Lilly's Entries. So in Clift's Entries, 384, Dalt. Sher. and Rast. Entr. all the precedents are 'ad. com.' In Dalt. Sher. 229, there are three precedents of the returns of the election of members of parliament; and in p. 230, one of the election of a coroner; all of which are in pleno comitatu meo. And in Cranstoun's case, the writ was exactly in the same words as the present. As to the second objection; the words 'those parts where the party defendant shall be dwelling' can mean nothing but county, riding, or division; and no other construction was attempted to be put upon them at the bar. The third objection is not applicable to the writ; because that expressly states that the prisoners are inhabiting in the parish of Brompton Ralph: but the return only states that the Sheriff proclaimed them at the church door of the parish of Brompton Ralph, without adding the words where they are inhabiting. But we are of opinion that this return is sufficient; for the Sheriff has done every thing which he was required by the writ to do, and has made a full return of that. If it appear on the record that the prisoners were inhabiting in the parish, that is sufficient; and here it is expressly so alleged in the writ. It was observed on the first argument that the indictment does not describe the prisoners as being then of that parish, but only as late of that parish. After the express averment in the writ which I have mentioned, the case is not open to that objection: but if the case were otherwise, there is no foundation for it. The constant form of indictments is to describe the prisoner late of such a place; and both Hawkins and Hale say the writ of proclamation shall go according to the place, of which he is so described.

"The sixth objection is, that the Sheriff has not added to his return to each proclamation that the prisoners did not appear. It is not necessary that he should do so. The passage cited from 2 Hale's P. C. 204, speaks of the exigent only ; and in the return to that writ it is necessary to state that they did not appear. The exigent is the writ, which commands the Sheriff to take the prisoners ; and the proclamation is merely a public notice of what is doing in another place. The precedents are against this objection also ; and there is no authority in support of it. In truth, these last four objections were rather hinted at than relied upon in the second argument ; and that is as much as they deserved.

“The last objection is, that the names of the coroners, by whom the outlawry was pronounced, are not subscribed to this record ; and 2 Hale's P. C. 204, and 2 Rol. Abr. 802, were quoted upon this point, where it is said to have been determined that the names of the coroners must be subscribed to the judgment of outlawry, or, in the words of Rolle, be put upon the record ; or else it is error. By law it is necessary that it should appear by whom the outlawry was pronounced, and that they had authority to pronounce that judgment, with the exception perhaps of an outlawry in the city of London ; in which case it was determined in The King v. Garrard, Cro. Jac. 531, that an outlawry returned in the general words, ‘ideo utlagatus est,’ was good ; the Court taking notice that there was not any coroner, but the mayor for the time being was perpetual coroner ; and that the course was not to return there ‘per judicium coronatorum’ but generally ‘ideo utlagatus est.’ From that case it is manifest that the law requires no more than what I have already stated, namely, that the names of the persons by whom the outlawry was pronounced, and that they had authority so to do, or in other words that they were coroners, should appear upon the record. But the point does not rest merely on inference from that case ; for there are two other cases in the same book, which show clearly what is required. The first is Sir Edmund Button v. Andley, Cro. Jac. 521 ; where the outlawry was reversed because it was not said to be per judicium coronatorum ; the other is Patrick's case, Cro. Jac. 528, where it was stated that the defendant was outlawed per judicium coronatorum, but the record did not show the name of any of the coroners ; and for that cause it was reversed. It never was contended that the coroners must sign the judgment with their own hands. In ancient times it was hardly possible ; and there is no case in the law in which it is essential that the judge of a Court should sign the judgment with his own hand. Besides, if that had been necessary, it could not have been done on this record, which is not the record of the coroners, but of the Court of oyer and terminer, made up from the returns of the Sheriff, stating what had in fact been done under the mandates of the Court. The record in the present case states that ‘ by the judgment of Daniel Follett Scadding, gentleman, and Peter Layng, gentleman, coroners of our said lord the King of the said county of Somerset, and according to the laws and customs of England, the prisoners are and each of them severally is outlawed.’ Therefore it does appear on the record by whom the outlawry was pronounced, and that they were the coroners, and consequently had authority to pronounce that judgment. For these reasons we are all of opinion that judgment must pass on the prisoner at the bar.”

SECTION V.

SPECIAL COUNTY COURT FOR THE ELECTION OF A CORONER.

Sheriff's
duties.

In this Court the Sheriff is the returning officer, and the person upon whom mainly devolve the active duties of the election :

Coroners (a), or Crownors, are of three kinds.

Coroners (b) :—1. Virtute officii.

2. Virtute chartæ sive commissionis.

3. Virtute electionis.

The first two divisions of the subject we pass over unnoticed, and simply because the Sheriff has no interest in their appointment, coroners virtute electionis only falling within the scope of his authority. They are such as are by statute Westminster 1,

(a) As to his antiquity see Mirr. 1, s. 3 ; 4 Inst. 271 ; 2 Hawk. P. C. 28, c. 1, s. 5.

(b) The Lord Chief Justice of the Queen's Bench is virtute officii principal coroner of England ; and may, if he please, exercise the office in any part of the realm. The other judges of the same Court are sovereign coroners ; 4 Co. Rep. 57 ; 4 Inst. 173.

c. 10, and statute 28 Edw. 3, c. 6, eligible and chosen in the full counties by the commons of the same counties.

By statute Westm. 1, c. 10, it is enacted, "that through all shires sufficient men shall be chosen of the most loyal and wise knights (d), which know, will, and may best attend upon such offices, and which lawfully shall attach and present pleas of the crown." And by 14 Edw. 3, st. 1, c. 8, it is enacted, "that no coroner be chosen unless he have land (e) in fee sufficient in the same county, whereof he may answer to all manner of people."

As the office is by election it does not determine by the demise of the crown (f); hence also if they prove insufficient to answer the fines, &c. the county, as the superior, shall answer for a defaulter (g).

In some counties there are two coroners, in others more; in the counties in Wales and Chester two (h).

London (i), the Cinque Ports, and the Dean and Chapter of Westminster have their own coroners; in the Stannaries in Cornwall the wardens are coroners (k); the Bishop of Ely has the appointment of the coroners in the Isle of Ely (l). The coroner of the Admiralty is appointed by the Lord High Admiral (m); of the Verge, by the Lord High Steward for the time being (n).

If there be above two coroners in the county and a writ is directed coronatoribus, and one dies, yet as long as the plural number remains a return by the coroners is good; but if there be but one survivor he cannot execute the writ and return it until another be made; but if there be two coroners in a county or more, one may execute the writ, as in case of an exigent, but the return must be in the names of the coronatores.

Upon the death of the coroner or other cause of removal the first step to be taken by the candidate, who wishes to apply for the writ, is to have an affidavit of the death of the late coroner,

The humble petition of us whose names are hereunto subscribed, on behalf of ourselves and others, freeholders of the county of W.

Sheweth,

That R. B., Esquire, late one of the coroners for the said county of W., departed this life the day of , as by the affidavit annexed appears. And that it will be for her Majesty's service and general good of the said county, to have a proper person elected coroner in the room and stead of the said R. B. deceased.

Your petitioners therefore most humbly pray your lordship's order that the cursitor of the said county do make out a writ de coronatore eligendo for the election of a new coroner for the said county of W., in the room and stead of the said *R. Writ de Coronatore Eligendo.

Victoria, &c. to the Sheriff of W., greeting: forasmuch as A. B. Esq., late one of the coroners of your county is deceased, [or as the case may be,] we command you that if it be so, then in your full county, by the assent of the same county, you cause another coroner to be chosen in the place of the said *A. Witness ourself at Westminster, the day of , in the second year of our reign (p).

(p) This is called a writ close, because it is close folded up and the wax put round it—in a writ patent, though the writ is folded up, the wax is not put round it.

For proper instructions regarding the execution of this writ, the Sheriff must always refer to the statute of 58 Geo. 3, c. 95, entitled “ An Act to regulate the Election of Coroners for Counties,” (10 June, 1818.)

“ Whereas there are no sufficient regulations for the election of coroners for counties,’ Be it therefore enacted by the King’s most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in this present parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, that from and after the passing of this act, upon every election to be made of any coroner or coroners of any county in England and Wales, the Sheriff of the county where such election shall be made shall hold his County Court for the same election at the most usual place or places of election of coroners within the said county, and where the same have most usually been held for forty years last past, and shall there proceed to election at the next County Court, unless the same fall out to be held within six days after the receipt of writ de Coronatore eligendo, or upon the same day ; and then shall adjourn the same Court to some convenient day, not exceeding fourteen days, giving ten days’ notice of the time and place of election ; and in case the said election be not determined upon the view, with the consent of the freeholders there present, but that a poll shall be demanded for determination thereof, then the said Sheriff, or in his absence his Under-sheriff, with such others as shall be deputed by him, shall forthwith there proceed to take the said poll, in some public place, by the same Sheriff, or his Under-sheriff as aforesaid in his absence, or others appointed for the taking thereof as aforesaid ; and every such poll shall commence on the day upon which the same shall be demanded, and be duly and regularly proceeded in from day to day (Sunday excepted) until the same be finished ; but so as that no poll for such election shall continue more than ten days at most (Sunday excepted), and the said poll shall be kept open seven hours at the least each day, between the hours of nine in the morning and five at night : and for the more due and orderly proceeding in the said poll, the said Sheriff, or in his absence his Under-sheriff, or such as he shall depute, shall appoint such number of clerks as to him shall seem meet or convenient for the taking thereof ; which clerks shall all take the said poll in the presence of the said Sheriff or his Under-sheriff, or such as he shall depute ; and before they Sheriff to hold County Court for election of coroner at usual place.

" II. And be it further enacted, that no person or persons shall be allowed to have any vote at such election for coroner or coroners of any county in England and Wales as aforesaid, for or by reason of any trust estate or mortgage, unless such trustee or mortgagee be in actual possession or receipt of the rents and profits of such estate ; but that the mortgagor or cestuique trust in possession shall and may vote for the same estate, notwithstanding such mortgage or trust ; and that all conveyances of any messuages, lands, tenements, and hereditaments, in order to multiply voices, or to split or divide the interest in any houses or lands among several persons, to enable them to vote at elections for a coroner of any county as aforesaid, are hereby declared to be void and of none effect.

" III. And be it further enacted, that all the reasonable costs, charges, and expenses, the said Sheriff, or his Under-sheriff, or other deputy, shall expend or be liable to in or about the providing of poll books, booths and clerks, (such clerks to be paid not exceeding one pound and one shilling each per diem,) for the purpose of taking the poll at any such election, shall be borne, sustained, and paid by the several candidates at such election, in equal proportions."

Expenses of Sheriff and poll clerks to be paid by the candidates.

One of the first matters to be attended to by the Sheriff is the place of election ; it is to be " at the most usual place or places of election of coroners within the said county, and where the same have most usually been held for forty years last past." The statute, it will be observed, not only designates the place by the term, "usual place," but proceeds to define the import of them, as they might otherwise be indefinite as to time and limitation of user ; to hold the Court at any other place is an indictable offence, and the election is void (r).

Place of election.

As to time, the election is to be had by the Sheriff at the next County Court next after the receipt of the writ de coronatore eligendo (s) ; unless the next County Court fall out to be held within six days after the receipt of the writ, or upon the same day ; should either be the case he shall adjourn the same Court to some convenient day, not exceeding fourteen days, giving ten days' notice of the time and place of election.

Notice of Election.

The Sheriff of W. will proceed to the election of a coroner for the said county in the room of A. B. deceased at the County Court to be held at by adjournment (t) on Wednesday the day of next at ten o'clock in the forenoon of the same day, at which time and place the freeholders of the same county are desired to attend.

Robert Elliott, High Sheriff.

Commencement of election.

When the election commences (which must be forthwith, that is, on the same day a poll is demanded,) the bailiff makes the following proclamation :—

Proclamation.

“ All manner of persons who have any thing to do in this election of coroner for the county of W. in the room of A. B. deceased [or “ removed,” or “ resigned,” as the case may be,] let them draw near and give their attendance.”

When poll demanded, it cannot be denied.

When a poll is demanded the Sheriff cannot deny it, any more than he can deny a scrutiny into the polls upon a suggestion that non-freeholders have polled (u).

Voters' qualification.

The two essentials of a voter's qualification are, first, a freehold estate (x) (but as to quantity or value undefined by common or statute law) ; second, majority in age ; the oath of qualification is prescribed by the statute itself.

Close of the poll.

After the close of the poll (within a reasonable time after five o'clock on the tenth, or, if Sunday be the tenth, then on the eleventh day, unless sooner determined by consent,) let the bailiff proclaim aloud thus :

“ If any one can gainsay why Richard Wilson, Gent., should not be appointed one of the coroners for this county, let him come forth and he shall be heard, otherwise the Sheriff of Westmoreland will declare the said Richard Wilson duly elected.”

34. And be it enacted, that every person now having a right to vote for the borough of New Shoreham, or of Cricklade, Aylesbury, or East Retford respectively, in respect of any freehold, wheresoever the same may be situate, shall retain such right of voting, subject always to the same provisions as are hereinbefore mentioned with regard to persons whose right of voting for any borough is saved and reserved by this Act, save and except that such persons now having a right to vote for the borough of New Shoreham, or of Cricklade, Aylesbury, or East Retford respectively, shall not be registered in any year unless they shall have resided for six calendar months next previous to the last day of July in such year within the borough of New Shoreham, or of Cricklade, Aylesbury, or East Retford respectively, as defined by this Act, or within seven statute miles of such respective borough or of any part thereof; and that for the purpose of the registration hereinafter required all persons now having a right to vote for the borough of New Shoreham in respect of any freeholds which may be situate in the borough of Horsham, or for the borough of Cricklade in respect of any freeholds which may be situate in the borough of Malmsbury, as such boroughs of Horsham or Malmsbury may respectively be defined by the Act to be passed for that purpose as hereinbefore mentioned, shall be inserted in the list of voters hereinafter directed to be made by the overseers of that parish or township within the borough of New Shoreham or the borough of Cricklade respectively, as de-

IN THIS COURT the High Sheriff's "duties are neither entirely ministerial nor wholly judicial, they are of a mixed nature (a)." Such was the character of his duties before the Reform Act, and such are they now ; for if they differ, they differ in degree and not in kind. His ministerial duties consist in giving notices, assembling the electors, providing books, reading the precept, &c. ; his judicial in excluding (b), registering, admitting votes, &c.

Sheriff's duties, of what kind.

In what his ministerial and in what his judicial consist.

(a) Cullen v. Morris, 2 Stark. Rep. 577, distinguishing and explaining, if not overruling, Ashby v. White, Lord Raym. Rep. 938 ; see too Green v. Milward, ibid. ; Drewe v. Coulton, Milward v. Sargeant, 1 East, 577 ; Williams v. Lewis, Peake's Add. Ca. 157 ; Spilsbury v. Micklethwaite, 1 Taunt. Rep. 146.
(b) By 2 Will. 4, c. 45, s. 58, the returning officer is the sole judge of the sufficiency of the voter's answer to any of the three questions therein set forth, and may admit or reject the vote accordingly ; if the voter refuses to take the oath therein prescribed, the returning officer or his deputy may reject such voter, and if he so acts from no improper motive but from an honest intention to discharge his duty, no action will lie against him for doing so. *Cullen v. How far old law affected by the Reform Act.

Before entering more minutely into the extent and effect of the revision of our law touching the constitution of this Court, it must be premised that all election laws remain in force, except where repealed or altered, or are inconsistent with the provisions of the recent statute of William the Fourth ; much therefore of the old law (if we may be allowed the expression) necessarily remains ; and what that is must be the first object of our inquiry as a key to the construction of the statute itself.

New parliament how summoned.

TO SUMMON THE PARLIAMENT appertains to the Queen, for she is the only branch of the legislature that has a separate existence, and is capable of performing any act at a time when no parliament is in being (c) ; and therefore in case of a new parliament, the House of Commons is convened by virtue of an order (d) (formerly by warrant) from her Majesty in council to the Lords High Chancellors of Great Britain and Ireland, to issue out writs to the Sheriffs of every county for the election of all the members to serve for that county, and for every city and borough therein.

Her Majesty's Order for New Parliament.

Her Majesty having been pleased by the royal proclamation to dissolve the present parliament, is hereby pleased, with the advice of her privy council, to order that the Right Honourable the Lord High Chancellor of that part of the united kingdom called Great Britain and the Right Honourable the Lord High Chancellor of Ireland do respectively cause writs to be issued in due form and according to law, for the calling of a new parliament to meet at the city of Westminster, which writs are to be returnable on the day of next.

How vacancy is filled up during the sitting of parliament. Motion for Speaker's warrant.

After the parliament is assembled, AND DURING ITS CONTINUANCE, the House of Commons alone (e) have the power of issuing writs to fill up any vacancy occasioned by death, resignation, bankruptcy, removal by a committee of the house, acceptance of office, elevation to a peerage, or the like. In the event of a vacancy during its continuance, therefore, on motion of a member, the Speaker sends his warrant to the clerk of the crown, directing a new writ to be made and issued, which is thereupon done as in other cases.

By virtue of an order of the House of Commons this day made.

Speaker's warrant.

These are to require you to make out a new writ for the electing of a burgess to serve in this present parliament for the borough of A., in the room of G. A. who, since his election for the said borough, hath accepted the office of one of the commissioners for executing the office of lord high admiral, [or "dead," as the case may be,] for which this shall be your sufficient warrant.

To the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery.

If a vacancy be caused by death or promotion to the peerage during any recess (f) of the House, whether by prorogation or adjournment, the Speaker forthwith, on receiving the following certificate under the hands of two members, causes notice thereof to be inserted in the London Gazette, and at the expiration of fourteen days after the insertion of such notice in the Gazette, issues his warrant as in other cases, (subject to the restrictions imposed by the statute of 24 Geo. 3, sess. 2, c. 26, s. 4.)

The Commissioners mentioned in the statute of 52 Geo. 3, c. 144, s. 2, were abolished by 1 & 2 Will. 4, c. 56; but it is conceived that the Commissioners of the new Court of Bankruptcy have the like powers as to this certificate, by the seventh and sixteenth sections thereof. The form of the certificate will be mutatis mutandis the same as the filling up a vacancy caused by death or promotion during a recess, and the Speaker's warrant issues in like manner.

The Writ on a General Election (h).

Victoria, by the grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland Queen, defender of the faith, and so forth: to the Sheriff of the county of Oxford, greeting. Whereas, by the advice and assent of our council for certain arduous and urgent affairs concerning us, the state and defence of our kingdom of Great Britain and the Church, we have ordered a certain parliament to be holden at our city of Westminster, on the day of next ensuing, and then to treat and have conference with the prelates, great men, and peers of our realm: We command and strictly enjoin you that (proclamation being made of the day and place aforesaid) two knights (i) of the most fit and discreet of the said county, girt with swords, [and of the University of Oxford two burgesses, and of the city of Oxford two citizens, and of the borough of W. one burgess, and of the borough of B. one burgess,] of the most sufficient and discreet, freely and indifferently,* by those who at your County Court to be holden for the purpose of the election shall be present, according to the form of the statutes in that case made and provided, you cause to be elected; and the names of those knights, citizens, and burgesses so to be elected (whether they be present or absent) you cause to be inserted in certain indentures to be thereupon made between you and those who shall be present at such election, and then at the day and place aforesaid you cause to come in such manner that the said knights for themselves and the commonalty of the said University, city, and boroughs respectively, may have from them full and suf-

W. to be void, [or “the said C. H. is since dead,” as the case may be,] as by the letter of our right trusty and well beloved counsellor James Abercrombie, Speaker of your Lower House of parliament more fully and plainly appears: By means whereof our subjects of the said borough are deprived of a burgess to treat for the benefit of the said borough in our said parliament; nevertheless we being unwilling that the commonalty of our kingdom in our said parliament assembled to treat of the business concerning us, the state and defence of our kingdom and the church, from the aforesaid cause, should be diminished or lessened, whereby those affairs may not have a due end: We command you that in the place of the said F. W. within the borough aforesaid, one other fit and discreet burgess of the aforesaid borough (proclamation being first made of the premises and of the day and place) freely and indifferently, &c. 3.—That whenever a line is said to be drawn from, to, or through an object, such line shall, in the absence of any direction to the contrary, be understood to be drawn from, to, or through the centre of such object, as nearly as the centre thereof can be ascertained :

4.—That every building through which or through any part whereof any boundary hereby established shall pass shall be considered as within such boundary: Provided always, that if the boundaries of any two or more of the cities, boroughs, and places whereof the contents and boundaries are hereby settled and described shall pass through the same building or any part thereof, such building shall be considered as within that one of such two or more of the said cities, boroughs, and places which was before the passing of the hereinbefore recited Act entitled to return members or a member to serve in parliament, or if neither or more than one of such two or more of the said cities, boroughs, and places shall have been so entitled, then within that one of them whereof the area as hereby established is the smallest :

5.—That whenever any boundary by this Act established is said to pass along any other boundary, or along any road, lane, path, river, stream, canal, drain, brook, or ditch, the middle (as nearly as the same can be ascertained) of such other boundary, or of such road, lane, path, river, stream, canal, drain, brook or ditch, shall be understood :

6.—That the middle of any road or lane shall be understood as the middle of the carriageway along the same :

7.—That when any boundary by this Act established is said to proceed along a road, lane, path, river, stream, canal, or drain, from or to an object, such boundary shall be understood to proceed from or to that point in the middle of such road, lane, path, river, stream, canal, or drain from which the shortest line would be drawn to the centre of such object, as nearly as the centre thereof can be ascertained :

- 8.—That the point at which any fence, hedge, wall, boundary, road, lane, path, river, stream, canal, drain, brook, or ditch is said to cut, meet, join, cross, reach, or leave any fence, hedge, wall, boundary, road, lane, path, river, stream, canal, drain, brook, or ditch, shall be understood as that point at which a line passing along the middle of the fence, hedge, wall, boundary, road, lane, path, river, stream, canal, drain, brook, or ditch so cut, met, joined, crossed, reached, or left, would be intersected by a line drawn along the middle of the fence, hedge, wall, boundary, road, lane, path, river, stream, canal, drain, brook, or ditch, so cutting, meeting, joining, crossing, reaching, or leaving, if such line were prolonged sufficiently far :
- 9.—That when a line is said to be drawn to a road, lane, river, stream, or canal, such line shall be considered as prolonged to the middle of such road, lane, river, stream, or canal :
- 10.—That by the words “ sea ” and “ sea coast ” shall be understood the low-water mark :
- 11.—That if any deficiency shall be found to exist in the line of any boundary described in the said Schedule to this Act annexed marked (O.), by reason of the intervention of any space between any two immediately consecutive points, such deficiency shall be supplied by a straight line to be drawn from the one to the other of such two immediately consecutive points.

Provision as to detached parts of parishes, &c. and for extra-parochial places.

37. And be it further enacted, that, notwithstanding the generality of any description contained in the said Schedule to this act annexed marked (O.), no city, borough, or place, the contents whereof are specified in such Schedule, shall include any part of any parish, township, hamlet, chapelry, tithing, manor, or liberty which is detached from the main body of such parish, township, hamlet, chapelry, tithing, manor, or liberty, if, by reason of including such detached part, the boundary hereby established of such city, borough, or place would not be continuous, unless such detached part shall, before the passing of this Act, have formed part of such city, borough, or place for the purpose of the election of members to serve in parliament ; but that all places, parochial, or extra-parochial, which are surrounded by the contents of which any city, borough, or place is said in such Schedule marked (O.) to consist, but for which no provision is made in such Schedule (O.), shall be considered as included within such city, borough, or place, for the purpose of the election of members to serve in parliament.

Misnomer not to vitiate, and the descriptions in Schedule (O.) to be considered as existing on the 1st Oct. 1831. Act may be amended this session.

38. Provided always, and be it enacted, that no misnomer or inaccurate description contained in this Act, or in any of the Schedules hereto annexed, shall in anywise prevent or abridge the operation of this Act with respect to the subject of such description, provided the same shall be so designated as to be commonly understood ; and that for the purpose of identifying the descriptions contained in the said Schedule (O.) with the subjects of such descriptions respectively, such descriptions shall, if now inapplicable, be held to apply to such subjects as they existed on the first day of October one thousand eight hundred and thirty-one.

39. Provided always, and be it enacted, that this Act may be amended or altered by any act or acts to be passed during this present session of parliament.

DUTIES BEFORE ELECTION.

This done, his next consideration will be what preparations are to be made for the election.

Duties after writ and before election.

The 7 & 8 Will. 3, c. 85, provided that County Courts held for the county of York, or other County Courts, used to be held on a Monday should be called on Wednesdays. But it may be holden by adjournment on Monday (b).

Duties before Election.	places may be appointed by her majesty, by and with the advice of her privy council, on petition from justices in quarter sessions assembled. At each polling place (in a county election) as many polling booths must be provided as will allow one for every 450 electors; likewise there must be affixed upon the most conspicuous part of each of the said booths the names of the several parishes, townships, and places for which such booth is respectively allotted(e). Likewise for the use of each booth he must,

Register of voters.	The polling booths are to be erected at the joint and equal expense of the several candidates , and by contract with them if they shall think fit to make such contract; if not, then to be erected by the Sheriff at their expense, subject to such limitation as hereinafter mentioned. As the Sheriff's power to erect booths is not absolute but conditional only, inasmuch as it arises only on the default of the candidates themselves not contracting , a formal request should in prudence be made upon them to do so, for in suing any candidate for his proportion it must be averred and proved (if traversed) that the candidates did not contract.

Expense when a person is proposed without his consent.	For money paid for gas, saw-dust, &c. no provision seems to be made, and it is extremely difficult to determine whether the law will imply an obligation in favour of the Sheriff as to them; the better opinion seems to be in the negative, and that they must be supplied at the request of the candidate, otherwise they will not be liable for expenses of such a kind.

Election.*

By sect. 65, "the Sheriff shall have power to appoint deputies to preside, and clerks (h) to take the poll at the principal place of election, and also at the several places appointed for taking the poll for any county, or any riding, parts or division of a county." The former to be paid each two guineas by the day, the latter one guinea.

Deputies and poll
clerks.

The Sheriff, as returning officer, is to administer to the poll clerks the following oath before beginning to take such poll:—

I, A. B., do swear, that I will, at this election of a member [or "members"] to serve in parliament for [the eastern division of] the county of C., truly and indifferently take the poll and set down the name of each voter and his addition, profession or trade, and the place of his abode, and for whom he shall poll; and to poll no voter who is not sworn or put to his affirmation if legally required.

Poll clerk's oath.

It is a breach of duty in the Sheriff as returning officer to refuse to administer this oath, but the statute is only directory and the omission will not avoid the election (i).

The Sheriff, as returning officer, or his deputy, may also appoint a commissioner or commissioners to each polling place for the purpose of administering the oaths required to be taken by electors; but as deputies have the same power of administering the oaths or affirmations required by law as the High Sheriff (k), the appointment will seldom be made in practice, and therefore it is unnecessary to do more than refer to the different statutes relating thereto (l).

Commissioners for administering oaths.

Also the High Sheriff, or in his absence the Under-Sheriff, is authorized to appoint for each candidate such one person as shall be nominated to him by each candidate to be inspectors of every clerk who shall be appointed for taking the poll (m).

Inspectors of poll
clerks.

(h) The appointment may be by parol. The circumstance of the poll clerks being reduced in number, no partiality in the Sheriff as returning officer nor prejudice to the candidates being shown, will not impeach the return; 1 Peckw. 269; Rex v. Mayor of London, 9 Barn. & Cr. 1.

(m) 7 & 8 Will. 3, c. 25, s. 3.

Election.*

books.*

And if booths be erected, and poll clerks appointed, the Sheriff is to allow a cheque book for every poll book for each candidate, to be kept by their respective inspectors at every place where the poll for the election shall be carried on (n).

CITIES AND TOWNS.

(Being Counties of themselves.)

Duties after receipt of writ.

*Notice of time and

The Sheriff, in such places where he is returning officer, after indorsing the day of such receipt, and giving a memorandum of having so received it to the post master who delivered it to him, must cause public notice to be given of the time and place of election, which must be holden “within the space of eight days next after that of his receipt of the said writ, and give three days notice thereof at least, exclusive of the day of the receipt of the writ and of the day of the election.”

The notice must be given within the hours prescribed with regard to county elections (o).

Except in the case of Coventry (p) in cities and towns being counties of themselves there is no legislative provision as to the place where the election is to be holden.

Act as to

Precept an essential process.	This precept, since the statute of 23 Hen. 6, c. 14, is an essen- tial process, and any election had or votes given without a law- ful precept, or before the precept be read and published, are void and of no force (u).
Ought to be directed to returning officer. Mistake therein not material.	The precept ought to be directed to the returning officer, al- though the statutes do not require it to be done, but its validity is not affected by any mistake in its direction—for the misdirec- tion may be obliterated after the return made thereto to the Sheriff, and when produced from the Crown Office no parol evidence can be received to impeach it on that account (x).

Sheriff punishable for not send- ing precept.	If the Sheriffs cause no precept to be delivered, or deliver one to any person but the proper officer, he is liable to be punished by the House (z).

‘ WHEREAS it is found by experience that the laws already in being have not been sufficient to prevent corrupt and illegal practices in the election of members to serve in parliament :’ for remedy, therefore, of so great an evil, and to the end that all elections of members to parliament may hereafter be freely and indifferently made, without charge or expense, be it enacted, that from and after the twenty-fourth day of June, 1729, upon every election of any member or members to serve for the commons in parliament, every freeholder, citizen, freeman, burgess, or person having or claiming to have a right to vote or be polled at such election, shall, before he is admitted to poll at the same election, take the following oath, (or being one of the people called Quakers, shall make the solemn affirmation appointed for Quakers,) in case the same shall be demanded by either of the candidates, or any two of the electors ; that is to say,

Electors of parliament men to take the following oath, if demanded.

Presiding officers to administer it, on forfeiture of 50*l*.

Duties at Election.

2. And be it further enacted, that if any sheriff, mayor, bailiff, or other returning officer shall admit any person to be polled without taking such oath or affirmation, if demanded as aforesaid, such returning officer shall forfeit the sum of one hundred pounds, to be recovered in manner aforesaid, together with full costs of suit; and that if any person shall vote or poll at such election, without having first taken the oath, or if a Quaker, having made his affirmation as aforesaid, if demanded, such person shall incur the same penalty which the officer is subject to for the offence above mentioned.

5. And be it further enacted, by the authority aforesaid, that if any returning officer, elector, or person taking the oath or affirmation hereinbefore mentioned, shall be guilty of wilful and corrupt perjury, or of false affirming, and be thereof convicted by due course of law, he shall incur and suffer the pains and penalties which by law are enacted or inflicted in cases of wilful and corrupt perjury.

6. And be it further enacted, by the authority aforesaid, that no person convicted of wilful and corrupt perjury or subornation of perjury shall, after such conviction, be capable of voting in any election of any member or members to serve in parliament.

9. And for the more effectual observance of this Act, be it enacted, that all and every of the sheriffs, mayors, bailiffs, and other officers to whom the execution of any writ or precept for electing any member or members to serve in parliament, shall belong or appertain, shall and are hereby required at the time of such election, immediately after the reading such writ or precept, to read or cause to be read openly before the electors there assembled, this present Act, and every clause therein contained; and the same shall also openly be read once in every year at the general quarter sessions of the peace, to be holden next after Easter, for any county or city, and at every election of the chief magistrate in any borough, town corporate, or cinque port, and at the annual election of magistrates and town councillors for every borough within that part of Great Britain called Scotland.

He then calls upon the electors to name the candidates.

If no more candidates are nominated than are required by the writ to be returned, the Sheriff, as returning officer, has no authority to open a poll to allow time for the appearance of another candidate, but is bound forthwith to return those nominated; if more are nominated than are required by the writ to be returned, the election is to be made by the view or by the poll.

Note, however, that a fresh candidate may be proposed at any time during the poll, and his election will be good (d).

An election by the view.

An election by the view is where it is made with the consent of the freeholders then present, and no poll is required for determination thereof (e); an election by the poll is where the polls of the electors are numbered.

Election by the poll.

Sheriff must grant a poll if duly demanded.

It appears from the earliest cases that the Sheriff was not bound to grant a poll unless a real doubt arose as to the majority of the persons then present, but it being now established that the voters need not be present at the reading of the writ, it necessarily follows that the number or expression of those present at the reading of the writ is no rule, and that without regard thereto the Sheriff must grant a poll when DULY demanded, that is either by a candidate or elector (f); if he refuse to grant the poll when thus legally demanded, the election would be void and the Sheriff as returning officer severely punished (g).

When no votes are tendered within a reasonable time.

But if after such demand no votes are tendered within a reasonable time, he may return according to the view. In Westminster, 1661, the High Bailiff waited above half an hour after the appointment of poll clerks to take the poll which had been demanded, but no votes being tendered he returned the candidates with the majority on the view, and it was resolved that they were duly elected (h).

When poll be once granted must proceed.

When once the poll has been granted, the Sheriff must proceed with it, although the party who demanded it should waive it or disturb the proceedings, otherwise the election will be void (i).

Candidate's qualification.

Not to extend to the members for the Universities ;

If a demand of poll be made, the Court must be adjourned over to the next day but two after the day of nomination, unless such next day but two shall be Saturday or Sunday, then the adjournment must be to the following Monday (l).

At what hour election to commence.

On the day to which the Court has been adjourned, the poll is to commence at nine o'clock in the forenoon at the principal place of election, and also at the several places appointed for taking polls, and continue two successive days; (that is to say) for seven hours on the first day of polling, and for eight hours on the second day; and no poll shall be kept open later than four o'clock in the afternoon of the second day (m).

Sheriff's duties in case of interruption by riot, &c.

If the proceedings at the election be interrupted or obstructed by any riot or open violence, the Sheriff or his deputy cannot finally close the poll for such cause, but must adjourn the poll at the place only where the interruption or obstruction takes place until the following day, and if necessary (of which he as returning officer is judge) shall further adjourn the same until such interruption or obstruction shall have ceased, when he shall again proceed to take the poll at such place.

(m) Sect. 62.

Note.—The day whereon the poll is so adjourned for the cause aforesaid is not, as to such place where, &c. to be reckoned one of the two days.

Duties at Election.

How the day on which the poll is adjourned is calculated.

In case adjournment is made by deputy.

And whensoever the poll is adjourned in such a case by the Sheriff's deputy, he must forthwith give notice of the adjournment to the Sheriff, who shall not finally declare the state of the poll or make proclamation of the members chosen, until the poll so adjourned at such place shall have been formally closed and delivered or transmitted to the Sheriff.

In case of any disturbance by an individual, the Sheriff or his deputy should cause him to be taken before a magistrate to be bound over to keep the peace; the Sheriff cannot commit him as a magistrate (n).

What Sheriff should do with an individual who disturbs the proceedings.

At the time of polling, no inquiry is to be permitted as to the right of any person to vote except as follows, and that only by the Sheriff or his deputy, if required on behalf of any candidate, and at the time of his tendering his vote, and not afterwards. The following questions, or any of them and no other, are to be put to a voter, viz. (o).

What questions can be put to a voter.

"1. Are you the same person whose name appears as A. B. on the register of voters now in force for the county of _____, [or "for the riding, parts or division, &c." as the case may be.]

"2. Have you already voted, either here or elsewhere, at this election for the county of _____, [or "for the _____ riding, parts or division of the county of _____," as the case may be."]

"3. Have you the same qualification for which your name was originally inserted in the register of voters now in force for the county of _____, [or "for the _____ riding, &c." as the case may be, specifying in each case the particulars of the qualification as described in the register]."

As to the sufficiency of the answer returned to any of the three questions, the Sheriff or his deputy acts in a judicial character, and it is therefore for him to exercise his discretion thereon, and reject or admit the vote accordingly (p). The wilfully making false answers to any of these questions is an indictable misdemeanor.

No voter at any election is to be required to take any oath but the one above-mentioned, either in proof of his freehold, residence, age, or other qualification or right to vote (q).

At the poll, and immediately before the voter is admitted to poll, the officer presiding, if demanded by either of the candidates, or of any two of the electors, shall administer to him the following oath.

Duties at Election.

It will not unfrequently occur that an individual whose claim to be on the register has been rejected by the revising barrister will tender his vote now, (and it is of vital importance that he should tender it as well with the view of appealing against the revising barrister's decision as to his right, as of forming the ground work of a petition to the House of Commons against the return,) should a vote of such kind be tendered the returning officer, or his deputy, must enter the same upon the poll book, distinguishing the same from the votes admitted and allowed at such election (x).

Tender of a vote rejected by revising barrister.

At the close of each day's poll the poll clerks must enclose and seal their several books and publicly deliver them, so enclosed and sealed, to the Sheriff, Under-sheriff, or Sheriff's deputy, presiding at the poll, who is to give a receipt for the same ; and who on the commencement of the poll on the second day must deliver them back so enclosed and sealed to the persons from whom he received them (y).

What are to be done with the books each night.

At the final close of the poll the poll clerks must deliver the books as before to the presiding officer, who forthwith must deliver or transmit them so enclosed and sealed to the Sheriff, or his Under-sheriff, who is to receive and keep all the poll books unopened until the re-assembling of the Court on the next day but one after the close of the poll, unless such next day but one be Sunday and then on the Monday ; when he shall openly break the seals thereon—cast up the numbers of votes as they appear on the said several books—and openly declare the state of the poll, and then make proclamation of the member or members chosen ; which proclamation must not be later than two o'clock in the afternoon of the same day.

Duties at Election.

CITIES AND TOWNS.

(Being Counties of themselves.)

No times fixed by law for the commencement of the election.

No particular time is fixed by statute law as to the commencement of the election, and the time therefore rests entirely with the Sheriff as returning officer.

Place.

As to the place of election it is provided by sect. 68 of the Reform Act, "that no nomination shall be made or election holden of any member for any city or borough in any church, chapel, or other place of public worship."

Returning officer's duties at election.

On the day appointed by him, after proclamation for silence, he must read his authority to hold the court (the writ of summons or precept as the case may be,) take and subscribe the bribery oath—read, or cause to be read openly, the Bribery Act, and proceed just in the same manner as before laid down for his guidance in county elections.

Duration of poll.

By the Reform Act the poll might remain open two days, but by a more recent statute (a) it is limited to one day.

Hours of polling, &c.

The polling is to commence according to the same statute at eight o'clock in the forenoon of the day next following the day fixed for the election, and to close at four o'clock. When the next day is a Sunday, Good Friday, or Christmas-day (b), then on the following day.

Questions to be put to a voter.

The questions to be put to the voters at the time of polling are the same as at county elections, only substituting "city or town" for "county," as the case may require.

Oaths of allegiance, &c.

The oath of allegiance, abjuration, and supremacy can no longer be tendered to a voter; nor any oath or oaths required to be taken by any act of parliament in lieu thereof, as for instance, the oath appointed for Roman Catholics under the statute of 10 Geo. 4, c. 7 (c).

Adjournment of nomination or of poll in case of riot.

In case of riot at the nomination or at the taking of the poll, it is enacted, "that where the proceedings at any election shall be interrupted or obstructed by any riot or open violence, whether such proceedings shall consist of the nomination of candidates or of the taking the poll, the Sheriff or other returning officer, or the lawful deputy of any returning officer, shall not for such cause terminate the business of such nomination, nor finally close the poll, but shall adjourn the nomination or the taking the poll at the particular polling place or places at which such interruption or obstruction shall have happened until the following day, and, if necessary, shall further adjourn such nomination or poll, as the case may be, until such interruption or obstruction shall have ceased, when the returning officer or his deputy shall again proceed with the business of the nomination or with the taking the poll, as the case may be, at the place or places at which the same respectively may have been interrupted or obstructed; and the day on which the business of the nomination shall have been concluded shall be deemed to have been the day fixed for the election, and the commencement of the poll shall be regulated accordingly; and any day whereon the poll shall have been so adjourned shall not as to such place or places be reckoned the day of polling at such election, within the meaning of this Act; and whenever the poll shall have been so adjourned by any deputy of any Sheriff or other returning officer, such deputy shall forthwith give notice of such adjournment to the Sheriff or returning officer, who shall not finally declare the state of the poll, or make proclamation of the member or members chosen until the poll so adjourned at such place or places as aforesaid shall have been finally closed, and the poll books delivered or transmitted to such Sheriff or other returning officer, any thing hereinbefore or in any other statute to the contrary notwithstanding: provided always, that this Act shall not be taken to authorize an adjournment to a Sunday; but that in every case in which the day to which the adjournment would otherwise be made shall happen to be a Sunday, Good Friday, or Christmas Day, that day or days shall be passed over, and the following shall be the day to which the adjournment shall be made."

In all other respects the proceedings are the same as at county elections.

Sheriff.

At the present day the return is made by indenture under seal between the High Sheriff and the electors, in conformity to the statutes of 7 Hen. 4, c. 15, and the 8 Hen. 6, c. 7; the former statute required the indenture to be under the seals of all the electors, but by the latter statute and in conformity thereto it now is made between the High Sheriff of the one part and a few electors (three or four) by name, "and many other persons of the county aforesaid and electors of knights to parliament for the said county of the other part."

Indenture.

THIS INDENTURE made in the full county of York, holden at the castle of York in and for the said county on Wednesday, the day of , in the second year of the reign of our sovereign lady Queen Victoria, by the grace of God of the united kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland Queen, defender of the faith, and so forth, and in the year of our Lord 1839; Between A. B., Esq., High Sheriff of the said county of the one part, and C., D., E., F., and many other persons of the county aforesaid, and electors of knights to parliament for the said county, of the other part: WITNESSETH that proclamation being made by the said Sheriff by virtue of and according to a writ of our sovereign lady the Queen, directed to the said Sheriff and hereunto annexed, for the election of two knights of the most fit and discreet of the said county, girt with swords, to serve in a certain parliament to be holden at the city of Westminster on the day of next ensuing; the said parties to these presents, together with the major part of the electors for the county aforesaid, present in the full county of York, at the castle of York aforesaid, on the day of the date hereof, by virtue of the said writs, and according to the force and effect of divers statutes in that case made and provided herein in the said full county of York, by unanimous assent and consent, freely and indifferently elected and chose two knights of the most fit and discreet of the said county, girt with swords, to wit, Sir G. M., Bart., and G. A. of , Esq., to be knights to the said parliament so to be holden at the day and place in that behalf hereinbefore mentioned for the commonalty of the county of York (e); giving and granting to the aforesaid knights full and sufficient power for themselves and the commonalty of the same county, to do and consent to those things which in the said parliament, by the common council of the kingdom of our said lady the Queen (by the blessing of God), shall happen to be ordained upon the affairs in the said writ specified. In witness whereof the parties to these presents have interchangeably put their hands and seals the day, year, and place first above written.

Mr. Orme (f) states that this form is “to be engrossed on the usual stamp for deeds.” Mr. Roe, on the other hand, states that it requires no stamp; and as I am not able to discover upon what grounds the exemption from stamp duty is claimed for this instrument, I am inclined, with all due deference, to consider Mr. Orme’s the better opinion.

Counter-part.

When the indenture is executed, it is by the statute of 7 Hen. 4, c. 15, to be tacked to the writ, and both (the execution of the writ being indorsed on the back of the instrument) remitted to the clerk of the crown in Chancery, into whose department the returns are made (i).

10 & 11 Will. 3, c. 7.

An Act for preventing irregular Proceedings of Sheriffs and other Officers, in making the Returns of Members chosen to serve in Parliament. Return, when made.

For preventing abuses in the returns of writs of summons for the calling and assembling of any parliament for the future, or writs for the choice of any new member to serve in parliament; and to the end such writs may, by the proper officer or his deputy, be duly returned and delivered to the clerk of the crown, to be by him filed, according to the ancient and legal course; be it enacted by the King's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in parliament assembled, and by authority of the same, that the Sheriff, or other officer having the execution and return of any such writ which shall be issued for the future, shall, on or before the day that any future parliament shall be called to meet, and with all convenient expedition, not exceeding fourteen days after any election made by virtue of any new writ, either in person, or by his deputy, make return of the same to the clerk of the crown in the High Court of Chancery, to be by him filed; and the Sheriff, or other person making such return, shall pay to the said clerk of the crown the ancient and lawful fees of four shillings, and no more, for every knight of a shire, and two shillings, and no more, for every citizen, burgess or baron of the cinque ports, returned into the said Court, to be by him filed; and the said Sheriff or officer shall, by virtue of this Act, charge the same to his Majesty, his heirs or successors, and have allowance thereof in his account in the Exchequer or elsewhere. Writ, when returnable.

2. And whereas by an Act made in the seventh and eighth years of the reign of his present Majesty, intituled, An Act for the further regulating Elections of Members to serve in Parliament, and for the preventing irregular Proceedings of Sheriffs and other Officers in the electing and returning such Members, it is provided and enacted, that the officer, on the receipt of any such writ, shall, within three days after such his receipt, by himself or proper agent, deliver, or cause to be delivered, a precept or precepts to the proper officer of every borough, town corporate, port or place within his jurisdiction, to whom the execution of such precept doth belong or appertain, which by experience hath been found too short a time for the performance of the same in the cinque ports; be it therefore enacted by the authority aforesaid, that from henceforth the proper officer of the cinque ports shall be allowed six days from the receipt of such writ for the delivery of the precept, according to the purport of the said Act; any thing in the said Act, or any other law, statute or usage to the contrary in anywise notwithstanding. Penalty. for every such offence the sum of five hundred pounds; one moiety whereof shall be to his Majesty, and the other moiety to him or them that shall sue for the same, to be recovered by action of debt, bill, plaint or information, in any of his Majesty's courts of record at Westminster, wherein no essoin, protection, privilege or wager of law shall be allowed, nor any more than one imparlance.

Double return.
Sheriff no casting vote. It may be that there is an equality of votes, if so, as the Sheriff, quâ returning officer (m), has no casting vote, he must return both, just as if two were required by the writ or precept—this is called a double return; other cases may likewise arise where a double return is justifiable: but if “any officer wilfully, falsely, and maliciously return more persons than are required to be chosen by the writ or precept, an action with double damages may be had against him and the parties who willingly procure the same (n),” independently of the censure and punishment that he may be subjected to at the bar of the House of Commons.

A special return. Circumstances may occur to make a special return, as where every attempt made to proceed in the election has failed because of riot, the House will accept of such a return; but the necessity for such a return must be very apparent to justify the officer (o).

Special Return.

By virtue of the writ of election to us directed (to which this is annexed), proclamation being made of the premises in the said writ mentioned, and of the day and place, as by the said writ is directed: We the within named Sheriffs did, in obedience thereto, on, &c. proceed in order to cause two citizens of the most sufficient and discreet of our said city, freely and indifferently to be chosen according to the form of the statute in such case made and provided; when there appeared as candidates A. B. and C. D., thereupon a poll was opened in the usual accustomed manner and proceeded in a peaceable and orderly way for about the space of half an hour, at the end of which space of time divers persons, and particularly colliers and others not inhabitants or freemen of the said city, to the number of 500 men or more, with a blue flag carried before them, and having blue and white cockades in their hats (being the marks and badges by which the party of the said A. B. was distinguished), tumultuously and riotously assembled together at the place of election, and did disturb and impede the said election, and did in our view violently, riotously and outrageously assault, beat, strip, bruise and otherwise illtreat a great number of voters attending at the place of election and offering to poll for the said *C. said voters from giving their votes; the said rioters and disturbers at the same time openly and publicly threatening that no person should come up to poll for the said C. D.: Whereupon we adjourned the said poll to Monday the 11th of the said month of September, and continued the same, by divers other adjournments from day to day, to the in order that the said election might be made; but the said poll was disturbed and impeded from time to time by like tumults, riots, and by assaults and other outrages committed upon the persons of many voters offering to poll for the said C. D. by the said rioters and disturbers: And we, assisted by the magistrates and peace officers, endeavouring, by an exertion of all the power and authority vested in us, and particularly having appointed 236 additional constables to preserve the peace, to suppress the said tumults and riots and to remove the said obstruction, and to open a free access to the booth for the voters on both sides to come up to poll, were, notwithstanding, riotously and forcibly assaulted and driven back and otherwise illtreated, to the imminent danger of our lives; and the voters were by number and force violently and illegally hindered from giving their votes, so that out of 2000 voters and upwards no more than eighty-three were polled and a free election could not be had, but we were by means of said tumultuous and illegal force interrupted and obstructed in the execution of the said writs and of our duty as officers in not making the said election; for which causes aforesaid we did not cause to be elected, nor could we cause to be elected, two citizens of the said city and county according to the exigency, form and effect of the said writs. In this case however the House, after hearing counsel and witnesses, resolved that the Sheriffs were not prevented by riot or otherwise, and were committed to Newgate.

No return can be impeached for want of form or surplusage in matter, if made by the proper officer and have substance(p). Informal return and amendment.

But if any omission or mistake be made in the return, it must be amended before the person elected can take his seat, although duly elected; for a good election is only a ground to amend an undue return, but not to admit the elected without a good return. The House alone, after a return once made, has the power to alter or amend it, and it is done in this way—on motion by a member the House orders the clerk of the crown in Chancery to attend with the return, and he then amends it as the House may direct. But must be amended before the member take his seat.

(p) Dover, April 1, 1679, Orme, 103.

Sheriff.*

In case the High Sheriff died between the issuing the writ and its return, the House formerly ordered a new writ to be issued to the new Sheriff (q); but this seems unnecessary, since the statute of 3 Geo. 1, c. 15, s. 8, came into operation, as his Under-Sheriff or deputy must execute all writs, &c. in the name of the deceased Sheriff until another Sheriff be appointed and sworn (r).

Change of.

In case the High Sheriff should go out of office after election and before return, it may be delivered to the incoming Sheriff, who may return it with a special return.

SHERIFF'S COURT UNDER WRIT OF TRIAL.

(3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 42, s. 17.)

BEFORE the above mentioned statute, trials were only at bar or nisi prius ; but now “ in any action depending in any of the said superior courts for any debt or demand in which the sum sought to be recovered and indorsed on the writ of summons shall not exceed 20*l.*, it shall be lawful for the Court, in which such suit shall be depending, or any judge of any of the said Courts, if such Court or judge shall be satisfied that the trial will not involve any difficult question of fact or law, and such Court or judge shall think fit so to do, to order and direct that the issue or issues joined shall be tried before the sheriff of the county where the action is brought, or any judge of any Court of record for the recovery of debt in such county, and for that purpose a writ shall issue, directed to such Sheriff, commanding him to try such issue or issues, by a jury to be summoned by him, and to return such writ, with the finding of the jury thereon indorsed, at a day certain, in term or in vacation, to be named in such writ ; and thereupon such Sheriff or judge shall summon a jury and shall proceed to try such issue or issues. By the 4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 62, s. 20, the same power is given to the Court of Common Pleas of the county palatine of Lancaster.

Indorsement amended.

The statute until of late was considered to apply only to debts and liquidated demands ; but by the cases of Price v. Morgan (a) and *Allen v. It does not apply to torts (c), and if an action of tort be tried by the Sheriff, (even by consent,) no judgment can be given for either party (d) ; if the sum indorsed on the writ of summons exceeds 20*l.*, the Court on motion, at the instance of the plaintiff, will amend the indorsement by reducing the sum indorsed on the back of it to that claimed in the particulars, so as to obtain a writ of trial (e).

Issue must be joined in the cause before making the application for the writ of trial,—when made, it may be made either to the Court or to a judge at chambers; it seems that when an application has been made to a judge at chambers, and order refused, the Court will not entertain a motion for reviewing his decision, at least unless what took place before the judge at chambers be brought specially before the Court (f). The question of an order or no order is absolutely in the discretion of the judge (g).

matter in writing or in print produced in evidence, and the record enacts, " that when any variance shall appear between the proof and the recital or setting forth on the record, writ or document on which the trial is proceeding, of any contract, custom, prescription, name, or other matter in any particular or particulars in the judgment of such Court or judge not material to the merits of the case, and by which the opposite party cannot have been prejudiced in the conduct of his action, prosecution, or defence, to be forthwith amended by some officer of the Court or otherwise, both in the part of the pleadings where such variance occurs, and in every other part of the pleadings which it may become necessary to amend, on such terms as to payment of costs to the other party, on postponing the trial to be had before the same or another jury, or both payment of costs and postponement as such Court or judge shall think reasonable ; and in case such variance shall be in some particular or particulars in the judgment of such Court or judge not material to the merits of the case, but such as that the opposite party may have been prejudiced thereby in the conduct of his action, prosecution or defence, then such Court or judge shall have power to cause the same to be amended upon payment of costs to the other party, and withdrawing the record or postponing the trial as aforesaid, as such Court or judge shall think reasonable ; and after any such amendment the trial shall proceed, in case the same shall be proceeded with, in the same manner in all respects both with respect to the liability of witnesses to be indicted for perjury and otherwise, as if no such variance had appeared." It then states that the order for amendment shall be indorsed on the writ, and returned together with the writ. Sect. 24 states " that the said Court or judge shall and may, if they or he think fit, in all such cases of variance, instead of causing the record or document to be amended as aforesaid, direct the jury to find the fact or facts according to the evidence thereupon, such finding shall be stated on such record or document, and notwithstanding the finding on the issue joined, the said Court, or the Court from which the record has issued, shall, if they shall think the said variance immaterial to the merits of the case, and the mistatement such as could not have prejudiced the opposite party in the conduct of the action or defence, give judgment according to the very right and justice of the case."

Power of the Sheriff to direct the facts to be proved specially.

As the statute is now extended to more (m) than what is strictly a debt or liquidated demand, the Sheriff will necessarily be called upon occasionally to exercise the power given him by the above section as to amendments.

The result of the decisions at Nisi Prius therefore should be briefly considered, and a few instances cited by way of guidance in case of need. The principle deducible from the decisions at Nisi Prius seems to be this as regards the Sheriff, that he has the power of amendment wherever the proof varies from the record; that is, in any particular not material to the merits of the case, and by which the opposite party cannot have been prejudiced in the conduct of his action or defence; thus where a contract by which A. guaranteed to B. the amount of a debt to be contracted with B. by C. was described in pleading as a promise to pay the debt, the judge at nisi prius allowed an amendment by substituting "guarantee" for "pay" (n); so the date of a bill of exchange not laid according to the fact was amended, as from the 26th to the 29th of March (o). The name of a field, Clover Moor for Clover Hill, was amended (p); but when several defendants were sued in debt and the evidence did not fix all of them the judge refused to amend by striking out the names of the defendants who were not proved to have been liable to the debt (q); where the action was in debt, and the damages were laid at 10*l.* the judge refused to increase the amount so as to recover all interest due, which amounted to considerably more than 10*l.* (r) Thus far as to the form of amendment.

What may be amended and what not.

Examples of amendment.

The Sheriff has the power of directing a nonsuit (s); but whether he has the power to postpone the trial has not been settled; it seems that the application should be made to a judge (t); he has no power to certify under the 43 Eliz. c. 6, s. 2, to deprive the plaintiff of costs (u); (nor has the Court power to do so (x),) nor has the Sheriff power to certify under the

He is justified in laying down a rule that no person but a barrister or an attorney is to appear as the advocate of a party on a writ of trial (z).

Pleadings.

With regard to the pleadings it is our intention to lay down only what may be given in evidence under the general plea or general issue, as it is improperly denominated, as the only information which can be of any general use in practice either for the Sheriff or suitors under a writ of trial.

What receivable in evidence under general issue.

In assumpsit or debt (a) the following matters of defence are receivable under the general plea. That the plaintiff is not solely entitled to the money said to be had and received to his use in the declaration (b); in an action for use and occupation, the fact of the mortgagee of the premises having given the defendant notice to pay the rent to him is receivable in evidence under the general plea, if the rent sought to be recovered accrued due after the notice; but if the rent accrued due before the notice this defence must be specially pleaded (c); the defence of negligence (d), or that the work, &c. was done under a condition that if it did not suit or succeed, nothing should be paid for it (e), or that it was to be done without fee or reward (f), or that there is no sufficient contract to satisfy the Statute of Frauds; are receivable under the general issue (g). So where non-assumpsit is pleaded to an action for work done by plaintiff as an apothecary, the plaintiff is liable to be nonsuited under the statute of 55 Geo. 3, c. 194, s. 21, if he fail to prove his certificate, or that he was in practice before the 5th day of August, 1815 (h), and that too although the defendant has pleaded the general plea as to part, and as to the residue a tender (i); credit not unexpired (j); badness of quality (k); that the article did not answer to the warranty given (l); that plaintiff had agreed to do the work declared for (on a certain event which had occurred) for a certain sum (m).

But that the money (for which the action was brought) was received in respect of an illegal wager is not receivable under the general plea (n); illegality of consideration, either by common or statute law, is a defence which must be specially pleaded; indeed every fact which shows the contract void (o) or voidable (p) must be stated on the record; for some time after the promulgation of the Pleading Rules of Hilary Term, 4 Will. 4, doubts were entertained even on the bench whether fraud, which rescinds the contract ab initio, was receivable in evidence under the general plea, but the decisions now incline to uniformity and agree that it must be specially pleaded (q).

SHERIFF'S COURT UNDER WRIT OF INQUIRY.

After judgment by default, or on demurrer, or nul tiel record, when the judgment is merely interlocutory, which is always the case in assumpsit, covenant, case, trespass, and replevin (in debt and ejectment the judgment being final), the amount of damages is usually ascertained by a Victoria, &c. To the Sheriff of W. [or "to our Chancellor of our county palatine of Lancaster, or to his deputy there"], greeting: Whereas A. B. lately in our Court before us, [or in C. P. "before our justices," or in E. P. "before our barons of our Exchequer,"] at Westminster, by his attorney complained of C. D., who was summoned to answer the said A. B. in an action on promises. For that whereas [recite the declaration], to the damage of the said A. B. of £ , and thereupon he brought suit, &c. And such proceedings were thereupon had in our said Court that the said A. B. ought to recover against the said C. D. his damages on occasion of the premises. But because it is unknown to our said Court what damages the said A. B. hath sustained by means of the premises aforesaid; therefore we command you [that by our writ under the seal of our said county palatine, to be duly made and directed to the Sheriff of the same county, you command the said Sheriff] that by the oath of twelve good and lawful men of your bailiwick you [he] inquire what damages the said A. B. hath sustained, as well by means of the premises aforesaid as for his costs and charges by him about his suit in this behalf expended, and that you send to us [or in C. P. "to our justices," or "to our barons"], at Westminster, on, &c. the inquisition which you shall thereupon take under your seal, and the seals of those by whose oath you shall take that inquisition, together with this writ. Witness, &c.

which he declined to receive; White v. Hislop, 4 M. & W. 73.

(v) Pleading rules, Hil. Term, 4 Will. 4.

How issued. The writ is engrossed on parchment, sealed and signed, (except in the Queen's Bench (x)); the day on which it is to be executed should be indorsed upon it, and if left at the Sheriff's office, (which should be the day before at latest, R. H. 23 Geo. 3,) the Sheriff will summon a jury accordingly; it is now tested on the day on which it is issued in actions within the Uniformity of Process Act, and made returnable on any day certain in term or vacation (1 Will. 4, c. 7, s. 1): The House of Lords has no power to award a writ of inquiry (y).

Teste and return.

Notice of inquiry. If the writ is to be executed in London or Middlesex, and the defendant lives within forty miles of London, eight days notice must be given; if defendant resides at a greater distance, although he may be in London when the notice is served (z), fourteen days notice is requisite (a); if it is to be executed in any other county, eight days notice is sufficient; in replevin, fifteen days notice is requisite, (17 Cha. 2, c. 7, s. 2.) The time is computed exclusive of the first day and inclusive of the last, unless the last be a Sunday, Christmas-day, Good Friday or a public fast day. The days in Easter, which in other proceedings are not calculated, are so on writs of inquiry (b); being under "short notice" of inquiry, is the same as short notice of trial, namely, four days in country causes, and two days in town causes (c). The being under terms to take short notice of trial does not bind the defendant to take short notice of inquiry (d); when a term's notice of trial would have been necessary, a term's notice of inquiry is equally necessary (e).

Time how computed.

How notice given. By the rules of Hil. Term, 2 Will. 4, rule 59, "In all cases where the plaintiff, in pleading, concludes to the country, the plaintiff's attorney may give notice of trial at the time of delivering his replication or other subsequent pleading; and in case issue shall afterwards be joined such notice shall be available, but if issue be not joined on such replication or other subsequent pleading, and the plaintiff shall sign judgment for want thereof, and forthwith give notice of executing a writ of inquiry, such notice shall operate from the time that notice of trial was given as aforesaid, and in all cases when the defendant demurs to the

In the Q. B.

Between { A. B. Plaintiff, and
C. D. Defendant.

Take notice that in case judgment be given for the plaintiff in this cause, a writ of inquiry will be executed on, &c. ut supra.

It is usually executed before the Sheriff or his deputy (f); but where some difficult point of law is likely to arise, or when the facts are important, by leave of the Court or a judge it may be executed before a judge at Nisi Prius, (who acts ministerially in aid of the Sheriff (g)), or if the venue is laid in Middlesex or London before the chief justice (h). Before whom executed.

In local actions, the writ may be executed (by order of the Court in which such action shall be depending, or any judge of any of the superior Courts of law at Westminster,) in any other county or place than that in which the venue is laid (i), and the Court may order a suggestion to be entered on the record to that effect. Where executed in local actions.

It has already been observed, that wherever the judgment is merely interlocutory, the amount of damages are ascertained by a writ of inquiry; but now it is the common practice wherever Where it may be referred to the master instead of issuing a writ of inquiry.

they are a mere matter of calculation, to have them assessed by an officer of the Court, viz. one of the masters, without any writ of inquiry at all; thus, in actions on bills of exchange and promissory notes (k), in covenant for non-payment of rent (l), of money lent on mortgage (m), or in an action on an award (n), or the like. Note. The rule is confined to those cases where it appears on the declaration that the action is brought on the instruments themselves (o). Where the damages are not a mere matter of calculation, the Court will not refer it as before suggested, and a writ of inquiry must be issued. Thus on a covenant to indemnify (p), on a foreign judgment (q), and on a bill of exchange payable in foreign money (r); and even in assumpsit for a liquidated sum due upon an agreement (s), the Court will not refer it, and this without regard to the form of action; for it is not true as an universal proposition, that even in debt, where the defendant suffers judgment by default, the plaintiff is entitled to final judgment without executing a writ of inquiry. In debt it is true the judgment is always final, that is, quoad the debt, and that the damages being in general merely nominal, execution is generally issued out at once without any writ of inquiry; yet when the damages are not nominal, in debt as well as in any other form of action, a writ of inquiry must be issued; thus in an action of debt for foreign money, a jury must find the value of the money; so for use and occupation on a quantum meruit (t).

Where there is judgment by default as to part and issue joined as to the residue, or when one of several defendants suffers judgment by default and the other pleads to issue, or if there be a demurrer to one count and an issue of facts raised on the other, a writ of inquiry is not issued, the damages in such cases are assessed by the jury, who try the issues by virtue of a special venire for that purpose (u); but if plaintiff has obtained judgment on the demurrer, he may execute a writ of inquiry as to that count, and enter a nolle prosequi as to the other, provided he do so before final judgment (x). Where there is a demurrer as to part and judgment by default as to the residue, plaintiff may either await the result of the demurrer, and then execute a writ of inquiry on both judgments, or execute a writ of inquiry at once on the judgment by default, and assess contingent damages on the demurrer (y).

Demurrer to part and judgment by default to residue.

The writ must be executed against all the defendants who have suffered judgment by default jointly and not separately; if final judgment be entered up in such a case for several damages, it will be error (z).

Damages must be assessed conjunctim and not separatim.

What is to be inquired into and what evidence the Sheriff is to admit.

We now proceed to consider what evidence the Sheriff is to admit on the inquest. In order to form a correct notion of this, he must know what admissions are made on the record by a judgment by default.

The result of the various authorities may be fairly stated thus: that the cause of action as alleged in the declaration is thereby admitted, and that the only disputable point is the amount of damages: thus on a declaration for work and labour, the judgment by default admits the fact of some work and labour having been done for the plaintiff, therefore that something is due; but defendant (the amount only being in dispute) may cross-examine plaintiff's witnesses as to whether certain portions of the work had been done on the retainer of the defendant, and seemingly put any questions which tend to reduce the amount of damages (c). So upon the same principle a bill of exchange or promissory note declared upon need not be proved, but it must be produced in order to satisfy the jury that nothing has been paid on account of it (d); if the bill or note be not produced, the plaintiff may recover nominal damages (e). But he will not be allowed to give evidence of fraud or of any other matter which would render a contract void, because the validity of the contract is admitted (f); nor of evidence to contradict a contract declared upon (g); nor will defendant be allowed to give in evidence to reduce the damages any matter which might have been the subject-matter of set-off (h).

What not admissible.

In actions on the case, trespass, &c.

In actions on the case, or where the damage actually sustained by the plaintiff, is the measure of the damages to be given by the jury, if the plaintiff do not prove the nature of the injury, and the amount of the damage sustained by him, the jury should give nominal damages merely; but where the jury are to imply the amount of the damages from the nature of the injury, the jury may give more than the nominal damages, without any evidence of the damage being given; thus in an action for words imputing subornation of perjury to the plaintiff at the execution of the writ of inquiry, the counsel for the plaintiff offered no again to be stayed, and so toties quoties, and the defendant his body, lands, or goods, shall be discharged out of execution as aforesaid."

But this statute is altered by the 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 42, s. 16. Where the breaches are suggested on the roll, "the writ shall, unless the Court where such action is pending, or a judge of one of the said superior Courts shall otherwise order, direct the Sheriff of the county where the action shall be brought to summon a jury to appear before such Sheriff, instead of the justices or justice of assize or nisi prius of that county, to inquire of the truth of the breaches suggested, and assess the damages that the plaintiff shall have sustained thereby, and shall command the said Sheriff to make return (1) thereof to the Court from whence the same shall issue at a day certain in term or in vacation, in such writ to be mentioned; and such proceedings shall be had after the return of such writ as are in the said statute in that behalf mentioned, in like manner as if such writ had been executed before a justice of assize in nisi prius."

(1) As to the mode of making the return, see ante, p. 215.

CHAPTER III.

OFFICER OF THE COURTS OF LAW.

Attendance upon Courts. ANOTHER and not unimportant branch of his duties consists in his attendance, &c. upon different Courts of Law as a ministerial officer;—not unimportant, for independently of the obligations upon him to do so either in his own proper person or by deputy (a), it is indeed natural to suppose that duties of such a kind are attended with no little anxiety on the Sheriff's part;—an anxiety to discharge them with all becoming dignity and respect, and to comply as near as may be with the accustomed forms observed by his predecessors.

SECTION I.

The names of the Courts upon which he must attend.

The COURTS upon which he is obliged to attend ministerially are the following :—

1. The General Commissioners of Oyer and Terminer and Gaol Delivery (b).
2. The Special (c), &c.
3. Court of Quarter Sessions.

Nature of his duties.

His duties before and at and after the Courts are holden, mainly consist in summoning juries, nisi prius, crown, special juries and viewers; proclaiming the assizes; attending the sittings of the Court; in making his return to the precepts; and

(a) 8 Term Rep. 617; 1 Hale, 597.

(b) In reference to civil causes styled "justices of Nisi Prius;" criminal, "oyer and terminer and gaol delivery." Note—"judges of assize" is in strictness improper, the writ of assize being entirely abolished by the statute of 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 27, s. 36.

(c) Sometimes, upon urgent occasions, the Queen issues a special and extraordinary commission of oyer and terminer and gaol delivery, confined to those offences which stand in need of immediate inquiry and punishment, upon which the course of proceeding is the same as upon general commissions.

lastly, in carrying into execution the sentence of the law on criminals.

With regard to the Commissioners of the former Courts, general as well as special, (the nature of their respective commissions extending somewhat too far beyond the proper limits of our subject,) it is our intention simply to refer in case of need to the following authorities—13 Edw. 1, c. 30 ; 14 Edw. 3, c. 16 ; 27 Edw. 1, st. 1, c. 3 ; 2 Edw. 3, c. 2 ; 2 Hawk. P. C. chap. 5, 6, 7 ; Cr. on Courts, 125 ; 4 Burr. Rep. 2085.

Commissioners of oyer and terminer.

By a statute in the reign of his late Majesty, intituled “ An Act for the Appointment of convenient Places for the holding of Assizes in England and Wales (d),” her Majesty in council is empowered from time to time to direct at what places in any county assizes and sessions of gaol delivery shall be held, and that they may be holden at more than one place in a county on the same circuit, likewise to divide counties for the purpose of holding assizes in different divisions of the same county ; and by the last section to direct the Court of Common Pleas at Lancaster to be holden at any one or more places in the county, and to divide the county for that purpose.

holding assizes.

Before the Commissioners go upon their respective circuits, they issue their precepts to the Sheriffs, on the receipt of which the Sheriffs issue their warrants to their bailiffs.

Warrant to Summon Assize (e).

Cumberland, } G. A. Esq. Sheriff of the county aforesaid, to T. D., my to wit. } bailiff, [the bailiff of the liberty of P.], greeting: by virtue of the precept of Sir James Parke, Knt., one of the barons of her Majesty's Court of Exchequer of Pleas, and of Sir John Taylor Coleridge, (d) 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 71.

(e) The warrant should be issued forthwith, as by the statute of 6 Hen. 6, c. 2, the bailiffs must make their returns to the Sheriffs eight days before the session, upon pain of 40*l.* And as many should be issued as the Sheriffs may think needed for the purposes within mentioned ; it should not now, we conceive, be directed to the bailiff of a hundred, but to a bailiff generally, and simply because the jury, by the 6 Geo. 4, c. 50, is to come not from a hundred, but from the body of the county ; see post, “ Jury,” &c. Again, the names are only to be inserted which each bailiff is to summon ; Impey, p. 360 ; these warrants, summonses, &c. are all printed. If any thing is to be done within a liberty, the warrant should be directed to the bailiff of the liberty, and not contain a “ non omittas” clause. The warrant must contain the substance of the precept.

Knt., one of the justices of our lady the Queen, before the Queen herself, at Westminster, justices assigned to take the assizes in and for the said county, I command you that you cause to come before the said justices at C., in the county aforesaid, on the day of next coming, all writs, jurats, certificates, before whatsoever justices to be taken, &c. And also that you cause to come before her said Majesty's justices, at the time and place aforesaid, such and so many honest and lawful men of the county (f) aforesaid, whose names are hereunder written, to do those things which, on the part of our said lady the Queen, shall be then and there enjoined them; and command you also, that you make public proclamation in and through the whole county aforesaid (g), that all those who will prosecute any prisoner in any prison or gaol in the county aforesaid, or at large on bail, that they be then and there present to prosecute them, as shall be just; and also that you give notice to all justices of the peace (h), chief constables, coroners, stewards and bailiffs of liberties within the county aforesaid, that they be then and there with their rolls, records, indictments and other memorandums, to do those things which in this behalf shall belong unto them to be done. And further, by virtue of the several writs of our said lady the Queen to me directed, I command you that you have before the said justices, at the time and place aforesaid, the bodies of the several jurors, whose names are hereunder written, to serve upon the several juries hereunder mentioned (i); and that you yourself be then there in your own person to attend, do, and perform all those things which belong to your office: And that you have then and there the names of the said justices, chief constables, coroners, stewards, bailiffs of liberties, jurors, &c. Given, &c.

Proclamation, how made.

The answer of G. A., Esq., High Sheriff.

Issues upon distringas and hab.
corp. jur.

By the common law the Sheriff could return no issues upon a venire facias jur., but upon a distringas or hab. corp. jur. it seems that he was bound to return some. By the statute of 35 Hen. 8, c. 6, s. 4, it was enacted, "that upon every writ of habeas corp. or distringas, with a nisi prius delivered of record to the Sheriff, &c., to whom the making of the return doth appertain, the said Sheriff, &c. shall return issues upon every person impanelled and returned upon any such writs at the least 5s., upon an alias, 10s., pluries, 13s. 4d., and double that sum upon every other:" and by stat. 27 Eliz. c. 6, "The issues upon the first distringas are enlarged to 10s., the second 20s., and 30s. on the third."

Besides the duties above suggested as to the return of the precept, &c., there are others which should not be wholly omitted. The High Sheriff and his Under-sheriff must be in constant attendance on the judges during their presence in his county—he must provide them with the accustomed lodgings, &c.—a sufficient number of javelin men, &c. and make the accustomed payments, which, upon proper vouchers being produced, will be allowed to him in the passing of his accounts; what are usual payments may be ascertained at the office of the former Under-sheriff; they are not fixed by statute or common law—being so, they necessarily vary according to the custom of each county.

His duties respecting judges' lodging, javelin men, payments, &c.

If it be his misfortune to have to carry into execution the sentence of death upon any prisoner, (God forbid it should!) he empowers another by letter of attorney to do it.

To execute the sentence of death.

Power of Attorney to execute a Prisoner.

To all to whom these presents shall come, greeting: I, G. A. of in the county of W., Esq. High Sheriff of the said county, do hereby appoint, authorize, and depute C. D. of , for me, and in my stead, to execute on the day of next, the sentence of the law passed on the prisoner R. P. at the last assizes for the said county by Sir John Gurney, Knt., one of the Commissioners of oyer and terminer and general gaol delivery for the said county; and to do and perform all things that may be in anywise necessary or expedient in or about the premises.

(Seal of office.)

G. A., High Sheriff.

There used to be for this purpose a warrant under the hand and seal of the judge, as is still practised in the Court of the Lord High Steward upon the execution of a peer (q); though in the Court of the peers in parliament it is done by writ from the Queen (r). That practice has however fallen into disuse, and at this day the Sheriff receives a copy of the calendar signed by the judge, and another from the clerk of the assize signed by him, containing the separate judgments in the margins; and the High Sheriff executes according to the minutes in the margin if there be no reprieve. But it should be observed that this calendar is a mere memorial giving directions to no one; the judg- ment openly pronounced and entered is that which empowers the Sheriff to execute; indeed, Hale says that Rolle would never sign any calendar, but gave his orders openly in Court, with a charge to the Sheriff and gaoler to take notice of them.

Time of execution.
Earl Ferrer's case.

In the case of Earl Ferrers (s) this question was put to the judges by the House of Peers, "supposing a peer so indicted and convicted (of murder, and before the Lords in parliament,) ought by law to receive such judgment as aforesaid, and the day appointed by the judgment for execution should lapse before such execution done, whether a new time may be appointed for the execution, and by whom?" The answer was:—"supposing the day appointed by the judgment for execution should lapse before such execution done, (which however the law will not presume,) we are all of opinion that a new time may be appointed for the execution, either by the High Court of Parliament, before which such peer shall have been attainted, or by the Court of K. B., the parliament not then sitting; the record of the attainder being properly removed."

A person convicted of murder.

Previously to the statute of 6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 30, a person convicted of murder was to be executed on the day next but one after that on which the sentence was passed, unless the same should happen to be on Sunday, and in that case on the Monday following, and the sentence was to be pronounced immediately after the conviction, unless the Court should see reasonable cause for postponing the same: but by sect. 2 of that statute it is enacted, "that from and after the passing of this Act sentence of death may be pronounced after convictions for murder in the same manner, and the judge shall have the same power in all respects as after convictions for other capital offences"—and in like manner of a person sentenced at the Central Criminal Court (t), for no report is made by the Recorder as used to be.

No report now made by Recorder of London.

If a woman quick with child receive sentence of death, she may allege her being with child, in order to get the execution respited, and thereupon the Sheriff shall be commanded to take her into a private room and to impanel a jury of matrons (u), to examine whether she be quick with child or not; and if they find her quick with child, the execution shall be respited till her delivery (x); but Coke and Standford both say that a woman can have no advantage from being found with child, unless she be also found quick with child (y); this may be true as a theoretical proposition of law, but the mere suggestion of a doubt would be sufficient to stay the execution until the truth was known (z).

Execution ought not to be awarded into a different county Place. from that wherein the party was tried and convicted, except only where the record of attainder is removed into the Queen's Bench, in which case the Court of Queen's Bench has power to order it where it thinks proper (a). It should also be done at By whom. the usual place, and by the proper officer or his deputy; by proper officer is meant by the person who has the legal (b) custody of the convict.

With regard to a person in the castle of Chester it is enacted (c), In Cheshire. "that the Sheriffs of the county of the city of Chester (unless the Sheriff of the county be expressly ordered by the judge who tried him to execute such criminal within the county) shall execute sentence of death upon all criminals condemned to die for offences committed within the county of Chester; and the judges, or one of them, of oyer and terminer and gaol delivery, are empowered to order the constable of the castle of Chester to deliver the criminals to the said Sheriffs, and to order the said Sheriffs to execute the criminal as such judges or judge shall think fit." This order is in place of a writ of Habeas Corpus (d), which, by Order, effect the common law, would be requisite in order to remove him of. from the custody of the constable of the castle, and to empower the Sheriffs of the city or the Sheriff of the county to carry the law into force.

Lord Coke and Sir M. Hale agree in this that no execution Manner of can be warranted unless it be pursuant to the judgment. Whe- execution.

ther the Queen can by her prerogative alter the judgment seems a vexata quæstio; the better opinion, however, seems to be, that she can mitigate the punishment with regard to the pain or infamy of it (e); but it is equally clear that the Sheriff or other officer cannot do so of his own authority.

To keep the peace.

Being ex officio a conservator pacis, he should at all such times demand such a posse comitatus as will prevent a breach of the peace.

SECTION II.

SESSIONS OF THE PEACE.

Nature of duties herein.

The Sheriff's duties as the ministerial officer of these Courts are ejusdem generis as those enumerated and required of him at the Court of oyer and terminer and general gaol delivery; for they differ not in kind but in degree. But as he is obliged to render obedience and attendance only upon such sessions of the peace as are Courts of Record, it will be necessary to distinguish which are so and which are not.

Only upon such as are of record.

Petty sessions.

Firstly, Of a petty or pettil sessions: which is a meeting of two or more justices of the peace, holden by their own mere motion, for the execution of some power vested in them by law (f); upon this Court (not being one of record) the Sheriff is not obliged to attend.

Special sessions.

Secondly, A special sessions is a meeting of justices holden on a special occasion for the execution of some particular branch of their authority; this is not convened mero motu, or by the private agreement of magistrates, (and in this it essentially differs from the petty sessions as before observed,) but depend for their legality on a reasonable notice being served on all the magistrates of the division in respect of which it is holden (g).

Special sessions how convened.

The special sessions (except when under statutory regulations) may be convened at the instance of the custos rotulorum of the county, of the clerk of the peace, of his deputy, or of two justices. The party or parties convening the session issue a precept to the high constable, who thereupon does what is required of him.

This is not a Court of record, and therefore the Sheriff is not obliged to attend upon it. Not a Court of record.

Thirdly, The general sessions (a term which contains under it the general quarter sessions) is a meeting of two or more magistrates, one of whom must be of the quorum, for the execution of any general business that may come within the scope of the authority given them by their commission of the peace and by statutes. General sessions.

Sessions are general or special, with reference to the object of their meeting—whether convened for particular or general business.

The Courts of general and general-quarter sessions of the peace are Courts of record, and upon these, for the same reason, the Sheriff must attend, either in person or by deputy, to return the precept and to take charge of prisoners, and to serve the Court otherwise as he hath in charge by the mandamus that is mentioned in the commission of the peace, in default of attendance the justices may fine or amerce him; if they do not insist upon his attendance, &c. the omission is merely from courtesy and not from want of authority, for they have in like matters the same powers that judges of assize have, and for the same reasons, as appears by the case of the Sheriff of Brecon (h), who was fined 100*l*. He is also punishable by them for any default in executing their writs or precepts, for being an officer of that Court, he is of course amenable to it. Court of Record.

These sessions are convened in the following manner—any two justices within the jurisdiction (one being of the quorum) or the custos rotulorum and one justice direct the following precept to the Sheriff:—

Precept to Summon Sessions of the Peace.

Westmoreland, } We, John Hill, of , and W. Crackenthorp, of to wit. } , justices of our sovereign lady the Queen, assigned to keep the peace in the county aforesaid, and also to hear and determine divers felonies, trespasses and other misdemeanors committed in the said county, and one of us of the quorum, to the Sheriff of the same county, greeting: on the behalf of our said sovereign lady the Queen, we command you, that you omit not, by reason of any liberty in your county, but that you enter therein, and that you cause to come before us, or others, justices assigned to keep the peace in the said county, and also to hear and determine divers felonies, trespasses and other misdemeanors in the said county committed, on the day of now next ensuing, at the hour of ten in the forenoon of the same day at A., in the said county; twenty-four (i) good and lawful men of the body of the county aforesaid, then and there to inquire, present, do and perform all and singular such things, which on the behalf of our said sovereign lady the Queen shall be enjoined them; also that you make known to all coroners, keepers of gaols and houses of correction, high constables, and bailiffs of liberties (k), within the county aforesaid, that they be then there to do and fulfil those things which by reason of their offices shall be to be done; moreover, that you cause to be proclaimed through the said county, in proper places, the aforesaid sessions of the peace to be held at the day and place aforesaid; and do you be then there, to do and execute those things which belong to your office: and have you then there as well the names of the jurors, coroners, keepers of gaols and houses of correction, high constables, and bailiffs aforesaid, as also this precept. Given under our seals at A. in the county aforesaid, the day of , in the year of the reign of, &c. (l).

Return thereto.

The execution of this precept appears in certain panels hereunto annexed. I further certify that I have given notice to all coroners, keepers of gaols and houses of correction, high constables and bailiffs of liberties within my county, to be and appear at the time and place within mentioned, to do and perform, &c. and have caused to be proclaimed through my county, in proper places, the sessions within mentioned.

SECTION III.

JURIES.

Whether in civil matters trial by jury as at present constituted in this country, is the fittest tribunal to determine differences depending upon the most refined subtleties of a lengthy record,—add to this, the necessity of an unanimous verdict upon issues not unfrequently inconsistent with each other,—we presume not to consider, but confine our observations to the mode of panneling jurors and other matters falling immediately within the High Sheriff's duties, as an officer of the several Courts of justice where jurors must attend for the administration of justice.

When parties are at issue and other necessary formulæ preparatory to the trial are complied with, a jury is to be summoned to try the issues of fact raised on the record; for this purpose two writs are issued, namely, a venire facias and a distringas in the Queen's Bench and Exchequer, a venire facias and habeas corpora juratorum in the Common Pleas, each directed to the Sheriff, coroner, or elizors, (as the case may be). The former commands him to return twelve good and lawful men of the Panel.

Names need not appear in writ.

On the return of the writs a panel of not less than forty-eight jurors, with the names alphabetically arranged, together with their places of abode and additions must be annexed to each—it is too frequently the practice to annex a panel only to the venire, but if not annexed to the distringas or hab. cor. jur., it is error (b). Note, however in the two latter writs it is not requisite to insert the names of the jurors contained in such panel, but it suffices to insert in the mandatory part of such writs respectively these words, “the bodies of the several persons named in the panel hereunto annexed” (c), or words of like effect.

B.* the plaintiff, or C. D. the defendant, to make a certain jury of the country between the parties aforesaid, in an action of debt, because as well the said A. B. as the said *C. It has been said that the writ of venire is used merely for the purpose of having it allowed in costs ; if so the sooner it is abolished the better : but this assertion with regard to it is not correct ; it is a process without which the Sheriff would have no authority to summon the jurymen at all, to use the words of Lord Denman, “ the 21 Jac. 1, c. 13, does not cure the want of a venire or distringas.” Besides the statutes of 6 Geo. 4, c. 50, s. 13, and 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 67, s. 2, expressly require that writ as well as the distringas or hab. cor. jur.

If the Sheriff be not an indifferent person, as if he be a party in the suit, or be related by blood or affinity to either of the parties, the writs must be directed to the coroners ; if any exception lies to coroners, they must be directed to two clerks of the Court, or two persons of the county named by the Court, and sworn ; and these two persons, called elizers or electors, shall indifferently name the jury, and their return is final, no challenge being allowed to their array ; Fort. de Laud, Ll. c. 25 ; Co. Litt. 158 ; 3 Comm. c. 23.

In its direction as well as in substance it must accord with the award of it on the roll ; thus, if the award on the roll be to the Sheriff, or coroner, or elisors, the writ must accord therewith ; again, if the award be general, the writ must be general ; if special, the writ must be so likewise ; as to try some issues of fact and assess damages upon issues of law, or to try issues as to defendants who have pleaded, and to assess damages against others who have suffered judgment by default (d).

It may, except in trials at bar, be tested on the day on which it is issued, and be made returnable forthwith (e); but as to the return it seems a particular day must be named (f); in trials at bar it can be tested in term only.

The distringas and hab. cor. jur. must accord with the venire in direction and in substance ; and are tested on the return day of the venire, and in causes at Nisi Prius may be returnable on the first day of the term after the trial, or they may be tested in term or vacation on a day subsequent to the teste of the writ of venire (g). In trials at bar they are returnable on the day on which the trial is to be had.

Must accord with venire.

Teste and return.

In practice both writs are issued at the same time (h) ; and in all cases by the plaintiff, (except in replevin or where the defendant proceeds to trial by proviso,) even in cases where the defendant has moved for a special jury ; in town causes where the blank forms are filled up and sealed, (for they do not require signing in the Queen's Bench or Exchequer, only in the Common Pleas) ; in Middlesex the distringas or habeas is taken to the office of the Under-sheriff in Red Lion Square, who returns it ;—in London to the Secondaries office in Coleman Street and by him returned in like manner ; and no use is made of the venire ; such is the practice, but it would seem from the case of Rogers v. Smith (i), that a return of the venire as well as either of the other two is indispensably necessary that a panel must be annexed to each. In country causes the venire is returned by the Sheriff's deputy in town, and the distringas by the Under-sheriff in the country ; and when returned are annexed together with the panels to the Nisi Prius record.

If the trial stands over from one sitting to another, the distringas or hab. corp. jur. must be resealed, and if it be necessary to answer the teste or return, or the nisi prius clause, the same may be done by the order of a judge obtained on an ex parte application.

If the cause be made a remanet the jurata must be altered and a venire de novo, &c. issued ; if there has been a view, however, an alias distringas or hab. corp. jur. must be issued, and in the event of a new trial the same.

When cause is made a remanet.

In replevin if a plaintiff or defendant, having sued out his jury process with a clause of nisi prius, do not proceed to trial, he may (excepting in cases where a view is directed) have a new venire and proceed to trial, just as if no former venire had issued (k).

In London and Middlesex.

The several writs above alluded to must be taken to the proper offices in sufficient time to enable the Sheriff to summon the jury in proper time, that is, ten days in the case of common jurors, and as to special jurors three days at least before commission day at the assizes (except jurors for London and Middlesex, to whom the statute does not apply in this respect (m)); this should be more strictly attended to, for judges are constantly prevented from trying causes at the assizes solely in consequence of the irregularity of the parties in issuing the jury process too late.

Qualification of jurors.

It becomes next of importance to inquire into the nature and extent of the qualification of jurors, common and special, and by what medium their names come into the Sheriff's office; but previously to entering into the details of this division of our matter a few observations respecting the grand jury may not, perhaps, be deemed out of place.

Grand jury.

Speaking of the grand jury, Sir William Blackstone says, "the Sheriff of every county is bound to return to every session of the peace, and every commissioner of oyer and terminer and of general gaol delivery, twenty-four good and lawful men of the county, some out of every hundred, to inquire, present, do, and execute all those things which on the part of our lord the king shall then and there be commanded them. They ought to be freeholders, but to what amount is uncertain: which seems to be casus omissus, and as proper to be supplied by the legislature as the qualifications of the petit jury; which were formerly equally vague and uncertain, but are now settled by various acts of parliament. However, they are usually gentlemen of the best figure in the county (n)."

It is laid down, it will be observed, that grand jurors ought to be freeholders, but a more recent authority (1810, a case submitted to the judges by Mr. Justice Lawrence, where the doctrine of Hale, Blackstone, and Hawkins are referred to,) has declared that they need not be freeholders (o): and the law may be stated briefly thus—that grand jurors at the assizes require no qualification by estate. They must, however, be of the Queen's liege people, returned by Sheriffs or bailiffs of franchises, not outlaws (p); and if any one be outlawed the indictment is void though twenty others be upon the inquest (q). The main feature, indeed the only one needing observation, is that the bill must be found by a majority of them (r), and that twelve must be unanimous; for which reason it is that the number of persons on a grand jury cannot exceed twenty-three, nor be less than twelve (s).

Nor require any qualification by estate.

But must be personally qualified.

Bill found by a majority.

Twelve must be unanimous.

The grand jurors at the sessions of the peace must be qualified according to the statute of 6 Geo. 4, c. 50, s. 1.

The Sheriff of Yorkshire must summon forty-eight on the grand jury at the assizes, freeholders and copyholders (each person having 80*l.* land per annum), and forty at the sessions.

The qualification of common jurors as regards England (t) is this :—

Qualification of common jurors in England.

“ Every man (except as hereinafter excepted) between the ages of twenty-one and sixty, residing in any county in England, who shall have in his own name, or in trust for him within the same county, 10*l.* by the year above reprises in lands or tenements, whether of freehold, copyhold, or customary tenure, or of ancient demesne, or in rents issuing out of any such lands or tenements, or in such lands, tenements and rents taken together in fee simple, fee tail, or for the life of himself or some other person, or who shall have within the same county 20*l.* by the year above reprises in lands or tenements held by lease or leases for the absolute term of twenty-one years or some longer term, or for any term of years determinable on any life or lives, or who being a householder shall be rated or assessed to the poor-rate or to the inhabited house duty in Middlesex on a value of not less than 30*l.*, or in any other county on a value of not less than 20*l.*, or who shall occupy a house containing not less than fifteen windows, shall be qualified to serve as a juror."

In Wales. For Wales the qualification differs in degree, not in kind ; " the being qualified to the extent of three fifths of any of the foregoing qualifications," is enough to make a person liable to serve as a juror.

In liberties, cities, and boroughs. The qualification of jurors in liberties, cities, and boroughs, remains as before the passing of the 6 Geo. 4.

In London. In London the qualification requisite is that a person be a householder, or the occupier of a shop, warehouse, counting-house, chambers, or office for the purpose of commerce within the said city, and have lands, tenements, or personal estate of the value of 100*l.*

Qualification on writs of inquiry. By sect. 52, the same qualification is required on writs of inquiry, executed in London or in any county in England or Wales, as in trials at nisi prius ; but if executed in any liberty, franchise, city, borough, or town corporate, not being a county, or in any city, borough or town, being a county of itself, the qualification is not affected by the act.

On a jury de medietate linguæ. In a jury de medietate linguæ (which is allowed only in cases of felony and misdemeanor) the aliens need no qualification by estate (u).

Permanent exemptions. Thus much as to the qualification : we next proceed to the exemptions. The persons exempt from serving on juries are : peers, judges of the superior courts, clergymen, priests of the Roman Catholic faith, who have duly taken and subscribed the oaths and declarations required by law ; Protestant Dissenting preachers, whose place of meeting is duly registered, and who follow no secular occupation except that of a schoolmaster, producing a certificate of some justice of the peace of their having taken the oaths and subscribed the declaration required by law ; serjeants and barristers in actual practice, all members of the Society of Doctors of Law, and advocates of the civil law in actual practice ; all attorneys, solicitors, and proctors, in actual practice; all officers of any court of law or equity, or of ecclesiastical or admiralty jurisdiction, actually employed as such; coroners, gaolers, and keepers of houses of correction; members of the College of Physicians in actual practice; surgeons, being members of the Royal Colleges of Surgeons of either London, Edinburgh, or Dublin, in actual practice; members of Apothecaries' Hall, in actual practice; officers of the army and navy on full pay; pilots licensed by the Trinity House of Deptford, Strand, Kingston-upon-Hull, or Newcastle-upon-Tyne, and all masters of vessels in the buoy and light service employed by either of those corporations, and all pilots licensed by the Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, or under any act of parliament or charter for the regulation of pilots in any other port; all the household servants of her Majesty; all officers of customs and excise; persons in the service of the Post Office (x); Sheriffs' officers, high constables and parish clerks; likewise all persons (y), who by prescription, charter, grant, or writ, were so before the passing of the act, still remain and are exempt from serving upon juries.

By sect. 49 the inhabitants of the city and liberty of Westminster are exempted from serving on juries at the sessions of the peace for Middlesex.

In Middlesex no person shall be returned to serve on a jury at nisi prius who has served as a juror in either of the two preceding terms or vacations, having the Sheriff's certificate of having so served; and no person shall be returned to serve at the assizes who has before served in Yorkshire within four years, in Wales, Herefordshire, Cambridgeshire, Huntingdonshire, or Rutlandshire, within one year, or in any other county within two years, having the Sheriff's certificate of having so served; which certificate the Sheriff or Under-sheriff, on application to him, is bound to give to every common juror on payment of one shilling. Temporary exemptions.

One who is not a natural born subject (except as a juror de medietate linguæ) is absolutely disqualified from serving on juries Disqualifications.

or inquests, and persons under outlawry or excommunication, or persons attainted of any treason or felony, or convicted of any crime that is infamous, unless they have obtained a free pardon, are also absolutely disqualified from serving on juries or inquests in any Court or on any occasion whatsoever (2).

By sect. 48 no justice is to serve as a juror at any sessions for the jurisdiction of which he is a justice.

Mode of obtaining the juror's book.

The mode by which the jurors' names, additions, &c. are brought within the Sheriff's cognizance, is this: the clerk of the peace issues his warrant to the high constable, commanding the latter to issue his precept to the churchwardens and overseers of the several parishes, and to the overseers of the several townships, requiring them to prepare before the first day of September then next ensuing a true list of all men residing within their respective parishes and townships, and liable to serve on juries; forthwith after receipt of the high constable's precept, &c. the churchwardens prepare an alphabetical list of all persons liable to serve, and affix the same during the three first Sundays in the month of September on the principal door of every church, chapel and other public place of religious worship within their respective parishes or townships, having first subjoined a notice that objections will be heard by the justices of the peace at a time and place to be mentioned in such notice, and signed by them. Petty sessions are to be held the last week in September, when the lists must be produced, considered, reformed, and allowed; after allowance by the petty sessions, the high constable receives the lists so allowed, and delivers the same to the Court of Quarter Sessions next following, on the first day of its sitting, attesting on oath his receipt of every such list from the petty sessions, and that no alteration has been made in them since his receipt thereof. These lists are thereupon recorded by the clerk of the peace, and by him copied into a book in alphabetical order, which book must be delivered to the Sheriff or his Under-sheriff within six weeks next after the close of such sessions. This book is called the "Jurors' Book," which is used for one year only, beginning on the first of January, after it comes into the hands of the Sheriff or Under-sheriff as aforesaid: whether the writ as directed to the Sheriff, coroner, elisor, or other minister, the jurors must be returned from this book: provided, however, there be no jurors' book in existence for the current year, they may be returned from the book of the year preceding.

In every county in England (except the counties palatine (a), and also except in causes to be tried at bar or by a special jury) no less than forty-eight, nor more than seventy-two must appear in the panel annexed to the jury process: by order of the judges, however, the number may be increased to 144, and in places where the session is of long duration, the sheriff must, a reasonable time before the commission day, apply to them for leave to summon two sets of seventy-two, or whatever number below 144 he may think sufficient, the order will be made: and in his summons he must specify on which set the juror is, the first or second, and at what time the attendance of such juror will be required.

Number to be returned on panel.

May be increased by order of a judge.

In sets.

The mode of summoning jurors is pointed out by the statute, and must be strictly complied with; it is by showing the summons to the person, or in case of absence from the usual place of abode, by leaving with some person then inhabiting a note in writing, under the hand of the Sheriff or other proper officer, containing the substance of the summons.

Mode of summoning jurors.

Special jurors are to be summoned in like manner.

Special jurors how summoned.

The jurors for London or Middlesex are to be summoned as before the statute (b).

If any officer take money to excuse persons from serving, or summon any other but those named in his warrant, signed and directed to him, or summon any juror less than the statutory number of days before the day of attendance, the Court is empowered to set such fine upon the officer offending as it shall think fit; in a case before the recent statute, a summoning officer was fined 200*l.* for receiving money to excuse persons from serving on juries, and for too often summoning those who refused to pay (c).

Officers offending.

(a) There is no material distinction in the cases of the counties palatine or Wales, indeed the only distinction seems to be in the making a return to the Court of the jurors summoned, &c. Sects. 17, 18.

A list of all the jurors summoned must be kept in the office of the Under-sheriff or deputy for seven days at least before the sitting, for inspection of parties or their attornies, for which no fee can be demanded.

And every Sheriff and other minister, to whom the return of juries shall belong, shall be and is hereby indemnified for impannelling and returning any man named in the jurors' book, although he may not be qualified or liable to serve on juries; and that if any Sheriff or other such minister shall wilfully impanel and return any man to serve on any jury before any of the Courts in England or Wales hereinbefore mentioned (except on the grand jury at any assizes or great sessions,) such man's name not being inserted in the jurors' book for the current year, or if such book has not been delivered, then in the jurors' book last delivered, or if any clerk of assize, associate, prothonotary, clerk of the peace or other officer of any of the Courts aforesaid, shall wilfully record the appearance of any man so summoned and returned, who did not really appear, in every such case the Court shall and may, upon examination in a summary way, set such fine upon such Sheriff, minister, clerk of assize, associate, prothonotary, clerk of the peace or other officer offending, as the Court shall think meet.

“ 40. And be it further enacted, that the Sheriff or his Under-sheriff, shall from time to time register alphabetically, in proper columns, to be prepared in the jurors' book for that purpose, the services of such men as shall be summoned and shall attend to serve as jurors on trials, before any Court of assize or nisi prius, oyer and terminer or gaol delivery, or in the said Courts of the said counties palatine or great sessions, and also the times of their services; and every man so summoned, and having duly attended or served until discharged by the Court, shall (upon application by him made to such Sheriff or Under-sheriff, before he shall depart from the place of trial,) receive a certificate testifying such his service, which certificate the Sheriff or Under-sheriff is hereby required to give on payment of one shilling: provided always, that nothing herein contained shall extend to any grand jurors or special jurors.”

IN CRIMINAL MATTERS.

Jury in criminal matters.

What has been said of juries in civil cases will greatly facilitate and shorten the present remarks on them in criminal cases.

How returned.

The 20th section of the 6 Geo. 4, declares that juries in criminal Courts are to be returned as heretofore (d), “ save and “ except that the jurors shall be returned from the body of the county and not from the hundred or hundreds, or from any particular venue within the county, as shall be qualified according to this act.”

Qualification.

If the proceedings are before the Court of Queen's Bench, time is allowed between the arraignment and trial for a jury to be impannelled by writ of venire facias to the Sheriff as in civil causes. In Queen's Bench.

Before commissioners of oyer and terminer and gaol delivery, the Sheriff, by virtue of a general precept directed to him before-hand, returns to the Court a panel of forty-eight jurors to try all felons that may be called upon their trial at that session (e); as their personal qualification as well as their qualification by estate is the same as that of jurors in civil causes, the Sheriff should take them from the jurors' book. When a person is indicted for high treason or misprision of treason in any Court other than the Court of Queen's Bench, a list of the petit jury must be delivered to him ten days before the arraignment, in the presence of two or more credible witnesses; if in the Queen's Bench, the same may be delivered to the party indicted at any time after the arraignment, so as the same be delivered ten days before the day of trial, but he is not entitled to this panel, if his crime relates to her Majesty's life or person, or the counterfeiting her coin, the great seal or privy seal, her sign manual or privy signet (g). By the laws of this country an alien, in cases of felony and misdemeanor, has the right to be tried by a jury de medietate linguæ, that is, one-half of the jury of aliens, (foreigners generally, and not exclusively the prisoner's countrymen,) if so many there be in the town or place where the trial is had, and if not, then so many aliens as shall be found in the same town or place, if any, which, on the prayer of every alien so indicted, the Sheriff or other proper minister shall, by command of the Court, return; it has been before stated, that no qualification by estate is required for a juror of this kind, nevertheless he may be chal- Jury de me-

SPECIAL JURORS.

Special
jurors' list.

It may be that a party or the parties to a suit wish to submit to, or the case not unfrequently is of itself such as absolutely to require, a higher intellectual tribunal than that taken indiscriminately from the jurors' book; for this purpose and for such cases a "special jurors' list" is to be made out, which for the counties in England and Wales and for London is done in this manner (k):—

out.

Within ten days after the receipt of the jurors' book for the current year, the names of all men described therein as esquires or as persons of higher degree, or as bankers or merchants, must be taken out by the Sheriff or Under-sheriff or Secondary, in alphabetical order, together with their respective places of abode and additions, in a separate list, to be subjoined to the jurors' book, and for the purpose of balloting, these names must be numbered 1, 2, 3, and so on; and the numbers written on separate cards or pieces of parchment of equal size and secured in a drawer for the purposes hereinafter mentioned.

civil cases.

cases by

The mode of obtaining a special jury.

The superior Courts have the power of ordering special juries to be struck in any case whatsoever, whether civil or criminal, or on any penal statute, excepting only indictments for treason or felony (l); or in civil causes such a jury may be obtained by consent of the parties.

Officer of Court to ap-

The mode of obtaining or striking a special jury is declared and regulated by the following sections of the act:—

proper officer of such Court, such officer shall appoint a time and place for the nomination of such special jury; and a copy of the rule of Court, and of such officer's appointment, shall be served on the Under-sheriff of the county in England or Wales in which the trial is to be had, or on the Secondary of the city of London, if the trial is to be had there, and also on all the parties who have usually been served with the same respectively, in the accustomed manner; and the said officer, at the time and place appointed, being attended by such Under-sheriff or Secondary, or his agent, who are hereby respectively required to bring with them the jurors' book and such special jurors' list, and all the numbers so written on distinct pieces of parchment or card as aforesaid, shall, in the presence of all the parties in any of the cases aforesaid, and of their attornies (if they respectively choose to attend, or if the said parties or their attornies, all or any of them, do not attend, then in their absence,) put all the said numbers into a box, to be by him provided for that purpose, and after having shaken them together shall draw out of the said box forty-eight of the said numbers, one after another, and shall, as each number is drawn, refer to the corresponding number in the special jurors' list, and read aloud the name designated by such number; and if at the time of so reading any name, either party or his attorney shall object that the man whose name shall have been so referred to is in any manner incapacitated from serving on the said jury, and shall also then and there prove the same to the satisfaction of the said officer, such name shall be set aside, and the said officer shall instead thereof draw out of the said box another number, and shall in like manner refer to the corresponding number in the said list, and read aloud the name designated thereby, which name may be in like manner set aside, and other numbers and names shall in every such case be resorted to, according to the mode of proceeding hereinbefore described, for the purpose of supplying names in the places of those set aside, until the whole number of forty-eight names not liable to be set aside shall be completed; and if in any case it shall so happen that the whole number of forty-eight names cannot be obtained from the special jurors' list, in such case the said officer shall fairly and indifferently take, according to the mode of nomination heretofore pursued in nominating special juries, such a number of names from the general jurors' book, in addition to those already taken from the special jurors' list, as shall be required to make up the full number of forty-eight names, all and every of which forty-eight names shall in such case be equally deemed and taken to be those of special jurors; and the said officer shall afterwards make out for each party a list of the forty-eight names, together with their respective places of abode and additions, and after having made out such list, shall return all the numbers so drawn out, together with all the numbers remaining undrawn, to such Under-sheriff or secondary or his agent, to be by such Under-sheriff or secondary safely and securely kept for future use; and all the subsequent proceedings for reducing the said list, and all other matters whatsoever relating to special juries, shall remain and continue in force as heretofore, except where the same or any part thereof is expressly altered by this act; and all the fees heretofore payable on the striking of special juries shall continue to be paid in the accustomed manner.

“ 33. Provided always, and be it further enacted, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the parties in any cause, or their attornies, from consenting to have a special jury nominated according to the mode used and accustomed before the passing of this act, and upon a consent to that effect, signed by each party or his attorney, being communicated to the proper officer, he is hereby authorized and required to nominate a special jury for the trial of every such cause, according to the mode used and accustomed before the passing of this act: provided also, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the same special jury, however nominated, from trying any number of causes, so as the parties in every such cause, or their attornies, shall have signified their assent in writing to the nomination of such special jury for the trial of their respective causes: provided always, that it shall be lawful for the Court, if it shall so think fit, upon the application of any man who shall have served upon one or more special juries at any assizes or sessions of nisi prius, to discharge such man from serving upon any other special jury during the same assizes or sessions of nisi prius.

“ 35. And be it further enacted, that no juror who shall serve upon any special jury shall be allowed or take for serving on any such jury more than such sum of money as the judge who tries the issue shall think just and reasonable, and which shall not exceed the sum of one pound one shilling, except in causes wherein a view is directed, and shall have been had by such juror.

VIEW.

View.

It may be also that for the better understanding of the real matters in dispute between the parties in Court, and of the evidence bearing upon the issues on the record, that some of the jurors should themselves see, in other words, have a view of the place or premises, or of the mode or process of the manufactory in question.

Before the statute of 4 & 5 Anne, c. 16, s. 7, a view could not be obtained until the full jury were sworn, after which a juror was withdrawn, and the parties entered into a consent rule for a view; it is needless to dwell upon the delay and inconvenience of such a practice, or why the statute was passed; then followed the 3 Geo. 3, c. 25, s. 14, which is now almost verbatim embodied in the recent enactment of 6 Geo. 4, the 23d section of which enacts, that “ in any case, either civil or criminal, or on any penal statute depending in any of the said Courts of record at Westminster, or in the counties palatine or great sessions in Wales, it shall appear to any of the respective Courts, or to any judge thereof in vacation, that it will be proper and necessary that some of the jurors who are to try the issues in such case, should have the view of the place in question, in order to their better understanding the evidence that may be given upon the trial of such issues; in every such case such Court, or any judge thereof in vacation, may order a rule to be drawn up containing the usual terms, and also requiring, if such Court or judge shall so think fit, the party applying for the view to deposit (m) in the hands of the Under-sheriff, a sum of money to be named in the rule for payment of the expenses of the view, and commanding special writs of venire facias, distringas or habeas corpora, to issue; by which the Sheriff, or other minister to whom the said writs shall be directed, shall be commanded to have six or more of the jurors named in such writs, or in the panels thereto annexed, (who shall be mutually consented to by the parties, or if they cannot agree, shall be nominated by the Sheriff or such other minister as aforesaid,) at the place in question some convenient time before the trial, who then and there shall have the place in question shown to them by two persons in the said writs named, to be appointed by the Court or judge, and the said Sheriff, or other minister who is to execute any such writ, shall, by a special return upon the same, certify that the view hath been had according to the command of the same, and shall specify the names of the viewers.” And by the next section it is provided that the viewers are to be first sworn on the jury at the trial, and then so many only shall be added to the viewers who shall appear as shall, after all defaulters and challenges allowed, make up a full jury of twelve (n).

Practical instructions.

The rule of Trin. Term, 7 Geo. 4, required an affidavit and leave of the Court or a judge in order to obtain a view; but the subsequent rule Hil. Term, 2 Will. 4, r. 68, orders, that "the rule for a view may, in all cases, be drawn up by the officer of the Court on the application of the party, without affidavit or motion for that purpose." Make out a præcipe of the rule for a view, also a memorandum of the name and place of abode of your own showers also of your opponent's showers, which may be obtained from the opposite attorney, also of time and place of meeting, on the production of them the master or his clerk of the Court will draw up the rule. If the opposite party will not name a shower, the master will, on an appointment obtained for that purpose, name one ex parte. A copy of the rule must then be served on the opposite attorney, and the original left at the Sheriff's office together with a list of the jury if special, and he will summon them, if common he will summon such as he may think fit.

Duties and conduct of showers.

The duties and conduct of the showers will be best explained by the following case of Goodtitle d. Symons v. Clark (o).

"After the merits of the cause had been determined at the assizes by a special jury after a trial of twenty hours, defendant moved to set aside the verdict upon affidavit that plaintiff's shower at a view pursuant to a rule of Court previous to the trial, had misbehaved himself by telling the viewers this place is called Abehalls Yal, and this Conygree Hill, (which were not the places in question,) and saying, these cottages pay Mr. Symons fivepence or sixpence a year rent; defendant insisting that nothing more than the place in question, which was one single cottage, should have been shown to the viewers: upon hearing counsel on both sides the Court discharged the rule, being of opinion that on a view the showers may show marks, boundaries, &c. to enlighten the viewers; and may say to them, these are the places which on the trial we shall adapt our evidence to; the jury could have no light from looking at the cottage only." The question to be tried was, whether it stood within Mr. Symon's when inquiry is to be executed, as well as when trial is to be had at nisi prius; but in the absence of any reported authority, it is suggested, that by sections 23, 24, that it can only be had where issues are subsequently to be tried by the viewers; both sections seem necessarily to imply a subsequent trial.

(o) Barnes' Notes, 457.

manor or not. Had an ancient man been produced to the viewers and he had acquainted them that he had known the place many years, and given account of the boundary, &c. this would have been improper, because it is giving evidence before the trial. Belfield for defendant; Booth and Eyre for plaintiff."

A view is not limited to locality, for Abbott, C. J. held that the mode or process of a manufactory might be shown (p). Not limited to mere locality.

The Under-sheriff's duties on a view seem no where to be defined by text or any decided case; they seem to be simply those of an ordinary officer of the Court in charge of a jury, to prevent any improper interference of strangers, and to enable him to certify to the justices of assize that a view has been had. Sheriff's duties on view.

TALES.

By the 35 Hen. 8. c. 6, s. 5, the tales de circumstantibus in civil suits was given, and extended by the 4 & 5 P. & M. c. 7, to prosecutions tried at Nisi Prius; the 7 & 8 Will. 3, c. 32, s. 3, and 3 Geo. 2, c. 25, pointed out the persons who were to be the tales, and by the 6 Geo. 4, c. 50, s. 37, "talesmen are to be such only as have been impannelled upon the common jury panel to serve at the same court, if a sufficient number of such men can be found;" sect. 37 enacts, Default of jurors, a tales.

"Where a full jury shall not appear before any court of assize or nisi prius, or before any of the superior civil courts of the three counties palatine, or before any court of great sessions, or where, after appearance of a full jury, by challenge of any of the parties, the jury is likely to remain untaken for default of jurors, every such Court, upon request made for the King by any one thereto authorized or assigned by the Court, or on request made by the parties, plaintiff or demandant, defendant or tenant, or their respective attornies, in any action or suit, whether popular or private, shall command the Sheriff or other minister, to whom the making of the return shall belong, to name and appoint, as often as need shall require, so many of such other able men of the county then present as shall make up a full jury; and the Sheriff or other minister aforesaid shall, at such command of the Court, return such men duly qualified as shall be present or can be found to serve on such jury, and shall add and annex their names to the former panel, provided that where a special jury shall have been struck for the trial of any issue, the talesmen shall be such as shall be impannelled upon the common jury panel to serve at the same Court, if a sufficient number of such men can be found; and the King, by any one so authorized or assigned as aforesaid, and all and every the parties aforesaid, shall and may, in each of the cases aforesaid, Proceedings in respect of tales de circumstantibus.

Alien tales. If an alien make default his place must be supplied by an alien tales, for there must be a medietas of aliens or none; if none, that is by Englishmen only, the judgment is not erroneous (q).

It is not necessary that the tales be selected out of persons accidentally present, but may be out of those whose presence the Sheriff or coroner has previously taken means to obtain (r).

It is next proposed to consider the Sheriff's duties in and about the execution of writs in real, mixed, and personal actions.

SECTION I.

DOWER.

Dower, definition of.

How many kinds remain.

Principle of old and new law.

How husband may deprive

Dower is the portion which a widow hath for the term of her life of the lands of her husband at his decease, for the sustenance of herself and education of her children, "propter onus matrimonii, et ad sustentationem uxoris et educationem liberorum cum fuerint procreati si vir præmoriatur" (a). Two kinds only now remain (b): 1. Dower by the common law: 2. and dower by the custom: the common law dower in quantity is one third, and thence called "a widow's thirds;" the latter is the creature of custom—sometimes one half, as by the custom of gavel kind; sometimes the whole during her life, and then it is called "free-bench;" and as custom may enlarge so it may abridge her dower to one fourth (c).

With regard to this portion or provision, the law until the recent statute of Will. 4 was inflexible in the widow's favour (unless forfeited by her own misconduct) and allowed of no veto in the husband, or right in him of his own mere motion to deprive her of, or in anywise restrict her right after it had once attached. Now however his marital power quoad this provision is of a very different character—but although based upon different, we must hope and trust, upon the soundest moral and political principles.

He may at this day deprive her wholly of it by deed of conveyance in his life time or by his will, or he may fetter her right by conditions, restrictions, or directions by a declaration to that effect in his will, or by a devise of some part of his real estate to her; all or any of these things he may now do quà husband, unless precautionary measures have been taken by her to suspend in him the power of exercising such his marital rights. widow of dower.

It should also be observed, that all partial estates and interests, and all charges created by any disposition or will of a husband, and all debts, incumbrances, contracts, and engagements to which his land shall be subject, now have priority to dower. What incumbrances have priority to dower.

On the other hand however she is entitled to dower out of an equitable estate, which she was not entitled to before, and other advantages needless to refer to here. But she is entitled out of equitable estate.

Having premised thus much on the present nature of dower; and that two writs only now (d) remain:—namely, 1. a writ of right of dower; 2. a writ of dower unde nil habet; we proceed to show the Sheriff's duties in and about the execution of them.

Matthew Atkinson, Esq. Sheriff of C. to J. D. and *J. nants having a chattel interest; Ibid. 346.

Summons.

By virtue of her Majesty's writ of dower unde nil habet, to the Sheriff of C. directed, and by virtue of the said Sheriff's warrant to us directed, we do hereby require and command you that you render to C. D. [&c. as in writ], as she alleges and complains that you the said A. B. keep her out of the same; and if you refuse so to do, then we do hereby summon you that you be and appear before her Majesty's justices at Westminster on, &c., to show cause why you do not.

The summons must be made in the day time (between sun-rising and sun-setting), and not in the night; Dalt. 161. Summons, when made;

The Sheriff's order to serve or execute this process is to go himself, or to send his bailiff to the land with the summoners, then to garnish, cite, or warn the tenant or party by sticking up a white stick in his land, which is done whether the tenant is there or not; and the demandant is not bound to give him notice of the summons; 2 Inst. 253; Dalt. 149, 153.

The summons must be made by (or in the presence of) two how made; or three summoners; ibid.: for a summons of the tenant must be proved by two or three witnesses; Co. Litt. 6 b: and this summons or warning of the defendant to appear and answer, &c., is so necessary by the common law as that without the same all the proceedings, yea, and the judgment after all oftentimes prostrated and erroneous, and besides renders the Sheriff subject to danger and punishment; Fitz. Disceit, 3, 5, and 56.; F. N. Br. 105 a.

The Sheriff cannot summon himself; Wyke's Ca. Dyer, 266 a; by whom; and semble, that he is not a good summoner, for it is said in Dalton, p. 154, cited from "Mirror of Justices," "Femes ne Sheriffs, ne enfants, ne ul que ce est freehold tenant, poent estre bon summoners." Neither women, nor Sheriffs, nor infants, nor any other but a freehold tenant can be a good summoner.

If the defendant be not tenant of the land the summons must where made. be made in terrâ petitâ, for the writ commands the Sheriff not to summon the tenant upon his own land, but generally that he shall summon him, not naming in what land; and then by a maxim of law it is taken that he shall summon him in the land in demand; Dr. & St. 150; Kite. Ret. Br. 54. So where against heir it must be made on land that did descend, because it is the terrá petitá or land in demand. Note, if tenant appears, it is not material in what land he is summoned; Dalt. 152; Finch. 344.

It is said a summons personally on the defendant is sufficient without either summons on the land or proclamation at the church door; Dalt. 225; but see 1 Roper, 430.

Proclamation of summons.

By the statute of 31 Eliz. c. 3, s. 2, it is enacted, "that after every summons upon the land in any real action, fourteen days (k) at the least before the day of the return thereof, proclamation of the summons shall be made on a Sunday, in form aforesaid, at or near to the most usual door of the church or chapel of that town or parish where the land whereupon the summons was made doth lie, and that proclamation so made as aforesaid shall be returned, together with the names of the summoners; and if such summons shall not be proclaimed and returned according to the tenor and meaning of this act, then no grand cape to be awarded, but alias and pluries summons, as the cause shall require, until a summons and proclamation shall be duly made and returned according to the tenor and meaning of this act."

Proclamation, how made.

The proclamation is made by reading the summons; it must be at the parish church door, though it lies in another county; Cro. Eliz. 472; Register's Ca.; and after the summons, 1 Mod. Rep. 197; when the lands lie in more parishes than one a proclamation made at the parish church door of one is sufficient within the act; Allen v. Walter, Hob. 133.

form, and void; Dalt. 249; see 3 Wils. 55; if the place be within a liberty the Sheriff must send his mandate to the bailiff of the liberty, as in other cases; ibid. This writ must be served fifteen days before the return day; Br. Grand Cape, 29.

 the said J. A., her late husband, as by the said writ I am commanded (x).
 The residue of the execution of this writ appears in the inquisition hereunto annexed.

The answer of G. A., Esq. High Sheriff.

The Sheriff can only assign dower according to the rule of the common law and the tenor of the writ addressed to him by the Court (y): when according to the exigencies of the writ the whole, as in gavelkind, is to be seized (it being one entirety,) no difficulty can arise in executing it, but when a part of a whole is to be seized, and that part incapable of a beneficial severance, as in mines, tolls, and the like, the assignment of dower is not unfrequently beset with no ordinary difficulties.

Dower how assigned by Sheriff.

The general rule is, that if the thing of which she is endowed be divisible, her dower must be set out by metes and bounds (metis et burdis (z)); but if it be indivisible she must be endowed specially; as of the third presentation to a church, the Stoughton v.

Leigh.

The judgment in the case of Stoughton v. Leigh (c) throws considerable light on the mode of executing this writ, especially when the subject matter is incapable of a beneficial severance as in mines: it was a case directed out of the High Court of Chancery for the opinion of the Court of Common Pleas, and the main features of it were these:—John Hanbury died seised of divers landed estates and of several mines and strata of lead and coal—some of these mines being under his own land—others under land not his own; some of them opened, others not opened. The certificate, after stating that the widow was not dowable of any of the mines or strata which had not been opened at all, whether in lease or not, proceeds to say, that "in assigning the dower of Mr. Hanbury's own lands the Sheriff must estimate the annual value of the open mines therein as part of the value of the estates of which the widow is dowable; but it was not absolutely necessary that he should assign to her any of the open mines themselves, or any portion of them. The third part in value which he should assign to her might consist wholly of land set out by metes and bounds, and containing none of the open mines. Or he might include any of the mines themselves in the assignment to the widow, describing them specifically, if the particular lands in which they lie should not also be assigned; but if those lands should be included in the assignment, the open mines within them might, but were not necessarily to be so described, being part of the land itself which was assigned: and as the working of open mines was not waste the tenant in dower might work such mines for her own exclusive profit. Or the Sheriff might divide the enjoyment and perception of the profits of any of the particular mines as after mentioned. In regard to the mines and strata which Mr. Hanbury had in the lands of other persons, they were of opinion that it was not necessary that the Sheriff should divide each of the mines or strata ; but he might assign such a number of them as might amount to one-third in value of the whole, or he might proportion the enjoyment of such of them as he should think necessary, so as to give each a proper share of the whole. If the division of an open mine could be made by metes and bounds as lands are required to be divided, without preventing the parties from having the proper enjoyment and perception of the profits, they thought that mode should be adopted ; but as the property seemed to them to be incapable of a beneficial severance in that way, they thought the case analogous to some of those stated by Lord Coke, 1 Inst. 32 a, wherein it is held that the Sheriff may make the assignment in a special manner, and that therefore he might proceed with respect to the mines in question. They found no authority, however, establishing any precise mode of dividing a mine, nor could they point out any that might not be attended with inconvenience ; but if the Sheriff was to make the assignment they thought he might lawfully execute his duty by directing separate alternate enjoyment of the whole for short periods, proportioned to the share each had in the subject, or by giving the widow a proportion of the profits. In answer to the last question proposed to them, they were of opinion that the widow was entitled to work for her own exclusive use the open mines within the close that had been assigned to her, without any exception of the mine, for her dower of one of the estates, notwithstanding the excess arising from the omission of such exception ; and inasmuch as the assignment was the act of the heir himself, being of full age at the time, they thought he had no remedy at law against the dowress for avoiding the consequences of that act. Had he been under age at the time, he might have had relief by writ of admeasurement of dower ; or had the assignment been made by the Sheriff in execution of a judgment in dower, the heir might have had a scire facias to obtain an assignment de novo."

The Sheriff may put the widow into possession or seisin by a elod, or by grass growing upon the land, or by any beast being upon the land (d), or he may assign it by parol (e).

How possession given by the Sheriff.

When lands are meadow, pasture and corn. If the commands of the writ be to deliver possession of a third part of all lands and tenements, &c. and there are lands in meadow, pasture and corn, he may assign dower in toto out of any of them (f).

Certainty of return. It is not necessary for him to state in his return the particular fields which he has assigned, it is sufficient to state with certainty of what such thirds consist (g).

Excessive assignment. The Sheriff's mistake in assigning dower may be corrected on a scire facias for an assignment de novo by the heir or tenant (h); semble, a Court of Equity would relieve (i).

Sheriff's misconduct. For any misconduct in assigning dower the Court will punish the Sheriff (k)—in the case cited he was committed to prison.

SECTION II.

QUARE IMPEDIT.

What is. This is the proper process to try the right to a presentation; by the common law there were three writs for the church itself:—
 1. Right of advowson. 2. Assize of darrien presentment. 3. Quare impedit (a); into the nature of the two former it is at this day needless to inquire as they have been by a recent statute (b) wholly abolished, the last alone having “survived the wreck of matter and the crush of worlds.”

A mixed and not a real action. It is in strictness a mixed and not a real action (c).

A possessory action. It is a possessory writ and lies for the patron of an advowson, to restore him to the possession of his advowson and to his right of presentation; at common law it only lay when the patron was hindered from presenting during the vacancy of the church (plenarty being in all cases a good plea,) but since the statutes of Westminster 2, (13 Edw. 1,) and 7 Anne, c. 18, plenarty is no plea, "so that the writ be purchased within the six months, though he cannot recover his presentation within the six months;" even if the six months are elapsed he may on the next avoidance bring his writ of quare impedit.

For whom it lies.

When at common law.

A patron is said to be disturbed in presenting either when the bishop hath admitted and instituted a clerk upon the presentment of another pretended patron, or when the bishop will not admit the patron's clerk presented him upon any pretence. But if the ordinary hath filled the church by a wrongful collation the patron is not thereby disturbed, and in such a case the patron must present, and the ordinary refuse to admit his clerk before the patron can bring his action; neither is there a disturbance by a stranger presenting a clerk, unless the bishop hath admitted him, but if admitted the disturbance is complete, and the patron may bring his action without making any presentment to the bishop (d).

When a patron is deemed to be disturbed.

Before the statute of 7 Anne, c. 18, an usurpation of a presentation did at common law displace the right of advowson, and no possessory action could be brought, but since then no usurper or disturber could divest the right of presentation out of the true patron, or acquire the inheritance of the advowson by wrong; the provisions of which did in effect take away all limitation of suit about the right, and enabled the true patron to present at any time on the church becoming vacant, or if disturbed might have had his quare impedit (e).

Statute of limitation.

But upon the recommendation of the real property commissioners a statutory limitation is now fixed by the 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 27, ss. 29—34.

A patron may have a quare impedit for a church, chapel (f), vicarage, prebend (g). So the writ lies for a donative (h) deanery (i) by the Queen though elective, archdeaconry, for it is not a mere function but is local, so that an archdeacon hath locum in choro; but not for a chancellorship or commissaryship, for they are mere offices although granted for life; for a bishop disturbed, or for the Queen disturbed (k); for the grantor (l) of an advowson against the [patron] grantor; executors on their disturbance, or on the disturbance of their testator (m); husband and wife jointly, or the husband alone jure uxoris—if he die, the wife may sue alone on that disturbance (n); a claimant under a recovery (o); the Queen (p); a parson patron of a vicarage (q); and for the chapter in respect of their possession against the dean; if one has the right of nomination and another the right of presentation, and either of them impedes the other, this will lie (r); or if a stranger presents, the two may join (s); tenants in common and joint tenants must join (t); likewise coparceners, when there has been no composition to present in turn (u); an heir cannot have this writ for a disturbance in his ancestor's life time, unless the church be donative (x). Note, a donative benefice descends to the heir at law, a presentation to the executor.

Plaintiff must have an immediate right of possession.

Parties to be made defendants.

The plaintiff (it being a possessory action) must have an immediate right of presentation, and not merely a reversion or remainder.

It (y) is generally advisable to bring it against the bishop, the pretended patron, and his clerk, and the reason is plain—if the bishop is not made a party to the suit, and the suit is not determined until six months are past, the bishop may present by lapse, whereas if he is made a party, no lapse can accrue until the right is determined. Again, if the pretended patron is not made a party, the suit is of none effect and the writ shall abate, for the right of the patron is the principal question in the cause (z). If the clerk be not made a party, and he has received institution before action brought, the right of patronage may be recovered but not the present turn; for he cannot have judgment to remove the clerk unless he is a party.

SECTION III.

EJECTMENT.

Before the statute of 1 Will. 4, c. 70, no writ of possession could issue to the Sheriff until after final judgment had been signed, but section 38 thereof enacts, "that when a verdict is given for plaintiff, or he is nonsuited for want of defendant's not confessing lease, entry, or ouster, the judge before whom the cause was tried may certify his opinion on the back of the record, that a writ of possession ought to issue immediately, and upon such certificate a writ of possession may be issued forthwith ; and the costs may be taxed, and judgment signed and executed afterwards at the usual time, as if no such writ had issued." It will be observed, that this certificate extends only to a writ of possession, and not to a writ of execution for costs or damages ; but although not under this statute the judge may clearly certify for them under the 1 Will. 4, c. 7, s. 2.

If no certificate be granted, no writ of possession can issue until after final judgment, as before the act.

and by virtue of 1 Will. 4, c. 7, s. 2; at all events, cases have occurred where certificates have been granted on an undertaking by the lessor of the plaintiff not to enforce it before the expiration of a certain time (b).

Where the lessor of the plaintiff has been nonsuited for want of the defendant's confessing lease, entry, or ouster, the certificate can not be obtained without an affidavit of the circumstances of the case (c).

When Judge certifies for immediate Execution.

Victoria, &c., to the Sheriff of W., greeting: Whereas on the day of , in the year of our reign, a certain cause wherein John Doe on the demise of H. A. was plaintiff and C. D. was defendant, was tried at , before Sir E. H. Alderson, Knt., one of the justices assigned to take the assizes in and for the said county, for the recovery of the possession of his the said John Doe's term then and yet to come of and in two messuages, &c. Alderson, Knt., having certified his opinion on the back of the record that a writ of possession ought to be issued immediately in the said cause, therefore we command you that without delay you cause the said John Doe to have the possession of his said term yet to come of and in the tenements aforesaid with the appurtenances; and in what manner you shall have executed this our writ make appear to us, &c. [conclude as ante, 268].

In the older books (e) it is said that the plaintiff might enter, when he could do so without force, without suing forth a writ of possession, and that the assistance of the Sheriff was only to preserve the peace; but this doctrine has recently (f), with good reason, been called in question. As regards this action the old rule was, that the Sheriff was to be informed by the record itself what he was to take possession of; but the Sheriff now delivers possession at the showing of the plaintiff and at the peril of the plaintiff, who is at his peril to take possession of no more than he is entitled to (g); and the Sheriff is not bound to execute the writ unless the lessor of the plaintiff, or some person authorized by him, comes to receive possession, nor is he bound to know or seek the land (h); being so the Sheriff will do well in all cases to call upon the lessor of the plaintiff for an indemnity before he executes the writ.

Outer door may be broken after request, &c.
Posse comi-tatus.

In executing this writ the outer door of a party's dwelling-house may be broken open by the officer after signifying the cause of his coming, and making request that the doors may be opened; he may take the posse comitatus if he meet with resistance.

How executed when there are several tenements.

If several tenements (the subject matter of the action) be in the possession of several tenants, the officer must give possession of each separately; of one in the name of all is not sufficient (i); but if all be in the possession of one tenant it is said to be sufficient to deliver possession of one in the name of all (k); but the surest and best way is for the Sheriff to remove all the tenants entirely out of each house, and when the possession is quitted to deliver it to the plaintiff. The goods must then also be removed (l).

Must remove all persons and goods off the premises.

How possession of a house given.

Of a rent or common.

As the end of the writ is to give the party full and actual possession he must remove all persons and their goods from off the premises; if persons be left on the premises the execution is not complete (m). If there is a recovery of a house the Sheriff may put the party in possession by delivering to him the ring of the door of the house, or any open door, and bid him enter and take possession, provided no tenant be there (n); if it be of a rent or common, possession may be delivered by word only (o); or in the former case by a twig, or grass, or sod of the same land, and this is a good seisin of the rent notwithstanding that the day of payment of the rent be not then come (p).

may deliver him three or more of the acres in the name of the whole without dividing it by metes and bounds (q). than ejectment brought for.

On recovery of land being part of a highway the Sheriff should deliver possession, subject to the public easement (r). Of a highway.

If the sheriff is to deliver possession of a certain number of acres, as to quantity custom and not statute is his guide (s). As to ad-measure-ment of land custom and not statute prevails.

If the Sheriff deliver possession of more than he ought, the Court will on application order it to be restored (t); but where crops are standing on the land when possession was taken under a hab. fac. poss., the Court refused to compel the lessor of the plaintiff to pay over to the late tenant (defendant) the value of the crops after deducting the rent (u). Excessive delivery how remedied.

The execution is not complete until the bailiffs are withdrawn and possession completely given (x); and if the tenant immediately after the Sheriff has given possession, ejects the plaintiff, the Sheriff may restore him to the possession, for the writ was not executed until the plaintiff has obtained full and quiet possession (y). When execution is complete.

Where a stranger turns the plaintiff out of possession after execution fully executed, the plaintiff is put to his new action or to an indictment for the forcible entry; if by the defendant himself the plaintiff may have either a new habere facias or an attachment (z).

When a Sheriff's officer, taking possession under a hab. fac. poss. is dispossessed before he delivers possession it is necessary that it should appear that the persons dispossessing are acting in concert with the defendant before a fresh writ can issue (a).

If tested before the death of the lessor of the plaintiff, though not sued out till after, it is regular (b). When suit abates by death of lessor of the plaintiff.

By marriage.

So in an ejectment against a feme sole, who married before trial, and a verdict and judgment was obtained against her by her original name, it was holden regular to issue an hab. fa. pos. against her by the same name (c).

By death of the real defendant.

If the real defendant dies after judgment and before execution, it is said that an hab. fac. poss. may be issued and executed, because execution is of the land only, and there is no new person to be charged (d); a sci. fa. (the parties being nominal) will not lie in any case perhaps absolutely necessary (e), but as some doubts exist about the point (f), a sci. fa. should in prudence be issued (g).

Should be returned.

This writ should in strictness be returned; but in practice it is not usual unless the Sheriff be ruled so to do; the omission is not material as regards the validity of the execution (g); if returned it may be in this form.

By virtue of this writ to me directed, I did go to the Court within written, and in full Court there I caused to be recorded the plaint within written, which record I have (as appears in the schedule to this writ annexed) before , on the day and at the place within contained, under my seal and the seals of T. R., A. B., C. D., and E. P., four lawful men of my county, who in the same Court were present at that recording, and I prefixed the same day to the parties aforesaid, that then they might be there to proceed in the said plaint as was just, as within I am commanded.

SECTION V.

HABEAS CORPUS.

There are several writs of habeas corpus for a subject when he is deprived of his liberty. But the great and efficacious writ in all manner of illegal confinement is that of habeas corpus ad subjiciendum, directed to the person detaining another, and commanding him to produce the body of the prisoner, with the day and cause of his caption and detention, ad faciendum, subjiciendum, recipiendum, to do, submit to, and receive whatsoever the judge or Court awarding such writ shall consider in that behalf (a); but before proceeding to the writ above alluded to, a few observations upon others, in which the Sheriff is interested, may not perhaps be out of place.

(d) It is a good return for the Sheriff to state that, after the receipt of the writ, and before the return thereof, no Court was holden, and that he also required the lord to hold his Court, which he refused to do; Greenwood, 63; Fitz. Retorn, 21; Dalt. 243. The persons who go with him need not be knights; but semble, it should be stated to be so; Fitz. Nat. Br. 10; Greenw, 63; sed vide 3 Anst. 408; it seems to be a good return that the suitors refused to record the plea, or to deliver to him the record, or denied that there was any such record; in such cases the Court above would award a distringas directed to the Sheriff against the suitors, with a summons against the party; Dalt. 243; Watson, 294.

HABEAS CORPUS CUM CAUSA (b).

Victoria, &c., to the Sheriff of W., greeting: We command you that you have the body of C. D. detained in our prison under your custody as it is said, under safe and secure conduct, together with the day and cause of his being taken and detained, by whatsoever name he may be called or known, before our right trusty and well-beloved Thomas Lord Denman [as the case may be], our chief justice assigned to hold pleas in our Court before us, at his chambers in Rolls' Gardens, Chancery Lane, London, immediately after the receipt of this writ, to do and receive all and singular those things which our said chief justice shall then and there consider of him in this behalf; and have there then this writ. Witness, &c.

Warrant to Gaoler.

Cumberland, } G. A., Esq., High Sheriff of the said county, to Thomas to wit. } Thwaites, my bailiff, and also keeper of her Majesty's gaol in and for the said county, by virtue of her Majesty's writ to me directed, I command you that you have the body of R. P. before Thomas Lord Denman, chief justice of our lady the Queen, before the Queen herself, at his chambers in Rolls' Gardens, Chancery Lane, London, immediately after the receipt of this your warrant, to do and receive what the Queen's chief justice shall then and there consider of him in this behalf. Hereof fail not at your peril. Given, &c.

By the same Sheriff.

Return thereto (c).

Cumberland, } I, G. A., Esq., High Sheriff of the said county, do to wit. } humbly certify and return to the Right Honourable Thomas Lord Denman, her Majesty's chief justice, in the writ to this sche-

(b) This writ cannot be directed to the Sheriff or gaoler, in the disjunctive; Rex v. Fowler, 1 Salk. Rep. 350.

This writ may be sued out in term or vacation without any previous motion made; but although sued out in vacation it must bear teste in term; it may be made returnable immediate—which means within due and convenient time; Bettesworth v. Bell, 3 Burr. Rep. 1876; it must be signed with the proper hands of the chief justice, or, in his absence, of one of the justices of the Court, out of which the same writ shall be awarded or made; 1 & 2 Phil. & M. c. 13, s. 7, vide Salk. Rep. 150; 2 Str. Rep. 895; 12 Mod. 2; 2 Lord Raym. 1379; if not so signed the Sheriff is not bound to execute it; Rex v. Rodham, Cowp. 672. See also Sheppard v. Shem, 2 Cr. & J. 632.

If the Sheriff do not obey the first writ in convenient time, he will not only be subject to the penalties in the 31 Car. 2, but, after being ruled to return it, to an attachment for his contempt, such mode of punishment being within the spirit of the statute referred to; Rex v. Wright, 2 Str. Rep. 915; Rex v. Winton, 5 Term Rep. 89.

(c) As a writ of habeas corpus cum causâ is in nature of a writ of right or writ of error, to determine whether the imprisonment be good or erroneous, the cause of the imprisonment ought to appear as certainly to the judge before whom it is returned as it did to the Court or person authorized to commit; Vaugh. 137; so the return must state the day, and also the cause depending against him, and in extra-judicial commitments, the warrant of commitment; all writs of execution iz hæc verba, and with a paratum habeo, that the judge may either discharge, D.*, which together with his body I have ready, as by the said writ I am commanded.

Return of Cepi et Languidus in Prison.

By virtue of this writ to me directed, I on took the within named C. D., who remains in her Majesty's prison of A. under my custody so languid that, without great peril and danger of his life, I cannot have his body before our lady the Queen at the day and place within contained, as within I am commanded.

The answer of G. A., Esq., High Sheriff.

HABEAS CORPUS AD SATISFACIENDUM (d).

Victoria, &c. : We command you that you have before us, at West-bail, or remand the prisoner; 5 Mod. 156; 2 Cro. 543; 12 Co. 130; Hale, P. C. 584; Skn. 676, pl. 2.

When a man is taken on a warrant of the Sheriff, in pursuance of a writ to the Sheriff, the writ itself must be returned; otherwise it is when one is committed to the gaol immediately, as in cases criminal; Rex v. Fowler, 1 Salk. Rep. 350.

It is a good return that the party is dead; Dalt. 219, 251; he may return cepi and languidus; ibid. 250; or that he is in custody for felony, murder, treason, or the like; ibid. 252; outlawed, excommunicated, or committed by a mittimus from a justice, or by an order of sessions, or commissioners of bankrupts; see Officina Brev. 235; in these cases set forth the warrant in hæc verba; see "Returns" in 1 Salk. Rep. 347, 351.

But he cannot return that he was resisted, for he may raise the posse comitatus; 2 Inst. 454; 13 Edw. 1, c. 39, in Compton v. Ward, 1 Str. Rep. 429; as to the gaoler's fees, see Keb. Rep. 280; in re Salisbury, 5 Barn. & Ald. 266.

Return—"I had not at the time of receiving this writ, nor have I since had the body of A. B. detained in my custody, so that I could not have her, &c." was held a bad return; Rex v. Winton, 5 Term Rep. 89.

For a return where defendant was in custody of the old Sheriff, and return made by the new, see Impey, 523, substituting the words "a true and correct list and account under his hand," instead of "indenture," by which formerly the assignment of prisoners, &c. was made from the old to the new Sheriff; ante, p. 26.

In executing this writ the officer should not deviate from the direct road nor allow his prisoner to go at liberty, if he do it will amount to an escape; Roll. Abr. Escape, D. 9.

On a rule for discharging a prisoner who was arrested under process from an inferior Court, and brought up into the Q. B. by habeas corpus cum causâ, it is no objection that the affidavits on which the rule is obtained are intitled in a cause in the Q. B.; Perrin v. West, 3 Adol. & E. 405; 5 Nev. & M. 291.

(d) This writ is directed to the same person as the habeas corpus cum causâ, to bring the body into Court, with the causes of his detainer, &c., minster, the body of C. D. detained in our prison under your custody, as we are informed, under safe and secure conduct, together with the day and cause of his being taken and detained, by whatsoever name he may be called in the same, to satisfy as well a certain debt, [or in assumpsit, &c. "the sum of £ ,"] which in our Court before us, at Westminster, were awarded to the said A. B. for, &c. [as in the ca. sa.], whereof the said C. D. is convicted; and further to do, &c. [conclude as ante, p. 276.]

Return thereto (e).

Westmorland, } I, the within-named Sheriff of the said county, do directed, to wit, on , the common gaol in and for the said county at A., and in which the said C. D. was then detained, was destroyed by fire, which I could not prevent, and the said C. D. escaped and is still at large, against my will and consent: wherefore the body of the within-named C. D. before, &c., at the day within written, I cannot have as I am within commanded. G. A., Esq., High Sheriff.

HABEAS CORPUS AD SUBJICIENDUM (g).

It is said, by Coke and Hale, "that by virtue of the statute of Magna Charta, and indeed of the common law, an habeas corpus in criminal cases may issue out of the Chancery at all times of the year, even in the vacation; but that at common law neither the King's Bench nor Common Pleas could grant that writ but in term time (h)." By the Habeas Corpus Act, (31 Car. 2, c. 2,) When and whence issued at common law.

Habeas Corpus Act, effect of.

soner is a material witness, and willing to attend, whereon the Court or judge exercise their discretion. In R. v. Burbage, 3 Burr. Rep. 1440, Lord Mansfield refused it, because he thought the application a mere contrivance. So in Farley v. Newnham, Dougl. 420 [403], the Court refused this writ to bring up a prisoner at war to be a witness, assigning for reason that it should be done by an order from the secretary of state; see also 2 New Rep. 245.

(g) Form of writ, see ante, p. 276, adding "to submit to and receive;" see also the two Habeas Corpus Acts, 31 Car. 2, c. 2, and 56 Geo. 3, c. 100, printed in full, post, p. 282.

(h) Co. Litt. 81, 182; 2 Hale, P. C. 147; Crowley's case, 2 Swanst. 1, 48.

the previously existing power of the Chancellor to issue an habeas in criminal cases in vacation, was extended to the judges and barons of the other Courts at Westminster (i). But as that statute only applied to imprisonment for crime or suspicion of crime, it was found necessary to extend the power of issuing an habeas corpus in vacation to imprisonment not for crimes, which is done by the 56 Geo. 3, c. 100 (k). By the latter statute, upon complaint made by or on the behalf of the party confined or restrained, if it shall appear by affidavit or affirmation that there is a probable and reasonable ground for such complaint, any judge or baron of the Superior Courts is required by that act to issue it in vacation.

Extent of, and amendment of, by the 56 Geo. 3, c. 100.

How obtained.

How obtained, whether application is under the common law or the statutes.

Who entitled to this writ.

Whether the application be at common law or on the statutes of 31 Car. 2, c. 2, and 56 Geo. 3, c. 100, it must be grounded on an affidavit of a probable and reasonable ground for the complaint, and that it is made by or on the behalf of the person imprisoned (l). The application must also be preceded by his written request, attested by two witnesses (m).

On looking at the exceptions in the two statutes, it will be sufficiently clear who are and who are not entitled to this writ. By the 31 Car. 2, "any person committed or detained for any crime (unless for felony or treason plainly expressed in the warrant of commitment) is entitled to this writ." By the 56 Geo. 3, c. 100, "any person confined or restrained of his or her liberty, (otherwise than for some criminal or supposed criminal matter, and except persons imprisoned for debt or by process in any

(i) See the advantages attending an application to the Court of Queen's Bench in preference to the other Courts when it can be done, Salk. Rep. 359; 2 Ch. Gen. Pr. 327. An application is seldom made to the Chancellor under the statute of Car. 2, except in cases depending in his own Court.

(k) As to the Chancellor's power in vacation under this statute, (though not expressly mentioned,) see the judgment of Lord Eldon in Ex parte Crowley, 1 Swanst. 1; Buck, 264, S. C. overruling Jenkin's case, in which Lord Nottingham was of a contrary opinion.

In criminal cases a copy of the commitment, or an affidavit of the refusal of it, must be laid before him, ibid.; and the application should be supported by other evidence than the affidavit of the prisoner; 1 Leach, 255; Cald. 246.

(m) Rex v. Wiseman, 2 Smith's Rep. 617; Ex parte Lansdown, 8 East, Rep. 38. It is usual to obtain at the same time a writ of certiorari from the Crown Office to the committing magistrate, requiring him to return the depositions, &c.

civil suit,) is entitled to this writ." It follows then that persons committed for felony or treason plainly expressed in the warrant, as well as persons convicted or in execution on legal process, are not entitled to this writ either in term or vacation (n). Who are not entitled to this writ.

A commitment of a lunatic, or one by the House of Commons for a contempt, is not for a crime within the 31 Car. 2 (o), nor a commitment by order of Court (p). An alien enemy cannot have the writ, although any other alien in general may (q); nor by the 7 Geo. 4, c. 48, s. 17, can prisoners for offences against smuggling and the customs, unless the objection to the proceedings be stated in the affidavit (r).

Nor can a prisoner have this writ for the purpose of bringing him to vote at an election (s).

The writ must be marked in this manner, "per statutum tricesimo primo Caroli Secundi regis," signed with the proper hand of the judge (t), and signed by the person who awards it. Necessary formulæ as to writ.

The writ, within three days after service, must be returned and the body brought if within twenty miles; if beyond the distance of twenty miles and not above one hundred, then within the space of ten days; if beyond the distance of one hundred miles, then within the space of twenty days (u). Execution of.

Henry Earl of Thanet, High Sheriff.

Indorsement thereon.

The execution of this writ appears in a certain schedule hereunto annexed. The answer of Henry Earl of Thanet, High Sheriff.

The return must show by whom and for what cause the prisoner was committed (y). The return may be enforced by attachment (z).

Return, how enforced.

Return, certainty of.

Special return of facts instead of body.

It follows from what has been before stated, that there are many cases in which the Sheriff, or other person to whom the writ is directed, is warranted in returning, instead of the body, the causes or reasons of the prisoner's detention; thus, in the case of a person charged with treason or suspicion of treason, or felony, or in execution upon process after judgment from any Court of competent jurisdiction, the facts should be returned specially.

Return, when disputable.

In criminal (a) cases it is said that the return cannot be disputed, but in offences which rather partake of a civil nature, the truth of the return may be denied (b); so where the writ is issued at common law, the truth of the return may be controverted (c).

When amended.

After the return is filed it becomes a record of the Court and cannot be amended; before, it may, it seems, in form or substance (d).

For the prevention whereof, and the more speedy relief of all persons imprisoned for any such criminal or supposed criminal matters; be it enacted by the King's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in this present parliament assembled, and by the authority thereof, that whensoever any person or persons shall bring any habeas corpus directed unto any Sheriff or Sheriffs, gaoler, minister or other persons whatsoever, for any person in his or their custody, and the said writ shall be served upon the said officer, or left at the gaol or prison with any of the under-officers, under-keepers, or deputy of the said officers or keepers, that the said officer or officers, his or their under-officers, under-keepers or deputies, shall within three days after the service thereof as aforesaid (unless the commitment aforesaid were for treason or felony, plainly and specially expressed in the warrant of commitment) upon payment or tender of the charges of bringing the said prisoner, to be ascertained by the judge or court that awarded the same, and indorsed upon the said writ, not exceeding twelve-pence per mile, and upon security given by his own bond to pay the charges of carrying back the prisoner, if he shall be remanded by the court or judge to which he shall be brought according to the true intent of the present act, and that he will not make any escape by the way, make return of such writ; and bring or cause to be brought the body of the party so committed or restrained, unto or before the Lord Chancellor or Lord Keeper of the Great Seal of England for the time being, or the judges or barons of the said Court from whence the said writ shall issue, or unto and before such other person or persons before whom the said writ is made returnable, according to the command thereof; and shall then likewise certify the true causes of his detainer or imprisonment, unless the commitment of the said party be in any place beyond the distance of twenty miles from the place or places where such Court or person is or shall be residing; and if beyond the distance of twenty miles, and not above one hundred miles, then within the space of ten days, and if beyond the distance of one hundred miles, then within the space of twenty days, after such delivery aforesaid, and not longer.

Judges to issue, in vacation, writs of habeas turnable immediately, in cases other than for criminal matter, or for debt.

" WHEREAS the writ of habeas corpus hath been found by experience to be an expeditious and effectual method of restoring any person to his liberty, who hath been unjustly deprived thereof: And whereas extending the remedy of such writ, and enforcing obedience thereunto, and preventing delays in the execution thereof, will be advantageous to the public: And whereas the provisions made by an act passed in England in the thirty-first year of King Charles the Second, intituled An Act for the better securing the Liberty of the Subject, and for Prevention of Imprisonment beyond the Seas, and also by an act passed in Ireland in the twenty-first and twenty-second years of his present Majesty, intituled An Act for better securing the Liberty of the Subject, only extend to cases of commitment or detainer for criminal or supposed criminal matter ;" Be it therefore enacted by the King's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in this present parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, that where any person shall be confined or restrained of his or her liberty (otherwise than for some criminal or supposed criminal matter, and except persons imprisoned for debt or by process in any civil suit) within that part of Great Britain called England, dominion of Wales, or town of Berwick upon Tweed, or the Isles of Jersey, Guernsey or Man, it shall and may be lawful for any one of the barons of the Exchequer, of the degree of the coif, as well as for any one of the justices of one bench or the other ; and where any person shall be so confined in Ireland, it shall and may be lawful for any one of the barons of the Exchequer, or of the justices of one bench or the other in Ireland; and they are hereby required, upon complaint made to them by or on the behalf of the person so confined or restrained, if it shall appear by affidavit or affirmation (in cases where by law an affirmation is allowed) that there is a probable and reasonable ground for such complaint, to award in vacation time, a writ of habeas corpus ad subjiciendum, under the seal of such Court, whereof he or they shall then be judges or one of the judges, to be directed to the person or persons in whose custody or power the party so confined or restrained shall be, returnable immediately before the person so awarding the same, or before any other judge of the Court under the seal of which the said writ issued.

2. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that if the person or persons to whom any writ of habeas corpus shall be directed according to the provision of this Act, upon service of such writ, either by the actual delivery thereof to him, her or them, or by leaving the same at the place where the party shall be confined or restrained, with any servant or agent of the person or persons so confining or restraining, shall wilfully neglect or refuse to make a return or pay obedience thereto, he, she or they shall be deemed guilty of a contempt of the Court, under the seal whereof such writ shall have issued; and it shall be lawful to and for the said justice or baron, before whom such writ shall be returnable, upon proof made by affidavit of wilful disobedience of the said writ, to issue a warrant under his hand and seal, for the apprehending and bringing before him, or before some other justice or baron of the same Court, the person or persons so wilfully disobeying the said writ, in order to his, her or their being bound to the King's Majesty, with two sufficient sureties, in such sum as in the warrant shall be expressed, with condition to appear in the Court of which the said justice or baron is a judge, at a day in the ensuing term to be mentioned in the said warrant, to answer the matter of contempt with which he, she, or they are charged; and in case of neglect or refusal to become bound as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for such justice or baron to commit such person or persons so neglecting or refusing, to the gaol or prison of the Court of which such justice or baron shall be a judge, there to remain until he, she or they shall have become bound as aforesaid, or shall be discharged by order of the Court in term time, or by order of one of the justices or barons of the Court in vacation; and the recognizance or recognizances to be taken thereupon shall be returned and filed in the same Court, and shall continue in force until the matter of such contempt shall have been heard and determined, unless sooner ordered by the Court to be discharged: Provided, that if such writ shall be awarded so late in the vacation by any one of the said justices or barons, that, in his opinion, obedience thereto cannot be conveniently paid during such vacation, the same shall and may, at his discretion, be made returnable in the Court of which the said justice or baron shall be a justice or baron, at a day certain in the next term; and the said Court shall and may proceed thereupon, and award process of contempt in case of disobedience thereto, in like manner as upon disobedience to any writ originally awarded by the said Court: Provided also, that if such writ shall be awarded by the Court of King's Bench, or the Court of Common Pleas, or Court of Exchequer, in the said countries respectively, which last mentioned Court shall have like power to award such writs as the respective Courts of King's Bench and Common Pleas in each of the said countries now have in term, but so late that, in the judgment of the Court, obedience thereto cannot be conveniently paid during such term, the same shall and may, at the discretion of the said Court, be made returnable at a day certain in the then next vacation, before any justice or baron of the degree of the coif, or if in Ireland, before any justice or baron of the same Court, who shall and may proceed thereupon, in such manner as by this Act is directed concerning writs issuing in and made returnable during the vacation.

Non obedience to such writ, to be a contempt of Court.

cases provided for by this Act, although the return to any writ of habeas corpus shall be good and sufficient in law, it shall be lawful for the justice or baron before whom such writ may be returnable, to proceed to examine into the truth of the facts set forth in such return, by affidavit or by affirmation (in cases where an affirmation is allowed by law) and to do therein as to justice shall appertain; and if such writ shall be returned before any one of the said justices or barons, and it shall appear doubtful to him on such examination, whether the material facts set forth in the said return, or any of them, be true or not, in such case it shall and may be lawful for the said justice or baron to let to bail the said person so confined or restrained, upon his or her entering into a recognizance with one or more sureties, or in case of infancy or coverture, or other disability, upon security by recognizance, in a reasonable sum, to appear in the Court of which the said justice or baron shall be a justice or baron, upon a day certain in the term following, and so from day to day as the Court shall require, and to abide such order as the Court shall make in and concerning the premises; and such justice or baron shall transmit into the same Court the said writ and return, together with such recognizance, affidavits and affirmations; and thereupon it shall be lawful for the said Court to proceed to examine into the truth of the facts set forth in the return, in a summary way by affidavit or affirmation (in cases where by law affirmation is allowed), and to order and determine touching the discharging, bailing or remanding the party.

4. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that the like proceeding may be had in the Court for controverting the truth of the return to any such writ of habeas corpus, awarded as aforesaid, although such writ shall be awarded by the said Court itself, or be returnable therein.

5. And be it declared and enacted by the authority aforesaid, that a writ of habeas corpus, according to the true intent and meaning of this Act, may be directed and run into any county palatine or cinque port, or any other privileged place within that part of Great Britain called England, dominion of Wales and town of Berwick upon Tweed, and the Isles of Jersey, Guernsey and Man, respectively; and also into any port, harbour, road, creek or bay upon the coast of England or Wales, although the same should be out of the body of any county; and if such writ shall issue in Ireland, the same may be directed and run into any port, harbour, road, creek or bay, although the same should not be in the body of any county; any law or usage to the contrary in anywise notwithstanding.

6. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that the several provisions made in this Act, touching the making writs of habeas corpus, issuing in time of vacation, returnable into the said Courts, or for making such writs awarded in term time, returnable in vacation, as the cases may respectively happen, and also for making wilful disobedience thereto a contempt of the Court, and for issuing warrants to apprehend and bring before the said justices or barons, or any of them, any person or persons wilfully disobeying any such writ, and in case of neglect or refusal to become bound as aforesaid, for committing the person or persons so neglecting or refusing to gaol as aforesaid, respecting the recognizances to be taken as aforesaid, and the proceeding or proceedings thereon, shall extend to all writs of habeas corpus awarded in pursuance of the said Act, passed in England in the thirty-first year of the reign of King Charles the Second, or of the said Act passed in Ireland in the twenty-first and twenty-second years of his present Majesty, and herein-before recited, in as ample and beneficial a manner as if such writs and the said cases arising thereon had been hereinbefore specially named and provided for respectively.

DE LUNATICO INQUIRENDO.

The first proceeding in this case is to present a petition to the Lord Chancellor stating the party's incapacity and praying a commission, accompanied by affidavits of the lunacy of the party; whereupon the commission issues under the Great Seal (a). How obtained.

Upon notice, the Commissioner (b) therein named issues his precept to the Sheriff of the county where the party resides, directing him to summon twenty-four persons to inquire into the matters in question; they are to be of the neighbourhood and must consist of twelve at least and be unanimous in their finding. SECTION VII.

NE EXEAT REGNO.

In what cases originally and now issued.

This writ was originally a state writ, but towards the latter end of the reign of King James the First, it was granted not only in respect of attempts prejudicial to the state but in other cases in aid of subjects (a).

By whom issued.

It may be issued by the Lord Chancellor or Master of the Rolls (b), but not by the Court of Exchequer. The Court of Exchequer, however, may compel the party to give security, which has the like effect.

For what issued.

It only issues when the demand is for a certain equitable money demand (c); that is, when there is no legal remedy, and the debtor cannot be holden to bail at law. For a balance of account, however, although he might be holden to bail at law, yet a ne exeat regno may still issue, for the Court in such a case has a concurrent jurisdiction.

Plaintiff must be within jurisdiction.

The plaintiff must be within the jurisdiction (d).

(d) These oaths are administered by the Sheriff.

(d) 2 Madd. suprà.

It issues to restrain a person from going to Scotland (e) or Ireland (f). As to Scotland and Ireland.

It does not lie in respect of costs taxed in a chancery suit (g), nor for alimony after a decree in the Ecclesiastical Court pending an appeal from that decree (h). For what it does not lie.

The mode of obtaining this writ is by filing a bill (it must be after the filing of the bill (i)) containing a prayer for the writ, and then moving upon affidavit for the writ (k). Mode of obtaining.

The affidavit in support of the motion must be as positive as an affidavit to hold to bail; "information and belief" is not sufficient, except upon matter of pure account as between partners and executors (l). Affidavit, form of.

The application ought to be as prompt as possible (m). When made.

Writ (n).

The Queen to the Sheriff of W. greeting: because we are given to understand that A. B. purposes to go over towards foreign parts to prosecute there many things prejudicial and hurtful to us and many of our people: we willing to resist his malice in this behalf, command you, firmly enjoining that you cause the aforesaid *A. SECTION VIII.

CAPIAS.

New imprisonment for debt bill.

Under this head the recent “Act for abolishing Arrest on Mesne Process in Civil Actions, except in certain Cases, &c.” (16th August, 1838 (a)), demands our best consideration.

It is not our intention here to discuss the merits or demerits of that statute, but simply to state the law as it is and not what it should be.

Main features of the bill.

The main features of the statute (as regards the Sheriff) are—

1. The abolition of imprisonment for debt on mesne process, except when the debtor is about to quit England.

2. The extending of the common law remedies of judgment creditors against property.

How a personal action is in future to be commenced.

Arrest on mesne process in civil actions in inferior Courts wholly abolished,—in superior Courts also except, &c.

The first of these objects is accomplished by a simple enactment, “that all personal actions in her Majesty’s superior Courts of law at Westminster shall be commenced by writ of summons.” This necessarily, by implication, abolished the capias as a means of commencing any personal action in the superior Courts of law at Westminster, but for fear of doubt it is also negatively declared, “that no person shall be arrested upon mesne process in any civil action in any inferior Court whatsoever, or (except in the cases and in the manner herein-after provided for) in any superior Court.”

The exception, &c. will be best understood from the words of the act itself:—“If a plaintiff in any action in any of her Ma-

How long in force.

It must be observed, in the first place, that as to the person liable to or privileged from arrest,—the nature or amount of the debt for which an arrest was allowable, the law remains precisely the same as if the statute had never passed into law—the same person may be arrested now that might have been arrested before—the same person is privileged from arrest that was privileged before—and the nature and amount of the debt or damages remain the same, not in anywise altered or affected thereby ; but as to the time of issuing the capias and the allowance of it, vital alterations have been introduced.

Nature of writ.

As before observed a capias is no longer the means of commencing an action, it is now a process (if we may be allowed the expression) in nature of a ne exeat regno (b) ; a process simply to prevent a debtor's quitting England ; and is a proceeding quite collateral to the action itself.

It must be issued (when issued) after the commencement of the action and before final judgment ; in other words, after the teste of the summons, whether the summons have been served or not. With these few prefatory remarks before us upon the main features of the statute as regards arrest on mesne process, we now proceed to the subordinate changes introduced, the Sheriff's duties and liabilities therein, and to matters of practice connected therewith.

And, firstly, of the privilege from arrest—which is of two kinds, permanent and temporary.

Persons permanently privileged from arrest.

The persons permanently privileged from arrest are the royal family (c); the servants in ordinary or menial servants of the Queen (d); but not those of the Queen Dowager (e); a lord of the bedchamber (f); the Queen's chaplain (g); peers, whether English, Scotch or Irish (h); peeresses, whether by birth, marriage or creation (i), and whether English, Scotch or Irish; members of the House of Commons (k), and semble, members of convocation (l); ambassadors (m) and their "domestics and domestic servants;" the judges and serjeants of the superior Courts, attornies and officers of the Court (n); certificated bankrupts,

Aliens are not in general privileged from arrest; and one foreigner may arrest another in this country for a debt which accrued in a foreign country while both resided there, and it may be done although the law of the foreign country does not allow of arrest for debt (f).

A permanent privilege necessarily prevents the issuing of a capias; a temporary privilege prevents the execution only durante privilegio, and not the issuing.

Distinction important to Sheriff.

This distinction is important to the High Sheriff, for he would, in some cases of permanent privilege, by executing a capias incur a fine, imprisonment and even corporal punishment; if, for instance, he were to execute a capias upon a member of the royal family (g), peer, peeress, or a member of the house of com-joined to a particular day; Simpson's ca. Buck, 424; but if adjourned sine die, then it continues for the time indorsed on the summons of the commissioners, not exceeding three calendar months; 1 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 118; Ex parte Woods, 1 G. & J. 75; see also 1 B. & C. 652; if the forty-two days be expired, and the time for surrendering be enlarged, there is no privilege during the enlarged time; 15 Ves. 1; except the common law privilege, eundo, morando et redeundo, from the meeting. The privilege from arrest is derived from the statute, therefore any neglect of the commissioners cannot deprive him of it; Price's ca. 3 B. & B. 23.

(g) If a peer be arrested, the Court or a judge will discharge him upon mons (h), he might be committed by the house of lords or commons for a breach of privilege (i). So for arresting an ambassador or his domestic, not only the Sheriff and his officer, but also the plaintiff, at whose suit the process issued, and his attorney, would be subject to fine, imprisonment and corporal punishment, provided the name of such servant has been properly registered at the office of the Secretary of State, and from thence transmitted to the office of the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex (k).

Consequence of arresting an ambassador or his servant.

But although liable, as above suggested, the better opinion seems to be, that the Sheriffs would not be liable in trespass for executing a capias upon an individual so privileged (l); whether he would be liable in case or not, even if he was influenced by improper motives in executing it upon a person whom he knew to be so privileged, has never been decided (m).

But not liable in trespass.
In case not decided.

He may arrest, but he is not obliged to arrest a privileged person; if he chooses to take the truth of the facts upon himself and refuse to execute the writ, he may do so, and the facts constituting the privilege (if true) will be a good return; if false, he will be answerable for his false return; if there be any doubt then the Sheriff should execute the writ, (except as above-mentioned where he might be summarily or by indictment punished for it,) for it is a plaintiff's business to take care how he issues his writ, and not that of the Sheriff's; and if the plaintiff deliver it to the Sheriff he takes all the responsibility upon himself.

Whether he should arrest a person permanently privileged.

As to any case of temporary privilege the Sheriff is not obliged application for that purpose, and they will not, upon such application, enter into the right to his title. The privilege of an Irish peer is prima facie established; *Story v. C.; his being a peer and having acted as such is sufficient.

(h) If an M. P. be arrested during the period of his privilege, on the production of his return of his writ of election, the Court or a judge will discharge him.

(i) So by the 9 Geo. 4, c. 31, s. 23, a party arresting a clergyman durante privilegio, with knowledge, would be guilty of a misdemeanor.

in any manner to respect it (n); and the only remedy the person arrested has is by application for his discharge out of custody, and that the bail bond (if any) may be cancelled.

Having so far considered the nature of privilege from arrest and the Sheriff's duties and liabilities thereon, we now proceed to consider the following questions:—1. By process from what Courts a man may be arrested; 2. In what form of action; 3. The amount of debt or damages for which a man may be arrested; 4. The mode of obtaining an arrest; 5. The mode of obtaining a discharge.

1. A man may be arrested on mesne process issuing out of the Queen's Bench, Common Pleas, Exchequer, or out of the Palatine Courts of Lancaster or Durham (o), but not out of any inferior Court whatsoever.

The judges of the Palatine Courts of Lancaster and Durham have power to order an arrest subject to the following conditions or provisos:—"that no order or other proceeding under this act made by any justice or justices of the said Court of Common Pleas of the county palatine of Lancaster, or the Court of Pleas in the county palatine of Durham, shall be valid or effectual except made in open Court on one of the court or return days of the same Court, or except such justice or justices shall be also a judge or judges of one of the said Courts at Westminster." There is also an additional proviso as to the Court of Pleas of Durham, viz. "that no order directing any person or persons to be held to bail under this act, nor any order for discharging out of custody any person or persons arrested under this Act, shall be made by any justice or justices of the Court of Pleas in the county palatine of Durham, who shall not be a judge or judges of one of the said Courts of common law at Westminster (p)."

In what form of action an arrest may be made.

2. As to the form of action. The words of the third section are, "in any action in any of her majesty's superior Courts of law at Westminster in which the defendant is now liable to arrest, whether upon the order of a judge or without such order ;” in actions on the case (q), trover (r), trespass (s), or detinue (t), the defendant would have been holden to bail by a judge’s order, and consequently may be so still if about to quit England. As regards the action of assumpsit, the rule was, that when the cause of action was a debt or money demand, as contradistinguished from unliquidated damages, the defendant might have been holden to bail as of course ; but when the action was for unliquidated damages—damages which could not be ascertained with certainty by mere calculation—a judge’s order was required ; so that whether it be indebitatus assumpsit or special assumpsit for unliquidated damages, (as in the former case arrest was allowable as of course without a judge’s order, and in the latter allowable by a judge’s order,) an arrest is allowable at this day without reference to the species ; the recent statute seemingly in this respect making this difference only, namely, that, in addition to the facts previously necessary for a sufficient affidavit, the defendant’s being about to quit England must be stated and sworn to. And, for the same reason, a person cannot be arrested for goods bargained and sold (u), or for goods sold and not delivered (x), nor for a penalty (y), because he could not have been arrested before, it seems, either by or without a judge’s order.

(o) The Palatine Courts of Durham and Lancaster are superior Courts; Peacock v. Bell, 1 Saund. Rep. 73.

(p) 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110, s. 21. All or any of the judges of the Courts at Westminster may be appointed by her Majesty as judges of the Common Pleas at Lancaster; 4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 62, s. 24.

In debt (z) on simple contract, for the same reasons, the defendant might have been and consequently may now be arrested ; in debt on an award the defendant may be arrested (a) ; or on a statute which expressly authorizes an arrest (b) ; or on remedial statutes, as on the 9 Anne, c. 14, or on 4 Geo. 2, c. 28, for double rent for holding over, (but not on penal statutes unless expressly authorized (c).) On bonds conditioned for the payment of money, or conditioned for the performance of covenants (d), or a promise to marry (e), or the like, the defendant may be arrested; but in actions on bail-bonds, replevin-bonds, and recognizances of bail, the defendant cannot be holden to bail (f). On judgments of the superior or inferior Courts the defendant may be arrested, provided the original cause of action is such that the defendant might have been holden to bail for it (g); and for the whole or for a balance only where part has been levied by a fi. fa., whether the fi. fa. has been returned or not (h), and the defendant may arrest the plaintiff where he has obtained judgment, as well as è converso (i).

In covenant the defendant may be arrested when the covenant is for the payment of a sum certain (k).

Amount of debt for which a person can be holden to bail.

3. The words of the third section applicable hereto are, "if * * * such plaintiff has a cause of action against the defendant or defendants to the amount of twenty pounds or upwards, or has sustained damage to that amount, * * it shall be lawful, &c." to arrest him or them, if there is probable cause for believing that the defendant or any one or more of the defendants is or are about to quit England, unless he or they be forthwith apprehended; so that 20*l.* is the minimum arrestable amount; and this section is strictly confined to her majesty's superior Courts of law at Westminster; whether 20*l.* is the minimum arrestable amount in the counties palatine (which are superior Courts as well (l)) remains to be considered. By the 7 & 8 Geo. 4, c. 71, s. 7, it is enacted, "that no Sheriff or other officer within the said principality [of Wales,] or the counties palatine of Chester, Lancaster, or Durham, shall upon any mesne process issuing out of any of his majesty's Courts of record at Westminster, after the said first day of August, arrest or hold any person to special bail, unless such process shall be duly marked and indorsed for bail in a sum not less than fifty pounds." As regards Wales and Cheshire, this section was virtually repealed by the 11 Geo. 4, and 1 Will. 4, c. 70, and since then 20*l.* and not 50*l.* was the sum for which a defendant might have been holden to bail therein ; but until the 1st day of October, A. D. 1838, 50*l.* was the arrestable amount in the counties palatine of Lancaster and Durham ; it remains then to consider how far the former of these statutes is affected by the 3rd and 21st sections of 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110.

By section 3, it is clear that no person can be arrested or holden to bail now who could not be so before, by or without a judge's order ; consequently a person who could not before by a process issuing out of the Courts at Westminster have been holden to bail for less than 50*l.*, cannot be holden to bail for less at this day. Assuming this view of the case to be correct, the 7 & 8 Geo. 4, c. 71, s. 7, is still unrepealed, and that no person can be holden to bail in the counties palatine of Lancaster and Durham on process issuing out of any of the Courts at Westminster for a debt less in amount than 50*l.*

With regard to process issuing out of the Palatine Courts, it would seem to follow (as the judges of those Courts by sect. 21 have the like powers as the judges of the superior Courts at Westminster, with regard to process issuing out of the latter Courts,) that 50*l.* and not 20*l.* is the minimum arrestable amount.

4. As to the mode of obtaining an arrest, section 3 states, " if a plaintiff in any action, &c. shall, by the affidavit of himself or of some other person, show to the satisfaction of a judge of one of the said superior Courts, that such plaintiff has a cause of action against the defendant or defendants to the amount of 20*l.*, or has sustained damage to that amount, and that there is probable cause for believing that the defendant or any one or more of the defendants is or are about to quit England, unless he or they be forthwith apprehended ;" the first step therefore is to provide an—

The christian and surname of the defendant must be stated in full, except in written instruments, when it is excusable, after due diligence has been used to obtain knowledge of the proper name; H. T. 2 W. 4, r. 32; it may be sworn in the Court or before any judge of the Court out of which the process shall issue (and seemingly in which the action is pending); or before a commissioner of such Court in England, Scotland or Ireland (3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 42); or before the officer issuing the process or his deputy, provided such deputy be a deputy for issuing process, and not merely for taking affidavits; 1 Ch. Archb. 146, and cases cited; if sworn before a person having no authority to take it, it would be a nullity; Sharp v. Johnson, 4 Dowl. 324; it may be made in a foreign country; but if sworn abroad, not only the person's signature to the jurat, but also his authority to administer the oath and take the affidavit, must be verified by an affidavit to be made in this country; French v. Bellew, 1 M. & 3. 302.

(n) Larchin v. Willan, 4 M. & W. 351; the place of abode and addition must be inserted; Hil. Term. 2 Will. 4. As the application for the writ cannot now be made until after the teste of the summons, this part of the affidavit, although not perhaps indispensably requisite, should be inserted è majori cautela.

(o) Deponent's reasons for believing that the debtor is about to quit England must be, according to the fact, set out at length, that the judge may decide upon their sufficiency, see ante, "Ne exeat regno," p. 292.

(p) The affidavit is usually sworn before the officer who issues the process; but it may be sworn in Court or before a judge or commissioner of the Court.

Interpreter's Oath.

You swear that you will truly interpret and explain this affidavit to the deponent A. B.

So help you God.

As before observed no alteration seems to be made by the recent statute in the form or substance of the affidavit, except in the additional facts, constituting the probable cause of the defendant's being about to quit England. Requisites of affidavit.

Whether the part of the affidavit which states that the debt was due before and at the time of the commencement of the suit, be indispensably necessary or not, seems doubtful; in the precedent it is inserted e majori cautela.

It might have been, and may still be, made by the plaintiff himself, or by any third person who can swear to the debt; and if made by a third person, it is not necessary to show any connection between himself and the plaintiff(n). By whom made.

The affidavit must in general be positive as to the existence of the debt or cause of action, and not argumentative (o); but when it is impossible to swear positively to the debt, as where the plaintiff sues in autre droit (p), or as assignee of a bankrupt, swearing to his belief, or swearing "as appears by the bankrupt's books, and as he verily believes," it will be sufficient(q); so in the case of an assignee of a bond or the like, he may swear "to the best of his knowledge and belief"(r). So where the cause of action arose from the nonpayment of bills in India, the Must be positive. Exceptions.

parties swearing that they were not paid “to his knowledge and belief” in India or elsewhere, was holden sufficient (s).

Must show a good cause of action.

The affidavit must also show a good cause of action. Thus an affidavit for interest, without showing some express contract to pay interest, or that it is otherwise claimable as a debt, would be insufficient (t). An affidavit upon an agreement to marry the plaintiff under a penalty, not showing the consideration for the promise to the plaintiff, would be insufficient (u); so wherever it appears that there is a condition precedent to be performed before holding the defendant to bail, the performance of it must be stated (x); so an affidavit that the defendant is indebted to the plaintiff for goods sold and delivered, omitting to state “by the plaintiff to the defendant,” would be insufficient (y).

Must be so certain that perjury can be assigned upon it.

And the cause of action must be stated with such certainty that perjury may be assigned upon it if untrue; therefore an affidavit that defendant in indebted, instead of is indebted, is insufficient and bad (z).

Must be single.

The affidavit must be single, and must not contain two causes of action, which cannot be joined in the same declaration (a); but several offences committed by the same defendant under a penal statute may be joined (b).

Must correspond with the form of action pending.

The affidavit should also correspond with the form of the action then pending, that is, with the writ of summons previously issued (c).

By sect. 3 it is enacted (as regards the capias) that “it shall be lawful for such judge, by a special order, to direct that such defendant or defendants so about to quit England shall be held to bail for such sum as such judge shall think fit, not exceeding the amount of the debt or damages; and thereupon it shall be lawful for such plaintiff, within the time which shall be expressed in such order, but not afterwards, to sue out one or more writ or writs of capias, into one or more different counties, as the case may require, against any such defendant so directed to be held to bail, which writ of capias shall be in the form contained in the schedule to this act annexed, and shall bear date on the day on which the same shall be issued: provided always that the said writ of capias, and all writs of execution to be issued out of the superior courts of law at Westminster, into the counties palatine of Lancaster and Durham, shall be directed to the chancellor of the county palatine of Lancaster, or his deputy there, or to the chancellor of the county palatine of Durham, or his deputy there." Four points are observable in this, namely; 1. The amount for which defendant is to be held to bail; 2. The time of issuing a capias; 3. Its teste; 4. Its direction. All of which are so well explained in the section itself, as to need no further comment.

Charles, Lord Holland, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, to the Sheriff of Lancaster, greeting: We command you that you omit not by reason of any liberty in your bailiwick, but that you enter the same and take *C. Sect. 4 enacts, " that the Sheriff or other officer to whom any such writ of capias shall be directed, shall, within one calendar month after the date thereof, including the day of such date but not afterwards, proceed to arrest the defendant thereupon; and such defendant, when so arrested, shall remain in custody until he shall have given a bail bond to the Sheriff, or shall have made deposit of the sum indorsed on such writ of capias, together with 10*l.* for costs, according to the present practice of the said superior Courts, and all subsequent proceedings as to the putting in and perfecting special bail, or of making deposit and payment of money into Court instead of putting in and perfecting special bail, shall be according to the like practice of the said superior Courts, or as near thereto as the circumstances of the case will admit."

costs.

The writ, it will be observed, is executable for one calendar month from the date of it, including the day of such date and not afterwards. In this the capias under the 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110, differs from the capias under the 2 Will. 4, c. 39, the latter having been executable for four calendar months from the date of the writ, including the day of the date of the writ; but although valid for one calendar month, he must set about executing the writ in a reasonable time after it is delivered to him, and he must arrest the first opportunity (e).

Duration of writ.

It cannot be executed on a Sunday (f), except after a negligent escape when the defendant may be retaken on a Sunday (g). Bail also may take the principal on a Sunday (h). It may be executed at any hour, day or night (i).

When executed in Lancashire or Durham.	When the writ is to be executed in the county palatine of Lancaster or Durham, the Chancellor or his deputy, to whom the writ is directed (k), issues his mandate to the Sheriff, the Sheriff thereupon issues his warrant, and the arrest is made
Within a liberty.	thereon as in ordinary cases; if the writ is to be executed within a liberty, (as the writ contains a non omittus clause ,) no warrant to the bailiff of the liberty is required (l), for the Sheriff, and
Within a quillet.	not the bailiff, must execute the writ in such a case; if in a quillet (m), the same may "be deemed and taken to be part as well of the county wherein such district or place is situate, as of the county whereof the same is parcel; and every such writ and process may be directed accordingly and executed in either of such counties" (n).
Must be within Sheriff's bailiwick. Privileged places.	It cannot be executed in any other county, city or town than that to the Sheriffs or Sheriff of which it is directed (o), but it may be executed at any place therein, except in the following privileged places: the Tower (p), the Queen's Courts of justice while the Queen's justices are there sitting (q), within the verge of her royal palace (unless by leave of the board of Green Cloth (r)).
Arrest how made.	The arrest is usually made by corporal seizure or touch. Mere words will not suffice (s); but when the officer went into the room and fastened the door, telling him at the same time that he arrested him, it was holden a good arrest (t). A copy of the writ must be upon or forthwith (u) after the arrest delivered to the defendant; semble also, that the warrant must be produced (x).

The officer to whom the warrant is directed need not be the person actually making the arrest, nor need he be within sight when the arrest is made, but he must be acting in the arrest, for instance, he cannot stay at home and send another to make it (y).

As to the power to break open doors, windows, &c., the law thereon is so well expressed by Sir Michael Forster, in his Discourse of Homicide, (p. 319), that we give it in his own words:—

When outer doors may be broken open.

“ The officer cannot justify breaking open an outward door or window in order to execute process in a civil suit, if he do he is a trespasser (z). But if he findeth the outward door open, and entereth that way, or if the door is opened to him from within, and he entereth, he may break open inward doors if he findeth that necessary in order to execute his process (a).

Cannot be broken in executing civil process (that is) on arrest in the first instance.

Inward doors.

“ The rule that ‘ every man's house is his castle (b),’ when applied to arrests in legal process, hath been carried as far as the true principles of political justice will warrant, perhaps beyond what, in the scale of sound reason and good policy, they will warrant. But this rule is not one of those that will admit of any extension; it must, therefore, as I have before hinted, be confined to the breach of windows and outward doors intended for the security of the house against persons from without endeavouring to break in.

“ It must likewise be confined to a breach of the house in order to arrest the occupier, or any of his family who have their domicile, their ordinary residence there; for, if a stranger, whose ordinary residence is elsewhere, upon a pursuit taketh refuge in the house of another, that is not his castle, he cannot claim the benefit of sanctuary in it.

A stranger taking refuge in the house of another.

“ The rule is likewise confined to cases of arrest in the first instance; for if a man being legally arrested, (and laying hold of the prisoner and pronouncing the words of arrest in an actual arrest,) escapes from the officer and takes shelter, though in his own house, the officer may, upon fresh suit, break open doors in order to re-take him, having first given due notice of his business, and demanded admission and been refused (c).

In all cases where outer doors may be broken open a demand must be made by the officer. Demand in criminal cases.

“ And let it be remembered that not only in this, but in every case where doors may be broken open in order to arrest, whether in cases criminal or civil, there must be such notification, demand and refusal, before the parties concerned proceed to that extremity (d).

“ The rule already mentioned must also be confined to the case of arrest upon process in civil suits ; for where a felony hath been committed, or a dangerous wound given, or even where a minister of justice comes armed with process founded on a breach of the peace, the party's own house is no sanctuary for him ; doors may in any of these cases be forced ; the notification, demand and refusal before mentioned having been previously made. In these cases, the jealousy with which the law watches over the public tranquillity, (a laudable jealousy it is), the principles of political justice, I mean the justice which is due to the community, ne maleficia remaneant impunita, all conspire to supersede every pretence of private inconvenience, and oblige us to regard the dwellings of malefactors, when shut against the demands of public justice, as no better than the dens of thieves and murderers, and to treat them accordingly. But bare suspicion touching the guilt of the party will not warrant a proceeding to this extremity though a felony has been actually committed, unless the officer comes armed with a warrant from a magistrate grounded on such suspicion.”

Posse comitatus.

The Sheriff may, but it is not compulsory upon him to raise the posse comitatus in order to execute this writ (e).

Assignment (h) of Bail Bond.

I, the within-named Sheriff, at the request of the within-named plaintiff, in the county, &c. when the arrest was made being tendered; Lovell v. Plummer, 15 East, Rep. 320; (but for whose sufficiency the Sheriff is not answerable, 2 Saund. 61 b;) the Sheriff is bound to discharge him; ibid.; the number of sureties is unlimited—one or several; 10 Co. 101; 2 Saund. Rep. 61 c; Matson v. Booth, 5 M. & S. 223; see post, “Action for refusing to accept Bail.”

The security to the Sheriff must be by bond—(therefore an attorney's undertaking to the Sheriff is void; 1 Dowl. P. C. 261; as to an undertaking to the plaintiff, see Evans v. Moreley, 2 Dowl. 364;) the bond must be to the High Sheriff himself by the name of his office, Rogers v. Reeves, 1 Term Rep. 422; 7 Ib. 109; Lewis v. Knight, 8 Bing. 271. As to the condition of the bond, see Hurlstone on Bonds, 56; 1 Ch. Archb. 192; Rogers v. Reeves, suprà.

The Sheriff may take a bail bond on an attachment for contempt for non-payment of costs; Lewis v. Morland, 2 B. & A. 65; but not to an attachment out of Chancery, the 23 Hen. 6, c. 10, applying only to Courts of law; but in the latter case it is entirely in the Sheriff's discretion to take one or not, if so, it will be valid at common law, although not within the provisions of the statute; Morris v. Hayward, 6 Taunt. Rep. 569; 2 Marsh. Rep. 280, S. C.

In practice bail is generally taken in double the sum sworn to, but it should be taken for the sum indorsed on the writ and no more, 12 Geo. 1, c. 29, s. 2; Wingrave v. Godmond, 6 Car. & P. 66; the 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110, s. 4, does not affect the practice in this respect.

(h) The assignment may be made by the High Sheriff, or Under-sheriff in the name of his principal; Wright v. Barrack, 1 T. & G. 764; or it seems by a person acting in the Under-assign over to this bail bond pursuant to the statute . In

With regard to money deposited with the Sheriff in lieu of giving bail, the practice remains as before the 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110, s. 4, vide 43 Geo. 3, c. 46, by which this power was given. The Sheriff must, it seems, within the eight days after the arrest, pay the sum deposited into Court; which, if defendant duly puts in and perfects special bail, or renders himself, may be recovered on motion; no poundage or other fees can be deducted therefrom; Haines v. Nairn, 2 Dowl. P. C. 43.

Upon receiving a written discharge from the plaintiff or his attorney, the Sheriff is bound to discharge the person arrested without a bail bond, &c.; Martin v. Francis, 2 B. & Ald. 402; but he may detain him for his fees; 2 B. & Ald. supra; but the plaintiff's attorney cannot. Or,

The Sheriff may discharge the debtor without any bond for his appearance, for if he has him in his custody before the time limited for his appearance, or if after returning cepi corpus, and before the expiration of the rule to bring in the body, he put in and perfect bail, or render the defendant, he is not liable for an escape or false return; Pariente v. Plumtree, 2 Bos. & P. 35; sed quære, 1 Ch. Archb. 200, and cases cited; such render will not vacate the bond; Hodgson v. Mee, 3 Ad. & E. 765. If the Sheriff improperly discharge a defendant without a bail bond, &c., and be obliged to pay the plaintiff the amount of his debt, neither he nor his officer can maintain any action against the defendant for the money so paid; Pitcher v. Bailey, 8 East, Rep. 171; see post, "Action for not arresting when there was an opportunity," and for "carrying to a Tavern or to Prison within twenty-four Hours."

(i) The day of the arrest is the return day, Hodgson v. Mee, 3 A. & E. 765; 5 N. & M. 302, S. C., or if the same remains unexecuted, then at the expiration of one calendar month from the date thereof, or sooner if ordered, see "Writ of Capias," ante, p. 307; if the defendant does not appear to the writ according to the condition of the bail-bond, that is, if he does not put in special bail in due time, or does not perfect special bail in due time, the bond is forfeited, and the plaintiff may either take an assignment of the bail-bond or proceed against the Sheriff. The proceeding against the Sheriff is by rule or order upon him to return the writ, which by a general rule of all the Courts of M. T. 7 Will. 4, is in all cases (except in London and Middlesex) an eight day rule, and in London and Middlesex a four day rule, R. T. 6 Geo. 3; if bail have been Return that Defendant is in Custody.

On the day of , A. D. 1839, I took the within named C. D. and forthwith delivered to him a copy of this writ, and whose body is now under my custody in the county gaol at A.

The answer of G. A., Esq., High Sheriff.

Return of prior removal by Habeas Corpus.

By virtue of this writ to me directed I did on the day of take the within named C. D., and did safely keep him in her Majesty's prison in and for the county of W., until afterwards, to wit, on, &c. I received her said Majesty's writ of habeas corpus cum causâ commanding me to have the body of the said C. D. before the Right Honourable Thomas Lord Denman, at his chambers in Roll's Yard, Chancery Lane, London, immediately after the receipt of that writ: By virtue of which said writ, on the day and at the place therein mentioned I had the body of the said C. D. before, &c. who then received of me the body of the said C. D., and then committed him to the prison of the Marshal of the Marshalsea of our lady the Queen, and then wholly discharged me from further keeping him under my custody: Wherefore I cannot have the body of the said C. D. before our said lady the Queen at the day and place within contained as within I am commanded.

The answer of G. A., Esq., High Sheriff.

already put in but not justified, in order to compel a justification they should be excepted to and notice of exception served, and then rule the Sheriff to return the writ; if the Sheriff omits to do so he will be liable to an attachment. The plaintiff may proceed against the Sheriff notwithstanding a return within the eight days after the arrest unless he has also put in special bail, Hodgson v. Mee, 3 Ad. & E. 765. The plaintiff cannot proceed against the Sheriff when the arrest has been made by a special bailiff, Pallister v. Pallister, 1 Ch. Rep. 614; ante, p. 46; or where plaintiff has taken an assignment of the bail-bond, 2 Saund. 61 (e); or any security from the defendant without the privity of the Sheriff, 1 Ch. Arch. 204, and cases cited.

As to ruling the old Sheriff, vide 20 Geo. 2, c. 37, but under special circumstances the Sheriff may be ordered to return the writs, though long after the expiration of six months after the expiration of his office.

By rule of H. T. 1 Vict. it is ordered, "that judges orders to return writs (whether of mesne or final process), and to bring in the body, be drawn up without any affidavit."

In the counties palatine the order is made upon the Sheriff, and not upon the person to whom the writ is directed, 1 Sellon, 195.

(k) A return that the defendant is not to be found in my bailiwick is bad, Potter v. Simpson, 5 Dowl. P. C. 451; mandavi ballivo is not a good return to this writ, ante, 48; a rescue is a good return, Noy, 40; 1 Str. 432.

(l) The meaning of this return is that defendant is at large upon bail, Hodgson v. Mee, 3 Ad. & E. 765.

Essentials of affidavit to obtain discharge.

As to the mode of obtaining a discharge (whether on the ground of privilege or for any other cause it seems) it is enacted, "that it shall be lawful for any person arrested upon any such writ of capias to apply at any time after such arrest to a judge of one of the superior Courts at Westminster, or to the Court in which the action shall have been commenced, for an order or rule on the plaintiff in such action to show cause why the person arrested should not be discharged out of custody; and that it shall be lawful for such judge or Court to make absolute or discharge such order or rule, and to direct the costs of the application to be paid by either party or to make such order therein as to such judge or Court shall seem fit: Provided that any such order made by a judge may be discharged or varied by the Court, on application made thereto by either party dissatisfied with such order" (m).

I have not seen any affidavit in practice upon this clause; it is still matter of conjecture, therefore, whether the defendant's affidavit may enter into the merits of the cause of action, &c. or should be confined to the probable cause of the defendant's being about to quit England, or in the absence of authority to guide us, the latter seems the more correct view of the matter.

SECTION IX.

CAPIAS AD SATISFACIENDUM.

How affected by imprisonment for debt bill.

This writ alone of those in common use on mesne or final process has passed through the fiery furnace of change unscathed and unaltered.

Nature of writ.

It is a judicial writ, issued by a creditor after final judgment against the person of his debtor—the highest satisfaction the law can award to the creditor for his debt—of so high a nature, that when once executed no other process can be sued out against his lands or goods.

Writ(a) in Assumpsit and Covenant.

Victoria, &c. to the Sheriff of W. greeting: We command you that (m) 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110, s. 6.

(a) By R. H. 2 Will. 4, c. 75, it is ordered "that it shall not be necessary that any writ of execution should be

[you omit not by reason of any liberty in your bailiwick but that] you take C. D., if he shall be found in your bailiwick, and him safely keep, so that you have his body before us [or in C. P. "before our justices," or in E. P. "before the barons of our Exchequer,"] at Westminster, immediately after the execution hereof [or "on "], to satisfy A. B. £ , which in our Court before us [or in C. P. "before our justices," or in E. P. "before the barons of our Exchequer,"] at Westminster, were awarded to the said A. B. for his damages which he sustained, as well on occasion of not performing certain promises [or "covenants"] made by the said C. D. to the said A. B. as for his costs and charges by him about his suit in that behalf expended, whereof the said C. D. is convicted, as appears to us of record, and have you then there this writ. Witness, &c.

[Indorsed: "Levy £ . The defendant is a , and resides at No. , street. J. C. of No. , Furnival's Inn, plaintiff's attorney, the day of , A. D. ."]

Writ in Debt.

Commence ut supra, "to satisfy A. B. as well a certain debt of £ which, &c. recovered against him, as also £ which were adjudged to the said A. B. for his damages which he had sustained, as well on occasion of detaining the said debt as for his costs and charges by him about his suit in that behalf expended, &c."

Writ in Case, Trover, and Trespass.

signed; but no such writ shall be sealed till the judgment paper, postea, or inquisition has been seen by the proper officer; 3 B. & Ad. 385; 2 C. & J. 189; if left with the clerk of the judgments they may be obtained from him in order to get it sealed. So likewise the judge's certificate for immediate execution (if any) must be produced.

If issued from the Queen's Bench the place of abode and addition of the party against whom the writ is issued, or such other description of him as the attorney concerned for the plaintiff in the cause or his agent may be able to give, R. H. 2 & 3 Geo. 4, otherwise it may be set aside; see Constable v. Fothergill, 2 Dowl. 591; Clarke v. Palmer, 9 B. & Cr. 153; and the Sheriff is not bound to execute it, Henrick v. Nanney, 1 Dowl. P. C. 58.

If issued from the Court of Exchequer the name and address of the person issuing the same, also the day, month, and year in which the same shall be issued, must be indorsed, M. T. 1 Will. 4, r. 11.

If issued from the Common Pleas it must be subscribed or indorsed with the name of the attorney issuing the same, 2 Geo. 2, c. 23, s. 22; vide Constable v. Fothergill, 1 C. & M. 88, supra; Davidson v. Dunne, 4 Dowl. 119.

It may be tested on the day on which it issues and be made returnable immediately after the execution thereof, 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 67; if tested of a term previous to the judgment or when issued under the 1 Will. 4, c. 7, s. 13, if not tested on the day it issues, it is irregular, but it may be amended.

As to the levy, it may be indorsed thus: "Levy £ besides officer's fees," meaning the fees allowed in the "table of fees" hereinafter set forth; if the judgment was upon a warrant of attorney or cognovit the levy will depend upon the agreement of the parties.

As to the non omittas clause, vide ante, p. 48.

Victoria, &c. to the Sheriff of W. greeting: We command you, as oftentimes we have commanded you, that you take, &c.

Testatum Ca. Sa.

Victoria, &c.: Whereas by our writ we lately commanded our Sheriff of W. that he should take C. D. if he should be found in, &c. [as in original] and our said Sheriff of W. on, &c. returned to us [or "to our justices, &c." as the case may be] that the said C. D. was not to be found in his bailiwick: Whereupon, on behalf of the said A. B., it is testified in our said Court that the said C. D. wanders up and down and secrets himself in your county, thereupon we command you to take the said, &c. [ut suprâ.]

Victoria, &c. to the Chancellor of our county palatine of Lancashire or his deputy greeting: We command you that by our writ under the seal of our said chancellor to be duly made, and to be directed to the Sheriff of our said county, you cause the said Sheriff to be commanded that he take C. D. if he may be found in his bailiwick, and him safely keep so that you may have his body before, &c. [ut suprâ.] from arrest.

The persons privileged from arrest on mesne process have already been enumerated, and as a general rule they enjoy the same privilege on final process, except attorneys, infants (b), bail (c), and femes covert.

Note, if a ca. sa. be issued against baron and feme the Court will not discharge her (if taken) unless she has no separate available property (d).

arrest, return, &c.

heads under the capias already described, for the same law in general applies to each.

A Sheriff's officer, however, is not liable to the penalties of 32 Geo. 2, c. 28, s. 1, for carrying the debtor to prison within twenty-four hours; the statute applies to arrests on mesne process only (e). Debtor may be taken to prison immediately.

He must raise the posse comitatus and consequently a return of rescue is bad. Posse comitatus.

The Sheriff should not receive the debt and costs, for if he does, and before payment over to the plaintiff liberate him, it is an escape (f). Payment to Sheriff of debt no payment to the plaintiff.

If the ca. sa. be once executed (as before observed) no other execution can issue against the defendant for the same debt, for it operates as a satisfaction of the debt (g); if he dies, however, execution against his lands or goods may issue in the same manner as if no ca. sa. had issued (h). If once executed no other writ can issue, except, &c.

But although the effect of the arrest is a satisfaction of the debt as regards the person arrested, yet it is no actual satisfaction so as to bar the plaintiff from taking out execution against others liable to the same debt and damages (i); nor is it a satisfaction of the judgment when the ca. sa. is set aside for irregularity (k). No satisfaction as between others and plaintiff.

If the ca. sa. be not executed, the plaintiff may, upon a non est inventus returned, have an alias and pluries ca. sa. into the same county, or a testatum ca. sa. into a different county (l), or he may have any other writ of execution; this writ cannot issue after an elegit which has been executed. A ca. sa. and a fi. fa. may be running at the same time, but they cannot both be exe- Different writs.

cuted. Again, if the fi. fa. has been executed, no ca. sa. can issue until after the fi. fa. has been returned.

Return of writs of execution.

Writs of execution are never returned by the Sheriff, unless he be ordered or ruled so to do ; for the Sheriff may justify under these writs without showing a return of them, but in justifying under a writ on mesne process he must show its return (m).

Cannot refuse to execute writ until fees are paid.

An Under-sheriff cannot refuse to execute a ca. sa. until his fees are paid ; after payment he might be indicted for extortion, or before payment be liable in damages for not doing his duty (n).

Action for fees.

An action of debt lies for his fees for executing this writ (o).

SECTION X.

FIERI FACIAS.

Change introduced by the imprisonment for debt bill.

This writ has undergone great change in form and substance by the recent “ Act for abolishing Arrest on Mesne Process in Civil Actions, except in certain cases ; for extending the Remedies of Creditors against the Property of Debtors ; and for amending the Laws for the Relief of Insolvent Debtors in England (a). ”

Form of writs since.

By section 20 of the same statute, the judges are empowered to order new or altered writs to issue, as may be deemed necessary or expedient for giving effect to the provisions of the act ; it is to be regretted that the judges have not as yet thought fit to exercise that power by publishing new or altered writs, for it is extremely doubtful whether any other person can alter the writ so as to carry the provisions of the statute into effect, add to this the extreme difficulty of doing so, as will hereafter appear. The words immediately applicable hereto are, “ and that any existing writ, the form of which shall be in any manner altered in pursuance of this act, shall nevertheless be of the same force and virtue as if no alteration had been made therein, except so far as the effect thereof may be varied by this act."

In the absence, then, of judicial precedent for the writ, the following precedent is suggested :—

Writ (b).

Victoria, &c. to the Sheriff of W. greeting. We command you that [you omit not by reason of any liberty in your bailiwick, but that] you cause to be levied of the goods, chattels, money, bank-notes, cheques, bills of exchange, promissory notes, bonds, specialties and other securities for money, in your bailiwick, of C. D., the sum of £ , which, in our Court before us [or in C. P. "before our justices," or in E. P. "before the barons of our Exchequer,"] at Westminster, were awarded to A. B. for his damages which he sustained as well on occasion of the not performing certain promises as for his costs and charges by him about his suit in that behalf expended; whereof the said C. D. is convicted as appears to us of record, and have you that money before us [or "before our justices," or "barons,"] at Westminster immediately after the execution hereof, to render to the said *A. (b) As to the signing, sealing, return, indorsements, &c., vide ante, p. 317.

With regard to the form of the writ, except as to the subject-matter seizable under it, perhaps no valid reason for altering it can be assigned, for although "cause to be made" was said to mean by sale, Armistead v. Philpot, Dougl. 219, yet this was not universally true; Woolley v. Jennings, 5 B. & Cr. 135; the word "levied," however, seems now more appropriate than "made." With regard to the additional words after goods and chattels, it would be desirable if practicable to adopt some one generic term, as "effects" or "property," but as at present advised, I fear there is none sufficiently comprehensive to contain under it all matters leviable under the new statute; è majori cautela, therefore, the form suggested, should be used until the judges think proper to exercise the power given them of framing and issuing new writs.

With regard to the non omittas clause, vide ante, p. 48; as to forms of writs in debt, trespass, &c., vide ante, p. 317, which may readily be adapted to a fi. fa.

D.* had no goods, chattels, &c. in his bailiwick whereof he could cause to be made the damages aforesaid, or any part thereof. Whereupon on the behalf of the said A. B. it is testified in our said Court that the said C. D. hath goods, chattels, &c. sufficient within your bailiwick, whereof you may cause to be levied the damages aforesaid, or any part thereof. Therefore we command you that you cause to be levied of the goods, chattels, &c. in your bailiwick of the said *C. “ That from and after the passing of this Act, no Sheriff or other officer in England or Wales, shall, by virtue of any process of any Court of law, carry off or sell or dispose of for the purpose of being carried off from any lands let to farm, any straw threshed or unthreshed, or any straw of crops growing, or any chaff, colder or any turnips, or any manure, compost, ashes or seaweed, in any case whatsoever; nor any hay, grass, or grasses, whether natural or artificial, nor any tares or vetches, nor any roots or vegetables, being produce of such lands, in any case where, according to any covenant or written agreement, entered into and made for the benefit of the owner or landlord of any farm, such hay, grass or grasses, tares and vetches, roots or vegetables, ought not to be taken off or withholden from such lands, or which by the tenor or effect of such covenants or agreements, ought to be used or expended thereon, and of which covenants or agreements, such Sheriff or other officer shall have received a written notice before he shall have proceeded to sale.

No Sheriff or other officer shall sell or carry off from any lands any straw, chaff or turnips, in any case, nor any hay or other produce contrary to the covenant.

“ 2. And be it further enacted, that the tenant or occupier of any lands let to farm, against whose goods any process of law shall issue, whereby such goods may be taken and sold, shall, on having knowledge of such process, give a written notice to the Sheriff or other officer executing the same, of such covenants or agreements, whereof he or she shall have knowledge, and which may relate to and regulate, or are intended to regulate the use and expenditure of the crops or produce grown or growing thereon, and also of the name and residence of the owner or landlord of such lands; and such Sheriff or other officer shall forthwith, on executing such process, and before any sale shall have been proceeded in, send a notice by the general post to the owner or landlord of such lands, in all cases where such owner or landlord shall be resident in any part of this united kingdom, and shall have been made known to and ascertained by such Sheriff or other officer, and also to the known steward or agent of such landlord or owner, in respect of such lands, stating to such owner, landlord and agent, the fact of possession having been taken of any crops or produce hereinbefore mentioned; and such Sheriff or other officer shall, in all cases of the absence or silence of such landlord or owner, or his or her agent, postpone and delay the sale of such crops or produce until the latest day he lawfully can or may appoint for such sale.

Provided always, and be it further enacted, that such Sheriff or other officer executing such process may dispose of any crops or produce hereinbefore mentioned, to any person or persons who shall agree in writing with such Sheriff or other officer, in cases where no covenant or written agreement shall be shown, to use and expend the same on such lands, in such manner as shall accord with the custom of the country; and in cases where any covenant or written agreement shall be shown, then according to such covenant or written agreement; and after such sale or disposal so qualified, it shall be lawful for such person or persons to use all such necessary barns, stables, buildings, outhouses, yards and fields, for the purpose of consuming such crops or produce, as such Sheriff or other officer shall allot or assign to them for that purpose, and which such tenant or occupier would have been entitled to and ought to have used for the like purpose on such lands.

Sheriff may dispose of produce subject to an agreement to expend it on the land.

“ 4. And be it further enacted, that such Sheriff or other officer shall, on the request of any landlord or owner who shall be aggrieved by any breach of such agreement, permit such landlord or owner to bring any action or actions in the name of such Sheriff or other officer, for the recovery of damages in respect of such breach, such landlord or owner Landlords not to distrain for rent on purchasers of crops severed from the soil, or other things sold subject to agreement.

" 6. And be it further enacted, that in all cases where any purchaser or purchasers of any crop or produce hereinbefore mentioned shall have entered into any agreement with such Sheriff or other officer, touching the use and expenditure thereof on lands let to farm, it shall not be lawful for the owner or landlord of such lands to distrain for any rent on any corn, hay, straw or other produce thereof, which, at the time of such sale and the execution of such agreement entered into under the provisions of this Act, shall have been severed from the soil, and sold, subject to such agreement, by such Sheriff or other officer; nor on any turnips, whether drawn or growing, if sold according to the provisions of this Act; nor on any horses, sheep or other cattle, nor on any beast whatsoever, nor on any waggons, carts or other implements of husbandry, which any person or persons shall employ, keep or use on such lands, for the purpose of threshing out, carrying or consuming any such corn, hay, straw, turnips or other produce, under the provisions of the Act, and the agreement or agreements directed to be entered into between the Sheriff or other officer, and the purchaser or purchasers of such crops and produce, as hereinbefore are mentioned.

Sheriff not to sell clover, &c. growing with corn.

" 7. And be it further enacted, that no Sheriff or other officer shall, by virtue of any process whatsoever, sell or dispose of any clover, ryegrass or any artificial grass or grasses whatsoever, which shall be newly sown, and be growing under any crop of standing corn.

Proviso for contracts.

" 8. Provided always, and be it enacted, that this Act shall not extend to any straw, turnips or other articles, which the tenant may remove from the farm consistently with some contract in writing.

Sheriff not liable for damages, unless for wilful omission.

" 9. And be it further enacted, that in every case where any action shall be brought against such Sheriff or other officer, for any breach of or omission of compliance with the provisions of this Act, no plaintiff shall be entitled to recover any damages against such Sheriff or other officer, unless it shall be proved on the trial of such action, that such breach or omission was wilful on the part of such Sheriff or other officer.

Indemnity to Sheriff and others acting under provisions of act.

" 10. And be it further enacted, that no Sheriff or Under-sheriff, nor any or either of their deputies, agents, bailiffs or servants, nor any person or persons who shall purchase any hay, straw, chaff, turnips, grass or grasses, or other produce and things hereinbefore mentioned, under the provisions of this Act, nor his, her or their servant or servants, shall be deemed or taken to be a trespasser by reason of his, her or their coming upon or remaining in possession of any barns or other buildings, yards or fields, for the purpose of threshing out or consuming any straw, hay, turnips or other produce hereinbefore mentioned, under the provisions of this Act, or for doing any matter or thing whatsoever, fit and necessary to be done for the purpose of executing the same, and carrying into effect all stipulations contained in any agreement made under such provisions, though such acts shall have been done by such Sheriff or other officer, and by such person or persons, his, her or their servants, after the return of the process under which such Sheriff or other officer shall have acted.

of any insolvent debtor's estate, nor any assignee under any bill of sale, nor any purchaser of the goods, chattels, stock or crop of any person or persons engaged or employed in husbandry, on any lands let to farm, shall take, use or dispose of any hay, straw, grass or grasses, turnips or other roots, or any other produce of such lands, or any manure, compost, ashes, seaweed or other dressings intended for such lands, and being thereon, in any other manner, and for any other purpose, than such bankrupt, insolvent debtor, or other person so employed in husbandry, ought to have taken, used or disposed of the same, if no commission of bankruptcy had issued, or no such assignment or assignments had been executed or sale made."

The Sheriff may seize leases or terms for years, and, to use the words of Lord Kenyon, "it is impossible to suggest any possession of a certain term that is not the subject-matter of a seizure by the Sheriff under a feri facias (k); so a term acquired by marriage may be taken in execution for the husband's debt; so an annuity for years (l); and it seems that an outstanding term vested in a trustee upon trust to attend the inheritance may be seized in an execution against the cestui que trust, the owner of the inheritance (m); whether by the statute of frauds he can sell an estate pur autre vie has been doubted; the better opinion seems to be in the negative (n).

Any money, bank notes, (whether of the Governor and Company of the Bank of England, or of any other bank or bankers,) cheques, bills of exchange, promissory notes, bonds, specialties, or other securities for money, are expressly leviable by virtue of the twelfth section of the recent statute; this seems to import every security for the payment of money, that is, such as on the face of it imports to be a security for money; if so, guarantees and deeds placed with the defendant as a collateral security cannot be seized.

Money, bank notes, &c.

Having thus shown what things are seizable under a feri facias, it is next proposed to consider what are not. The Sheriff cannot seize fixtures in a house where the freehold is in the debtor (o); nor any thing fixed to the freehold and which go

It is likewise at the Sheriff's peril that he take the goods of any other person than of him against whom the writ is issued ; thus, goods legally vested in a trustee before marriage for the benefit of the wife cannot be taken in execution for the husband's debt, although they are actually in his possession at the time (x) ; nor the goods of a woman cohabiting with the defendant, although she passes for his wife (y) ; nor the goods of a trader who has previously become bankrupt (z) ; nor the goods of a testator or intestate for the personal debt of the executor or administrator (a) ; so when the growing crops of a tenant were seized under a fi. fa., and afterwards, but before any sale, a writ of possession on a demise prior to the teste of the fi. fa., was delivered to the Sheriff, it was holden that they did not belong to the tenant, as he was merely a trespasser from the day of the demise laid in the declaration, and therefore that they could not be sold (b).

Clergymen.

The Sheriff cannot seize the goods and chattels of ambassadors or other public ministers of foreign princes or states at this Court or their domestic servants (c) ; nor the goods ecclesiastical of clergymen—only the bishop (d).

When executed.

By 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 67, s. 2, "all writs of execution may be tested on the day on which the same are issued;" it does not say they must be tested on that day, therefore a fi. fa. on a judgment, signed after defendant's death in vacation, tested on the last day of the preceding term, was holden regular (g); so in another case the doctrine of relation was considered regular, quoad the teste of the writ of fi. fa. "The objection (says Tindal, C. Sale of terms for

On selling a term of years, it seems doubtful whether the purchaser, to obtain actual possession, is driven to his ejectment, or may enter without. I am inclined to think he may without, for a person who has a right of entry may enter peaceably, and being in possession may retain it, and plead that it is his soil and freehold (r).

In seizing partnership property, the Sheriff seizes the whole, and sells the defendant's undivided moiety therein, and the vendee will be tenant in common with the other partner (s).

Seizure of money, bank notes,
bills, notes,
&c.

With regard to money or bank notes, he must pay or deliver them to the plaintiff, or a sufficient part thereof.

With regard to cheques, bills of exchange, promissory notes, bonds, specialties, or other securities for money, he must hold them as a security for the amount to be levied, until payment of them to him, with or without suit. Note, he is not bound to sue any party liable upon any such cheque, &c., unless the plaintiff shall enter into a bond, with two sufficient sureties, for indemnifying him from all costs and expenses to be incurred in consequence thereof. Effect of the delivery of writ to the Sheriff and subsequent transfer.

What effect the delivery of the writ to the Sheriff has upon the property of the defendant a recent decision of the Court of Exchequer has placed in its true point of view (u). Mr. Baron Parke says, "it is perfectly clear to me, both upon decided cases and the reason of the thing, that after a writ of execution has been delivered to the Sheriff, the defendant may convey his property; but that the Sheriff has a right to the execution, notwithstanding the transfer. Since the Statute of Frauds, the right which was given to the Sheriff by the writ to seize property no longer speaks from the teste of the writ, but from the time of its delivery, upon the receipt of which the Sheriff is to levy; but subject to the execution, the debtor has a right to deal with his property as he pleases; and if he transfers it in market overt, the right of the Sheriff ceases altogether;" in other words, if the defendant transfers his property after the delivery of the writ to the Sheriff, which he may do, the Sheriff must execute the writ upon them, although in the hands of a bond fide purchaser; for by the delivery of the writ to him, the execution creditor obtained a quasi lien upon them, (for such is the legal import of the words binding the property when applied to the delivery of the writ to the Sheriff,) and had a right to follow them into whose hands soever they might pass, except the transfer took place in market overt, in which case the right of the Sheriff ceased altogether.

Sheriff must levy if sale was not in market overt.

It has been before observed that he must at his peril execute the writ upon the property of the person named therein (z); and upon this principle he must not execute it upon the property of a trader who has committed an act of bankruptcy; for it is now clear that a Sheriff who seizes and sells the goods of a bankrupt under a fi. fa. before fiat, but after an act of bankruptcy, without notice of the act of bankruptcy, is liable in trover to the assignees (a).

In case of a prior act of bankruptcy.

And upon the 7 Geo. 4, c. 57, (Insolvent Act,) the Sheriff was holden liable in trover for having sold, after notice of assignment to the provisional assignee, the goods of an insolvent taken in execution under a judgment on cognovit after the commencement of the insolvent's imprisonment, but before the assignment to the provisional assignee (b).

In case of insolvency and order of Court.

Executions more than two calendar months before fiat.

Note.—All executions bond fide executed or levied more than two calendar months before the issuing of the fiat are valid, notwithstanding any prior act of bankruptcy, provided the execution creditor has not, at the time of executing or levying, notice of any prior act of bankruptcy (c).

Executions within the two months.

As to executions within two calendar months of the date of the fiat, Baron Parke says, "the creditor who has issued execution on a judgment after verdict, though within the two months, is entitled to a preference if the seizure was before an act of bankruptcy, but when the judgment is by default or confession (not obtained adversely (d)), then, to entitle the creditor to a preference, there must have been a sale as well as a seizure.

Several writs.

If two writs of fiери facias against the same person are delivered to the Sheriff, he must execute that which was first delivered to him, unless the first writ or the possession under it were fraudulent (e); the goods, however, are bound by the second writ from the date of the delivery of it to the Sheriff, subject to the first execution (f); when the first was set aside by rule of Court, and the Sheriff paid the money to the defendant as he was ordered by the rule, he was holden liable to the plaintiff in the second action to the extent of the money levied on the first (g); should he seize under the second writ and sell, the sale will be valid, and the property pass to the vendee, but the Sheriff will be liable in damages to the execution creditor, whose writ was firstly delivered to him (h).

Fraction of a day inquirable.

The law admits of an inquiry into the fraction of a day (i).

(c) 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 81, applies to all executions levied more than two months before, &c. Sect. 108 applies only to executions on judgments by default or confession or nil dicit, when the seizure has taken place within two months, &c.

The bona fides of the execution seems an inquirable fact ; thus where goods were taken under a fi. fa., but colourably only to defeat a claim for freight, the Sheriff was holden liable (k). Intention of executing writ inquirable into.

If the defendant pays, or tenders the debt before execution, the Sheriff cannot do execution after, if he do, trespass lies (l).

Payment to the Sheriff is a good payment under this writ (m). Execution after tender or payment.

If any surplus remains in the Sheriff's hands, he may keep it until the defendant *demand*s it of him (n). Surplus how disposed of.

SECTION XI.

ELEGIT.

This writ has likewise undergone a vital change by the recent statute (a).

Elegit given by statute of Westminster.

The writ (be it remembered) was founded on the statute of Westminster 2, c. 18, (13 Edw. 1,) which enacted, "that when a debt is recovered or acknowledged in the king's court, or damages awarded, it shall be in the election of him who sues for such debt or damages to have a writ of fiери facias to the Sheriff for levying the debt of the lands and chattels, or that the Sheriff deliver to him all the chattels of the debtor (saving only his oxen and beasts of his plough) and a moiety of his land until the debt be levied by a reasonable price or extent."

Statute of Frauds as to trust estates.

The Statute of Frauds, 29 Car. 2, c. 3, (which subjected trust estates to execution against cestui que trust just as if he had been seised of the legal estate,) enacts, "that it shall be lawful for every Sheriff or other officer, to whom any writ or precept is directed, at the suit of any person or persons of, for, and upon any judgment, statute or recognizance, to do, make and deliver execution unto the party in that behalf suing of all such lands, tenements, rectories, tithes, rents and hereditaments as any other person or persons are in any manner seised or possessed in trust for him against whom execution is so sued (b), like as the Sheriff or other officer might or ought to have done, if the said party against whom execution is so sued had been seised of such lands, &c. of such estate as they are seised of in trust for him at the time of the said execution sued; which lands, &c. by force and virtue of such execution, shall accordingly be held and enjoyed, freed and discharged from all incumbrances of such person or persons as shall be so seised or possessed in trust for the person against whom such execution shall be sued," &c.

cuted and a new estate arose under the denomination of trusts, under the 27 Hen. 8, c. 10, this enactment became necessary.

more effectual remedies against the real and personal estate of their debtors than they possessed under the existing law, it is enacted, " that it shall be lawful for the Sheriff or other officer to whom any writ of elegit, or any precept in pursuance thereof, shall be directed at the suit of any person, upon any judgment which at the time appointed for the commencement of this act shall have been recovered, or shall be thereafter recovered in any action in any of her Majesty's superior Courts at Westminster, to make and deliver execution unto the party in that behalf suing of all such lands, tenements, rectories, tithes, rents and hereditaments of copyhold or customary tenure (c) as the person against whom execution is so sued, or any person in trust for him, shall have been seised or possessed of at the time of entering up the said judgment or at any time afterwards, or over which such person shall, at the time of entering up such judgment or at any time afterwards, have any disposing power which he might, without the assent of another person, exercise for his own benefit, in like manner as the Sheriff or other officer may now make and deliver execution of one moiety of the lands and tenements of any person against whom a writ of elegit is sued out; which lands, tenements, rectories, tithes, rents and hereditaments, by force and virtue of such execution shall accordingly be held and enjoyed by the party to whom such execution shall be so made and delivered, subject to such account in the Court out of which such execution shall have been sued out as a tenant by elegit is now subject to in a court of equity: Provided always, that such party suing out execution, and to whom any copyhold or customary lands shall be so delivered in execution, shall be liable and is hereby required to make, perform and render to the lord of the manor, or other person entitled, all such and the like payments and services as the person against whom such execution shall be issued would have been bound to make, perform and render in case such execution had not issued; and that the party so suing out such execution, and to whom any such copyhold or customary lands shall have been so delivered in execution, shall be entitled to hold the same until the amount of such payments and the value of such services as well as the amount of the judgment shall have been levied: Provided also, that as against purchasers, mortgagees or creditors, who shall have become such before the time appointed for the commencement of this act, such writ of elegit shall have no greater or other effect than a writ of elegit would have had in case this act had not passed."

The main features of the recent statute then are to extend the operation of the writ of elegit from a moiety of the lands, &c. to the whole; from freehold lands to copyhold and customary; and as to trust estates, to alter the period of time when the property was bound, viz. from the time when the writ of elegit was sued out to the time when judgment is entered up against the debtor.

Writ (d).

Victoria, &c. to the Sheriff of W. greeting: Whereas A. B. lately in our Court before us(e) at Westminster, by the judgment of the same Court, recovered against C. D. is convicted as appears to us of record; and afterwards the said A. B. came into our Court before us at Westminster, and according to the form of the statute in such case made and provided chose to be delivered to him all the goods and chattels of the said *C. The mode of executing this writ is as follows:—upon receipt of it, the Sheriff impanels a jury to inquire of all the goods and chattels of the debtor and appraise the same, and also to inquire as to his lands, tenements, rectories, tithes, rents and hereditaments, (the extent and valuation of the lands, &c. and the appraising of the goods must be by an inquest by the oath of Mode of executing writ.

SECTION XII.

EXTENT.

This writ is not in anywise affected by the statute of 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110. How affected by recent changes.

It is a writ of execution against the body, lands, and goods, or What it is.
the lands and goods of the crown debtor (a); and it is of two kinds—extents in chief, and extents in aid: an extent in chief Extents in chief and in aid.
is a hostile proceeding by the crown against a crown debtor, or against the debtor of a crown debtor, against whom also an extent in chief has issued; an extent in aid is when the extent is issued at the instance of a crown debtor against his debtor to aid his payment of the crown debt (b).

When by the inquisition debts are found and seized into the Queen's hands, the Queen, on an affidavit of danger, and a baron's fiat, may proceed by an immediate extent for their recovery, this is called an extent in the second degree; so when debts are found on an extent in the second degree, the crown may have an extent in the third degree and so forth (c). Extents in second and third degree, what.

Whence issued.
Teste, sealing, signing,
&c.

The writ of extent issues out of the equity side of the Exchequer upon the fiat of a baron. It is tested on the day it issues (d) by the chief baron, signed by the Queen's remembrancer, and sealed with the Exchequer seal; it is made returnable on a general return day in term.

Substance of writ.

The writ, after reciting the debt due to the crown, commands the Sheriff to take the defendant, and to inquire by a jury what lands and tenements, and of what yearly value, the defendant had on the day when he first became a debtor to the crown, or at any time since, [or in the case of a simple contract debt, what lands, &c. he now hath,] and what goods and chattels, and of what kind and value, and what debts, credits, specialties, and sums of money, the defendant or any person in trust for him or to his use, and all in his bailiwick, and to appraise and extend the same for the Queen; but not to sell the goods and chattels until he shall be otherwise commanded (e).

What seize-able under this writ.
Defendant's person.

The capias clause of the extent is not usually enforced (f); and a defendant in custody under an execution in aid, was ordered to be discharged, when the sheriff had also seized property more than sufficient to cover the demand (g). If arrested, he cannot be admitted to bail (h); a bankrupt may be arrested during his privilege, the crown not being bound by the Bankrupt Act.

Goods and chattels.

All the goods and chattels (i) of the defendant may be seized, excepting necessary victuals for the defendant and his family, and oxen and beasts of the plough (k); whether vested in the defendant legally in his own right (l), or held in trust for him (m); goods pawned or demised prior to the teste of the writ, (unless the lien be satisfied,) cannot be taken on an extent (n); goods which have been distrained for rent before the teste of the writ, but not sold, may be seized (o); goods of a bankrupt may be taken, if the writ be tested prior to the appointment of the assignees or provisional assignee (p).

The freehold lands of the defendant may be seized, and trust as well as legal estates; but copyhold not (q); an equity of redemption may be taken (r); or lands over which the crown debtor has a power of revocation (s); an extent against the lands and tenements only of the crown debtor, without including goods or chattels, seems irregular (t). Defendant's land.

Money in the defendant's possession; debts by simple contract or by specialty, although not due, the Sheriff must seize (u); it seems that on an extent in chief, the crown may seize debts found to be due to its debtor in infinitum; but on an extent in aid, not beyond the third degree, counting the Queen's debtor as one of the degrees (x). Money, debts, &c.

On receipt of the writ the Sheriff issues his summons to the defendant and to all his debtors to appear and disclose the nature and particulars of such debts before the inquisition (y); likewise to all other persons who can speak to the defendant's property, on pain of attachment (z); also he summons a jury of twelve men (it must be by inquest (a)), who find the value of the goods, &c. as also what other goods, &c. he had at the time the defendant became indebted to the queen, or at any time since: when the jury have found the facts, the Sheriff returns the writ, with the inquisition annexed, to the Court of Exchequer, whereupon a venditioni exponas issues for a sale of them. Mode of proceeding on receipt of writ.

Must be by inquest. What to be inquired into.

The Sheriff has no power by virtue of the extent to levy or receive the debts found on the inquisition, he is merely to seize them, which is a mere seizure in law; and upon the return of Venditioni exponas. As to debts, &c.

SECTION XIII.

INTERPLEADER ACT.

(1 & 2 Will. 4, c. 58. October 20th, 1831.)

At common law, if the property in goods taken under an execution was disputed, which frequently occurred in the case of bankruptcy, and not unfrequently between the crown and an How Sheriff relieved at common law.

(f) If lands, &c. are taken they must be properly described, and it should appear how they came to be the defendant's property. So if debts are found, it should be stated for what, as for goods sold, money lent, &c.; if bills or notes, their dates, by whom drawn, accepted, indorsed, &c. should appear, and how they became the debtor's property.

(g) The Sheriff may return non est inventus and that the debtor hath no goods or lands; Dalt, 234; or cepi corpus and the seizure of the lands; ibid.; or that the debtor is a clerk; Dalt. 23; or that the lands, &c. are already extended, or that another is in by descent, for that they are not to be put out of possession without a scire facias; Fitz. execution creditor, the Court, upon suggestion of these, or of any other reasonable doubt, would in general enlarge the time for making the Sheriff's return, until such right of property was determined between the claimants, or until one of the claimants had given him a sufficient indemnity (a); if the doubt arose from a point (b) of law, and not from mere matter of fact, the Court would in general interpose its equitable jurisdiction in his favour, where he acted (c) fairly, and was guilty of no neglect of duty; but where the doubt arose from mere matter of fact, (as the Sheriff might summon (d) an inquest to say whose property it was before he returned the writ,) that indulgence was granted only under special circumstances and in particular cases. Other hardships too pressed, and still do press, on the Sheriff, which do not prevail as between the claimants; he could not, for instance, nor can he, file a bill (e) of interpleader in equity, and the costs (f) of applying to the Court for enlarging the time for making his return, were not nor are they under the Interpleader Act in general allowed him.

By statute law.

Notwithstanding, however, by the above statute a more effectual relief is afforded to Sheriffs and other officers in such cases. Sect. 6 of which, after reciting that difficulties sometimes arise in the execution of process against goods and chattels issued by or under the authority of the said Courts, by reason of claims made to such goods and chattels by assignees of bankrupts, and other persons not being the parties against whom such process has issued, whereby Sheriffs and other officers are exposed to the hazard and expense of actions; and it is reasonable to afford relief and protection in such cases to such Sheriffs and other officers, enacts, officer made before or after the return of such process, and as well before as after any action brought against such Sheriff or other officer, to call before them by rule of Court, as well the party issuing such process, as the party making such claim, and thereupon to exercise for the adjustment of such claims, and the relief and protection of the Sheriff or other officer, all or any of the powers and authorities hereinbefore contained, and make such rules and decisions as shall appear to be just, according to the circumstances of the case; and the costs of all such proceedings shall be in the discretion of the Court."

The intention of this statute was to relieve Sheriffs and other officers (acting under the execution of process against goods and chattels actually taken or intended to be taken in execution, or to the proceeds or value thereof,) from the necessity of making any return to the writ, or, in case a return has been made, from the hazard of all actions which he would otherwise be exposed to; before the passing of this act, if he did not do his duty, he hazarded an expensive law suit, or if he did, he was equally in danger; to use the forcible language of Mr. J. Patteson, "he was between two fires."

Intent of Interpleader Act.

In arranging the decisions hereon, it may be proper to consider them in the following order :

Order of subsequent matter and decisions.

1. Those within the statute.
2. Those not within the statute.
3. Application, time of, &c.
4. The consequence of appearance or nonappearance of the parties.
5. Costs, &c.

The very foundation of an application under this statute is that a claim (g) has been made, and any thing short of a claim will not suffice; as for instance, the giving of a notice of a fiat of bankruptcy having issued (h); but if such claim is founded upon a lien (i) only, the Court will relieve the Sheriff; for although the statute would seem to have in view only those cases where the entirety of the property is claimed, yet a claim founded upon a lien has been holden within its purview, and the reason assigned is, for that a lien may be equal in value to the entirety; besides a claim of part will suffice, if the goods taken will suffice (k).

There must be a claim.

The nature of the claim, whether valid or not valid, legal (l) or

Nature of ther good or equitable, so as to entitle the Sheriff to relief under the statute, is a question of some nicety for him simply as an officer: it would probably have been the safest and best rule to have given him relief in all cases, without regard to its validity, or to its being a legal or an equitable claim, leaving that question to be decided by and at the cost of the claimants; for as to the degree of inquiry to be made to entitle him to relief, no line can well be drawn, varying as it must with the varying circumstances of each particular case, and the Sheriff will not unfrequently be induced to apply to the Court in hopes of finding relief against conflicting claims, and be told that he did not make sufficient inquiry into the nature of the claim, and therefore cannot be relieved. Thus in the case of Bishop v. Hinxman (m), on the Sheriff's officer going to the premises, he found a man in possession, who said "that he had taken possession of the farm on behalf of the mortgagees of the property, but that he had no orders with regard to the growing crops." A notice after this was given to the Sheriff by the mortgagee that he had taken possession of the growing crops as well as of the farm. The execution creditor not interfering, either by abandoning his fi. fa. or by acknowledging the claim of the mortgagee, Taunton, J. said, "I am of opinion that applications under this statute ought not to be considered as a matter of course. It is the duty of the Sheriff to make some inquiry before he comes to this Court. He is not to be spared all trouble and to abstain from making all inquiry; but when conflicting claims are advanced, on which he cannot decide, he may then come to the Court." * * I think the Sheriff should have known that the mortgagees, having taken possession of the lands, had prima facie taken possession of the crops. * * The judgment creditor did not object to the seizure of the mortgagees, and therefore there were no conflicting claims within the meaning of the act. If the judgment creditor had preferred a claim to the Sheriff, and desired him to take possession of the growing crops, the case would have been different." Assuming this case to be correctly reported, two essentials seemed in the learned judge's mind to be required to bring a case within the statute, namely, that the Sheriff should enter into the legality of the claim, to know what he could in law seize and what he could not, and, 2dly, that there should be conflicting claims, meaning a claim by the mortgagees, and a claim by the execution creditor insisted upon by him over and above that arising from the fieri facias per se (n). So in re the Sheriff of Oxfordshire (o), it appeared that a testatum fieri facias had been delivered to the Sheriff on the 30th October, under which he levied on that day. A claim was made on the 1st November, under a bill of sale of that date. Parke, B. "Before the Sheriff applied to the Court, he ought at least to have looked at the date of the bill of sale, and if he had done so, this application would probably have been unnecessary. The rule must be discharged, and the Sheriff must pay the costs of the execution creditor." In a later case, Coleridge, J. said to counsel for the Sheriff, "Have you had any communication on the subject with the execution creditor? Must not there be an actual dispute to entitle the Sheriff to assistance?" And it was said by the Court that "if the execution creditor should insist upon the goods being sold as the property not of a partnership, but of the debtor alone, the sheriff ought to have an indemnity."

(m) 2 Dowl. 166.

There must be conflicting or adverse claims.

The goods or money in dispute must be actually in his hands at the time of his application to the Court, to entitle him to relief (p). The circumstance of the goods seized being in the possession of a stranger (q) and of the defendant, against whom the execution issued, does not prevent the Sheriff applying. A person in actual possession of the goods (r) seized under a fi. fa. against the defendant, is a claimant within the act. And although the Sheriff has refused an indemnity, he is notwithstanding entitled to protection under the statute (s). And if he has a right to come to the Court while the goods are in specie, he has also a right to come after he has sold them (t). But in all these cases, the Court will protect the Sheriff only from the original seizure, and not from any subsequent misconduct (u); or according to another case (x), relieve him in respect of the adverse claims, but leave him to remain liable for any negligence

Goods or money must be actually in his hands at the time of the application.

Before or after action brought.

And as well before as after any action brought against the Sheriff or other officer (z).

Not within the statute.

The Court will not relieve the Sheriff under the act where he has paid over the proceeds of the execution to the judgment creditor (a), though he had no notice of any claim until after he had paid over the money (b); or though he may be willing to bring a similar amount into Court (c); nor where he has delivered any part of the goods to the claimant (d); nor where he accepts an indemnity (e); nor does the act apply to conflicting executions (f); for the writ will be a sufficient justification to the Sheriff for paying over the proceeds of the levy to the first execution creditor; and the notices signify nothing—it is a mere struggle for priority of claim; nor when he has seized goods in execution which were under a distress for rent, for it is the duty of the Sheriff to inquire whether the rent is due, and if it is, to satisfy it (g); nor when he withdraws from possession on a claim being set up, for he does not come to the Court intending to take the goods, but exercises his own discretion (h). So if the High Sheriff has any interest (i) on either side, or his Under-sheriff, (although the High Sheriff swears that he does not collude with him); as if the Under-sheriff (k) be the execution creditor, or partner in business of the execution creditor, the Sheriff is not entitled to relief under the Interpleader Act; and the same rule, it seems, will apply to his other (l) officers. Nor does the act apply to claims set up in consequence of proceedings in equity (m), as for instance, where parties who had filed a bill in equity against the defendant as executors of his father, and which parties laid claim to the property in question as part of the father's estate; holden, that it was not such a claim as could be noticed by the Court under this statute; nor to actions for unliquidated damages (n).

The statute under consideration, be it observed, contains no clause to prohibit the Sheriff from applying to the Court as before (if he thinks fit) to enlarge the time for making his return, and when he cannot have relief under the statute, he should move the Court for that indulgence (o).

A motion by the Sheriff for relief under this act must originate in Court, but cause may be shown at chambers (p). One Court cannot relieve him with respect to process issuing out of another Court (q). Therefore where process is issued out of different Courts and directed to the same Sheriff, the application must be made to the respective Courts out of which the process issued.

And where there is any delay it must be accounted for in his affidavit in the first instance, for no supplemental affidavit is allowable on showing cause (y). The Sheriff need not deny collusion with any of the parties (z) ; nor state that an application has been made either to the execution creditor or to the claimant for an indemnity (a).

No one has a right to be heard against the rule unless he is called upon by the rule, though he is in fact a claimant, and if he is called in one character he cannot appear in another (f). The claimants may appear without taking office copies of the affidavits on which the rule was obtained (g). Affidavits on showing cause may be sworn at any time before cause is shown (h). The nature and particulars of a party's claim, except that of an execution creditor (i), cannot be taken on statement by counsel, but must be by affidavit (k). In case the Sheriff and the judgment creditor appear, the former to support his rule, the latter to resist the adverse claim, and the adverse claimant does not appear, the Sheriff's rule is made absolute, and the adverse claimant is barred as against the Sheriff(r).

Summary settlement how obtained.

Without the consent of both the plaintiff and the claimant, the Court has no power to dispose of the case summarily (s). In the case cited, the summary jurisdiction was objected to by the execution creditor, and an issue was then directed to try the matter in dispute, the execution creditor being made plaintiff.

Costs.

Where execution creditor fails to appear.

Adverse claimant fails to appear.

“ The costs of all such proceedings shall be in the discretion of the Court (t). In the exercise of that discretion, the Courts have laid it down as a general rule, that if the execution creditor does not appear, he must pay the adverse claimant's costs (u); if the adverse claimant does not appear he must pay the execution creditor's costs (x); and that as regards the Sheriff he is not in general allowed costs; the reason assigned is, that he is not bound to come to the Court, and if he prefers so doing to taking an indemnity, that is no reason why he should have costs; again, it is considered that the statute is in itself sufficiently beneficial to Sheriffs (y). A better reason may possibly be drawn by analogy to the practice on applying to the Court to enlarge the time for making his return, when no costs are allowed him. But if both the execution creditor and the claimant fail to appear, the Court will order the Sheriff to sell so much of the goods as will defray his poundage and expenses of sale, and to abandon the remainder, and will protect him from all actions in respect thereof (z). Where all parties to the rule appear, and no blame appears to attach either to the execution creditor, the claimant, or the Sheriff, each party will have to pay his own costs attending the application (a).

Again, as the Sheriff is not entitled to receive, so he is not in general liable to pay costs, if he acts fairly (b). But where he does not act fairly, or is guilty of any laches in making his application as to time, or giving notices (c), or if he makes no inquiry into the nature of the claim set up (d), or does not pay the landlord his rent after proper notice (e), the Court will make the Sheriff pay the costs of the application, and likewise the costs of any security ordered to be given. On the other hand, where a claim is made by one on behalf of another to goods seized by the Sheriff in execution, and neither party appears to show cause, or either of them appears, and the claim does not appear a bond fide claim, both the Sheriff and the plaintiff are entitled to their costs from the claimant or his agent (f). Again, where the adverse claimant or execution creditor, after a rule absolute is made, on the first application appears and opens the rule, the Court will grant the Sheriff his costs of his second appearance (g).

When Sheriff pays.

When he receives costs.

Such expenses as he may incur as agent of the parties after his application, will be allowed (h), and any extra expenses he may have been put to by obeying the rule of Court directing an issue (i). But costs incurred by keeping possession in consequence of a party refusing to consent to a judge at chambers making an order in the case, no authority for that purpose being given by the statute, are not allowed the Sheriff (k).

When the Sheriff is agent of the parties.

In case the Court directs an issue, the costs fall on the party who fails (l); and the Court may adjudicate as to the costs of appearing to the Sheriff's rule, and of an issue directed to be tried under it, although the trial of it has already taken place; if it had not such a power, the act would be useless (m). ACTIONS AGAINST HIGH SHERIFF.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS.

Liability of High Sheriff for his Under-sheriff, bailiffs, &c. Respondeat superior does not apply to some public officers, but to Sheriff it does.

THE maxim of respondeat superior approaches nearly to universal truth, as applicable to the persons now under consideration. It is true that constructive negligence or misconduct arising from the acts of an agent has been holden not to attach upon some public officers (a), such as the postmaster-general (b), commissioners of the customs and excise, auditors of the exchequer, (a distinction in favour of those and some other public officers of ancient date,) yet, as will appear, the exception never did nor does include High-sheriff; but that for all civil purposes, wherein he acts ministerially (not judicially), the law looks upon him and his officers as one person (c), and for whose acts he is responsible to the world.

Civiliter, but not criminaliter liable, meaning of the terms.

It becomes then material to inquire how he is made responsible, and to what degree such his responsibility extends. In answer to the first question the language of Buller, J., in the case of Woodgate v. Knatchbull (d) is very forcible and clear. "This (says he) depends on the true meaning of an expression in the books that the Sheriff is answerable civiliter, but not criminaliter, for the acts of his bailiffs. So long ago as the case in Latchford the line was drawn with so much precision that it does not admit of any doubt. There it is explained to mean that the Sheriff shall not be imprisoned or indicted for the acts of his bailiff, but that an action lies against him by the party grieved for damages, and he shall be fined, so that he is not liable to any corporal punishment; but when it rests in damages, he shall make the party a pecuniary satisfaction." Thus much as to the nature of the proceedings against him for the misconduct of his officer.

Next, as to the extent of his liability: in order to define the same, the law of master and servant (the principles now under discussion being derived from that source) should properly be well considered and compared; but it is considered better simply to state in general terms that his liability is not confined to mere acts of negligence, (the utmost extent of a master's liability for the acts of his servant)(e), but extends to wilful acts, and even to such as would warrant a criminal prosecution, such as extortion and the like (f). Whether this difference in degree flows from the nature of the duties he has to discharge to the world, or from the security he takes or is supposed to take from his officers, which is not done in other cases—from one or both, seems unnecessary to determine; the latter, however, is more generally assigned by the Courts as the reason; such is the extent of his liability.

Extent of liability.

As a general rule of pleading, all actions for a breach of duty must be brought against the High Sheriff, whether it be for the default, extortion, or other misconduct, wilful or negligent, of the officer (g).

Action in general must be against High Sheriff.

There are, however, be it observed, some instances of misfeasance and malfeasance, for which the officer himself may be made defendant, as by the statutes against extortion, in like manner for a voluntary escape, or any act of trespass in executing process, for the officer thereby becomes an actual personal wrongdoer (h).

Again, to charge the High Sheriff at all, two things must concur—1st, he must be acting in a ministerial and not in a judicial (i) character; and 2dly, his officer must be acting under his authority, express or implied; an instance of the former proposition is reported in the case of Tinsley v. Nassau (k), when it was holden that he was not liable for the act of the bailiff in executing a warrant issued by him in his judicial character of judge in the County Court (l). The latter proposition too requires some instance or explanation, and herein of the acts of the officer not within the line of his duty, but subsequently assented to or adopted by the Sheriff in his return or otherwise. In the case of Underhill v. Wilson (m) the plaintiff's goods, farming stock, &c. having been seized under an execution at the suit of one P., the parties, with the assent of the officer, agreed that the latter should remain in possession for a certain period, and that the farm should in the mean time be managed by the plaintiff; and the Sheriff in his return took credit for the money laid out upon the farm; and an action was brought in his name by the Under-sheriff, wherein a sum of money was recovered upon a contract entered into by the officer with an incoming tenant for the sale of hay, &c., the receipt of which sum was admitted in a letter written by the Under-sheriff to the plaintiff's attorney: held, that this was sufficient evidence of an assenting by the Sheriff to the acts of his officer; and consequently that he and not the officer was liable to the plaintiff for the surplus proceeds of the goods, after satisfying the levy and expenses. In Crowder v. Long (n) D. (the officer) withdrew without the knowledge of the Sheriffs, but with the full knowledge and assent of the defendant: the Sheriffs were compelled in consequence of that misconduct of the officer so authorized by the defendant to pay to a third person the value of those very goods which they had already paid to the defendant. Lord Tenterden says, "It is quite clear that the Sheriffs are entitled to recover the money so paid to the defendant, unless at the time when such payment was made they were acquainted with the fact of the misconduct of their officer. I think that as between these parties the act of the officer is not to be considered the act of the Sheriff, so as to make the latter by implication parties to the misconduct of the officer; but that it was incumbent on the defendant to show that the Sheriffs had actual knowledge at the time when they made that payment." The legal inference deducible from this case is, that the knowledge of the officer is not necessarily the knowledge of the High Sheriff, and that the jury (whose province it is to determine the fact) will not, where the officer deviates from his line of duty at the instance of a third party, as between the Sheriff and such third party, conclude the former, without proof of actual knowledge of the officer's misconduct: as between him and others not parties to the laches of the officer, the knowledge of the one seems necessarily the knowledge of the other, without proof of actual knowledge of the officer's misconduct (o). Thus much as to acts not within the line of the officer's duty, but subsequently assented to or adopted by the Sheriff. The evidence necessary to connect the Sheriff with his officer in matters within the scope of his authority, and what amounts in such cases to a recognition by him as his officer, will hereafter be fully considered.

But he must be acting in a ministerial capacity.

With regard to a special bailiff, it has already been observed that no act of his will affect the High Sheriff, and simply because he is the servant of the plaintiff and not that of the High Sheriff (p); but note, if A., as the special bailiff of B. arrest C., the instant the arrest is made A.'s special character is at an end, and he is then, in contemplation of law, the bailiff or servant of him in whose custody C. is, namely, of the High Sheriff. Liability for acts of special bailiffs.

It has been already stated likewise as to bailiffs of liberties, that they are not the Sheriff's officers, consequently no liability attaches upon him for any thing done by them upon his mandate (q). Bailiffs of liberties.

No notice of action for any thing done by him in executing the process of the Court is required: "for by the law of England bringing an action is sufficient demand and notice, and whenever the contrary is the case, it is and must be matter of legislative enactment" (r). Notice of action.

It is next proposed to consider the different causes of action against him under their specific heads.

SECTION II.

ESCAPE.

When action will lie for escape.

An action will lie against the High-Sheriff for an escape on mesne process, final process, outlawry (a), or attachment, whether issuing out of a Court of law or equity (b).

Custody must be lawful.

Before entering upon the consideration of what amounts to an escape it must be premised that an escape necessarily implies an antecedent state of lawful custody (c); in Rogers v. Jones (d) the affidavit of debt was made before a deputy not duly appointed: Lord Tenterden says, "the arrest was not good, and as the party was never in lawful custody no action for the escape can be maintained against the Sheriff." In Brazier v. Jones (e) Bayley says, "in an action for an escape the plaintiff must aver and show in evidence not only the escape of the prisoner but that he was previously lawfully detained" (if specially traversed).

And in Viner's Abridgment it is said, "an escape cannot be on a tortious arrest, as where the arrest is in a wrong county" (f).

Sometimes, however, a doubt may be raised when a man is in a state of legal custody, thus, if an arrest takes place in a liberty; as the arrest, however, in such a case is legal, as against all the world but the bailiff of that liberty, an escape in law would be the consequence, if the party arrested were set at liberty by the Sheriff (g).

So if a prisoner is taken upon an erroneous judgment, in this case likewise he is in a state of lawful custody; but if taken on a void judgment, it is otherwise; and consequently in the latter case there could be no escape in law, in the former there could (h). Note, where a Court in which judgment is obtained has cognizance of the same, the judgment is only erroneous; but if the Court has no jurisdiction, it is void (i).

(i) Ibid.

So if A. being already in custody at the suit of B. and a writ be delivered to the Sheriff at the suit of D., by the delivery (k) of the writ A. is placed in a state of legal custody at D.'s suit, and an escape in law would follow if released, and D. might have his action against the Sheriff; in like manner as if the delivery of the writ had preceded in point of time A.'s arrest at B.'s suit (l).

And Morgan v. Bridges (m) seems to have proceeded mainly upon the same principle; in that case the Sheriff having a writ against G. B. arrested M. B. who was the real debtor, and at the time of contracting the debt had represented himself as G. B.: held, that the Sheriff having been informed of these circumstances while he had the real debtor in his custody was not bound to detain him, and therefore that an action would not lie against him for an escape.

Therefore this proposition of law may be safely laid down, that an escape must be preceded by a state of lawful custody.

An escape may be either voluntary or negligent, that is, with or without the consent of the Sheriff or his officer; it may be on mesne or final process, and in criminal or civil cases. From the consideration of these several heads of the subject, it will appear amongst other things what amounts to an escape in law.

Kinds of escape.

In arrest upon mesne process all that is required of the Sheriff is to bring the body of the defendant into Court on the day limited for the defendant's appearance (n), consequently the Sheriff or his officer may, if he will, discharge the defendant without taking a bail bond or any other security for his appearance; and if he afterwards retake him before the time limited for his appearance, or if (which is deemed tantamount) after returning cepi corpus, and before (o) the expiration of the rule to bring in the body, he put in and perfect bail or render the defendant, there is no escape. But if the Sheriff has not the defendant in actual custody at the time limited for his appearance, nor puts in and perfects bail, nor renders the defendant in due time, that is, before the expiration of the rule to bring in the body, there is an escape, for which he will be answerable (p); whether the putting in and perfecting bail after action brought, and before trial, would be a bar to such action is still an open question; it seems that it would be so, and that the only means the plaintiff has of preventing this is by opposing the justification or moving to set aside the rule of allowance (q). The Court will not in general allow the Sheriff to render the defendant after action properly brought against the Sheriff for an escape.

If a bond has been taken.

If a proper bail bond has been taken no action lies (r).

Parties to the action.

The plaintiff in the original action is the proper party to sue for an escape: the superior and not inferior should be defendant, except it be on a voluntary escape, when the inferior officer may be made defendant.

When there are two Sheriffs and one dies.

When there are two Sheriffs who suffer an escape and one dies the action lies against the survivor; or if pending the action one dies, the action survives (s).

Old Sheriff liable for omission in transfer list.

If the old Sheriff, at the expiration of his office, omit to turn over and transfer (t) a prisoner to the care and custody of the new Sheriff, he (the old Sheriff) is liable for an escape (u).

Liability of Under-sheriff in case of the death of High Sheriff.

By 3 Geo. 1, c. 15, s. 8, in case of the death of the Sheriff the under-sheriff is liable for escape after that time.

Heir and executor. Escape when there are two writs.

Neither the heir nor executor of the Sheriff is liable; whether an executor can sue for an escape in his testator's lifetime seems undecided, Mr. Chitty thinks he might do so (x).

If, while the defendant be in custody of the Sheriff in an action at the suit of A., a writ be lodged in the office of the Sheriff at the suit of B., and the defendant escape, A. or B. may sue for the escape (y).

Form of remedy.

For an escape on mesne process an action on the case is the only form of remedy against the Sheriff (z). This indeed at common law was the only remedy on final process, until the statutes of Westminster 2 (13 Edw. 1, c. 11), and 1 Rich. 2, c. 12, gave the cumulative or additional one of debt for escapes on final process (a).

As this action will now, in consequence of the new imprisonment for debt bill, be of such rare occurrence in practice, it would be to little or no purpose to give the pleadings—the form of declaration or the like, indeed to set down more than general observations thereon, leaving the rest to books of precedents.

Action of rare occurrence, why.

In his declaration the plaintiff must allege that he had a cause of action against the defendant in the original action (b), (the subject-matter of the debt and a promise to pay it is averred in the older precedents;) but in the modern forms it is alleged generally to be “for the sum of £—— upon and in respect of certain causes of actions before then accruing to the plaintiff against the said E. F. ;” and this general allegation is not only sufficient (c) but advisable, for if the nature of the original cause of action be misstated, as if it were stated to be for goods sold generally, and it appeared in evidence to be for goods sold on credit, the variance would be fatal (d). When the party proceeds in an inferior Court it should be stated that the debt accrued within the jurisdiction, though the omission would it seems be aided after verdict (e); then is stated the capias, the indorsement for bail, the delivery to the Sheriffs, and arrest; these must agree with the facts: a material variance would be fatal, to use the words of Lord Ellenborough, “the writ must speak for itself; I cannot hear that instead of A. B. mentioned in the writ, it was meant that the Sheriff should arrest X. Y. (f).” But when the variance is immaterial it is of no moment, as where in an action for an escape, the plaintiff declared on a writ of the king, and the writ produced in evidence was a writ of George the Third, but tested in the name of Best, C. J., and indorsed with the date of 1826, being in the reign of George the Fourth (g). So when the writ produced was indorsed “£24 and upwards, besides, &c.” the declaration stating the writ to have been indorsed for £24, it was deemed no variance (h). But it is superfluous to accumulate authority upon authority on this point, as it is quite clear that the judges have the same power of amendment in this case as in others, when the evidence and the record are at variance. In the breach it is stated, that he (the Sheriff) "on, &c. without the leave or licence, and against the will of the plaintiff, voluntarily suffered and permitted the said E. F. to escape and go at large wheresoever he would out of the custody of the now defendant." The allegation is of a voluntary escape, but under it a negligent escape may be given in evidence, and so vice versa (i).

If it be a voluntary escape the party escaping may be called to prove it (k).

Different counts.

It is usual, ever since the Rules of Hil. 4 Will. 4, and advisable to insert three counts in the declaration: 1st, for an escape; 2nd, for not arresting the defendant when there was an opportunity; 3rd, for not assigning the bail bond on request (l).

Pleas.

The Sheriff may plead the general plea of not guilty, which "operates as a denial of the neglect or default of the Sheriff or his officers, but not of the debt, judgment or preliminary proceedings," which if intended to be put in issue must be pleaded in denial (m).

What may be given in evidence under the general plea.

Pleas in denial, confession and avoidance.

Under the general plea then, since the above rule, the Sheriff (in order to show that there is no neglect or default of himself or officer) can only show that he has not, in point of fact, allowed the prisoner to go at large, and that all other matters of defence must be pleaded specially by way of denial, or confession and avoidance. That a proper bail bond was taken (n); or that although no bail bond was in fact taken, yet that bail was put in and perfected; or that the party rendered himself before the time for bringing in the body had expired (o); that the debtor was never in a state of legal custody (p); or in his custody at all, as if the arrest was by a bailiff of a liberty on a mandate from the Sheriff, in which case the bailiff alone is liable (q); or a rescue (r); (but if the rescue has taken place after the party has been within the walls of the prison, it will be no defence (s) at all except it be by the Queen's enemies,) re-capture and voluntary return (t); so if the escape takes place in consequence of the prison taking fire, the defence must be specially pleaded. In a word, any matter which in point of law justifies the debtor's being at large after the arrest, must be specially pleaded in one way or the other.

"The expression 'wrongful act alleged to have been committed by the defendant' (u), has given rise," says Mr. Roscoe, "to much discussion and considerable doubt, but it now appears that the word wrongful was made use of by the framers of the rule as descriptive of the act of which the plaintiff complains, and not as describing the quality of the matter intended to be put in issue. The rule is to be understood as declaring that 'not guilty' shall put in issue the act which the plaintiff affirms to be wrongful, and not as declaring that it shall put in issue 'the act and the wrong arising therefrom.'"

The plaintiff can recover in this action only such damages as Damages. he can prove he has actually sustained and a jury thinks fit to give him; if the whole is lost, the jury will give the plaintiff damages to that extent, together with what he has lost in costs, but small damages are often given on the ground that the debt is not extinguished, and that the whole amount may afterwards be recovered, notwithstanding the recovery against the Sheriff(x); but if the plaintiff prove his case he will, at all events, be entitled to nominal damages (y).

The evidence necessarily depends upon the issues raised on the record, and therefore general observations only can be made thereon; but assuming that the cause of action in the original Evidence if original cause of action be denied.

suit is put in issue, the plaintiff must establish in evidence that there was a debt due (z) to him from the party arrested at the time of the arrest (a); and if the cause of action be alleged in the declaration, a variance would be fatal (b), but the amount is not material (c). As a general rule, any evidence which would be admissible against the defendant in the original action will be evidence against the Sheriff (d), and therefore an admission of the debt by the debtor at any time before the arrest is good evidence against the Sheriff. Bayley, J. says, "it would be evidence if made before the escape," and after the arrest (e).

Evidence if writ be denied.

If the issuing and delivery of the writ to the defendant be denied, (if the process has been returned and filed,) an examined copy of the writ and return will be evidence of these facts (f); (if not returned) secondary evidence will be admissible after proof of notice to produce the original—of due search having been made at the proper office, and of its having been delivered to the Sheriff or Under-sheriff, or at the Sheriff's office.

The Sheriff must be connected with the officer who suffered the debtor to escape; as to the mode of establishing which, and the effect of admissions, as well of a bound bailiff as of the Under-sheriff, enough for the present purpose has been already stated (g).

Of escape.

The facts constituting an arrest have already been noticed (h).

The escape is proved by showing directly that the party was in the custody of the Sheriff or his officer, or else that the Sheriff returned cepi corpus, and that the party was at large after the return of the writ, and that bail has not been put in and perfected (i). In a recent (k) case, a return of cepi corpus, coupled with evidence of an answer received at a Sheriff's office, that no bail bond was executed, was considered evidence to go to the jury of the escape. Note—the return in that case was "cepi corpus et paratum habeo," and yet it was holden that the plaintiff was not concluded by the latter words from proving the escape by parol evidence that the prisoner was at large after the return and no bail bond lodged with the Sheriff.

In the case of Atkinson v. Mattison (l) it is said, that “ the only difference between an arrest on mesne process and in execution is this, in the former the bailiff may permit the prisoner to go at large provided he has him at the return of the writ, but in the latter case if the bailiff voluntarily permit the prisoner to go at large, though only for a minute, he cannot afterwards re-take him.” Of course the legal character of an escape differs as the exigencies of the writs differ; on the former he may go at large, because his appearance is its object; on the latter he may not go at large for ever so short a time, either before or after the return of the writs, because satisfaction of the debt is its object. But it is necessary to distinguish further escapes on mesne and final process.

Escape on final process distinguished.

If any general rule can be laid down it seems to be this, that whenever the prisoner in execution is in a different custody from that which is likely to enforce payment of the debt, it is an escape (m); as if he be in company with and under the controul of a follower of the Sheriff's officer before he be taken to prison (n), (but if the prisoner be taken to a lock-up house it is no escape (o)). If he be taken out of the jurisdiction it is an escape (p); or if the Sheriff receives the sum indorsed on the writ from the prisoner, and before payment over to the plaintiff liberate him, it is an escape, for a payment to the Sheriff is no discharge of the debt as against the plaintiff (q); so if he discharges a bankrupt on production of his certificate (r).

If baron and feme be taken in execution, and the feme be suffered to escape, an action will lie, though the baron continue in prison (s); so if there be a judgment against two persons in execution and one escape, the Sheriff will be liable for the whole debt (t).

SECTION III.

ESCAPE ON FINAL PROCESS.

action.

What has been said before as to parties to action for an escape on mesne process, in general applies to parties suing on final process; in addition, however, it must be here stated, that the nominal plaintiff in an action for mesne profits may sue for an escape on a judgment thereon (a); also a hundred may sue for an escape on a judgment obtained by them (b); and an administrator may sue in his own personal right for an escape on a judgment obtained by him as administrator (c).

Form of

For an escape on final process there are two forms of remedy by action, namely, the common law form in case (d), and the statutory form in debt; the latter of which is preferable when maintainable, as the jury cannot give a less sum than the creditor would have recovered against the prisoner, namely, the sum indorsed on the writ and the legal fees on execution (e); whereas in case he will recover such damages only as the jury may think proper to give him for the officer's misconduct (f); and, moreover, in debt the Statute of Limitations (h) is no defence; again, debt lies as well when the escape is negligent as when it is voluntary (i).

Declaration.

In the declaration the judgment (k) must be alleged, and, if traversed, proved in substance; an immaterial variance, as the stating it to be recovered in Easter instead of Trinity, or conversely (l), will not prejudice, for it may be rejected as surplusage (m) or amended (n); and though judgment be revived by sci. fa., it is unnecessary to state the judgment on the sci. fa. (o);

but a substantial variance will be fatal; thus stating the judgment of the Court of Queen's Bench to have been recovered "in the Court of the Bench," would be fatal (p); or to be on certain promises and undertakings, when it was only on a promise and undertaking, would, it seems, be bad (q). There is no occasion to refer to the record of the judgment by a prout patet per recordum (r). The issuing of the ca. sa. must also be correctly described, that is, in substance (s),—the indorsement to levy—delivery of writ to defendant as sheriff—caption of the original defendant.

Before the publication of the pleading rules of Hilary term, 4 Will. 4, the whole declaration was put in issue by the plea of "nil debet," and under it any defence was admissible, except a recaption or a voluntary return into custody. But by them, under the head "Covenant and Debt," it is declared that—plea.

2. The plea of "nil debet" shall not be allowed in any action.

3. In actions of debt on simple contract, other than on bills of exchange and promissory notes, the defendant may plead that "he never was indebted in manner and form as in the declaration alleged," and such plea shall have the same operation as the plea of non assumpsit in indebitatus assumpsit, and all matters in confession and avoidance shall be pleaded specially, as above directed, in actions of assumpsit.

4. In other actions of debt, in which the plea of "nil debet" has been hitherto allowed, including those on bills of exchange and promissory notes, the defendant shall deny specifically some particular matter of fact alleged in the declaration, or plead specially in confession and avoidance."

In the case of Faulkner v. Chevell (t), Littledale, J. thought that the joining of covenant and debt under one head showed that those actions of debt only were contemplated by the rules which have some kind of contract for their foundation, and it was intimated that the plea of not guilty (or nil debet) was still a good plea to a declaration on a penal statute. The plea of "nil debet," as tested by this rule, would appear to be a good plea ; however there seems little ground for contending that there is any contract or kind of contract for the foundation of the action, although all the books agree in placing the defendant in the situation of the original debtor ; again, the object of the framers of these rules was to take away the plea of nil debet, wherever it could be done. In actions on penal statutes, as in the case above cited, on the 22 Geo. 2, c. 46, s. 14, against a deputy clerk of the peace, for practising as an attorney at the sessions of the peace, and in the more recent case (u) in the exchequer, on the 2 & 3 Edw. 6, c. 13, s. 1, for penalties for not setting out tithes, the framers of the rules had not the power to take away the general plea, and simply because the statute of 21 Jac. 1, c. 4, s. 4, gave the power of pleading it in such actions, and giving the special matter in evidence under it ; in actions for an escape there is no statute giving the general plea of nil debet or not guilty ; and in this consists the difference. The fair inference therefore is, it seems, sanctioned by the more recent case, that the framers of the rule had the power to take away the plea of nil debet in all cases whether founded upon contract or not, except in cases where a defendant then was or thereafter should be entitled to plead the same, and give the special matter in evidence under it, by virtue of any act of parliament then or thereafter to be in force.

pleas.

A retaking on fresh pursuit must be specially pleaded and verified by affidavit (x). A voluntary return before action brought is equal to a retaking on fresh pursuit, and must be specially pleaded (y). It must appear on the face of the plea that such recaption or return was before action brought, otherwise the plea would be demurrable (z). It must also appear that the defendant was in prison from the time of such recaption or return to the commencement of the action against the Sheriff, or until the defendant's legal discharge (a) ; if the declaration alleges (as it usually does) that the escape was voluntary, recaption on fresh pursuit is a good plea without traversing that the escape was voluntary, as plaintiff must show in his replication that the escape was voluntary, if he means to rely on that fact (b). If the defence be, that the escape arose from inevitable accident, or the Queen's enemies, or any other matter which excuses the Sheriff in point of law, it must be specially pleaded.

As to evidence enough has been already stated for all practical purposes (c), except as to the judgment; and with regard to it, the evidence necessarily depends upon the plea pleaded—whether nul tiel record is pleaded or not (d); if nul tiel record is pleaded, the record itself if a record of the same Court must be produced; if of another Court superior or inferior, it is proved by the tenor of the record certified under a writ of certiorari; if nul tiel record is not pleaded, the record is proved by exemplification or by an examined copy.

Evidence specially of nul tiel record.

In this form of action (as before stated) the jury cannot give less than what the creditor would have recovered against the prisoner, namely, the sum indorsed on the writ, and the legal fees of execution.

Damages.

The Sheriff's remedy against the party escaping, when he has sustained damage, is by action on the case against him for such damage; but note, if the escape was voluntary, the Sheriff has no means of reimbursing himself.

Sheriff's remedy against party escaping.

SECTION IV.

FOR NOT ARRESTING WHEN THERE WAS AN OPPORTUNITY.

What constitutes an arrest in law has been already stated (a). What constitutes an arrest, what constitutes.

The form of action for a breach of duty of this nature is an action on the case, and the declaration is, in matters of inducement, &c. similar to those already noticed for escapes, to the end of the statement of the delivery of the writ to the Sheriff, and then proceeds as follows:

(b) 1 Vent. 211.
(c) Ante, p. 368.

(d) Vide Tidd, 801.
(a) Ante, p. 310.

Form of remedy.

" And the plaintiff saith that the said E. F. at the time of the delivery of the said last mentioned writ to the defendant, so being such Sheriff as aforesaid, and from thence, to wit, for one month then next following, was within the said Sheriff's bailiwick, and the defendant as such Sheriff, at any time during that period, could and might and ought to have taken and arrested the said E. F. by virtue of the said last mentioned writ, at the suit of the plaintiff, if he would so have done, whereof the now defendant during all that time had notice; yet the now defendant not regarding, &c. did not nor would at any time whilst the said last mentioned writ was in full force, (although often requested so to do,) take or cause to be taken the said E. F. as by the said last mentioned writ he was commanded, but then wholly failed and made default [and (b) the said E. F. did not cause special bail to be put in for him in the said action in the said Court of _____, according to the exigency thereof, or otherwise observe the requisites of the said writ, but then wholly failed and made default] whereby," &c.

Pleas.

The Sheriff's duty and breach of duty here alleged are that " he could and might and ought to have taken and arrested the said E. F. by virtue of the writ;" but that he did not take him, or cause him to be taken as herein commanded.

The general plea of not guilty, therefore, as it operates " as a denial only of the breach of duty, and not of the facts stated in the inducement," simply puts in issue the fact of the Sheriff's neglect to arrest when there was an opportunity; all other pleas in denial must take issue on some particular matter of fact alleged in the declaration, and pleas in confession and avoidance must be specially pleaded.

The term opportunity, as used, may appear prima facie equivocal, at all events to require some explanation, more especially as one might from some (c) authorities be inclined to infer that without express notice of the debtor's being in the defendant's bailiwick, and when or where he was to be found, the Sheriff was guilty of no breach of duty; notice too is usually averred in the declaration, which in some degree supports this doctrine; but in the case of Hereford v. M'Namara (d) the declaration was specially demurred to, because of the omission of an averment of notice, and it was held unnecessary.

most effectual way (e). If, therefore, a party against whom he holds a writ does not abscond, but continues in the daily exercise of his usual occupation, appearing publicly as usual, is visible to every person that comes to him about business, and the bailiff neglects to arrest him, upon proof of these facts, without proof of express notice to him of such information as will enable him to identify and arrest, the Sheriff is liable in damages for a breach of duty.

Evidence.

A bound-bailiff is not a competent witness for the defendant to prove that he endeavoured to make the arrest (g).

The plaintiff is only entitled to such damages as the jury think fit to give him, and such as he can prove to have actually sustained by the Sheriff's neglect; but if plaintiff prove his case, he will be entitled to nominal damages.

SECTION V.

FOR NOT ASSIGNING BAIL BOND.

Bail bonds were not assignable at common law, but now if one be taken upon process at common law, the Sheriff is bound by the statute of 4 Anne, c. 16, s. 20, on the request and cost of the plaintiff or his attorney, to assign it, and if he refuse to do so, he is liable to an action on the case (a).

Bail bonds
assignable.

action.

As this action will necessarily henceforth be of rare occurrence in practice in consequence of the abolition of arrest on mesne process except in certain cases, it would be useless to do more here respecting the declaration, &c. than refer to the books of precedents wherein they are to be found (b); premising only, that the breach of duty alleged in the declaration is, the refusal to assign the bail bond when requested so to do, and on having the costs of the assignment offered to him.

Plea of not guilty, effect of.

The plea of not guilty therefore as at present restricted, simply puts in issue these facts; all other pleas in denial must take issue on some particular matter of fact alleged in the declaration, and all matters in confession and avoidance be pleaded specially.

Of the issues, when the original debt, the issuing and delivery of the writ, the arrest, &c. are traversed, nothing more need be said.

If the giving the bail bond be in issue, notice to produce it should be given, and the service of such notice proved.

Evidence.

If the general plea be pleaded, a demand and refusal must be proved, and it would seem a tender of the costs of assignment, for a tender of costs seems a condition precedent, but the authorities do not seem to go so far as to require proof of this.

Damages.

The plaintiff is only entitled to such damages as a jury think fit to give him; but if he prove his case, he will, at all events, be entitled to nominal damages.

SECTION VI.

FOR CARRYING TO TAVERN OR TO PRISON WITHIN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS.

Debt for Penalty on 32 Geo. 2, c. 28.

As appears by the preamble of the statute (1759), so grievous and oppressive had the conduct of gaolers and inferior officers, in the execution of process for debt, become towards their distressed prisoners, that the legislature felt bound to interfere, and throw its mantle of protection around them; with this humane intent it was enacted, (amongst other things), "That no Sheriff, under-sheriff, bailiff, serjeant at mace, or other officer or minister whatsoever, shall at any time or times hereafter convey or carry, or cause to be conveyed or carried, any person or persons by him or them arrested, or being in his or their custody, by virtue or colour of any action, writ, process or attachment, to any tavern, ale-house or other public victualling or drinking-house, or to the private house of any such officer or minister, or of any tenant or relative of his, without the free and voluntary consent of the person or persons so arrested or in custody, * * * nor shall carry any such person to any gaol or prison within twenty-four hours from the time of such arrest, unless such person or persons so arrested shall refuse to be carried to some safe and convenient dwelling-house of his, her or their own nomination or appointment, within a city, borough, corporation or market town, in case such person or persons shall be there arrested; or within three miles from the place where such arrest shall be made, if the same shall be out of any city, borough, corporation or market town, so as such dwelling-house be not the house of the person arrested, and be within the county, riding, division or liberty in which the person under arrest was arrested; and then and in any such case it shall be lawful to and for any such Sheriff, or other officer or minister, to convey or carry the person or persons so arrested, and refusing to be carried to such safe and convenient dwelling-house as aforesaid, to such gaol or prison as he, she or they may be sent to by virtue of the action, writ or process against him, her or them." Penalty 50*l.*, with treble costs of suit, (over and above such penalties or punishments as he or they shall be liable unto by the laws now in force.)

There must be a refusal.—It is a condition precedent to the right of the officer to take his prisoner to gaol within twenty-four hours from the time of the arrest. A refusal may be in many ways, a prisoner may nominate and then refuse to go, or he may refuse to nominate, or he may nominate and go, and then refuse to stay (a). A mere omission (b) or neglect to do an act is not a refusal, that word implies something more; neither is a mere submission. In one case (c) the officer said, "you will go with me to the Granby," his prisoner said "very well," and it was holden not to be a refusal within the meaning of the statute, only a mere submission to the will of one who did not give him, at least inform him that he had, a choice of place for a limited time. The officer should have said, "you have the choice of going to any dwelling-house for the next twenty-four hours to see your friends, where shall I take you to," or something of the like import.

There must be a refusal.

(c) Dewhurst v. Pearson, 1 Cr. &

M. 372.

Respecting the place nominated.

With respect to the place nominated, it is quite clear that the officer has a right to exercise his judgment as to its safety and convenience, otherwise a house might be nominated where a rescue was easy. The words "safe and convenient" dwelling-house are to be understood as safe and convenient for the Sheriff, not for the prisoner (d). Again, officers are not bound to take prisoners to any house to which they wish to go for any purpose their caprice may dictate, as to an attorney to consult him, but only to a safe and convenient dwelling-house for the purpose of remaining there during the twenty-four hours allowed by law; an insinuation has been thrown out that an attorney's house, even for the purpose of remaining there, is not a safe and convenient dwelling-house within the meaning of the statute, but upon what grounds does not seem quite clear; an attorney might be the only friend through whom the debt could be satisfied or bail given, and that his being accidentally an attorney should preclude a prisoner of his friend's assistance seems an odd conclusion, if not in direct contravention of the statute itself; moreover, for the Court to decide so would seem to involve a somewhat harsh inference regarding one of its own officers.

The twenty-four hours cannot be abridged.

This space of twenty-four hours cannot be abridged of an instant of time; therefore the putting a prisoner into any state of being carried to prison before every instant of the time is expired, as the putting him upon a coach or the like, cannot be justified; for if it could be so abridged, the prisoner would not have the twenty-four hours, only a part of them, and in many cases the whole of the time might be consumed in carrying him thither, and thus the statute be wholly defeated (e).

Form of remedy.

The action is in debt at the suit of the party aggrieved, to recover the penalty of 50*l.* (f), with treble costs of suit, in any of her Majesty's Courts of Record at Westminster.

SECTION VII.

REFUSING TO ACCEPT BAIL.

On the 23 Hen. 6, c. 9.

The statute requires Sheriffs, &c. to let to bail all manner of persons "in their custody by force of any writ, bill or warrant in any action personal, or by cause of indictment of trespass upon reasonable sureties of sufficient persons, being sufficient within the counties where such persons be so let to bail, &c." (a)

Remedies against Sheriff.

By force of this statute if the defendant tender sufficient sureties, that is, persons having sufficient (b) within the Sheriff's bailiwick, and the Sheriff refuse to accept them, he is liable to an action on the case, (but not in trespass, for the refusal does not make him a trespasser ab initio,) or he is liable in a qui tam action of debt for the penalty of 40*l.* given by the statute.

Declaration.

The action on the case is by the party aggrieved, and a precedent of the declaration may be found in East's Reports (c); it states that he was duly in custody of the defendant by virtue, &c. which writ was indorsed for bail for £ , and that the plaintiff so being in the custody of the defendant, &c. on the same day, &c. tendered to the defendant, so being such Sheriff as aforesaid, reasonable sureties of sufficient persons, to wit, of A. B. and C. D., and the same being then and there responsible and sufficient persons, having sufficient within the county of C., in which said county the plaintiff was arrested, and so in custody as aforesaid, to become bail for the appearance of the plaintiff before our said lady the Queen, &c. on &c.; yet the defendants not regarding, &c. wrongfully and injuriously refused to accept the said sureties so offered by the plaintiff as bail for his appearance on, &c.

Pleas.

The breach here assigned is the refusal to accept the offered bail; the plea of not guilty therefore simply puts in issue the fact of refusal, and all other pleas in denial must take issue on some material fact, and all matters in confession and avoidance be specially pleaded. If, for instance, the sufficiency of the tendered bail be in question, that part of the declaration alleging their sufficiency must be specially traversed, and so forth.

If the declaration be in debt (d) for the penalty, the general plea of "nil debet" may be pleaded, and the special matter be given in evidence under it (e). Pleas in debt.

SECTION VIII.

EXTORTION.

To understand rightly the nature of the crime of extortion, it is of the first importance to know what fees are allowed by law and what not.

FEES are interpreted to mean the perquisites allowed to officers in the administration of justice as a recompence for their labour and trouble; ascertained either by acts of parliament, by the judges of the superior Courts, or other persons named by the legislature for that purpose; or by custom, which gives them an equal sanction with an act of parliament (a). Fees, definition of.

At common law an officer concerned in the administration of justice is entitled to no fee for doing his duty (b); and so inflexible is this principle, that all prescriptions contrary to it are said to be void (c); and as regards the fees now under consideration, this fundamental maxim of the common law is confirmed by the statute of Westminster 1, c. 26, which, Lord Coke says, was made in affirmance of the common law. By that statute it is enacted, "that no Sheriff shall take any reward to do his Fees at common law.

office, but shall be paid of that which they hold of the King, and he that so doth shall yield twice as much, and be punished at the King's pleasure." And in commenting on this statute in his Institutes, he says, "that at this day they can take no more for doing their office than has been since this act allowed to them by authority of parliament; but as the common law gave no fees to Sheriffs, they became backward in executing writs by reason of the great danger in taking desperate men as well as in detaining them for fear of escapes; whereupon parliament thought fit to grant them fees in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, which they have had until this day" (d).

By statute law.

Since that period of time until the reign of her present Majesty, these fees were mainly ascertained and regulated by the following statutes;—as regarded them on mesne process, the 23 Hen. 6, c. 9, and its cumulative enactment, the 32 Geo. 2, c. 28, s. 12; on final process, the 28 Eliz. c. 4; on crown debts, the 3 Geo. 1, c. 15, ss. 3, 17; on extents and liberates, the 8 Geo. 1, c. 25; and the 43 Geo. 3, c. 46, s. 5, as to levying poundage fees, &c. &c.

It is to be regretted that the legislature, while professing to amend and consolidate the law, did not expressly repeal all the statutes theretofore in force, instead of leaving it to be extracted by dint of litigation whether they are so by implication or not; however, our aim being to expound the law as it is, and not as it should or might be, we proceed, without further comment, to show the effect of the recent enactment, and the remedies now in force against extortion by virtue of it.

How the old statutes are affected by 1 Vict. c. 55.

It will be observed, that the only one of the several statutes above alluded to expressly repealed as regards these fees, is that of 23 Hen. 6, c. 9; a question then as to the residue necessarily suggests itself; are they by implication (e) repealed, or is the recent enactment cumulative (f)? With the exception of the 32 Geo. 2, c. 28, and the 43 Geo. 3, c. 46, none seem to be now in force, and simply for this reason, because they contain a table of fees inconsistent with the present, and as the table fails so likewise the penalty necessarily fails; but not so of the 32 Geo. 2, c. 28, for the words of it are, "any other or greater sum or sums of money than is or shall be by law allowed"; the act containing (d) Latch. 18; Cro. Eliz. 654, pl. 15; Dew v. Parsons, suprà.

(f) Sharp v. Warren, 6 Price's Rep. 131.

no table or other specified quantum of Sheriff's fees, but only of gaoler's (g) fees; being so, the new enactment is but a cumulative enactment to the 32 Geo. 2, as the latter was considered to be to that of the 23 Hen. 6, and that an action is still maintainable on the 32 Geo. 2 by the party aggrieved, for the penalty of 50*l.* and treble costs of suit, "for taking any other or greater sum or sums of money than is or shall be by law allowed." As to the statute of 43 Geo. 3, c. 46, s. 5, it is enacted thereby, "that from and after * * * in every action in which the plaintiff or plaintiffs shall be entitled to levy under an execution against the goods of any defendant, such plaintiff or plaintiffs may also levy the poundage, fees and expenses of the execution over and above the sum recovered by the judgment;" whensoever then the execution is against the goods of the defendant, the poundage, fees and expenses, according to the table hereinafter mentioned, (there being nothing inconsistent with the above clause in the statute of Victoria,) may be levied by the plaintiff as heretofore. Such, it is submitted, is the present law, whatever was the intention of the legislature thereon.

The following is the statute of 1 Vict. c. 55, (15th July, 1837,) 1 Vict. c. 55. intituled, "An Act for better regulating the Fees payable to Sheriffs upon the execution of Civil Process."

"Whereas it is expedient to amend the laws relating to the fees payable to Sheriffs, Under-sheriffs, Deputy-sheriffs, Sheriffs' agents, bailiffs, and others the officers or ministers of Sheriffs in England and Wales, and to give the Courts of Record at Westminster Hall a due control over such fees; and also to provide a summary remedy against such officers and others as shall extort or receive other or greater fees than by law they shall be entitled to: and whereas divers enactments touching the said officers, contained in certain ancient statutes, have become inconvenient, and ought to be repealed:" Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in this present parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, that so much of an act passed in the forty-second year of his late Majesty King Edward the Third, intituled Estreats shall be showed to the Party indebted, and that which is paid shall be totted: no Sheriff, &c. shall continue in Office above a Year, as relates to the time during which Under-sheriffs and Sheriffs' clerks may abide in their respective offices; and also an act passed in the first year of the reign of his late Majesty King Henry the Fifth, intituled Sheriffs' Bailiffs shall not be in the same Office in Three Years after: Sheriffs' Officers shall not be Attornies; and also so much of an act passed in the twenty-third year of the reign of his late Majesty King Henry the Sixth, intituled

6. And be it enacted, that this act may be amended, altered or repealed by any act to be passed in the present session of parliament.

Extortion, definition
of.

Having thus ascertained what fees are by law allowed to Sheriffs in the execution of civil process, &c., it becomes more easy to comprehend and define the offence of extortion.

EXTORTION in a large sense denotes any oppression under colour of right; but it is usually (as here) applied to that abuse of public justice, which consists in the unlawful taking of money or valuable thing by any officer colore officii (h) from another, when none at all is due, or not so much is due, or before it is due: "extortio est crimen quando quis colore officii extorquet quod non est debitum vel quod suprâ debitum vel ante tempus quod est debitum" (i). The distinction between bribery and extortion seems to be this: the former offence consists in the offering a present, or receiving one if offered; the latter, in demanding one by colour of office.

Refusing to execute writ until fees are paid
extortion.

This being the definition and nature of the offence, it follows that if an Under-sheriff refuse to execute a ca. sa. or fi. fa. &c., unless his fees are paid, the High Sheriff will be liable in damages for not doing his duty; or after taking the fees, because taken before due, the officer so taking them will be guilty of extortion (k); so likewise it is extortion to take a bond for his fee before execution is sued out (l); or to admit a prisoner to bail upon an agreement to receive a certain sum when the prisoner should pay to a third person another sum of money (m); or the taking any thing of any person for the sparing, not warning, or not returning him to serve as a juryman or otherwise at the assizes, sessions of the peace, or at any other Court; or the taking of money or other reward for omitting to arrest or attach another, or for any other omission of duty, is extortion; so if the Sheriff or gaoler detains one in prison (after being duly discharged) for meat, drink, or other thing, except for their lawful fees only, it is extortion.

stances of

For extortion on final process, it was usual for the party grieved to declare in debt on the 28 Eliz. c. 4, for treble damages, thus : For extortion on final process.

To the special count the defendant may (it being on a penal statute)(u) plead "nil debet," and give the special matter in evidence under it, and its effect is, if pleaded, to put the plaintiff in proof of all the material allegations in his declaration in the first instance.

Evidence.

To establish the defendant's extortion (the other allegations having been already considered) plaintiff should produce a proper table of fees. In Martin v. Bell (x), where there was no table applicable to the fees in question, it was holden that evidence of the allowance by the officer of the Court upon taxation was prima facie evidence of what was allowed by law: and this evidence would seem, on reference to the words of the statute of Victoria, sufficient at this day without the production of a table of fees (y).

removal of such goods from off the said premises by virtue of such execution or extent, pay to the landlord of the said premises, or his bailiff, all such sum or sums of money as are or shall be due for rent for the said premises at the time of the taking of such goods or chattels by virtue of such execution, provided the said arrears of rent do not amount to more than one year's rent; and in case the said arrears shall exceed one year's rent then the said party at whose suit such execution is sued out, paying the said landlord, or his bailiff, one year's rent, may proceed to execute his judgment as he might have done before the making of this act; and the Sheriff, or other officer, is hereby empowered and required to levy and pay to the plaintiff as well the money so paid for rent as the execution money."

Amount to be paid to landlord.

By 11 Geo. 4 and 1 Will. 4, c. 11, the statute is extended to process by pone per vadios out of the Court of the county palatine of Durham (a).

Upon this statute of Anne it has been decided that the immediate landlord, but not a ground landlord, is intended (b); that an executor or administrator (c) is entitled to the benefit of the statute as to arrears due to the testator in his lifetime (d); that a trustee of an outstanding satisfied term assigned in trust to attend the inheritance is within its provision (e); and that the statute extends to an execution at the suit of a defendant for costs, as well as to that of the plaintiff (f). It has also been holden that goods seized under a capias utlagatum are liable for a year's rent (g). It seems that under a sequestration issued out of the Court of Chancery the landlord is entitled to be paid arrears of rent (h); but that a fiat in bankruptcy is not an execution within the meaning of the act (i); and goods seized under an extent in aid are not liable to a year's rent (j).

Cases within the statute.

The statute is not confined to an original demise of entire premises, but applies as well to a sub-lessee and to goods taken in execution on part of the subject-matter of the original demise (k). The money claimed must be due as rent, and due for a year immediately preceding the execution (l). Rent stipulated by the lease to be paid in advance is not due at the time of the seizure, within the meaning of the statute of Anne (m). The landlord is entitled to his rent without any deduction for poundage (n), which the Sheriff must levy in the first instance (o); he is entitled to a full year's rent even although he has been used to remit some portion of it to his tenant (p); but only one year's rent is to be paid, although there are two executions (q). The statute is confined to rent due "at the time of the taking," therefore for rent which accrues after the taking, and during the continuance of the Sheriff in possession, no claim can be made upon the Sheriff: thus, a Sheriff who takes corn in the blade under a fi. fa. and sells it before the rent is due is not liable to the landlord under the statute, that is, for rent accruing subsequently to the seizure and sale, although he has given notice and although the corn be not removed from the premises until long afterwards (r). Again, the statute contemplates a subsisting tenancy at the time of the execution, therefore no claim can be made upon the Sheriff for rent which has accrued due since the day of a demise laid in an ejectment for the same premises; for by bringing ejectment the landlord treats him as a trespasser and not as a tenant (s). Again, the statute applies only to cases when the judgment creditor claims adversely to the landlord, and not where the execution is sued out at the instance of the landlord himself (t).

Notice of landlord's claim.

In order to render the Sheriff responsible for noncompliance with the act he must have notice of the landlord's claim; as to the nature of the notice the rule deducible from these authorities seems to be, that no specific notice is required by the statute, for the notice to the Sheriff is only for the purpose of establishing beyond doubt his knowledge of the landlord's claim ; and if that knowledge can by any other means be brought home to him at any time before he has parted with the money he will be liable (u). If the execution be overreached by an act of bankruptcy and fiat, the Sheriff, in an action by the assignees, can only avail himself of payment to the landlord by proving that it was made before notice of the fiat issued (x). In case of bankruptcy.

A bill of sale taken on a fi. fa. is a sufficient removal of the goods within the statute (y). Bill of sale a removal.

It may happen that the goods on the premises are not sufficient to satisfy the year's rent, if so, upon notice or knowledge of the fact of arrears of rent, he must withdraw ; if he chooses to sell, the Court will not stay proceedings in an action against him on paying over the proceeds of the sale (z). Where not sufficient on premises to satisfy landlord.

The landlord's remedy against the Sheriff is,

1. By action on the case (a).

Form of remedy.

Or 2. By application to the Court for the amount of the goods sold.

Note, An action for money had and received will not lie against the Sheriff for the year's rent before or after sale (b).

The declaration (by the party grieved) states the subsisting tenancy—the arrear of rent claimed—the levy—notice to the defendant before removal—and breach of duty—viz. that the defendant “ wrongfully, injuriously and deceitfully removed and carried away the said goods and chattels so taken as aforesaid from and out of the said messuage and tenement, with the appurtenances, without paying or satisfying the plaintiff the said arrears of the said rent so due and owing, and in arrear to him aforesaid, or any part thereof, contrary to the form of the statute in that case made and provided, &c.” Declaration.

Pleas.

The plea of "not guilty" as at present restricted simply puts in issue what is contained in the above averment, namely, the fact of removal without satisfying the year's rent—and all other matters, the occupation—arrears of rent as alleged—the writ—or notice must be denied, and all other matters in confession and avoidance specially pleaded (c).

Evidence.

To prove the rent due (if denied) the tenant himself may be made a competent witness by a release (d); but in Harrison v. Barry (e) it was holden sufficient to prove the occupation by the tenant: and that it lies on the Sheriff to show that the rent has all been paid.

Proceeding
by motion to the Court.

2. By motion to the Court (f): which is an application to the equitable jurisdiction of the Court to have restitution to the amount of the goods sold if less than a year's rent, if more, then to have so much as will satisfy a year's rent: indeed this seems to be the only remedy, (independently of its being a more speedy one under any circumstances,) when the removal takes place before notice of there being rent due; for, upon motion, the Court will relieve the landlord at any time while the proceeds remain in the Sheriff's hands (g).

SECTION X.

FOR FALSE RETURN.

General observations on the nature of returns.

Before entering into the details of the action for a false return, a few general observations upon the character of returns may not, perhaps, be deemed here out of place.

A return is the Sheriff's answer or certificate to the Court, touching that which he is commanded to do by any writ directed to him (h); it is in its nature general or special; if general, it is usually indorsed on the writ itself: if special, it is commonly engrossed on a distinct schedule or piece of parchment, and annexed to the body of the writ, at the same time indorsing these words on the writ, "the execution of this writ appears in a certain schedule hereunto annexed."

The Sheriff must set his surname and christian name to a return, so that the Court may know of whom it took the return, if need be (i); it is not necessary that it be set sua propria manu, it may, and is in general, if not always, done by the Under-sheriff; but all returns must be in the name of the High Sheriff, and if his name be omitted he is at all events punishable if the return be not absolutely void (k). Where there are two persons, as in counties corporate, the names of both must be set thereto, for in law they constitute but one officer (l): so if a return be by coroner or elizors (m), all must sign it (n); but if the writ be directed to coroners generally and not nominatim, the return may be made by the survivors in case of death, for the survivors are coroners (o); but aliter in the case of Sheriffs: if the Sheriff die, the Under-sheriff, before a new appointment, must return the writ in the name of the deceased Sheriff (p). Form of, and by whom made.
In the case of death.

A new Sheriff may make a return of a writ directed to his predecessor in office, because it is directed to one as Sheriff, and not by this or that name (q). In the case of a new appointment.

The certainty required in returns (superseding all notice of Lord Coke's (r) definition and division of certainty) is not in degree such as the law requires in pleadings, or in writs, or in indictments (s); in short, if the whole command of the writ be shown to be performed in substance it is sufficient (t); as captus est to a capias, attachiatus est to an attachment, without saying where, by whom, or how; so if it refers to the writ without repeating the words of it (u); surplusage will not vitiate a return. But although as to certainty of form a laxity prevails, as com- Certainty of form.

pared to that required in pleadings, &c. yet it must in substance be an answer to the whole writ (x), and must be positive, not equivocal or evasive; for instance, a panel with nine names or less than required is bad (y); or nulla bona, or non est inventus prout ei constare poterit would be bad for uncertainty, he should return nulla bona or non est inventus directly (z). In replevin, if the Sheriff returns that he could not deliver the goods "quia visum inde habere non potuit," the return is bad for uncertainty, because he does not say that he came to the place (a): again, upon an habere facias seisinam, a return that the party non prosecutus est breve, is bad for uncertainty (b). So a Sheriff's return upon an extendi facias, that he has delivered such land, without saying that there is no other land, is bad (c); so a return to a latitat, that the defendant was found insane and so ill that he could not be moved was considered defective, for omitting to state that he continued so until the return of the writ (d); so to a fi. fa., returnable Oct. Mich., a return that the defendant had no goods at Mich. is bad, for non constat but that defendant had goods at Old Mich. (e)

contradict former returns.

Again, a return must not in general contradict his own former return, or that of his predecessor in office; nor falsify the writ or the record: nor be against the confession of the party (f).

Insufficient returns,
how aided.

Insufficient returns are aided by appearance (g); or they may be amended by the Court (h), even after an attachment granted against the Sheriff for not bringing in the body, and semble, at any time; but if the previous return be substantially correct, the Court will not grant an amendment (i).

The return of a Sheriff is of such high regard that generally no averment shall be admitted against it (k) ; but when a man's life or inheritance is in jeopardy, the return is not conclusive ; as if A. be outlawed for felony, he may say that he tendered surety before the fifth county court (l). The principle deducible from the authorities seems to be, that in the same action the return is conclusive, but that in any other action, or in an action against the Sheriff, it may be shown that such return is false (m) : or in the same action it may be averred that the person making the return is not Sheriff (n). The return of a devastavit is not conclusive against an executor (o) ; and where the Sheriff returns that the defendant is dead, the return is not conclusive (p). When third parties are concerned the return is prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated (q).

conclusive
parties.

The Sheriff generally speaking is concluded by his own return ; but where he said in his return that the goods seized were C.'s, (C. having then a defeasible title, but which was afterwards defeated by relation to a prior act of bankruptcy,) it was holden that he might afterwards show more facts, and thereby in effect that they are not the goods of C. (r), for he acted upon the best information he could obtain at the time, and made his return accordingly ; such is the reason assigned by the Court : but no general rule seems deducible from this case : some weight (besides other peculiar points in the case) seems to have been attached to the fact of the plaintiff's notice of C.'s insolvency at the time the writ was issued to the defendant (the Sheriff) : nor is it easy to see that the position is in anywise elucidated by the preceding case in East's Reports (s).

How far a bailiff of a liberty.

Whether the bailiff of a liberty is concluded by a Sheriff's return is not quite clear: the better opinion seems to be that he is, and that his remedy is over against the Sheriff (x).

Proceeding when there is no return or an insufficient one.

Where no return or an insufficient return is made, (for an insufficient return is as no return (y),) the Court will grant an attachment against the Sheriff, and it seems that he would be liable to an attachment for returning an insufficient return of a bailiff of a liberty (z); but he is not liable to an action for making no return to a writ (a). On a mesne process the Sheriff may be ruled to bring in the body (b).

False return.

If the return of the Sheriff be false, he may be amerced (c), or an action on the case at common law may be maintained against him by the party aggrieved (d).

By action.

An action is the proper mode of trying the truth or falsity of a return. The Court will not do so on a motion to set aside the proceedings (e).

Right of action, how and when waived.

The plaintiff waives his right of action for false return by accepting money under the return (f); and when the Sheriff returned "nulla bona," after satisfying the landlord's claim for rent and the taxes, and the plaintiff assented to his quitting possession of the premises, and sued out a ca. sa., it was holden that he had waived his right of action for a false return to the fi. fa., however unfounded the claim for rent might turn out to have been (g); but an action lies against him for a false return to a fi. fa., notwithstanding the plaintiff, before commencing the suit, has charged the original defendant in execution (h). An executor may maintain an action on the case for a false return to final process (i).

states (the venue being transitory) the judgment, issuing of writ, indorsement of writ, delivery to the defendant, the levy, and breach thus (k): "Yet the defendant, so being such Sheriff of the said county of R. aforesaid, not regarding his duty as such Sheriff, but contriving, &c., had not the said monies so levied as aforesaid, or any part thereof, before our said lady the Queen [or if in C. P. "before the justices of the bench"] at Westminster aforesaid, according to the exigency of the said writ, and of the said indorsement so made thereon as aforesaid, but therein wholly failed and made default, nor hath he paid the said sum of £ , or any part thereof, to the plaintiff; and the now defendant, after the said levy, to wit, on, &c., falsely and deceitfully returned to the said Court of our said lady the Queen, upon the said writ, that the said E. F. had not any goods or chattels within his bailiwick, whereof he could cause to be levied the debt and damages aforesaid, or any part thereof," &c.

With regard to the matters of inducement, (when specially denied, and therefore in issue,) enough may be collected from preceding observations(l): but as regards the general plea of "not guilty," from its great practical importance it seems prudent to repeat as often as possible, the rule from which its present effect and extent is derived, and by which its application in practice must be now tested by the pleader. The rule states that "in actions for an escape, it will operate as a denial of the neglect or default of the Sheriff or his officers, but not of the debt, judgment or preliminary proceedings." It becomes then material to inquire, what is the neglect or default alleged in the preceding precedent within the meaning of the rule. In two recent cases this point has undergone great consideration and discussion before the barons of the exchequer. In Wright v. Lainson (m) the declaration was verbatim as the one set forth above; the breach of duty alleged consisting of two parts, first, his not having the money ready; and, secondly, his making the return alleged; there was the simple plea of "not guilty;" and the defendant

(the Sheriff) sought to give in evidence under it that they had not committed any breach of duty, for that they had not levied on the goods of the defendant in the original action, he having become a bankrupt; in other words, it was contended that the quality of the return—its truth or falsehood—was in issue upon this plea; but it was holden that the only matter in issue upon the plea was the fact of the Sheriff having the money in his custody, and his making such return as was alleged in the declaration, namely, the return of nulla bona, and this is recognized and confirmed by the more recent decision of Lewis v. Alcock(*) ; in that case the inducement, which pointed to the duty of the Sheriff, was, that the writ was delivered to him, and that there were goods of the debtor within his bailiwick, whereupon his duty to seize them arose; then the breach was, that he did not use due diligence to make the levy, and that he returned nulla bona. There was the simple plea of not guilty, and under it the Sheriff wished to give in evidence that G. the debtor, against whom the execution issued, had no goods, (he having transferred them by bill of sale to one L.,) and therefore that the return of nulla bona was true, and that consequently there was no breach of duty; but it was holden that the question could not be raised under this plea; Alderson, B. observing, that “the falsehood of the return is the conclusion of law, if the facts stated in the inducement are true: not guilty puts that fact in issue, which is wrongful, if the facts stated in the inducement are true;” from this cursory review of the rule, and its judicial construction, it will, it is submitted, be clear what is the true effect and extent of the general plea of not guilty as at present restricted, and also (which perhaps is of equal practical magnitude) how the quality of the Sheriff’s return, that is, its truth or falsehood, is to be raised in issue on the record; the falsehood of the return is the conclusion of law, (as before observed,) if the facts stated in the inducement are true. In Wright v. Lainson then the defendant (the Sheriff) ought to have simply denied that part of the inducement which states “the seizing and taking in execution divers goods and chattels of the said J. Hayes,” and in Lewis v. Alcock the allegation of “divers goods and chattels of the said H. Gompertz, being within the defendant’s bailiwick, whereof,” &c. In the one case the bankruptcy, before the execution of the fi. fa., in the other the validity of the bill of sale, would have been directly in issue, and the property of the goods seized would have been settled thereon: upon the affirmative or negative decision of which depended the Sheriff's breach or no breach of duty, as a necessary conclusion of law; and by parity of reasoning, in case for a false return on mesne process of "non est inventus," the plea of not guilty would simply put in issue the fact of making the return alleged, that is, that the said E. F. was not found in the bailiwick of the defendant, and that the truth or falsehood of the return, if intended to be disputed, must be raised by a denial of the inducement.

If in issue, the plaintiff must show that the party had goods within the bailiwick when the writ was delivered, of which the Sheriff had notice, or might, by using due diligence, have had notice (o). When the fi. fa. was alleged to be against the goods of A. and B., and the proof was that they were the goods of A. only, the evidence was deemed sufficient (p). When the Sheriff defends his return of nulla bona on the ground that the debtor was the domestic servant of an ambassador, the plaintiff may show that the appointment was fraudulent (q), or that the assignment of the goods before execution was fraudulent (r); or (s) that a prior judgment was fraudulent (the Sheriff indemnified or not indemnified.) If properly raised on the record, the Sheriff may show that the debtor has become bankrupt, and that a fiat has issued against him (t). The bankruptcy must be regularly proved. If the Sheriff can show that the plaintiff assented to his withdrawing on a claim made for rent and taxes, this will afford him a good defence, even though no rent or taxes were due (u): so the defendant must show that he paid the money levied to the landlord, under 8 Anne, c. 14, for arrears of rent; the onus of proving that the rent was in arrear lies upon the Sheriff, but slight evidence suffices (x). The Sheriff may show that the judgment on which the writ issued was fraudulent and void (y). He cannot give in evidence, even in mitigation of damages, an inquisition held by him to inquire into the property of the goods (z). A person who has taken the goods out of the Sheriff's hands, in this action is competent to prove his own property in them, as the Sheriff cannot, after a return of nulla bona, maintain an action against him, being precluded by his return disclaiming all interest in the goods (a), and the assistant to a Sheriff's officer, who has been left in possession under an execution, is a competent witness for the Sheriff (b).

SECTION XI.

FOR TAKING INSUFFICIENT PLEDGES IN REPLEVIN (a).

Pledges to prosecute and pledges pro ret. hab. must be taken.

Before the Sheriff or his deputy can replevy either upon writ or application he must, as already observed (b), take pledges. By the common law, which still governs distresses damage feasant, it is still necessary that, first, pledges for the prosecution, which are merely nominal; and, secondly, pledges pro ret. hab. be taken. In Co. Litt. 145 b, it is laid down, that the Sheriff ought to take two kinds of pledges, one by the common law, namely, pledges to prosecute; and another by the statute of Westminter 2, c. 2, s. 3, pledges to return the goods. And the statute of 11 Geo. 2, c. 19, (in cases of rent), requires him to take both, with this difference only, that it gives the penalty for not prosecuting to the defendant, which at common law belonged to the Queen (c).

Nature of pledges.

Pledges (plegii) are persons becoming surety, and not money or goods of any kind taken as a pawn; the proper term for that would be latinici vadium; and if the Sheriff takes money or goods, he will be liable to an action for so doing. The term or for losing the bond, an action will equally lie, for precedents and authorities vide Perreau v. Bevan, 5 B. & C. 284; 2 Ch. Pl. 526 a; 2 Saund. on Pl. & Evid. 773.

plegii or pledges is in the plural number, yet in distresses for damage feasant, if one be found sufficient, the Sheriff has discharged his duty (d); but in distresses for rent, if either surety is insufficient at the time they are taken, the Sheriff is liable (e); in the one case there is no obligation on the Sheriff to take a replevin bond with two sureties; in the other there is.

Number in distresses at common law.
In distresses by statute law.

Pledges must be sufficient in law as well as in estate, for if they be poor in estate or insufficient in law, as within age, women covert, outlawed, persons politic or bodies corporate, the Sheriff must answer it; but if sufficient at the time they are taken, and are rendered insufficient afterwards, the Sheriff is excused (f).

Sufficiency of pledges.

What degree or knowledge of or inquiry into the circumstances of sureties is required of the Sheriff, have been a fertile source of litigation; the rule, however, is now clear, that he must exercise a reasonable discretion and caution in receiving them; whether he has done so or not is a question for the jury in each case (g); and the law cannot be laid down with more particularity.

What degree of inquiry into their sufficiency is required of the Sheriff.

In most cases of misbehaviour by the Sheriff or his officers in relation to replevin, the Court will attach him (h), but for taking no bond, or one with insufficient pledges, the Court will not grant an attachment, for as the taking of the bond is directed by act of parliament and not by the Court, the neglect to do so is not a contempt of Court (i). The party aggrieved, therefore, is left to proceed against the Sheriff by action on the case (k).

Form of action.

This action may be maintained after the defendant in replevin has taken an assignment of the replevin bond and sued both principal and sureties thereon, for the Sheriff is not discharged by the defendant in replevin proceeding on the bond (l).

And if the defendant in replevin elects to proceed on the statute, 17 Car. 2, c. 7, he is not confined to his execution under that statute, but may sue the sureties or the Sheriff(m).

Time of commencing action.

As to the proper time for commencing the action, there is a distinction between cases where the sureties are taken on distresses at common law and on distresses not at common law; for example, where the distress was upon cattle damage feasant, it was holden, that no action could be brought until after a ret. hab. was issued, and a return of elongata thereon (n). From the case of Perreau v. Bevan (o), the general impression seemed to have been that a retorno habendo was not material in any case, but when it was cited, Bugby said, "in that case the avowant had proceeded under the 17 Car. 2, c. 7, and the bond there was of a very different description; that was a bond under the 11 Geo. 2, c. 19, and therefore conditioned for prosecuting the suit with effect, that is, success, and accordingly was forfeited immediately on the plaintiff below being non-prossed; but here the avowant would, at common law, be entitled only to a judgment awarding a return of the cattle; and the Sheriff, by the statute of Westminster 2, (13 Edw. 1, c. 2,) was directed to take pledges to secure such return, who would not have been liable without a ret. hab. and a return of elongata thereon, and therefore the Sheriff cannot be liable at an earlier stage of the proceedings."

action.

The party entitled to an assignment of the bond is the proper person to bring the action, that is, the avowant; or where there is no avowant on the record, the person making conusance (p).

The declaration states the taking, replevy, the levying plaint, judgment against plaintiff in replevin, the issuing of the writ of ret. hab., and return of elongata thereon (q), of the Sheriff's duty to take bond with sufficient sureties, and defendant's neglect of duty, thus:—

tion.

"Nevertheless the now defendant, so being such Sheriff as aforesaid, not regarding, &c. but contriving, &c. did not nor would, before his making deliverance of the said distress to the said E. F. as aforesaid, take from the said E. F. and two responsible persons as sureties as aforesaid, such a bond as aforesaid, conditioned as aforesaid, but wrongfully and injuriously wholly omitted and neglected so to do: and on the contrary, the defendant wrongfully and unjustly, before the replevying and delivery of the said goods and chattels, to wit, on, &c. did take, in the name of the now defendant, as such Sheriffs as aforesaid, of the said E. F. and two other persons, to wit, A. B. and C. D., a certain bond, conditioned, &c. Nevertheless the now plaintiff saith, that the said A. B. and C. D. so taken as sureties as aforesaid, at the time of their becoming pledges and sureties in that behalf as aforesaid, were not good, able and sufficient or responsible sureties for prosecuting, &c.; but the said A. B. and C. D., at the time of their becoming such sureties as aforesaid, and the said E. F. (r), were and each of them was and ever since hath been and still are wholly insufficient for that purpose, nor have the said goods and chattels, or any or either of them, or any part thereof, as yet been returned to the plaintiff, nor have the said arrears of rent or any part thereof, been as yet paid or satisfied to the plaintiff, nor hath the said judgment been in any way satisfied, nor hath the said E. F. hitherto answered to the plaintiff for the value of the said goods and chattels so distrained as aforesaid, or any or either of them, or any part thereof: by means whereof, &c.”

Upon the effect of the general plea of “not guilty” to this declaration, no question seems as yet to have arisen in our Courts, but on principle it would seem that the sufficiency or insufficiency of the sureties is not put in issue by this plea, but simply the taking the bond as alleged, and that if the former proposition be intended to be brought in question, the averments of their insufficiency should be denied; and this view of its effect seems countenanced, if not justified, by the cases of Wright v. Lainson (s) and Lewis v. Alcock (t), though not perhaps parallel cases. At all events, until the point be sanctioned by judicial authority, the pleader would not do well to trust to that plea alone, if the question of sufficiency was the point to be raised for the jury.

issue.

The replevying (if in issue) may be shown by the original precept to deliver; when it remains in the possession of the bailiff he should be served with a subpoena duces tecum, but if it has been returned to the Sheriff, he should be served with a notice to produce it, to let in secondary evidence of its contents.

Evidence if the replevying be in issue.

(r) A count stating that the Sheriff, instead of taking a bond from the plaintiff in replevin and two sufficient sureties, took a bond from the plaintiff in replevin and one surety, who was alleged to be insufficient, is bad for not alleging that the plaintiff in replevin was insufficient; ibid.

(s) Ante, p. 402.

(t) Ante, p. 402.

The connection between the Sheriff and the bailiff must also be established by the evidence already laid down.

If the taking of the bond be in issue.

If the taking of the bond be in issue, the defendant should be served with a notice to produce the bond (if in his possession), and the service of such notice proved; when it was produced under such notice, and it appeared that the original bond had been shown to the plaintiff's agent, and a copy of it delivered to him, it was held unnecessary to call the subscribing witness; and that as against the Sheriff it must be taken to be a valid bond (u). So when it was proved that the Sheriff had assigned the bond to the plaintiff, it was holden unnecessary to prove the execution by the sureties; for that as against the Sheriff, proof of the assignment by him to the plaintiff was sufficient (x).

Sureties good witnesses to prove their sufficiency. Amount of damages.

The sureties themselves are competent witnesses to prove whether they were sufficient or not (y).

The Sheriff in this action is liable to the amount of the penalty in the bond; that is, double the value of the goods distrained, and no farther (z).

SECTION XII.

TRESPASS.

Acts in a judicial and ministerial character.

For what is done in his judicial character, as before observed, no action will lie against him, though it were done maliciously; in such case, however, he might be punished by criminal information or indictment (a), but for torts committed in his ministerial character an action will lie.

When trespass lies.

In trespass he is in general liable, even though there was no wrongful intent in committing the tort; as if by mistake he take the goods of a wrong person, the intent of a wrongdoer being immaterial, except as regards the amount of damages (b), but he cannot be made a trespasser by relation, for although a fiction of law may give a right, it cannot create a wrong; thus if a Sheriff, after a secret act of bankruptcy committed by A., seize his goods under an execution against him, he cannot be sued by the assignees in trespass, but only in trover (c). So when the process of a superior or inferior court has been misapplied, as if A. or his property be taken upon process against B.; and trespass is the proper remedy where there is a misnomer in the process which has not been waived, though it be executed on the person or goods of the party against whom it was in fact intended to be issued; or if process be abused, as if he break open an outer door, or arrest out of the bailiwick or after the return day of the writ (d), or execute a fi. fa. after notice of allowance of a writ of error, or detain a party on a ca. sa. after he tenders the debt and costs, or retake one after a voluntary escape on a ca. sa. (e), or seize under a fi. fa. for fixtures of the defendant who is a freeholder, for he thereby becomes a trespasser ab initio; but if the act complained of consists of a mere nonfeazance, as if he improperly refuse bail or to act when he should do so, an action on the case, and not of trespass, is the form to be adopted (f). When process is irregular merely, no action for false imprisonment can be maintained until that process is set aside (g).

The declaration (in the form of which few difficulties can well arise) will necessarily depend upon the nature of the act of trespass, whether to the person, to personal property, or to real property (h). Declaration.

The plea of "not guilty" puts in issue the fact of the defendant having committed the act complained of, and nothing more; the plea therefore is proper in trespass to person, if the defendant committed no assault, battery or imprisonment; in trespass to personal property, if the defendant did not take, &c.; and in trespass to real property the fact of the trespass is alleged, but Pleas.

Pleas by Sheriff justifying arrest under capias.

In justification under process the usual pleas are the following:

1st. Not guilty.

2nd. " And for a further plea in this behalf⁽ⁱ⁾ [as to the making the said assault, &c.] the defendant saith (actio non), because he saith that before the said time when, &c. in the declaration mentioned, to wit, on, &c. a certain writ of our lady the Queen, called a capias, was issued out of the Court of our lady the Queen, before the Queen herself, directed to the then Sheriff of _____, by which said writ our lady the Queen commanded the said Sheriff that he should omit not by reason of any liberty in his bailiwick, &c. [setting out remainder of capias verbatim except memoranda], which said writ was then duly indorsed for bail for £ _____; and which said writ so indorsed for bail as aforesaid, afterwards, to wit, on, &c. was delivered^(k) to the defendant, who then and from thenceforth until and at and after eight days after the execution of the said writ upon the now plaintiff as hereinafter mentioned, was Sheriff of the said county of _____, to be executed in due form of law: and the defendant, by virtue of the said writ, as such Sheriff as aforesaid, afterwards, and before the time appointed for the return of the said writ, to wit, at the said time when, &c. in the declaration mentioned, and within his bailiwick, as such Sheriff, took and arrested the plaintiff by his body, and kept and detained him in his custody at the suit of the said E. F. for the cause aforesaid for the space of time in the declaration mentioned, as he lawfully might for the cause aforesaid^(l); and the defendant further saith, that afterwards and at the return of the said writ, to wit, on, &c. he the defendant duly returned the said writ to the said Court of our lady the Queen, before the Queen herself, and then returned thereon that by virtue thereof he the defendant had taken the plaintiff, whose body he had ready as by the said writ he was commanded, as by the said writ and the said return thereof remaining of record in the said Court more fully appears: and this, &c. verify, &c.^(m)

(i) The recital of the trespasses intended to be justified must depend on the statements in the declaration; 1 Saund. 296—298, n.; Beck v. Young, 1 C. M. & R. 448; Reddell v. Pakeman, 3 Dowl. 714; 1 Gale, 104; how to plead in an inferior court; Cowp. 18; see also 2 Ch. Pl. 1000; by a serjeant at mace under process executed in London; 9 Wentw. 331. See another plea, 3 Chit. Pl. 1006; Phillips v. Howgate, 5 B. & Ad. 220.

(k) This allegation is not necessary but usual; Green v. Jones, 1 Saund. 298.

(l) The arrest only is justified in this precedent, if a battery be justified the cause thereof must be set out on the record; see 2 Chit. Pl. 993; 1 Saund. 296; and ante, p. 417; Phillips v. Howgate, 5 B. & A. 220. See a plea of justification in "Trover," post; and Samuel v. Duks, 3 Mees. & Wels. 630.

(m) The Sheriff or officer to whom mesne process is directed must allege a return of mesne process, but the bailiff who has a warrant or any person who acts in his aid need not. When the Sheriff justifies under process in execution the return need not be shown, unless some ulterior process is to be resorted to to complete the justification; Clearty v. Barnes, 10 East's Rep. 81, and cases cited.

When a process or warrant is stated in the plea the replication “de injuriâ” cannot be replied; plaintiff must either deny the issuing of the writ or warrant, or that the trespasses were committed in due execution thereof, showing why and sometimes without showing why (n); if the plea justifies a battery, because plaintiff attempted a rescue, the plaintiff may reply that defendant beat him more than was necessary (o). Replication.

When the bailiff, in an action against him for breaking and entering plaintiff’s dwelling-house, pleaded that he entered under a writ of fi. fa. and a warrant, to which the plaintiff replied that before the writ and warrant were fully executed defendant exacted more than the sum he was entitled to levy; the replication was holden bad on demurrer, as the act complained of—the extortion—was not such an act of trespass as would make the Sheriff a trespasser ab initio.

The effect of the general issue and the evidence bearing upon it.—The writ, arrest, &c. and the evidence to support the allegations having been already considered, it would be to little or no use to accumulate further comment thereon. Evidence.

The damages recoverable in this action are such as the plaintiff can prove that he has actually sustained. Damages.

SECTION XIII.

TROVER.

As before observed the Sheriff must at his peril execute the writ on the property of the person therein named, and upon that of no other individual; if, therefore, goods have ceased to be the property of that party, he is liable to an action at law if he seizes them, although not cognizant of the change of property: upon this principle it is considered that a Sheriff, who seizes after an act of bankruptcy, without notice, is liable in an action of trover at the suit of the assignees. Where property has ceased to be the property of the defendant.

That he could not be made a trespasser by relation, (being a public officer,) was clearly settled; but that he was liable in Liable in trover but not trespass.

(n) Vide 2 Ch. Pl. 1129, n. (e).

(o) See also Young v. Beck, 1 C. M. & R. 400.

trover (a) was equally admitted as a clear rule in all the text books of writers on bankrupt law; acted upon by all practisers in their advice to clients, and confirmed by some of the ablest men that have ever adorned the judicial seat from Lord Mansfield down to the present day. But in Michaelmas term, 1831, the case of Balme v. Hutton (b) came before the barons of the exchequer, by whom, in one of the most elaborate judgments on record, it was adjudged that in such a case he was not liable in trover; but this judgment was carried by writ of error into the Exchequer Chamber, when it was reversed (c). Subsequently, the case of Carlisle v. Garland (d) was argued in the Exchequer Chamber, but the judges were equally divided on the main point, and by the House of Lords the judgment of the Court below was affirmed by a majority of the judges, (Lord Denman, Vaughan and Bolland, dissentientibus) (e), thereby deciding that a Sheriff, who seizes and sells the goods of a bankrupt under a fi. fa., before fiat, but after an act of bankruptcy, without notice of the act of bankruptcy, is liable in trover to the assignees; so that trover will lie against him, whether he have notice of the act of bankruptcy or not (f).

What right he has to take goods, &c. of one not subject to the bankrupt laws, when the transfer took place after the delivery of the writ to him, has already been fully considered (g).

These observations are made with a view of showing his duties in cases of bankruptcy or insolvency—when he should proceed to sell and when he should not—to whom he should turn over the proceeds, to the execution creditor or to the assignees—and also how the property of goods and chattels of persons not within the reach of the bankrupt laws is affected by a delivery of the writ to him; a proper consideration of which will always guide him in his option of calling for an indemnity, or applying to the Court under the Interpleader Act, as well as protect him from expensive law suits.

As the pleadings bear so strong an analogy to those in trespass, it is proposed briefly to refer to the effect of the general plea of "not guilty," and the few decisions bearing upon it. "In an action for converting the plaintiff's goods, the plea will operate as a denial of the conversion only, and not the plaintiff's title to the goods:" that is, in denial of the conversion in fact only, and not of its legality or illegality. If the defendant pleads specially any circumstances which show that no conversion has in fact taken place, the plea will be bad on special demurrer, as amounting to the general issue (h). If the property in the goods converted had ceased at the time by any act of his own, or by act and operation of law, to be the property of the plaintiff or otherwise intended to be questioned, a plea denying the property (i), or that the property was barred by the delivery of the writ to him as Sheriff, and therefore that he had a right to seize them, even in the hands of a bonâ fide purchaser, as in the following case (k).

3d plea, And for a further plea in this behalf, the defendants say that before and at the time of the delivery of the writ of fieri facias to the defendants as hereinafter mentioned, and from thence and at and after the said time, when, &c., in the declaration mentioned, the defendants were Sheriff of the county of Middlesex, and that before and at the time of the delivery of the said writ of fieri facias as hereinafter mentioned, to them as such Sheriff, the said goods and chattels in the declaration mentioned were respectively the goods and chattels of one *T. of our lady the Queen, called a writ of fiери facias, directed to the Sheriff of Middlesex, whereby the said Sheriff was commanded that of the goods and chattels of the said P. C. in the said Sheriff's bailiwick, the said Sheriff should cause to be levied £ , which said writ was afterwards and before the delivery thereof to the said Sheriff, indorsed to levy £ , besides Sheriff's poundage, officers' fees, and all other incidental expenses; and which said writ afterwards, and whilst the said T. P. C. was still possessed of the said goods and chattels in the declaration mentioned, as of his own property, to wit, on the day and year aforesaid, was delivered to the defendants as such Sheriff as aforesaid, to be executed in due form of law: and the defendants further say, that because the said T. P. C., after the delivery of the said writ of fiери facias to them as such Sheriff, so to be executed as aforesaid, had fraudulently, and in order to avoid the said writ of fiери facias, transferred the property of the said goods and chattels to the plaintiff by private contract, and not in market overt, they the defendants by virtue of the said writ, and before the return thereof, to wit, at the said time when, &c. in the declaration mentioned, seized the said goods and chattels in the declaration mentioned, as they lawfully might for the cause aforesaid, which is the supposed conversion in the declaration mentioned; and this the defendants are ready to verify, &c.

SECT. XIV.

ASSUMPSIT AND DEBT.

What remedies plaintiff has against Sheriff after sale on a fi. fa.

A plaintiff, when he has issued and delivered a fi. fa. to the Sheriff, and goods are taken under it, has a fourfold remedy, either by rule of Court—by action of debt (a)—by account—or by assumpsit for money had and received, against him or his executor.

A mere seizure not sufficient.

A mere seizure will not charge the Sheriff in an action for money had and received, for, until sale, the execution creditor has no interest in either the goods or money, without which this action will never lie (b).

Sheriff's interest in goods after seizure.

After seizure, and before sale, the Sheriff has a special property in the goods, but the debtor has the general property; up to that time, therefore, the debt is not extinguished, and the judgment creditor has a security for his debt. But after sale, or payment of the money, the Sheriff becomes the debtor, and the original debt is extinguished (c).

(a) Perkinson v. Gilford, Cro. Car. 539; Hob. 206; Thurston v. Mills, 16 East, 269.

(b) Thurston v. Mills, 16 East, 269.

(c) Morland v. Pellatt, 8 B. & C. 727.

As before stated, in order to maintain money had and received, either the money or the goods (the proceeds of which are claimed by the plaintiff) must originally, or at the time of the action brought, have belonged to the plaintiff, and upon this principle it was holden, that if the Sheriff, after having seized goods under a fi. fa. at the suit of A., sell them, though irregularly, under another process at the suit of and for the benefit of B., this action cannot be supported by A. against the Sheriff(d).

When money had and received will lie.

Where the Sheriff in Michaelmas term returned to a writ of fi. fa. "goods in hand for want of buyers, value unknown," and no further steps were taken until Trinity term following; in the interim the goods were seized under an extent by the crown: held, that as the delay was permitted by the plaintiff he could not afterwards fix the Sheriff with the payment of the debt(e).

Sheriff cannot be fixed with the debt by the laches of the plaintiff.

Whether this action will lie against the Sheriff before the return of the process is still an open question; it seems to be maintainable(f), but not before the return day (g) of the writ.

The action should not be brought until after a demand of the money has been made, otherwise the Court will stay proceedings on payment of the sum levied without costs(h), but it is not necessary, for the maintenance of the action, to prove a demand before action brought(i); if, however, upon sale, money remains in his hands beyond the debt, the defendant must, according to an old authority, demand it of the Sheriff before action brought(k).

When action commenced.

Demand, when to be made.

As an act of bankruptcy overreaches all intermediate acts, so as to vest the property in the assignees from the time of the act committed, they may either affirm or disaffirm the act of any party who, after the act of bankruptcy, has converted the trader's effects into money, either by bringing an action for money had and received to their use, or by bringing trover(l);

but they must (m) adopt assumpsit if they have affirmed and recognized the wrongful sale and waived the original tort; for if they have once affirmed his acts and treated him as their agent, they cannot afterwards treat him as a wrong doer, nor can they affirm his acts in part and avoid them as to the rest; but it should be observed, that it is in general more advisable for the assignees to proceed in trover, for if the goods have been sold they may recover in trover the full value of the goods, deducting the ordinary expenses of sale, though the sale may not actually have produced more than half their worth, but in assumpsit the assignees can only recover what the party really received (n); again, as by bringing assumpsit the contract is affirmed, and they have thereby once treated the transaction as a contract of sale, they must pursue it through all its consequences, one of which is that the party buying may set off another debt owing to him (o), which cannot be done in trover (p); therefore, to avoid a plea of set off on mutual credit, as the case may be, the form ex delicto seems in general preferable when it can be maintained; but it should also be observed, that when the ground of action is assumpsit, declaring in tort will not render a person liable who would not have been so on his promise (q), nor will it in general avoid the consequences of a nonjoinder of a party (r).

When a Sheriff claimed as of right, upon a warrant issued by him in the execution of his office, a larger fee than he was entitled to by law, and the attorney paid it in ignorance of the law, it was holden that the latter might maintain money had and received for the excess paid above the legal fee, or might set off the sum in an action by the Sheriff against him (s).

So when a Sheriff claims by his return to retain money to which he is not entitled, money had and received will lie (t).

both of the receipt of the money and the existence of those facts which make such receipt by the defendant a receipt to the use of the plaintiff;" this rule is in itself so intelligible and so easy of application that it is needless to dwell upon it, indeed it is scarcely possible to conceive a case where the special facts could be recorded without their amounting to the general issue, and none seems yet to have occurred in practice which has stood the test of a demurrer (u).

Nunquam indebitatus is not a good plea in an action of debt founded on the Sheriff's return to a fi. fa., for the return is parcel of the record, and nunquam indebitatus is no plea against a record (x); but if the Sheriff has made no return, and debt be brought against him for the money he has actually received, then nunquam indebitatus is a good plea; for in that case the receipt of the money for the plaintiff's use is the foundation of the action, and the record but matter of inducement; when pleaded it has the same operation as the plea of non assumpsit, before explained. Nunquam indebitatus.

The statute of limitations is not a good plea in an action of debt, founded on the return, for the reason above assigned (y). Statute of limitations

CHAPTER VI.

ACTIONS BY HIGH SHERIFF.

SECTION I.

ASSUMPSIT AND DEBT.

As already stated, the Sheriff at common law has no claim which he can enforce by action, therefore if he has any claim, it must be under the provisions of some statute (a).

By the 43 Geo. 3, c. 46, "the plaintiff or plaintiffs may also levy the poundage, fees and expenses of the execution over and above the sum recovered by the judgment. Assuming, however, that the fees are not levied by virtue of this statute, a question arises what remedy the Sheriff has for recovery of them, (for to refuse to execute the writ till his fees are paid is, after payment, an indictable offence); on the statute of 43 Geo. 3, containing no express words as to any remedy for fees, (and, by parity of reasoning, it would be so on the recent statute of Victoria, there being no express words to that effect,) it was holden that, by implication, a right was given to the Sheriff to demand the fees mentioned in the statute; and, consequently, that he might, as in all cases where a statute creates a debt or duty, maintain an action of debt for them (b); a similar construction was put upon the statute of 28 Elizabeth (c); his remedy then is by action of debt (d); or he may maintain assumpsit upon an express promise. There is an authority of Lord Kenyon (e) for saying, that a Sheriff's officer may, when there is an express promise, maintain an action for fees in his own name, but this seems to require some qualification, notwithstanding it is in some measure countenanced by a precedent of one of the most eminent lawyers of our day, Mr. Chitty (f). The authorities in banc do not, it is submitted, go so far as the one at nisi prius, they merely establish this proposition, that a Sheriff's officer employed by an attorney to execute writs, may maintain an action against him, not for fees quæ fees, but for the remuneration usually allowed on such occasions (h); and this is in strict accordance with the principles of law; for that A. should be employed by B., and not entitled to a reasonable remuneration for his services, would be most unjust. The term bound bailiff is perhaps not proper, for when one who happens to be a bound bailiff is employed by the plaintiff or his attorney, he is not, in such employment, a bound bailiff, but a special bailiff, being, pro hac vice, the servant of the plaintiff or his attorney, as the case may be, and not the servant of the Sheriff; and his accidentally being a bound bailiff is a matter wholly irrelevant and unimportant.

SECTION II.

TROVER AND TRESPASS.

As any one having a special property in goods may support trover against a wrong-doer, so may a Sheriff for goods seized under a fi. fa., provided they are at the time of the conversion in his actual possession; if he abandons possession, the property and possession revert back to the original owner (a). Note.—When the Sheriff returns “nulla bona,” and there is a recovery against him for his false return, that vests no property in him, but it remains vested in the party as before, and they are liable to any subsequent execution for his debt (b).

So he may support trespass for an injury done while he remained in actual possession.

SECTION III.

ON SECURITIES FOR MONEY SEIZED UNDER A FI. FA.

(1 & 2 Vict. c. 110.)

It is next proposed to consider actions by High Sheriff, brought upon promissory notes, bills of exchange, &c., seized by him under a fi. fa. by virtue of the twelfth section of the above-mentioned statute (a), which enacts, Bond of Indemnity.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS that we G. A. of _____, G. P. of _____, and C. W. of _____, in the county of W., are held and firmly bound to Sir G. M., Bart., of _____, High Sheriff of the said county, in the sum of £ _____, to be paid to the said Sir G. M., Bart., or to his certain attorney, executors, administrators, or assigns, for which payment, to be well and truly made, we bind ourselves and each of us our and each of our heirs, executors, and administrators, and every of them, jointly and severally, firmly by these presents sealed with our seals, and dated this, &c.

WHEREAS the above-named Sir G. M., Bart., as Sheriff of the county of _____, by virtue of her Majesty's writ of fieri facias to him directed, against the goods, chattels, moneys, bank notes, cheques, bills of exchange, promissory notes, bonds, specialties, and other securities for money of one J. B. issued at the suit of the said G. A. out of her Majesty's Court of Queen's Bench, hath seized and taken in execution a certain promissory note of the said J. B.; and whereas the said G. A. hath applied to the said Sheriff and requested him to sue the maker of the said note for the recovery of the amount thereof, which the said G. M., Bart., has consented to do upon being indemnified for so doing.

NOW THE CONDITION of the above-written obligation is such, that if the above-bounden G. A., G. P., and *C. Declaration.

In the Queen's Bench.

The day of , A. D. 1839.

Westmorland } A. B., Sheriff of the county of W., (the plaintiff in this to wit. } suit according to the form of the statute in such case made and provided) by J. A., his attorney, complains of G. W. the defendant in this suit, who has been summoned to answer the said A. B., as Sheriff as aforesaid, in an action on promises. For that whereas the defendant on the day of , A. D. 1839, made his promissory note in writing, and thereby promised to pay to one J. B. £100 three months after the date thereof, which period had elapsed before the commencement of this suit, and then delivered the said note to the said J. B. and promised the said J. B. to pay him the same according to the tenor and effect thereof: And the plaintiff further saith, that heretofore (b) and before the commencement of this suit, to wit, on the day of , in the

(b) This probably according to the usual forms of pleading should have preceded, but as a general precedent this will be found more correct: it is, as far as can be ascertained, the first precedent under the new statute, —nihil simul inventum est et perfectum!

year aforesaid, one G. P. in the Court of our lady the Queen, before the Queen herself, by the consideration and judgment of the same Court, recovered against the said J. B. a certain debt of £ , and also costs, which in and by the same Court were adjudged to the said G. P. and with his assent for his damages which he had sustained, as well by the occasion of the detaining of the said debt as for his costs and charges by him about his suit in that behalf expended, whereof the said J. B. was convicted as by the record and proceedings thereof still remaining in the same Court of our lady the Queen, before the Queen herself, at Westminster aforesaid, will more fully and at large appear: And the plaintiff further saith, that the said judgment being in full force, and the debt and damages remaining unpaid and unsatisfied, the said G. P. on the day of , A. D. 1839, for the obtaining of satisfaction thereof, sued and prosecuted out of the said Court of our said lady the Queen, before the Queen herself, at Westminster aforesaid, a certain writ of our said lady the Queen called a feri facias, directed to the Sheriff of W., by which said writ our lady the Queen commanded the said Sheriff that of the goods, chattels, money, banknotes, cheques, bills of exchange, promissory notes, bonds, specialties, and other securities for money of the said J. B. in the said Sheriff's bailiwick, he should cause to be levied the debt and damages aforesaid, and that he should have that money before our said lady the Queen at Westminster aforesaid immediately after the execution thereof, to render to the said G. P. for his debt and damages as aforesaid; and that the said Sheriff should have there then that writ, which said writ afterwards and before the delivery thereof to the plaintiff as such Sheriff as hereinafter mentioned, to wit, on the day of , in the year aforesaid, was duly indorsed with a direction for the said Sheriff to levy £ , besides Sheriff's poundage, officer's fees, and all other incidental expenses, and which said writ, so indorsed, afterwards and before the said execution thereof, to wit, on the day and year last aforesaid, was delivered to the plaintiff, who then and from thence until and at and after the execution of the said writ was, and from thence hitherto hath been, and still is Sheriff of the said county of W., to be executed in due form of law, by virtue of which said writ the plaintiff, as such Sheriff as aforesaid, afterwards, to wit, on the day and year last aforesaid, and within his bailiwick, as such Sheriff, seized and took in execution the said promissory note above mentioned, of all which premises the defendant afterwards, to wit, on the day and year last aforesaid, had notice: Yet the defendant hath disregarded his promise and hath not paid the sum of £100 in the said note mentioned, or any part thereof, to the said J. B. before the same was so seized and taken in execution as aforesaid, or to the plaintiff as such Sheriff as aforesaid, since the same was so seized and taken in execution: To the damage of the plaintiff as Sheriff as aforesaid of £ , and thereupon according to the form of the statute in such case made and provided he brings suit, &c.

Pleas.

With regard to a defence to an action of this kind little need be said, for it is quite clear that whatever pleas might have been pleaded to an action brought upon the instrument by the original creditor may be pleaded herein; add however, that the defendant may deny any other material averment on the face of the declaration, as to the issuing of the writ, seizure, &c. &c.

Upon recovery of the amount of the security it will be seen How on reference to the twelfth section of the act(c) what the Sheriff amount of must do with it: namely, to pay over the whole or so much as security to will satisfy the debt of the execution creditor, and if any surplus be disposed remains after payment of the debt, together with his poundage of.
and expenses, it must be paid over to the party against whom such writ shall be so issued.

(c) Ante, p. 420, 328.

CHAPTER VII.

CONSERVATOR PACIS.

UNDER this division of the Sheriff's duties, (it being of little practical importance, seldom or never being called into action,) it is proposed simply to quote the language of Hawkins thereon (a): "every Sheriff (says he) is a principal conservator of the peace within his county, and may, without doubt, ex officio award process of the peace and take surety for it. And it seems the better opinion that the surety so taken by him is by the common law looked on as a recognizance or matter of record, and not as a common obligation or matter in pais only; for that it is taken by him by virtue of the Queen's commission, by which he is entrusted with the custody of the county, and consequently by it has an implied power of keeping the peace within such county; and it is a general rule, that whatsoever is done by virtue of the Queen's commission ought to be taken as a matter of record."

Cannot act
trate.

But although virtute officii a conservator of the peace, yet it is declared "that all and every acts to be done by any Sheriff, by authority of any commission of the peace during the time of his Sheriffwick, shall be void." Note.—When he is out of office he may act by force of the same commission (b).

CHAPTER VIII.

SHERIFF'S ACCOUNTS.

THE statute of 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 99, (29th August, 1833,) is so clear and intelligible as to the time, place, and mode of auditing and passing accounts, that it is needless to do more than set out so much thereof as bears immediately upon the subject now under consideration.

“ ‘ Whereas the appointment of Sheriffs, and the audit and passing of their accounts in the Court of Exchequer, are attended with unnecessary expense, delay, and trouble ;’ for remedy whereof be it enacted by the King’s most excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the lords spiritual and temporal, and commons, in this present parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, that so much of an act passed in the third year of the reign of his Majesty King George the First, intituled, An Act for the better regulating the Office of Sheriffs, and for ascertaining their Fees, and the Fees for suing out their Patents and passing their Accounts, as entitles and authorises certain officers therein and in the schedule thereto mentioned to demand, take, and receive the fees named in the said schedule, and also the said schedule, and also an act passed in the said third year of the reign of his Majesty King George the First, intituled, An Act for better enabling Sheriffs to sue out their Patents and pass their Accounts, be and the same are hereby repealed.

Geo. 1, c.

3 Geo. 1,

“ 2. And be it further enacted, that from and after the passing of this Act it shall not be necessary for any Sheriff or Sheriffs of any county, city, or town in England or Wales to sue out any patent or writ of assistance, or to make or pay proffers, nor shall any bailiff or bailiffs of liberties in England or Wales be required to make or pay any proffers, nor shall he or they have any day of prefixion, or be apposed, or take any oath or oaths before the cursitor baron to account, or account, or be cast out of Court, as now or heretofore in use in his Majesty's Court of Exchequer; any law, statute, or usage to the contrary notwithstanding."

Sheriff's accounts to be audited by commissioners for auditing public accounts.

25 Geo. 3, c. 52.

46 Geo. 3, c. 141.

1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 121.

"8. And be it further enacted, that the accounts of the present and future Sheriffs of counties, cities, and towns within England, (except the counties palatine of Chester, Lancaster, and Durham,) shall from and after the passing of this Act be examined and audited by the commissioners appointed or to be appointed for auditing public accounts under and by virtue of the three several acts herein-after next mentioned; (that is to say,) an act passed in the twenty-fifth year of the reign of his late Majesty King George the Third, intituled An Act for better examining and auditing the Public Accounts of this Kingdom; an act passed in the forty-sixth year of the reign of his said late Majesty King George the Third, intituled An Act for making more effectual Provision for the more speedy and regular Examination and Audit of the Public Accounts of this Kingdom; and an act passed in the first and second years of the reign of his late Majesty King George the Fourth, intituled An Act to alter and abolish certain Forms of Proceedings in the Exchequer and Audit Office relative to Public Accountants, and for making further Provisions for the Purpose of facilitating and expediting the passing of Public Accounts in Great Britain; and to render perpetual and amend an Act passed in the fifty-fourth Year of his late Majesty, for the effectual Examination of the Accounts of certain Colonial Revenues; and all the powers and provisions now in force of the same acts shall extend and be applicable to the examination, audit, and discharge of the accounts of such Sheriffs by the said commissioners (so far as those powers and provisions are applicable thereto, and are not varied by this Act).

Sheriffs going out of office (except those of Chester, Lancaster, and Durham,) to transmit accounts to commissioners.

Sheriff of Westmoreland to transmit like accounts yearly.

"9. And be it further enacted, that every person and persons who now are or who hereafter shall be Sheriff or Sheriffs of any county, city, or town within England, (except the said counties palatine of Chester, Lancaster, and Durham,) shall within two calendar months next after the expiration of his or their office, or in case of the death of any Sheriff or Sheriffs the Under-sheriff by him or them appointed shall within two calendar months next after the death of such Sheriff or Sheriffs, transmit to the said commissioners for auditing public accounts a just and true account, under his or their hand or hands, of all sums received by such Sheriff or Sheriffs to or for the use of his Majesty, and of all sums paid or claimed by him or them, or on his or their behalf (save such sums as are or have been usually inserted and allowed in the bill of cravings), with all such particulars as shall be needful to explain the same: Provided always, that such Under-sheriff shall not be personally responsible for any sum or sums received by such deceased Sheriff, but that the same shall be answered by the representatives of the said deceased Sheriff, or otherwise in due course of law: Provided always, that the Sheriff of Westmoreland shall yearly, within two calendar months next after the first day of January in every year, transmit or cause to be transmitted to the said commissioners for auditing the public accounts a like account under his hand, or the hand of his Under-sheriff, of all sums paid by him to or for the use of his Majesty within or during the year of our Lord next preceding, and of all sums paid or claimed by him or on his behalf during the same period (save such sums as are or have been usually inserted in the bill of cravings), with all such particulars as shall be needful to explain the same.

“ 10. And be it further enacted, that in case it shall be necessary for any such Sheriff or Sheriffs, or his or their Under-sheriff, to make oath or affidavit to any such account, or any article, matter, or thing relating thereto, such oath or affidavit, except when the said commissioners shall require his or their personal examination before them, shall and may be sworn before any of the judges of his Majesty's superior courts of record at Westminster, or before any commissioner for taking affidavits in any of the same Courts, or before any master or master extraordinary in the High Court of Chancery, or before any of his Majesty's justices of the peace.

The oath or affidavit of Sheriff may be taken before a judge, commissioner, or magistrate.

“ 11. And be it further enacted, that the claim of every Sheriff or Sheriffs for certain allowances usually called the bill of cravings shall, from and after the passing of this Act, be preferred to the lord high treasurer or the commissioners of his Majesty's treasury for the time being, who, or any three or more of whom, shall and may grant a warrant for the allowance of the same in the account of such Sheriff or Sheriffs, or for the payment of such sum or sums of money in respect thereof as they shall think reasonable in that behalf.

Bill of cravings to be settled by the treasury.

“ 12. And whereas the present mode of managing and collecting certain quit rents and vicecomital or viscontiel rents due to his Majesty, and the present mode of accounting for and paying post-fines on alienation of lands and other hereditaments, have been found disadvantageous to the public service, and inconvenient and troublesome to Sheriffs; for remedy whereof be it enacted, that from and after the tenth day of October next no Sheriff or Sheriffs shall receive or shall be chargeable with the collection and receipt of quit rents, vicecomital or viscontiel rents, and other rates and payments issuing out of or payable to his Majesty in respect of any honors, manors, lands, tenements, or hereditaments in England or Wales, but the same (except such as shall be released pursuant to the provision next hereinafter contained) shall hereafter be considered as part and parcel of the land revenue of the crown, and shall be under the care, management, and direction of his Majesty's commissioners of woods, forests, and land revenue, who shall have and exercise the same powers and authorities for collecting and enforcing the payment thereof as are given to or vested in them for collecting and enforcing payment of any other part of his Majesty's land revenue by any act or acts now in force concerning the same.

Quit rents, &c. to be received by commissioners of woods, forests, and land revenues.

“ 13. And whereas many of the said rents are very ancient, and have become obsolete, and it is not known out of or from what hereditaments and premises the same are issuing and payable, so that payment thereof cannot be enforced; be it therefore enacted, that it shall be lawful for the lord high treasurer or the commissioners of his Majesty's treasury, and he and they are hereby empowered, by warrant under his or their hands, to remit, release, and discharge all or any of the same rents, and the arrears thereof, or any part thereof.

Certain parts of 32 Geo. 2, c. 14, repealed.

“ 14. And be it further enacted, that so much of an act passed in the thirty-second year of the reign of his Majesty King George the Second, intituled An Act for the more regular and easy collecting, accounting for, and paying of post-fines, which shall be due to the crown, and for the ease of Sheriffs in respect of the same, as requires the receiver of pre-fines at the Alienation Office to become bound by recognizance to pay, or to pay to any Sheriff on producing his quietus, the sum total of the post-fines mentioned in such quietus, and as requires such receiver to become in like manner bound to pay, or to pay unto all and every the lords of liberties, proprietors and grantees of post-fines under the crown, or to their lawful bailiffs or attorney, on producing the respective schedules of the foreign apposer or clerk of the estreats of the Court of Exchequer, the sums of money in such schedules contained, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Sheriffs not to be chargeable with pre-fines or post-fines.

“ 15. ADDENDA OF NEW WRITS.

[Under 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110.]

A REGRET will be found heretofore expressed that the judges had not exercised the power given them under 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110, to issue new writs of execution (a). Since the expression of that regret, however, and indeed since the whole of the work was printed, they have exercised their power and published the following forms—to be used from and after the first day of March next.

The writ of elegit is ably drawn, with a view of carrying the provisions of the Act into effect, and accords in substance with the precedent suggested, save the interest clause, which is new and valuable (b). As regards the fieri facias, the profession, I think, will arrive at a very different conclusion; the draftsman of it clearly had an impression that goods and chattels only were leviable under it, otherwise he never would have used the terms “goods and chattels,” nominatim et singulatim governed by the words “cause to be made,” which are improper (c) as applicable to other things leviable under a fi. fa., namely, money, bank notes, cheques, bills, notes, &c. &c. How the words, “and that you do all such things as by the statute passed in the second year of our reign, you are authorised and required to do in this behalf,” can supply the defect, individually I am at a loss to know; as they stand, they refer not to the subject-matter leviable, but to the mode of executing the writ as required by the writ and indorsement, &c.

The course to be pursued, however, is clear. Until after the first of March next the execution creditor should sue out his elegit or fieri facias in the form suggested; and the Sheriff must make his return as in the form suggested (d): after that period the Sheriff's return will be the same, naming singulatim, goods, chattels, money, bank notes, &c., for a return as general as the writ of fieri facias might perhaps be holden void for uncertainty; the additional word interest, however, must not be forgotten in the return (e).

FORMS OF WRITS.

IT IS ORDERED, that the following forms of writs framed by the judges pursuant to the statute 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110, s. 20, be used from and after the first day of March next, with such alterations as the nature of the action, the description of the Court in which the action is depending, the character of the parties, or the circumstances of the case may render necessary, but that any variance, not being in matter of substance (f), shall not affect the validity of the writs sued out.
